Weather may delay ditch, bridge work

A Wheeling official Wednesday said cold weather may delay completion of the Jeffery Avenue bridge and the Wheeling Drainage Ditch until spring.

Thomas Markus, village administrative assistant, said construction is to begin soon, but he is uncertain of a completion date.

"I hope we can finish it by the end of the year, but the project is so dependent on weather I'm not sure that will be possible," he said.

Before the bridge can be replaced, Markus said, many trees along the drainage ditch have to be removed to enable workers to widen the ditch, which is expected to alleviate flooding.

Widening the ditch will bring its banks closer to neighboring property lines. The banks then will be sodded to prevent erosion.

RESIDENTS AND village officials last month reached agreement on the proposed improvements. Residents earlier complained the ditch work would cause the loss of property and an excessive number of trees, which might cause flooding of their backyards. Agreement has been reached on which trees will be removed and residents have been assured the project will take none of their property.

About two weeks ago, a temporary access road to the Meadowbrook West subdivision was completed, clearing the way for replacement of the Jeffery Avenue bridge. The road needed to be installed before work on the bridge was begun because the bridge is the only access to the subdivision. The road connects Nancy Lane and Carpenter Avenue.

The village has been granted a temporary easement for the 600-foot road and it will be removed after the bridge is replaced.

THE VILLAGE BOARD waived competitive bidding on the temporary road last month, saying that would enable workers to complete it before the start of cold weather.

Trustee William Hein said once the road was installed there would be little to stand in the way of other construction. He said the bridge replacement, ditch work and tree removal could be done in cold weather.

Markus, however, said it is not advisable to do concrete work during cold weather.

The Jeffery Avenue bridge project was proposed two years ago, but has met several delays due to opposition from residents, failure to get bidders and lack of an access road to replace the bridge during construction.

Village's crime rate dips; still up 25% for 9 months

The crime rate increase in Wheeling dipped slightly in September, but through the first nine months of the year it was still up 25 per cent.

The 306 crimes reported in September was a 22 per cent increase over the figures for a year ago. However, the increase was less than for previous months and continued the trend to lower the year-long crime rate increase from last year in January of 60 per cent.

As in the previous months, burglaries were responsible for a large part of the increase. The 21 burglaries in September brought the year's total to 143, which was 110 per cent more than last year's 68 burglaries by the end of September. According to the police department statistics released last week, none of the 21 burglaries committed in September has been solved.

THROUGH SEPTEMBER, police reported 2 rapes, 8 robberies, 20 aggravated assaults, 524 thefts and 31 auto thefts. The comparable figures from last year showed 1 rape, 2 robberies, 13 aggravated assaults, 364 thefts and 14 auto thefts.

In the lesser crime categories, as defined by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, there were by the end of September, 499 disorderly conduct cases, 14 drunks, 6 weapon offenses, 13 sex offenses, 56 other assaults and 860 other crimes. The 1973 end of September totals were 449 disorderly conduct cases, 17 drunks, 6 weapon offenses, 22 sex offenses, 49 other assaults and 722 other crimes.

The 89 traffic accidents in September brought the year's total to 683, which was a 16 per cent increase over last year. In the nine months, the fatalities doubled to 4 and the injured increased from 163 to 216 this year. There was property damage in 525 of the accidents.

The number of service calls handled by the police department also increased. There were a total of 1,103 calls or a 13 per cent increase.

Wheeling police officials were unavailable for comment on the statistics.

Trial now possible for accused murderer

by JOE SWICKARD

The attorney for accused killer Ronald Helton opened Helton's long-delayed trial Wednesday by charging Arlington Heights police with misconduct in their handling of the case.

Melvin Kamm, Helton's attorney, charged that police "induced" Helton, then 17, into giving statements incriminating himself while police kept him for four months in the local police station in violation of a court order sending Helton to county jail.

Helton, now 21, is charged with the murder of gas station attendant Fred J. Tallon during an Arlington Heights robbery Nov. 11, 1969.

Circuit Court Judge Jacques F. Heiggoetter denied Kamm's motion to quash the 1969 arrest warrant for Helton, rejecting Kamm's contention that not enough evidence had been presented to justify issuance of the warrant.

The court action Wednesday marked the end of five years of investigation and legal wrangles. Helton first went to trial in 1972 for the murder, but Circuit Court Judge Daniel Ryan ruled with Kamm that Helton's constitutional rights had been violated by the police. Ryan's ruling was overturned in August by the Illinois Appellate Court, opening the way for the new trial.

IN HIS OPENING statement, Asst. State's Atty. Ronald Magnus said Helton's guilt would be proven by his own statements and other evidence that he "brutally stabbed 14 times and killed" the 60-year-old Tallon, the night manager of the Arlington Park Shell service station, Wilke Road and Euclid Avenue.

Magnus also said he would prove Helton took an active role "with several other individuals" in the planning and execution of the crime and that he stayed with his companions when they fled out of state.

Helton was one of several young men originally charged with the murder. Charges against the others were dropped two years ago.

Kamm's opening remarks challenged the veracity of the "alleged statements" given by Helton to Arlington Heights police after his arrest.

Kamm said that "the Arlington Heights police themselves did not consider Ronald Helton an armed robber or a killer."

HELTON WAS HELD in the Arlington Heights lockup from his arrest Dec. 31, 1969 to April 17, 1970 despite a court order to transfer him to the County Jail. While Helton was in police custody, Kamm said, he had "free rein of this police station," and that policemen took him home "to meet their families."

Kamm said Helton was permitted to leave the police station unescorted so he could have a holiday meal with his family the day after his arrest for Tallon's murder.

The first witness was Arthur Tallon, son of the murder victim. As he took the stand, his mother broke into tears and had to be led from the court room by a bailiff. She returned a short time later. (Continued on Page 3)

Community center bids come in high

Bids received this week by the Prospect Heights Park District for work on its proposed community center/sports complex came in higher than expected.

The park board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday to review the bids and try to cut some costs to bring the project within the original $650,000 estimate. The meeting will be at the park office, 13 Prospect Ct., Prospect Heights.

"Just about all the bids were higher than we expected," said Max Lyle, board president. "We have to try and refine the bids." Lyle would not say by how much the total of the bids — as separate trade bids were sought instead of just a general contractor — exceeded the estimate.

"On Monday, we will look at the costs, where the bids stand and what we can afford," he said. At a special board meeting Tuesday, the park board is expected to award some contracts and reject several bids.

TRADE BIDS WERE sought separately because lower costs were expected and local people had the opportunity to bid on the project, which was approved narrowly in a June 4 referendum.

Lyle said local tradesmen did bid on the project and included at least two general contractors, an electrician and two plumbers.

Eight bids were received for the general contracting work, which will be the bulk of the project. Lyle said the bids for the general contracting ranged from $581,000 to $636,000.

The referendum authorized $1.1 million for park improvements. In addition to the community center, the Lions Park pool will be renovated, tennis courts will be built at two sites and there will be smaller improvements to neighborhood parks. The community center is to be adjacent to the Lions Pool on Camp McDonald Road at Elm Street.

Accident victim from Wheeling

A man killed Monday night on the Tri-State Tollway about a half-mile south of Willow Road was identified Wednesday afternoon as Edward C. Schraeder, 27, of 1415 S. Wolf Rd., Wheeling.

Schraeder's body was identified at the county morgue by his wife. He had been missing since Monday, which led police to believe he may have been an accident victim.

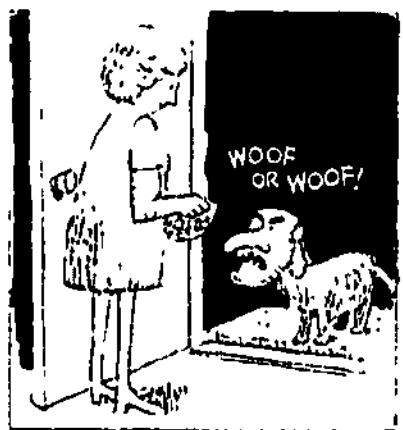

State police Wednesday said Schraeder stepped in front of a truck, driven by Robert J. Brewer, 51, of 309 N. Brighton Pl., Arlington Heights. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines at 11:32 p.m. Monday.

Brewer, who was northbound at the time of the accident, will not be charged in the accident, police said.

Christmas bazaar at mall

A Christmas bazaar will be held Nov. 15-17 at the Buffalo Grove Mall at Arlington Heights and Dundee roads. The event is sponsored by the Buffalo Grove Barons Baton and Drum Corps.

Des Plaines pet shop selling Halloween costumes for pooches

by LUISA GINETTI

Four-legged trick or treaters may be out walking the streets tonight as a result of the latest costume fad.

Bill Ware, owner of Bill's Pet Shop, 677 Graceland St., Des Plaines, is selling dog costumes for Halloween and says his sales would be better if he had more sizes from which customers could choose.

"People come in and ask about them but we only have the small sizes left to fit miniature and toy dogs," Ware said. "One man came in and asked if we had a size to fit a collie because he wanted to take his dog out with his kids."

The costumes are vinyl cutout patterns that fit on the dogs' backs like sweaters. Ware said he bought the costumes two years ago from a salesman who said they would be the latest pet trend.

"I guess I was less conservative two years ago, so when the salesman asked me if I wanted to buy some, I agreed," Ware said. "I thought he'd send me two or three, but instead he sent a dozen."

WARE SAID THE COSTUMES sold well the first year but this year he has been unable to sell the remaining three. The costumes are a clown, a skeleton and a pirate.

"Last year we had them lying on the counter and they didn't do so well, so this year we put them in the window and put a sign with them. People see the sign and inquire about them, but most of them all have bigger dogs and the costumes won't fit them."

Ware said one woman wanted to know if the sign advertising the dog costumes was for real. When Ware assured her it was legitimate, she left the shop shaking her head in amazement. "Now I've seen everything," Ware quoted her as saying.

Ware said the people who inquire about the costumes, which sell for $1.98, want them for dogs who go trick-or-treating with youngsters. Other people have said they put them on their pooches to entertain children who come to their doors trick-or-treating.

"I don't know of any other pet shops that sell dog costumes and I don't know if I can get any more of them," Ware said. "If nothing else, at least they're a novelty."

U.S. charges DiFonzo

Federal charges were filed Wednesday against Luigi M. DiFonzo, the man suspected of bilking local investors out of $2.5 million from a Des Plaines-based silver commodities trading firm, in connection with the $4.3 million Purulator Security Co. theft. Warrants were issued for DiFonzo, 27, and two alleged accomplices charging them with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives to commit a felony. Three other men were indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury in the record bank heist. Federal agents and investigators from Scotland Yard were converging Wednesday on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies in search of the cash horde. DiFonzo is believed to be on the island, federal investigators said.

Accident victim identified

The man killed Monday night on the Tri-State Tollway about a half mile south of Willow Road, near Northbrook, was identified Wednesday as Edward C. Schraeder, 27, of 1415 S. Wolf Rd., Wheeling. Illinois State police said Wednesday Schraeder stepped in front of a truck driven by Robert J. Brewer, 51, of Arlington Heights. Brewer will not be charged, police said.

Sewage plan hearings set

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency will hold hearings on the Metropolitan Sanitary District's plans to spread treated sewage on Fulton County land. Director Richard Briceland said the hearings were prompted by 174 complaints received last summer from citizens. He said the agency will ask the sanitary district to inject the sewage sludge into the soil, rather than spread it on the surface. The project is intended to both reclaim strip-mined land in the downstate county and provide a means for sludge disposal.

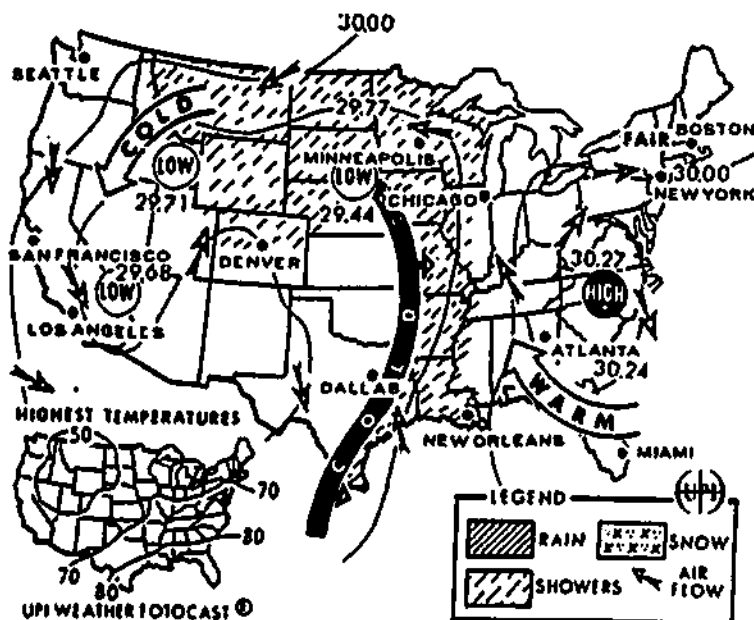

Seniors' cab fare hiked

Inflation has hit the reduced-rate taxi program for senior citizens in Mount Prospect. The cost of a ride within the village limits will rise from 30 cents to 50 cents on Friday. Robert Birks, president of Prospect Cab Co., said the increase will allow the firm to break even on the program. "We've lost $2,000 for the year in doing it," he said. The village will continue to provide 95 cents toward each ride through a federal grant. More than 600 senior citizens participate in the program.

Picasso tours start today

Tours will start today at the site of "The Bather," the Pablo Picasso sculpture being erected at the Gould Center in Rolling Meadows. Visitors will be able to watch Norwegian artist Carl Nesjar and assistants put the structure together from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays for the duration of construction, about two months. The Gould Center is on Algonquin Road near the Northwest Tollway.

Don't WIN, just BUY: automakers

DETROIT (UPI) — "You Auto Buy Now" is an old winning slogan that Detroit automakers would like to substitute for President Ford's "Don't Buy" campaign against inflation.

Industry executives prefer to criticize Washington for this month's shocking decline in car sales rather than put the blame on those $400 price rises they imposed on the 1975 models.

"People have been asked not to buy and they are not buying," lamented Chrysler Corp. chairman Lynn Townsend last week after the No. 3 automaker reported an $8 million third-quarter loss. Its nine-month financial performance was the worst since 1970.

PEOPLE ARE GAWKING at the new models that officially went on sale early this month. But salesmen are not closing many deals.

"I'm seeing a lot of customers, but there's a 'wait-and-see' attitude," said Joe Girard, a Chevrolet salesman in East Detroit who sells more cars than any other man in the world.

"Some of the prospects actually think that prices may drop if sales keep going down," Girard said. "But the guys that are buying want the big, loaded cars. The money doesn't make any difference to them."

Sales in the first 20 days of October were off nearly 22 per cent from last year's already depressed levels. Townsend said there was a marked drop right after President Ford's Kansas City speech calling on Americans to slow down their buying. "If no one buys, then nobody works," Girard said of Ford's advice. "Why doesn't he tell them to buy smaller cars, not just don't buy at all."

"Cars are the bloodline of the United States. If the blood doesn't flow, everything stops."

THAT'S THE ATTITUDE of the men in the top Detroit executive suites. They contend the automobile business already is in a recession and needs emergency help from Washington because the industry is dragging the rest of the country down with it.

"We believe the auto industry, based on the sales we are now seeing, is in a situation that should attract the attention of the President of the United States and give him some cause for concern," Townsend said. Financial analysts don't expect either GM or Ford to show a third-quarter loss, but it is doubtful "Big Three" quarterly profits will come anywhere near matching the $344.3 million earned a year ago. The nine-month performance could be the worst in 13 years.

Turks fire on Cyprus village

Turkish troops fired small arms and automatic weapons against a village in southeast Cyprus for about one hour Tuesday night but no casualties were reported, Greek Cypriot authorities said Wednesday. A government statement said Turkish soldiers opened fire from hills overlooking the village of Pyla, a short distance from the British base of Dhekelia.

Kill U.N. move to expel South Africa

The United States, Britain and France delivered an unprecedented triple-veto Wednesday, killing an African resolution recommending the expulsion of South Africa from the United Nations. The council voted 10-3 with two abstentions in favor of excluding South Africa from the world body because of its racial policies, but the vetoes effectively stopped the move, which was backed by Communist and non-aligned nations.

Saigon police, demonstrators battle

Police in Saigon yesterday beat up a dozen anti-government congressmen and a Catholic priest and fought with small bands of rock-throwing demonstrators. Witnesses said the demonstrators had participated in a parade against corruption in government. At least 30 civilians and an unknown number of police were injured. In another area of the city a group of Buddhists fought with police. A 24-hour curfew was put on the region.

Dutch troops free 16 hostages

Dutch Marines stormed the Scheveningen prison last night and freed unharmed 16 hostages held at gunpoint by four convicts, a Justice Ministry spokesman announced. The four gunmen, who seized the hostages Saturday in a takeover of the Scheveningen prison chapel, were arrested, the spokesman said.

Cullerton innocent in recruiting case

Cook County Assessor P. J. Cullerton Wednesday was found innocent of illegally recruiting workers in his office to campaign for assessor candidate Thomas Tully. But one of Cullerton's top aides, Robert A. Moran, head of personnel, was found guilty of contempt of court for violating a 1972 court order prohibiting such recruitment. The judge said he would fine Moran court costs in the case, but would not impose further punishment.

Nixon improved, but still critical

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Former President Richard M. Nixon was described by his doctors Wednesday as improved but still in critical condition, suffering pain, restlessness and nausea.

Ronald Ziegler, former White House press secretary, said Nixon almost died Tuesday afternoon but was pulled out of shock by fast action by his doctors.

The 61-year-old chief executive has a strong will to live and the strength and courage to pull through, Ziegler said.

Nixon was under watch around the clock at Long Beach Memorial Hospital with emergency resuscitation equipment at his bedside.

A mid-morning medical bulletin said Nixon appeared to be in more stable condition Wednesday after a sudden deterioration of his circulatory system and internal bleeding following the operation on his groin to prevent movement of blood clots.

"It appears that his internal bleeding has stopped," the bulletin said. "His vital signs are stable."

Ziegler, one of the few aides to remain with Nixon after his resignation Aug. 9, talked with newsmen briefly at the hospital at noon.

"I don't think I need to tell you that we almost lost the former President yesterday afternoon," Ziegler said. "The doctors pulled him out of a very dangerous situation."

Ziegler was asked about "reports" that Nixon's mental and emotional state is such that he has lost the will to live.

"I know the former President has not lost the will to live," Ziegler said. "I think he has viewed the entire hospital stay with a great deal of courage. He's a man of great strength and courage and he'll pull out of it."

Dr. John Lungren, Nixon's personal physician, and Dr. Eldon B. Hickman, who performed surgery to block blood clots, said that "at this time it would be premature to provide a prognosis" on Nixon's chances for recovery.

The doctors said Nixon was in pain and experiencing restlessness and occasional nausea.

Lungren said he had talked with President Ford's White House physician, Dr. William Lukash, Tuesday night and Wednesday morning and that Lukash "expressed President Ford's deep concern over Mr. Nixon's condition."

"He asked me to convey to the former president and Mrs. Nixon that his prayers are for his full and complete recovery," Lungren said.

Mrs. Pat Nixon and daughters Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Cox were at Long Beach Memorial Hospital Wednesday. Mrs. Betty Ford, who recently underwent surgery for breast cancer, called Mrs. Nixon Wednesday to express her best wishes in a time of severe strain, the White House disclosed.

Meanwhile in Washington, a lawyer for Nixon, citing the former president's illness, Wednesday withdrew a court motion seeking to have his White House tapes and documents rushed to California to enable him to prepare for testimony in the Watergate coverup trial.

Attorney Herbert J. Miller said he withdrew the motion, which was filed Friday, because of the "unfortunate circumstance" — a reference to Nixon's critical condition.

Miller said the material will not be needed until Nixon improves, "God willing."

Rocky's wealth remains major concern

REP. PETER RODINO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Judiciary Committee members who interrupted campaigns to examine a report on an FBI investigation of vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller said Wednesday they were more concerned about his wealth than anything the FBI found.

Although Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said he thought some items in the FBI report could be embarrassing to Rockefeller, others among the 11 members who attended expressed no concern over the 2,300-page FBI file.

"I believe there will be something, but I can't tell you what it is in it," Rodino told reporters.

Schedules outlined by Rodino and committee staff members indicate Congress may not take final action on the nomination until early next year. Rodino told reporters that there was a chance his panel's hearings may not begin until the week of Nov. 25 and staff members said they may last three or four weeks. The Senate Rules Committee plans to resume its hearings Nov. 13.

Asked if the file of "raw" or unevaluated material would hurt Rockefeller, Rep. Henry P. Smith III, R-N.Y., said, "No, I don't think so." There was no disclosure other than "what has already been in the newspapers," he said.

The file, comprising eight volumes and compiled by 350 agents who interviewed 1,300 persons, was made available to committee members for the first time Wednesday.

They expressed little if any concern about what the FBI reported, but several expressed reservations about approving Rockefeller's nomination because of his wealth.

"I think there is a legitimate political question here whether Congress should confirm him," said Rep. Walter Flowers, D-Ala. "I personally think the nomination could go either way on this point."

Military: attack was in retaliation

Israeli gunboats attack refugee camp

By United Press International

A squadron of Israeli gunboats bombarded the south Lebanon coastal Palestinian refugee camp of Rashidiyeh yesterday, just hours after the Lebanese army said it drove off an Israeli ground patrol in the same area.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli Defense Minister Shimon Peres said Israel would not negotiate with the Palestinian Liberation organization on setting up a new state on Israel's borders.

Preliminary casualty reports received at the offices of the Palestine News Agency in Beirut said three persons were killed and five others were wounded in the Israeli naval attack.

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli military command described the attack as retaliation for infiltration of three guerrillas killed by Israeli soldiers little more than 24 hours earlier. It said there was no return fire and the vessels returned safely.

The Arab sources said an estimated five Israeli gunboats approached the coastal refugee camp shortly after midnight and opened fire.

The shelling lasted about 45 minutes. A police source at the nearby town of Tyre said Lebanese artillery returned the fire.

Earlier, Lebanon charged that its troops drove off a 20-man Israeli patrol that had crossed the border near Tyre.

In Jerusalem, Peres said Israel was willing to negotiate with Jordan on the return of some parts of the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, but he ruled out talks with the Palestinian Liberation Organization on creation of an independent state. He said that would bring Soviet missiles to the gates of Jerusalem.

Peres spoke to students at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem shortly after King Hassan II of Morocco delivered what Arab diplomats considered a virtual ultimatum to Israel and the United States.

Hassan said Israel and the U.S. must bow to the Arab summit decision to back the PLO in setting up a sovereign state or risk a new military showdown in which billions of oil dollars would ensure victory for the Arabs.

Speaking at a news conference in Rabat as chairman of the just-ended Arab summit meeting, Hassan said "It is up to Israel now to make the next move. We will seize upon the slightest chance of liberating even one square inch of Palestinian territory."

Yasser Arafat, leader of the PLO, said in a separate statement Israel is mustering its forces for a "pre-emptive" fifth Arab-Israeli war and was using "blackmail" in an alleged bid to weaken Arab ranks.

Meanwhile, in Dacca, Bangladesh, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said he is confident Middle East peace negotiations are still possible despite the Arab states' recognition of the PLO as the sole representative of the Palestinian people.

Arctic plane crash kills 32

EDMONTON, Alta. (UPI) — A private aircraft attempting to land at an oil exploration site on an Arctic island missed the runway and crashed into the icy waters early yesterday killing 32 of the 34 persons aboard.

The plane, a four-engine Lockheed Electra owned and operated by Pan Arctic Oil Explorations Ltd., of Calgary, Alta., crashed near Rae Point, on Melville Island, 1,000 miles south of the North Pole.

A Pan Arctic spokesman said the two survivors were flown the 1,500 miles back to Edmonton and were hospitalized with frostbite and lacerations.

A Royal Canadian Mounted Police spokesman at division headquarters in Yellowknife, said police and Ministry of Transport officials were at the scene working in temperatures well below zero to recover bodies.

Cattlemen ask Ford to cut meat imports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spokesmen for livestock producers caught in a cost-price squeeze urged President Ford Wednesday to cut meat imports and give them a bigger share of the meat sold in American supermarkets.

Cattlemen have maintained consistently that limiting imports would not substantially boost consumer food bills because there is currently an extremely heavy supply of domestically produced beef.

The producers also suggested a number of other actions to ease their financial plight, including an increase in government price supports for milk.

The meeting lasted two hours, and Ford participated in most of it.

White House spokesmen reported Ford made "no commitments or promises," but participants said he promised to consider all their proposals. Ford told the livestock and poultry farmers he was "very much aware" of their painful financial problems and planned to meet with similar groups later this week. "My personal opinion is that we have at least a good chance" to get import limits by January, said Don F. Magdanz of Omaha, Neb., an official of the National Livestock Feeders Association.

Betty Ford may miss trip to Far East

Although she is making a satisfactory recovery from breast cancer surgery last month, Betty Ford's doctor says it is "highly unlikely" she will be able to accompany the President on his trip to the Far East in three weeks. If she does not go, her daughter Susan, 17, may go instead.

Soprano Beverly Sills, who underwent surgery for a malignancy in the pelvic area last week, will leave New York Hospital before the end of the week and resume her operatic engagements Nov. 20, it was announced Wednesday.

Retiring U.S. Ambassador Walter Annenberg left London Wednesday after serving five-and-a-half years as America's representative at the Court of St. James. The millionaire Philadelphia publisher revealed recently he had spent $250,000 a year of his own money on official business while ambassador to Britain. President Ford has not yet named a replacement.

Wednesday was marked as "Day of the Political Prisoner" throughout the Soviet Union and dissident physicist Andrei D. Sakharov said up to 10,000 political prisoners staged a mass hunger strike in Soviet jails and labor camps.

The male streaker who stunned movie stars and an international television audience by dashing nude across the stage during the Academy Award presentation was sentenced yesterday to four months in jail for appearing naked at a Los Angeles city council session. Robert Opel was not arrested following the streaking of the Oscar ceremony but was taken into custody later when he appeared unclothed at a council session debating laws against beach nudity. Opel refused "on principle" the judge's offer to cut his jail term if he would see a psychiatrist.

Kissing babies and putting dogs are standard in a political campaign, but Carl W. Jones of Raleigh County, W. Va., is not so sure it's worth it. The Republican candidate for county clerk is wearing bandages around a leg, courtesy of a dog attack while making the political rounds. The attack required tetanus and penicillin injections and four stitches.

Dead of an apparently heart attack at age 60 in his home is Harry Kalven Jr., a University of Chicago law professor and an authority on First Amendment rights and the American jury system.

Vets Club tries to help

Donald's 'everyday' tragedy

by WANDALYN RICE

Donald Sheler's story is an everyday kind of tragedy — he is almost 13 years old, has leukemia and wants to go to Disney World in Florida.

The Chicago boy and his family have been adopted by another group who are victims of a tragedy — the Vietnam era veterans — who have formed the Vets Club. That group and Harper College are trying to ensure he can go to Disney World.

The club members, including former POW John Young of Arlington Heights, and Harry Hoffer, this year's Harper student senate president, will begin a fund-raising drive Monday for Donald. They hope to raise $1,000 to finance the trip, planned for Thanksgiving.

THE VETS CLUB became involved with Donald, who lives with his family at 1803 N. Lowell, Chicago, through a blood drive it sponsored last spring which set up a blood replacement program for Harper students. The drive collected 200 pints of blood and this summer the club was asked to donate 50 pints to Donald, who was in the hospital and had used up his allotment.

"We were a little bit hesitant at first because he wasn't from the Northwest suburbs, but once we met Donny and his parents, we knew we'd get involved," said Pat O'Brien, Vets Club member.

The Vets Club had been involved in other projects at the college. It sponsored a voter registration drive and is looking for other projects.

"ALL OF OUR projects have done nothing to benefit us," O'Brien says. "When we organized, our idea was to help people getting out of the service, but the Vets office here at Harper is very efficient, so we haven't done much of that."

Prizes have been donated to the club and will be given to some persons who contribute to the drive, O'Brien said. All the money raised will be turned over to the Shelers.

Club members will collect donations at the college and plan to have posters put up around the school.

The drive will run from Monday through Nov. 18. Anyone interested in donating to the fund may call the Harper Veterans Affairs Office, 397-3000, ext. 254.

Woman hit by car as she walks in street

A woman walking down the middle of Hawthorne Lane near Junior Terrace was injured Tuesday evening when she was struck by a car.

Constance L. Davis, 47, of 360 Hawthorne Ln., was treated at Holy Family Hospital for cuts on her left ear and scalp. She told police she was walking in the street because there was no traffic.

The woman told police all she remembers before being struck was seeing a car coming southbound on Hawthorne and a car coming northbound. The northbound auto, driven by William R. Thelen, 31, of 815 E. Oakton St., struck the woman, police said. Thelen was not ticketed.

DiFonzo cited in Purolator theft scheme

by STEVE BROWN

Federal charges were filed Wednesday against Luigi M. (Lou) DiFonzo, the man suspected of bilking local investors out of $2.5 million from a Des Plaines-based silver commodities trading firm. In connection with the $4.3 million Purolator Security Co. theft.

Warrants were issued for DiFonzo, 28, and two other men charging them with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives to commit a felony. Six men have now been charged in the Oct. 20 heist.

DiFonzo is being described by some sources close to the probe as the possible mastermind of the scheme. Federal agents and Scotland Yard were seeking DiFonzo and two other men in Georgetown on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents have been circulating DiFonzo's picture throughout Chicago since Friday, The Herald has learned.

AN FBI INVESTIGATOR, reporting on a joint investigation by the FBI and Scotland Yard, also said that customs authorities on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies opened two suitcases "cramped full with U.S. paper currency" and returned them to DiFonzo.

The FBI said none of the loot carted from the money stronghold on Chicago's Near North Side Oct. 20 had been recovered. U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson, said the loot probably was shared by six or seven men believed to have been involved in the burglary.

A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted three men in the history-making theft.

An FBI complaint filed in U.S. District Court said one of the indicted men, self-styled master criminal Peter J. Gushi, has admitted he took part in the massive burglary and "received a sum of money."

IN A 10-PAGE affidavit attached to the complaint, FBI Special Agent Roman W.

Stratton said the three men, accompanied by Gushi, drove the money in DiFonzo's automobile to Columbus, Ohio, and charged a flight to Miami, Fla. From Miami, the complaint charged, DiFonzo flew on to Grand Cayman with about $1.5 million.

Stratton's affidavit said the men carried "about eight fairly large bags of family luggage" — which authorities believe held about 800 pounds of hard-to-trace, $10, $20 and $50 bills — when they passed through a Columbus airport.

The FBI said the four men registered at an airport motel in Miami. Gushi later returned to Chicago and DiFonzo chartered a plane and flew on, apparently alone, to the Caribbean hideaway, the investigator said.

The FBI said that when DiFonzo arrived at Grand Cayman he carried a briefcase and two large suitcases "so heavy each required two men to place them in the plane."

Agents said they learned customs officials ordered the luggage opened and found it crammed with U.S. paper currency. All of it was returned to DiFonzo, agents said.

THE FBI AFFIDAVIT said Gushi tried by phone to charter a boat from Islamorada, Fla., to Grand Cayman but marina officials said they refused because of bad weather.

Stratton said Gushi identified himself, DiFonzo and Charles Marzano as "major participants" in the vault looting.

The federal grand jury indicted Gushi, 47; Ralph Marrera, 31, a suspended security guard accused of being the "inside man" in the breaching of the vault; and James "Jimmy the Greek" Maniatis, accused of supplying the van in which investigators said the money was carted away.

The three, all in custody on cash bonds ranging up to $1 million, were charged with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives in commission of a felony.

GHOSTS, GOBLINS and werewolves will be occupying a spooky haunted house all this week, sponsored by the Wheeling Instrumental League. The house at 460 N. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling, will be open today from 6:30 to 10 p.m. Hours Friday and Saturday will be 6:30 to 11 p.m. Admission to the house, limited to junior high school students and up, is $1.50. A shuttle bus to the house will leave the high school, 900 S. Elmhurst Rd., at various intervals. Proceeds go to the school band.

but continued weeping as photographs of her husband's body were introduced as evidence.

Asked by Magness about his father's condition when he saw him on Nov. 11, 1969, Tallon answered: "What was his condition? He was very dead."

Arlington Heights Det. Otto Schuster testified that he was on routine patrol the morning of the crime and that he was the second officer at the scene.

SCHUSTER SAID Tallon was found lying face down on the porch of a home at 621 N. Wilke Rd. across the street from the station. Next to the body, he said was glass apparently broken in the struggle between Tallon and his attackers.

Schuster testified he found the cash register of the gas station open and the west window of the office broken.

As police reconstruct the crime, Tallon, alone in the station about 3 a.m., was confronted by robbers at knife-point. A struggle ensued inside the station, police theorize, and Tallon dove through the office window to escape.

He was pursued across Wilke Road and stabbed to death on the front porch of 621 N. Wilke Rd., police said. Taken in the robbery was $87 and a ring from the victim, according to reports.

The trial resumes today at 10 a.m. in the Civic Center.

Elgin youth nabbed in gas station theft

An Elgin youth was arrested Tuesday on a theft charge after he allegedly took $363 cash from the Cito Quickmart, 1 W. Golf Rd., Hoffman Estates.

Elmer Olsen, 18, was among four persons in a car that stopped at the service station for gasoline, police said. When the car drove off, a bank bag containing the cash and some credit card slips was discovered missing from the station office.

The car was stopped by Carpentersville police after its description was radioed to neighboring departments and Olsen was arrested, police said.

The sky's the limit for the shoeless jumper.

The Buffalo Grove Mall, which stretches along Dundee Road, provides a variety of stores and parking.

Ranch Mart provides 'most everything' Shoppers stay close

by BETTY LEE

A young woman with her two children at the Ranch Mart Shopping Center in Buffalo Grove answered the question without hesitation.

Convenience is why people remain close to home when they do their shopping, the storeowners say. Even with the downtowns of nearby communities and the massive Woodfield and Randhurst shopping centers, residents tend to stay within the village limits.

Buffalo Grove, unlike nearby communities, exists without a downtown area. For many suburbs, downtown is the focal point and its existence helps people identify with the place where they live or work. Its shops and businesses compose the lifeline of the community.

IN BUFFALO GROVE, most of the shopping is restricted to three areas: Buffalo Grove Mall at Dundee and Arlington Heights roads, Ranch Mart at Dundee and Buffalo Grove roads and the Dunell Center on Dundee.

Expansion in Buffalo Grove is on the minds of developers. Ranch Mart will almost double in size with a proposed project adding more than 50,000 square feet. A new shopping center called Plaza Verde is under construction on Dundee Road, west of Arlington Heights Road.

Village officials are thinking of a town center which would feature a shopping center, offices, recreational center and other facilities. The district, to be developed on an 80-acre site between Buffalo Grove Road and Ill. Rte. 83, north of Lake Cook Road, is to be a community focal point.

Many merchants believe the future of Buffalo Grove commerce remains in the present shopping centers. "Shopping centers are here to stay, as long as there are the right type of stores and the right type of merchandise," said Herbert Pink, manager of Plaza Shoes at Ranch Mart.

PINK, WHO HAS run the store for almost five years, said he tries to maintain an "old-fashioned neighborhood store. We give just as nice selection as department stores and try to treat the customers right," he said. "We have a repeat-type business. People come in and say we fit them better."

Another storeowner at Ranch Mart, Jim Doyle, believes that the merchants at the shopping center are concerned about their businesses and their role in the community.

"As merchants, we care a lot about what goes on in the village," Doyle said. He and his partner Stan Margulies are co-owners of Rose-Lynn Flooring.

"Why do people come to this shopping center? We spend a lot of money keeping this place attractive and in keeping the area clean," Doyle said.

THE RANCH MART merchants back a variety of village activities, such as the annual window-painting contest for children, he added. It also sponsors boys' baseball teams.

"Most people, if they could, would rather shop in their own locality," Doyle said, adding that a portion of the sales tax goes to the village, which in turn provides services to residents.

Merchants at the Buffalo Grove Mall say that customers like its convenient location and the enclosed shopping area. "A person can shop store to store and not be hampered by the outside," said Phillip Adler, manager of Alan B. Ltd.

"There is no major fashion store here," Adler said. "These stores are mostly specialty shops. People might be happier with a major store."

THERE ARE VIRTUALLY no parking problems at the Buffalo

Grove Mall and problems with bringing children to shop are minimized by the enclosed mall, said Marge Sklenear, manager of the Toadstool.

"Most of the customers are from the neighborhood, within walking distance," she said.

Shoppers say that convenience is the most attractive feature about both these centers. "It's close to home and I like all the stores," said Mattie Callahan, who was shopping with her daughter at Buffalo Grove Mall. "The clerks are nice and they make you feel at home."

Linda Willingham of Buffalo Grove shops at the mall three to four times a week for groceries. "I live nearby and there's a variety of stores here I like," she said. Another shopper, Kathy Stirsman, brings her young daughter with her when she shops at the mall about three times a week.

"I like it because it has enough things in one place," Mrs. Stirsman said. "I'd rather come here instead of downtown Wheeling or Arlington Heights."

SEVERAL MERCHANTS are wary of the proposed town center, the others believe it would help the village. Money that has been funneled into planning for the town center should have been spent on unfinished projects such as village parks, two merchants said.

"I feel optimistic about business," Doyle said. "Five years ago Buffalo Grove was half the size it is today. There has been tremendous growth and tremendous customer loyalty. It's only going to get better."

"This is where people want to travel and this is where they want to shop," The building of the town center, he added, might result in more traffic and congestion along Dundee Road.

Tours begin today at site of Rolling Meadows' Picasso

Tours begin today at the site of Picasso's sculpture, "The Bather," at the Gould Center, Golf Road near the Northwest Tollway in Rolling Meadows.

Jack Jackson, vice president of Gould Inc. said special tours will be available starting today, and will continue through completion of the work of art, in about two months. Visiting hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

Groups of 10 or more persons are asked to arrange appointments to see the construction by contacting Pat Carnahan, 683-3464, Ext. 72.

WOODEN FORMS showing the entire structure of the nude female bather are in place but it may be as long as three weeks before they are prepared to begin receiving black Norwegian granite aggregate, which is to be packed solidly within the forms.

Carl Nesjar, Norwegian artist who collaborated with Pablo Picasso on 16 other concrete sculptures, will pack the aggregate into the forms using a vibrating rod to be sure all spaces and crevices are well filled. Thin liquid concrete then is pumped into the forms, from the bottom, until the structure is filled and starts running out the top, said a spokesman for Gould. Nesjar is the only artist Picasso authorized to construct sculptures with the process.

Once the concrete is well-hardened, the forms are removed. The aggregate has been coated with the concrete, and will appear white. Nesjar then will draw on the concrete, creating detail with a sandblasting gun to remove the outer coating of concrete leaving black lines.

The 28-foot tall structure will weigh more than 50 tons.

Visitors to the site will see the process, known as Betograving, in all stages. Guides will explain what Nesjar and his artisans are doing as they work. Visitors will be received on a viewing platform.

GOULD OBTAINED the Picasso last February, after negotiating with the artist for more than a year before his death in 1973. Rights finally were obtained from the Louisiana Museum near Copenhagen, which originally had secured the work. It will be the second major outdoor sculpture by the famous artist in the Chicago area, joining the metal sculpture at the downtown Chicago Civic Center.

Work originally had been scheduled to start last May, and then was postponed to July but did not get under way until October.

The $31 million Gould center covers 40 acres, and when completed will include a 10-story tower, a sports center and several smaller office buildings. Already occupied is the research and development building. A management building, described by officials as a "minicollege" for Gould personnel, and the tower are under construction.

IEA checklist ignores nasty issues

Today is Halloween, and it's also the day Nevada entered the Union and the day Martin Luther signed one of the principal documents of the Reformation in 1517.

This week has a number of other holidays. Sunday was Theodore Roosevelt's birthday and also "Good Bear Day." Monday was the anniversary of the founding of Harvard University and Tuesday was James Boswell's birthday.

In addition, this is American Education Week.

I'm not sure which of the events listed above is most important, primarily because things like "Education Week" usually end up either as non-observances or periods when some special interest group goes to work to promote its own cause.

This year, American Education Week is being celebrated by the traditional bulletin boards in schools, by some place-mats printed by people in High School Dist. 214 and being used in local restaurants, and by the Illinois Education Assn., the state's largest teachers' union.

THE IEA CELEBRATION is the most interesting. The IEA has distributed leaflets with a checklist of questions they suggest parents ask about their school. The questions relate to a set of school standards drawn up by the IEA and divided into lists for teachers, principals and PTA leaders.

Looking at the list of questions is educational — and indirectly says something, I suspect, about the problems facing education today.

Education today

by Wandalyn Rice

The leaflet, for example, suggests parents ask their child's teachers whether he or she has a teachers aide to grade papers and do clerical tasks, whether there is one full-time counselor for each 250 students in the school and whether there are more than 20 students in the child's class.

THE QUESTIONS for the school principal include ones about playground supervision, evaluation of teachers and whether substitute teachers are fully certified teachers.

There are other questions, of course, and taken together they probably will give a parent a pretty good idea about programs in the school.

But there are some questions that aren't asked — and that I suspect the IEA would not want to suggest.

For example, the leaflet doesn't suggest parents ask how much the school district would have to raise taxes to bring classes down to 20 children each. It also doesn't suggest parents ask how large a raise the IEA plans to demand in salary negotiations. Nor, in fact, are there any specific questions relating to a teacher's personal philosophy of education.

I DON'T MEAN the IEA's questions, or even the standards they have drawn up for schools, are not good. But they aren't complete, and they don't really address themselves to some public concerns.

For example, a mother said to me recently, "The only thing I hope for every year when my kids start school is that they won't get a teacher who will completely crush and destroy them."

That mother, who is well-educated and upper-middle class, doesn't seem to have much faith in teachers and the teaching process. And I have the feeling that instead of suggesting that classrooms should have just 20 children (a suggestion many take to mean teachers don't want to work), the IEA probably should be addressing itself to the widespread disenchantment with teachers in general.

Oh, I've read enough arguments between school boards and teachers about "accountability" to know school boards tend to blame teachers for the schools' failings and teachers tend to blame boards and administrators.

I also know that in public schools in the last few years, questions of responsibility and "accountability" have become politicized. Various societal problems have been laid on education and educators — and much of the time they are getting a bad rap because the problems are beyond solution.

BUT EDUCATION and educators have been caught up in the widespread disappearance of faith that has affected other institutions.

The IEA questionnaire is an attempt to involve parents in education, presumably hoping they will understand it and be more friendly toward it.

But the IEA probably should also address itself to the nastiest questions asked about educators in general and teachers' unions in particular. It might be more useful than a checklist.

Super Bowl ducats latest gimmick for Lottery sales

Lottery tickets sold in the next three weeks could carry with them free trips to New Orleans for the Super Bowl as well as cash.

Beginning with tickets sold Tuesday, Illinois Lottery officials are offering 25 pairs of Super Bowl ticket packages for the weekend of Jan. 12, 1975. The trips include a three-day excursion to New Orleans, airfare to and from the Gulf Coast city, hotel accommodations for three nights, two 50-yard line seats for the game, an opportunity to meet the football players at a reception and dinner and $100 spending money.

It's all included in a bonus game called, "The Fall Windfall," with winners being announced Dec. 5.

Eligibility for the special Super Bowl prizes is separate from the other, weekly games held every Thursday and will apply only for tickets bought through Nov. 12.

FOLLOWING EACH weekly drawing on Nov. 7, 14 and 21, a Super Bowl special drawing will take place Winning Lottery numbers will appear in Friday's Herald.

In which two extra three-digit numbers will be drawn. If you match the three-digit numbers on your ticket, whether both in the Bonanza section, the Millionaire section, or one in each section with the bonus numbers for that week you have qualified for the Dec. 5 bonus drawing.

Individuals qualifying for the bonus drawing must turn in their winning tickets at any of the nine claim centers or nine district offices by Nov. 29. Upon registering, qualifiers sign their name and address on the back of the ticket, which is sent to lottery headquarters in Springfield for verification and use in the drawing. Twenty-five tickets will then be drawn Dec. 5 and the names revealed.

The tickets purchased during this period will also apply to the regular Bonanza and Millionaire special drawings and numbers to determine eligibility for those two games will be held as usual.

Harper to hold meatcutting demonstration

A meatcutting demonstration Monday at Harper College will help consumers learn how to buy meat.

The demonstration, at 9:30 p.m. in the college center, is free to the public.

Facts about purchasing a whole or quarter of beef will be discussed as a side of beef is divided into roasts, steaks, stew meat, ground meat, waste and bones.

The side of beef, weighing from 300-400 pounds, is being donated by the Apollo Packing Co., Chicago, through owner Alex P. Kalamars.

Members of the National Livestock Meat Board who will conduct the meatcutting demonstration are Ken Johnson, Dave McGill and Bob Blasey. Dan Pollock of the Stockyard Packing Co., Chicago, will show various wholesale and retail cuts of meat donated by that firm.

The program is sponsored by the college food service career program and is part of a joint meeting of junior and senior chapters of Food Service Executives organization.

If cars are nation's lifeblood, 'it's time for a transfusion': Detroit thing — layoffs. In Chrysler's case it may also mean the closing of an entire assembly plant for good, not just a couple of weeks.

Townsend said that if sales don't pick up in the next month, its Jefferson Avenue assembly plant in Detroit, where Chryslers and luxury Imperials are built, will be closed. The chain reaction on unemployment will go far beyond the 5,000 workers at the 67-year-old plant.

CHRYSLER IS Detroit's largest employer and some United Auto Workers sources say a shutdown at Jefferson Avenue could mean the loss of another 20,000 jobs at Chrysler and in supplier plants. It would also result in layoffs for the workers who fill candy machines, at laundries that clean and repair shop aprons and in the hundreds of small stores and bars surrounding the plant on Detroit's East Side.

"If they close the plant they knock 5,000 guys out onto the streets and what the hell they gonna do," said Walter A. Smith, a 37-year-old paint sprayer at the plant.

Townsend said Chrysler still has about $250 per car in unrecovered costs and will probably raise its prices again before Christmas. That won't help sales but it won't be the main reason for their slump.

"THE NO. 1 THING affecting the auto market is consumer confidence," he said. "It overrides any other reason for sales being down."

"People have been asked not to buy and they're behaving. What we need, and I would like to see the President begin, is a major program to encourage auto sales."

Townsend doesn't have anything against Ford's WIN (Whip Inflation Now) program, but he'd rather "You Auto Buy Now," a campaign the industry used to help pull itself out of the late 1950s recession.

Housewives register 'prime beef,' charge U.S. ripping them off

by United Press International
A U.S. Dept. of Agriculture information session on proposed changes in the grading of meat turned into a prime beef Wednesday when the dozen housewives began complaining about the price of steak and walked out in protest.

"I'm tired of being lied to by my government!" shouted the housewives' leader, Jan Schakowsky, as her followers rose and stalked out of the meeting in the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

W. Edmund Tyler, chief, standardization branch, livestock division, USDA, and Nancy Harvey Steorts, special assistant to the secretary of agriculture for consumer affairs, presided over the session to explain the proposed changes.

EACH MADE OPENING statements but even before the introductions were completed the housewives began calling out, "Is this another government rip-off?" and "Who do you people really represent?"

Both Miss Steorts and Tyler explained to the women that the proposed changes were technical and that if carried out could represent actual price reductions at the meat counter.

Tyler said the changes would mean more beef would be considered of prime grade, and, by following the "laws of supplies and demand, this will mean lower prices."

Another shouted, "What you're doing is telling us that we are going to say there are 14 ounces to the pound and you will get more for your money."

THE LEADER, Mrs. Schakowsky, was not near a microphone but shouted across the room. "This is a plain ripoff of the consumer. We are opposed to anything that will give us less for our dollars."

Then she demanded of Miss Steorts, "Are you representing us?" Before Miss Steorts could reply, Mrs. Schakowsky said, "You're supposed to be defending the consumer and we wanted to know right now if you are with us or against us."

Miss Steorts said the questions were improper and that she would have a statement when the information sessions are completed.

PHILIP M. CRANE

End inflation via spending curb: Crane

Inflation will continue to plague the American public until Congress is forced to spend within its means, said U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, at an insurance industry conference Wednesday in Rosemont.

Crane told a gathering of the National Assn. of Mutual Insurance Companies the "profoundly immoral" inflationary tax can be traced to overspending by Congress.

"The tragic fact is this is good politics in the short run," Crane said. The public has been confused by the popular definitions of inflation, which include rising prices, he continued. Crane said an expansion of the money supply is the true definition of inflation and rising prices is a by-product of this.

The inflation rate could reach as high as 15 per cent by 1975 if the public does not force Congress to limit spending, Crane said. He cited the increasing amount of money to finance the federal budget deficit as a major factor in the inflation upturn. With the exceptions of military, pension and debt retirement spending, Crane favors across-the-board budget cuts to balance the federal budget.

A SECOND major factor in the burden of rapidly rising prices for the public and small businesses is overregulation and "paper pushing" requirements, Crane said. He criticized federal intervention in pollution control, safety and the regulation of advertising.

The demise of small business will lead to the eventual takeover by large companies, Crane said. He called for less government intervention as a means to halt this trend. Crane advised the insurance representatives not to despair about current economic trends, and to avoid the "Chicken Little syndrome running amok in our country."

Inflation and the economic outlook were discussed by speaker Edward B. Rust, president of State Farm Insurance Group and immediate past president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Rust predicts a further decline in housing starts and auto production, rising unemployment and at best a flat growth rate for the Gross National Product in 1975.

Rust does not foresee a significant decline in the rate of inflation in the next several months. This will mean rising costs for insurance premiums as the cost of claims increases, he said. The failure of insurance companies in some states will impose added costs for bailing out the ailing firms, he said.

ROBERT P. MAYO, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, said the unprecedented inflation of 1973-1974 was the result of many factors. "In the perspective of 20-20 hindsight, it seems to me that monetary policy also played a role in adding to inflationary pressures," Mayo said.

He discounted the suggestion that a fixed rate for monetary growth should be established. Mayo said his agency has "no magic wands to wave." Useful legislation coordinated with monetary policy is necessary to dampen inflation and resume normal economic growth, he said.

Child psych study group established

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15

Study groups in child psychology are being set up by the PTA at Virginia Lake School, 925 N. Rohlwing Rd., Palatine. More than 100 parents attended a program on parent-child communications last month sponsored by the parent education committee of the PTA. Several parents signed up for the study groups following the program. The groups will be led by a person trained in the Dreikurs principals of child psychology and the groups will use the book "Children, the Challenge," by Rudolph Dreikurs as a text.

Parents interested in joining a study group should contact Anna Kils of the Virginia Lake PTA at 358-9140. Parents may view a counseling session of the Dreikurs method at 8 p.m. the second Tuesday of each month at Miner Junior High School, 1101 E. Miner, Arlington Heights.

Table space still is available for exhibitors at the Winston Churchill PTA arts and crafts fair Nov. 16.

Space will be rented for $5 and exhibitors should reserve space by Monday by calling PTA ways and means committee chairman Debby Reynolds at 359-4401.

The exhibit will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the gymnasium of the school, 120 Babcock Ln., Palatine. Crafts will include quilting, tinware, buckles, calligraphy, weaving and pine-cone centerpieces.

An exhibit of children's art work also will be on display in the hallway of the school. Three or four selections from children in each class will be exhibited.

River Trails Dist. 26

The Feehanville School PTA will sponsor a fun fair at the school, 1400 E. Kensington Rd., Mount Prospect, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

A country store will be featured as well as a spook house, cupcake walk, live goldfish game, Bozo Buckets and other games. Refreshments will include pizza, hot dogs, potato chips, cupcakes, ice cream, soft drinks and coffee.

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Hoffman School's annual book fair will be Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the school, 101 Grand Canyon St., Hoffman Estates.

The fair is sponsored by the school PTA. Educational books, games and other materials will be sold in the multi-purpose room.

The PTA at Fox School, 1035 Parkview Dr., Hanover Park, will hold an adult hobby show at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The crafts and hobbies of parents, teachers and friends will be on display in the school's multi-purpose room. Refreshments will be served. Persons wishing to display a hobby or craft should contact the PTA's cultural arts chairman, Jo Bear, at 837-0046.

Parents in most of the schools in Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 turned in between 50 and 60 bottles of medicine per school in the district's recent "Clean the Medicine Cabinet" campaign.

The PTA sponsored the campaign as part of its drug abuse program. Parents were asked to bring old or unused bottles of medicine to their local pharmacy for disposal.

The returned bottles ranged from nine to 79 in the district's 24 schools. Most of the drugs turned in were tranquilizers, sleeping pills and pain relievers.

St. Zachary School

St. Zachary School children will be entertained by Wally Matz today during a special Halloween program.

Metz is a professional clown who has worked with several circuses. He will change from a well-dressed businessman to a clown while the children are watching. Metz also will entertain with magic tricks and balloon animals.

The program is sponsored by the St. Zachary Home School Assn., which is providing treats for the children. The program will be followed by the performance of two Halloween plays by the fourth- and sixth-grade classes.

Maine Township High School Dist. 207

Maine North High School's gymnastics club will present "Spooknastics," a special Halloween performance, at 7:30 p.m. today and Friday in the school's auxiliary gym, 9511 Harrison St., Des Plaines.

The program will feature flying human bats, ghosts and witches. Tickets may be purchased at the door for $1.

High School Dist. 214

Rolling Meadows High School's annual "Band-O-Rama Concert" will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the school's theater, 2001 Central Rd.

Appearing at the concert will be Sophie Ann Schwab, baton twirler with the Northwestern University Marching Band. Miss Schwab holds over 550 local, state and national baton twirling championships, including Miss Teenage Majorette of America and National Strutting Champion.

Admission to the 8 p.m. concert is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students or $2.50 for a family admission.

The Elk Grove High School Concert choir will cut its second Christmas record Thursday, Nov. 7, to be ready for distribution during the first two weeks of December.

A variety of seasonal music will be featured in the album, including a medley of familiar carols. A copy of the record can be reserved by calling Harry Swenson at 439-4800, ext. 76.

School lunch menus

The following lunches will be served Friday in area schools where a hot lunch program is provided (subject to change without notice):

Schools

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21

Today will be taffy apple day at Stevenson School, 1375 S. Wolf Rd., in celebration of Halloween.

Students in the primary grades will parade in costume through the school after lunch. The school also will hold Halloween parties at the school from 7 to 9 p.m. for all grades.

Students in Team A at Field School in Wheeling will be going to George Williams College Camp in Williams Bay, Wis., Nov. 13-15.

Students will study outdoor education, science, social studies and language arts. Teachers from the school will accompany the students.

The cost of the trip including meals, bus fee and insurance for the three days is $20.

Arlington Heights Dist. 25

A parent information seminar will be at Greenbrier School, 2330 N. Verde, Arlington Heights, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, in the multi-purpose room.

The seminar is part of a district-wide program to open channels of communication between the school district and the public. Representatives of the board of education, district administration and Greenbrier staff will be on hand to discuss issues and answer questions.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

"Kris Kringle's Christmas Corner," will be offered at Grant Wood School, 225 E. Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village, Nov. 7 and 8. It will be sponsored by the school's PTC.

Children will be able to do their Christmas shopping early, choosing from a variety of crafted items, including bean bag frogs, tooth fairy bags, finger puppets and pencil holders. Proceeds will go to the school's cultural arts program.

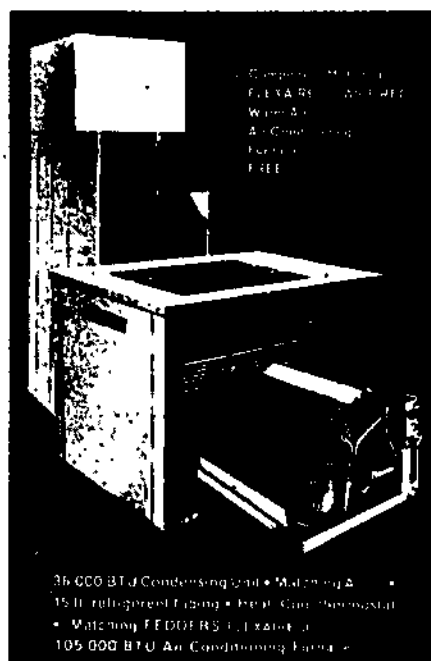

Ridge School, 630 Ridge Ave., Elk Grove Village, will stage its annual fun fair from 12:30 p.m.-5 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 9, at the school. Featured will be games, prizes, food, a bakery and raffle.

Half a loaf better than none

As one of our homespun philosophers said, "There's more than one way to skin a cat or develop a squeeze."

South went right up with dummy's ace of trumps and took stock. If he could just keep leading from his own hand he could ruff out three spades and score seven trumps plus five side-suit cards. However, he doubted if his opponents would let him do that. Could he ruff two spades?

Yes, he could, provided he did not run into a 4-1 trump break. So South proceeded to lead a spade to his ace; ruff a spade and play ace and another diamond.

East won and led a second trump. When West followed, South breathed a sigh of relief. He held the trick in his own hand; ruffed a spade with dummy's last trump; led and ruffed a diamond from dummy; cashed his last trump and smiled happily at the world in general.

East had been forced to throw a spade on the third diamond. Obviously the last trump was going to squeeze him in spades and clubs. It did and the slam came home.

What were the other ways to make the slam? Clubs might break 3-3 or with slightly different distribution, West could have been squeezed in the major suits.

Cutting through all the bunk about lecithin

What are we supposed to believe any more? For several years I have diligently watched my intake of certain foods. Except for foods such as cakes, cookies and pancakes, I have specifically avoided eggs, cheeses, butter, and whole milk.

Now, I read in the attached newspaper article that these are some of the very foods that would help to control cholesterol because of the lecithin in the egg yolks. What gives? What is lecithin?

Is it any wonder that the public is all mixed up where diets are concerned? One doctor advises to "count calories." Another says to "avoid carbohydrates." Another counsels "drinking eight glasses of water a day." Dr. Lamb, what are we supposed to believe any more?

There are many commercial interests in the health field. There are also a lot of completely unqualified people and plain quacks pouring out a steady stream of misinformation to the public. I agree the public has ample reason to be confused.

The best I can tell you is to look to the person's qualifications or the qualifications of the source he quotes. As a case in point, the article advising lecithin you sent is based on ignorance. It is true, however, that cakes and cookies can be a source of fat and cholesterol. Years ago it was shown that you could inject lecithin into the bloodstream and it helped to clear the fats and cholesterol in the blood. Note that it was injected into the blood, not swallowed.

In fact, our own body manufactures lecithin to put into the bloodstream for these purposes. It is manufactured from different basic food blocks.

Now that is far different from swallowing things. Lecithin that is swallowed, not injected into the bloodstream, is digested and never absorbed into the body, let alone into the bloodstream as lecithin. Meanwhile, untold numbers of people read the kind of thing you sent me and waste their money on pills that would be better spent on good, wholesome food.

THE LIMITATION of fat, cholesterol, and calories to avoid

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

obesity is the recommendation of a broad group of well-recognized scientists, including physicians and nutritionists. Their recommendations should be considered as from the best available source, as opposed to some untrained individual's unscientific opinion.

We have no method to control the kind of material printed and available to the public, as we do in the control of products, such as foods and drugs. That is the problem. Within the medical profession and associated disciplines, we have scientific journals. To publish something in these the article must be reviewed by a competent editorial board.

For this reason you will not read in these journals on nutrition or biochemistry or circulation any statement like you sent time. The board will recognize at once the errors in such statements, and it will be rejected. Unfortunately, we have no way of doing this outside our scientific journals. To do so would involve a form of censorship that might be worse.

You may be interested to know that those people who have popularized no carbohydrates or eight glasses of water a day, or swallowing lecithin pills have never been able to do work of sufficient quality to be suitable for publication in a scientific journal.

Nickel-a-pack jump in cigaret prices near?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three major tobacco companies have announced increases in cigaret prices that could mean a nickel per pack jump to the smoker.

R. J. Reynolds, Lorillard division of Loew's Corp. and Philip Morris Inc. announced increased wholesale prices of from 50 cents to 70 cents per 1,000 cigarettes.

A Lorillard official said an increase of 70 cents in the wholesale price could mean from 1 to 2 cents more per pack in the retail price.

But Mill Bloomrosen, president of the Wholesale Tobacco Distributors of New York, said the retail price hike would be even higher.

"It's going to cost them (retailers) 2 cents a pack from our level," he said. "They are going to add a margin of profit to their investment. In normal times, it would mean an increase of 3 cents a pack. But they have a penny shortage and I would assume they are going to go to a nickel."

"The unfortunate part," said Bloomrosen, "is that the consumer gets saddled with the whole package."

Free diabetes tests offered

Northwest suburban residents are urged to take a free diabetes test as part of the National Diabetes Week Nov. 17-23.

More than 90 hospitals in Chicago and northern Illinois will join this free testing effort to uncover existing and latent diabetic persons. Nearly 20,000 tests are expected to be given.

Hospitals giving free tests include Northwest Community in Arlington Heights, Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village, Holy Family in Des Plaines and Lutheran General in Park Ridge. Residents should call the hospitals for an appointment.

The American Diabetes Assn. estimates that there are 200,000 persons with known and latent diabetes in the Chicago area, with 60 per cent unaware that they have the disease.

EPA charges Palatine with disposal-site violation

by LEA TONKIN

Crackdown on solid-waste disposal sites: the Village of Palatine is among the landfill site operators named in recent complaints prepared by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and filed before the Illinois Pollution Control Board by state Atty. Gen. William J. Scott.

The village is charged with operating a refuse disposal site without a permit as required by Illinois solid-waste disposal regulations.

Palatine Village Mgr. Anton Harwig said he was surprised by the state complaint. "We're going to ask that they reconsider, because we're the ones who initiated the application for the permit," he said.

The permit application was begun in May for a landfill site near the intersection of Northwest Highway and Smith Street. Dirt from water leak holes and street sweepings are disposed at the site. "We have no reason to expect that the permit will not be granted," he said.

Richard Briceland, director of the Illinois EPA, said July 27 was the deadline for obtaining the necessary permits. The complaint's filed against the village and several other Illinois landfill operators represent an effort to protect citizens from problems that accompany improperly-operated landfills or illegal garbage dumps. "Garbage dumps can cause both air and water pollution and can serve as breeding grounds for rats, mice and insects," he said.

The U. S. Dept.

FISH AND SHELL life were destroyed as the result of an oil pipeline spill in Ventura County, Calif., this year. The Dept. of the Interior projects increased oil spillage could be released during expanded offshore oil production.

Offshore drilling cautioned

The U. S. Dept. of the Interior says opening 10 million acres for offshore oil and gas production could release as much as 8,500 barrels of pollutants a year into the U. S. coastal waters. The projection was made in an environmental impact statement prepared by the Bureau of Land Management in connection with the plan to lease 10 million acres for oil and gas production on the outer Continental Shelf.

The figures were based on experience with oil spills in the Gulf of Mexico from 1964 to 1974. In that period there were 44 incidents of more than 50-barrel spillages, resulting in 320,000 barrels lost. The statement will be open at public hearings starting Nov. 18 in Los Angeles, Anchorage, Alaska, and Trenton, N. J.

Power line pollution?

Power line pollution: It's a hot issue, according to a recent article in the Conservation News, publication of the National Wildlife Federation.

Transmission technology has reached the point where lines carrying 765,000 volts are operating in a number of states and lines designed to carry 2 million volts are being developed, said writer Louise B. Young. "In the vicinity of these lines is an intense electric field which causes small but continuous currents to run in everything near the line — the ground, the plants, the farmer on his tractor," she said.

The electric field can be demonstrated by carrying an ordinary fluorescent bulb in one's hand walking in the vicinity of the line. The bulb lights up without batteries, cords or metallic connections to the ground.

Recent laboratory studies in the U. S. turned up evidence of biological effects from similar electromagnetic fields, she continued. The effects range from chromosome damage to high blood pressure and alterations in the levels of blood protein, fats and cholesterol.

The other principal pollution hazard from high tension lines results from the generation of ozone and other chemicals. Persistent exposure to concentrations of ozone more than .06 parts per million causes lung tissue damage, she said. The writer called for state or federal regulation of the safety of the installations before further commitments are made to this technology.

6 cranes make safe trek

Six of 48 known surviving whooping cranes arrived safely at their winter nesting grounds at Aransas Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Gulf Coast, officials reported. Four more whoopers were seen in the Kansas City area and were believed near the refuge.

Forty-seven of the near extinct birds left the refuge last spring for the summer months. Officials are hoping for an increased whooper population once all the birds have arrived.

Herald opinion

'Special kind of dignity'

They possess a special kind of dignity that rises far above the acres of flat, new subdivisions that surround them. Even when they are used on this Halloween night to symbolize the specter of ghosts and goblins from the shadowy past, they maintain that dignity.

There are fewer and fewer of them today, for civilization and progress carry a fearful price. The wrecking ball and the bulldozer are no respecters of history and tradition, and in a few brief moments they can reduce what has been a monument to our ancestors to a heap of dusty debris.

They are the old homes and the stately mansions which dot the older neighborhoods in the Northwest suburbs. They deserve a special kind of recognition and preservation for their reflection of an earlier, quieter lifetime in the American Midwest.

This week The Palatine Herald is carrying a series of profiles of some of the landmark homes in that suburb. It shouldn't surprise any long-time resident that there remain at least a few old homes with oaken beams, wide staircases, cupolas and the trappings of a much more relaxed era in the history of this area.

More than merely detailing the interiors and exteriors of these old homes, the stories detail the loving attention these homes receive from their owners, whose grandparents and great-grandparents frequently built and lived in these mansions.

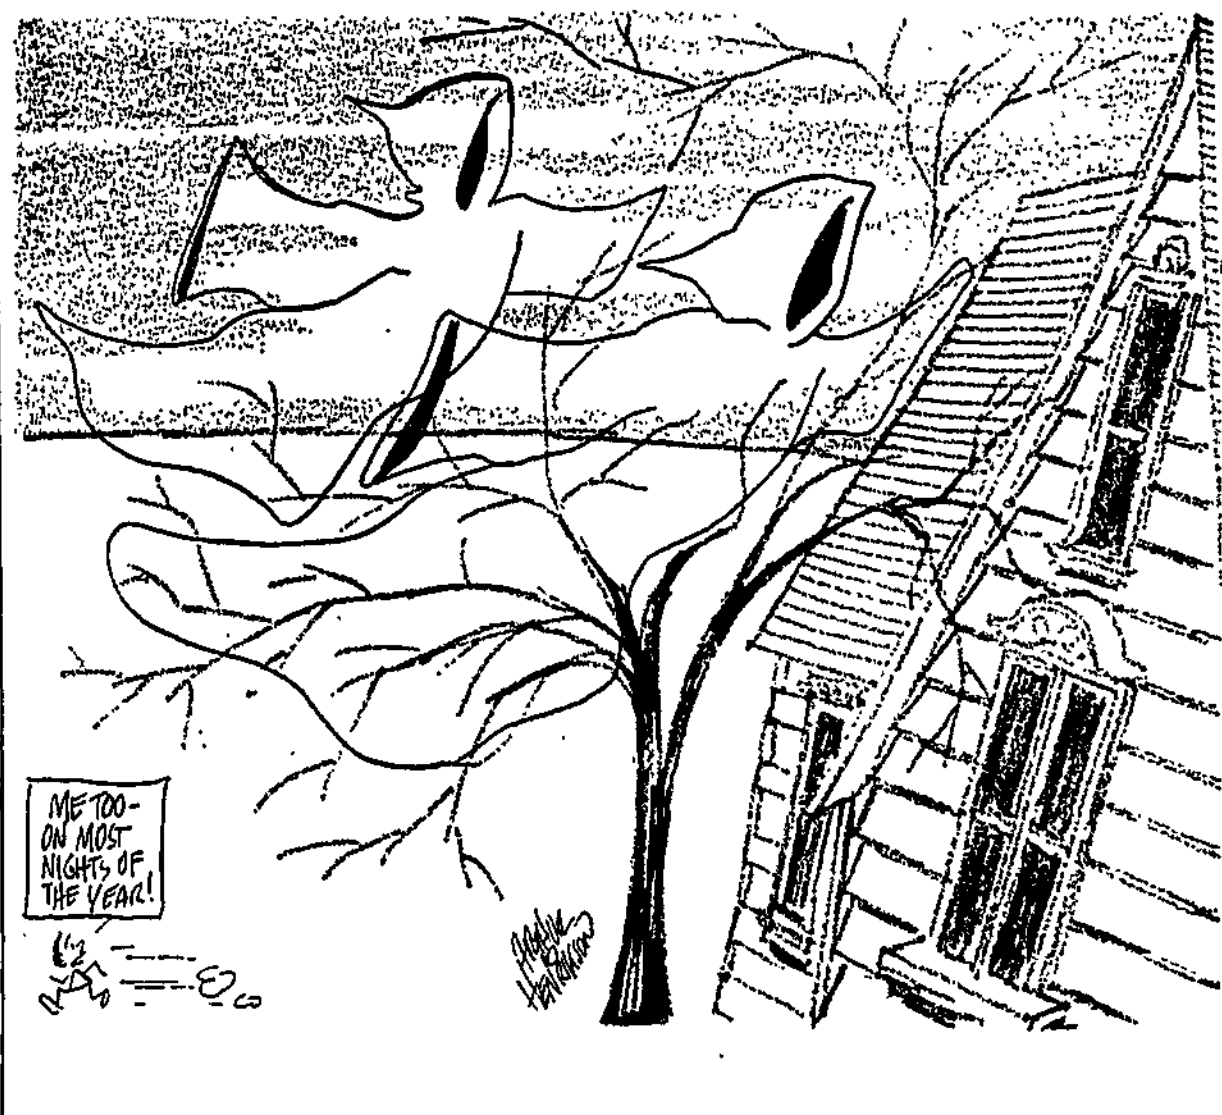

The owners' enthusiasm is contagious, and their activism reflects a growing trend in this land to preserve the old and beautiful for future generations to enjoy.

We hope that the men and women who govern our communities follow the example of these homeowners. A conscious public policy of preserving what is worthwhile, coupled with the actions of individuals, will help preserve this architectural beauty.

As a community and as a nation, we should not forget the quiet paths of history which wind away behind us. Even though today is Halloween, old graceful mansions should not be allowed to become haunted; they should remain as a vital, living part of our suburban past, present and future.

I LOVE old homes!

Election '74: readers back Crane

A minute or two ago I found out that you have come out in support of Betty Spence for Congress from our 12th District. I hope you'll print this letter, to at least partially represent the other side through the free press in a free country.

I have heard both candidates speak at the same assembly, and would like to express my opinion. Representative Crane spoke first, and stated that the Number One issue in this campaign is inflation, which Mrs. Spence later agreed with. Rep. Crane pointed out that a major cause of inflation is deficit spending by Congress. This is because the average congressman won't pass on the bills with higher taxes to the taxpayer. Instead, to pay these bills, they simply print more money. With more dollar bills in circulation each one is obviously worth less, and the buyer pays for that deficit spending in Congress every time he or she goes to the market. In Rep. Crane's words, the process here is analogous to counterfeiting.

Out of 535 congressmen, Rep. Crane is the third smallest spender. Added to that, he recently introduced a bill that would limit the spending of Congress to 98 per cent of what they get from the taxpayer, except in times of emergency. The other 2 per cent would be used to start paying off the national debt, which we are paying $50,000 a minute on just because of interest!

Betty Spence pointed out that Philip Crane had been one of two people in the House of Representatives to vote against a solar energy research bill, which she would have supported. Of course, just about everybody in America should realize that America must become more independent in meeting its energy needs.

One student questioned Rep. Crane as to why he had voted against this bill. He told the audience that private corpo-

Spence 'too general'

In all fairness to the residents of the 12th Congressional District, I would like to mention several points which The Herald inadvertently overlooked in its endorsement of Betty Spence for Congress over U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane.

The Herald, like Mrs. Spence herself, speaks only of generalities and not specifics. Mrs. Spence offers only vocal concern for the economy while she does not propose any corrective measures. At the same time she advocates numerous pieces of legislation which individually may be sound, but which would have a terrible effect on the economy. Admittedly it is a hard choice, but we cannot do everything now without putting an unbearable burden on the economy and the people.

Phil Crane has made tough decisions in the past and his record on inflation alone makes it imperative that he be returned to the Congress. He has the third highest rating from the National Taxpayers Union for economy in government and has received the "Watchdog of the Treasury" award from the National Associated Business for voting in the best interests of the economy. He has proposed legislation requiring a balanced budget. This year, when we will pay $3.53 in federal taxes for every dollar in service, we need a friend like Phil Crane in Congress.

On the same subject, Betty Spence advocates wage and price controls which failed in 1971 and numerous other times in our nation's history. Despite this fact, she supports them again. Betty Spence is avoiding the economy because she knows nothing about it. Instead she makes an issue of a false claim that Crane does not live in the district. I find this interesting in light of the fact that relatively recently Mrs. Spence moved to this area from Georgia where the issues and problems are different.

What concerns me most is who will control each of these candidates when one of them wins on Nov. 5. In 1972, the milk cooperative literally bought candidates and in return received favorable votes which increased the price of milk. This year labor is attempting to buy a veto-proof Congress. Like a bottle of unprocessed milk, labor bosses sit at the top and grow fat off the cream. Mrs. Spence has accepted contributions from 10 union organizations accounting for 70 per cent of her funding. Phil Crane has returned $7,000 in monetary offers from non-individual sources.

After the election Mrs. Spence will be voting Meany, Mondale and McGovern while Phil Crane will be voting his conscience, constituents and country.

The Herald can select Betty Spence. As residents of his district let's select Philip Crane on Nov. 5.

rations have already done the research on solar energy, and some homes are already dependent on it. Therefore, there is no need for the government to do its own research. This bill, which Betty Spence said she would have voted for, cost the taxpayers of America $50 million.

Mrs. Spence has her own answers to inflation, but unfortunately, they are direct contradictions of each other. First she said she wanted a true free economic system. In her very next breath she said she wanted a "quota system" which would limit the amount of money business can spend outside of America. Later, she stated that she wants a rollback in oil prices. A true stateswoman.

So, who do you want in Congress? Betty Spence would be one of the Democrats acting like a kid in a department store, wanting to spend your money on everything in sight. Or do you want Philip Crane, who, just like a mother, would put the frivolous things "back on the shelf." Because of this, I recommend the editors reconsider their endorsement of Betty Spence for Congress.

'Endorsement conflict' hit

I read with interest and some confusion your Congressional endorsements in the Oct. 25 Herald. It seems strange that your primary conclusions regarding qualifications of one endorsed candidate do not seem to apply to the other.

Regarding Mr. Mikva (10th District) you say "a congressman has a leadership responsibility to the nation, as well as a responsibility towards reflecting the specific interests of his or her district" ... and later "as Congress faces the opportunity to take a leadership role in finding solutions to such critical problems as inflation, it needs persons with vision and proven leadership ability."

Yet, in your endorsement of Mrs. Spence (12th District), you agree "Mrs. Spence is untied in Washington and in many national matters, but we urge her election for reasons that do not hinge solely on world expertise." You do say that as early as last December she was emphasizing "the critical importance of coping with the twin evils of inflation and recession" ... and "she represents how we as a suburban group of communities identify our problems and opportunities."

It is unfortunate that the reasoned judgment which led to the Herald's endorsements have, in my opinion, made both the Herald and Mrs. Spence come up short. The "twin evils of inflation and recession" are inextricably tied to global forces and a great many bad decisions by our Congress. Many can only be corrected at the national level by sending men or women to Washington who are experienced, have an in-depth understanding of both national and international matters and a sound understanding of economics. May I also add that our incumbent congressman from the 12th District, Phil Crane (if not most voters in the district), had identified, was concerned about and was acting on the problems of inflation and recession long before December of 1973.

Arthur J. Grundberg
Arlington Heights

She rips NOW stand

Recently, spokeswomen for the National Organization of Women (NOW) announced their desire for a National Abortion Week, during which American women would presumably be encouraged to destroy their unborn, and instead go out into the world and "fulfill" themselves. Although sympathetic to many of the feminists' goals, I find their support of abortion-on-demand both contradictory and discriminatory. How women can fight for their own rights, yet deny rights to another segment of society — unborn children — is beyond my comprehension. It is to be hoped that candidates Eugenia Chapman and Betty Spence do not condone NOW's latest plan. Although both women support feminist groups and legalized abortion, I hope they regard a National Kill-Our-Babies Week as too bizarre and heartless for their tastes.

Joan Wester Anderson
Arlington Heights

He blasts Spence report

Your conclusion that Betty Spence should be added to a Congress already over-populated with bleeding hearts and fiscally irresponsible people, on both sides of the aisle, is hard to believe.

I certainly hope, however, and strongly suspect, that the political and economic intelligence level in the 12th District will prove to be too high to accept your recommendation.

The people who will vote for Phil Crane are those who believe that inflation must be stopped; the budget balanced; public debt reduced; the arrogant power of labor curbed; wasteful assistance to foreign nations tempered; coddling of the lazy and ne'er do-wells at home impeded; and that meddlesome government interference with industry through needless over-regulation of the production of goods and services be halted.

For those who believe otherwise, Betty Spence is as good a choice as any. She'll certainly contribute her share to leading our nation, and each of us individually, into bankruptcy and oblivion.

County line

An election 'holiday'?

by AL MESSERSCHMIDT
Metropolitan Affairs Editor

A motion at the County Board's recent meeting routinely declared a Nov. 5 holiday for all county employees.

Suburban Republicans, who control few of the county jobs, voted "yes." City Democrats, who will benefit most by freeing a patronage army to work election day, added their support.

Only Comr. Floyd Fulle offered a comment. "I hope Illinois will become a leader in declaring this day a holiday," he said.

Three cheers for that comment.

Illinois has become infamous as the birthplace of political crooks. Chicago is the recent location of the largest cash robbery in U.S. history. Not long ago one of Illinois' U.S. Senators waged all-out battle in Congress to name the marigold the national flower.

The time has come for this state to do something reasonable and responsible that could set a nationwide trend or could end Congress' confusion over current holiday dates.

In a country that was founded on principles of basic freedoms and rights, including the right to vote, nothing discourages voter turnout more than election procedures.

Registration in Cook County, until recently, required a trip to the Loop. Polling places in many Illinois counties close at 6 p.m. During popular voting hours, long lines become frustrating.

The interested, concerned voter will overcome roadblocks to the polls. Neither sleet, nor snow, nor rain, nor hail will deny the party loyalist's vote, but the interested voter is becoming more of a rarity as the percentage of voting Americans declines.

Predictions of a low voter turnout on Nov. 5 resound this year and local elections may become a Republican throw-away.

The political machine benefits most from roadblocks to voting. The machine vote is guaranteed, and anything that keeps the opposition from the polls contributes added importance to every machine vote.

Election day is a holiday in other countries. In some countries voting is more than a one-day affair. Illinois should start a trend that requires closing of all businesses and shutting down of everything except essential services. State leadership would end all excuses for non-voters.

Illinois does not need more holidays, but addition of election day to the holiday calendar could end confusion over the scheduling of Veterans Day, which was celebrated by federal employees on Oct. 28 of this year and will be feted by state employees and school children on Nov. 11.

A combination of the two days would be fitting. Veterans fought and died to protect freedom and the right to vote.

The voter who stays away from the polls writes a funeral ticket. Unqualified officeholders are retained. Upcoming, qualified candidates are overlooked and the political organization continues its rule.

Maybe that explains why few politicians have supported this idea in the past.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Bob Lahey's column will appear tomorrow.

Like a preacher in a pulpit, Mazer gestures to make a musical point.

Mazer master

Awe and attention fill a young violinist's face.

The Suzuki method of teaching music — learning by ear rather than note reading — has produced several accomplished young musicians in Arlington Heights since the program began here five years ago.

After hearing a group of Suzuki students perform at Orchestra Hall, Henry Mazer of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra organized a chamber group for these pre-teen musicians. One 8-year-old Arlington Heights girl, Kathy Park, 1828 N. Yale, will give solo performances with the Civic Orchestra of Chicago and with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra next month.

Musicians can read the music in Mazer's face and hands as he directs.

Obituaries

Daniel J. Mulcahy

Daniel J. Mulcahy, 61, of Des Plaines, was pronounced dead on arrival Monday morning at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, after being struck by a southbound Milwaukee Road train as he crossed the tracks at Touhy and Lehigh in Niles.

Mr. Mulcahy was employed as a teletype operator instructor for Teletype Corp., with 25 years of service. A veteran of World War II, he was born in New York, March 31, 1913.

Visitation is today from 4 to 10 p.m. in Des Plaines Funeral Home, 1717 Rand Rd., Des Plaines, and all day Friday until 10 p.m.

Funeral Mass will be said at 10 a.m. Saturday in Our Lady of Ransom Catholic Church, 8300 N. Greenwood Ave., Park Ridge. Prayers will be said in the funeral home at 9:30 a.m. Burial will be in All Saints Cemetery, Des Plaines.

Surviving are his widow, Edith, nee McNeill; a son, Michael of San Jose, Calif.; three sisters, Dollie and Catherine Brown, and Rita Mulcahy, all of New York; many nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by a brother, Timothy D., and three sisters, Patricia McNeill, Nora Mulcahy and Helen Will.

Nathaniel Swanson

Nathaniel J. Swanson, of Safety Harbor, Fla., formerly of Prospect Heights for many years, died Wednesday in Safety Harbor.

Visitation is Friday from 3 to 10 p.m. in Nelson Funeral Home, 820 Talcott Rd., Park Ridge.

Graveside service and interment are Saturday at 11 a.m. in Ridgewood Cemetery, Des Plaines. Officiating will be the Rev. Calvin W. Robinson of First United Methodist Church, Palatine.

Preceded in death by his wife, Edith, survivors include four sons, Bob, Russell, Richard and Glenn; six grandchildren; two great-grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Bina Floodberg.

Craig P. Franklin

Funeral service for Craig Peter Franklin, 19, of Mount Prospect, is today at 1 p.m. in Friedrichs Funeral Home, 320 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect. The Rev. Dennis Wilcox of Peace Reformed Church, Mount Prospect, will officiate. Burial will be in Memory Gardens Cemetery, Arlington Heights.

Craig, who had attended Hersey High School in Arlington Heights, died Tuesday afternoon in Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, apparently from injuries sustained in an automobile accident about a week ago. He was born in Minneapolis, Minn., June 1, 1955.

Surviving are his parents, John and Anne Franklin; two brothers, John Jr. and Bruce, and a sister, Lisa, all at home.

Family requests, in lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Kidney Foundation Brain Research or Mount Prospect Paramedics.

William H. Mahler

William H. Mahler, 78, an apartment building manager in Arlington Heights, died Wednesday morning in Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, after a prolonged illness. He was born in Illinois, Aug. 10, 1896.

Visitation is today in Matz Funeral Home, 410 E. Rand Rd., Mount Prospect, from 1 to 10 p.m., and where funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Friday.

Officiating will be the Rev. Gene M. Prostek of St. John United Church of Christ, Bensenville. Burial will be in Memory Gardens Cemetery, Arlington Heights.

Surviving are his widow, Lauretta, nee Reitmeyer; two daughters, Mrs. Shirley (William) Kater and Mrs. Lorraine Vohmeier; two sons, William (Alice) and Lawrence; seven grandchildren; two brothers, Fred and Hilma, and a sister, Mathilda.

Family requests, in lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Cancer or Heart Research Fund.

RTA may aid bus, rail firms quickly

Suburban bus companies and commuter railroads may be able to apply for emergency financial aid from the Regional Transportation Authority next week if the RTA board completes preparations Monday.

The board prepared a preliminary application procedure Wednesday and will meet Friday to approve the final form. Another meeting is scheduled for Monday.

day to determine how the forms will be distributed, collected and analyzed.

The application will require detailed information designed to protect the RTA from false emergency claims by transit carriers. In addition to financial and ownership facts, the board is asking carriers to explain why they are in financial distress. Although the grants will be temporary, the board is also requiring carriers to supply census data such as the number of persons in the area they serve, the average income for those areas and the car ownership totals.

The emergency grant program has been developed by the board to help failing carriers until a chairman and full-time staff can be hired.

Diabetes Detection Week nears

Lutheran General Hospital will offer free blood sugar testing during Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 19-22. The program is part of a nationwide effort to find the "hidden diabetic."

Tests will be given at Lutheran General by appointment only. Appointments must be made between Nov. 11-15 by calling 696-6173 from 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m. Persons known to have diabetes should not take this test.

One out of 20 people has diabetes or will develop it during his lifetime. It is the leading cause of blindness and may contribute to cardiovascular disease of all types. The most common symptoms are excessive thirst, frequent urination, constant hunger, loss of weight, itching, tendency to tire easily, changes in vision, and slow healing of cuts and scratches.

Runners get ready for trip to Peoria

by ART MUGALIAN
Cross Country Editor

Cross country runners from around the state have been chasing an elusive goal since early in September, and Saturday in Peoria that goal will be within the reach of 26 teams and 48 individual runners.

Peoria High School will host the state cross country meet at 11 a.m. at Detweiler Park's three-mile course. Defending champion York of Elmhurst, coached by Joe Newton, will be back to try for a fourth straight state title.

Two local teams will be attempting to break York's stranglehold on Illinois thimbleland competition. They are Fremd, the 1969 state champ, and Maine East, the winner in 1970. Also running in the state meet will be Mark Kaufman of Conant and Joe Paul of Maine West.

Fremd, the Mid-Suburban League champion, and Maine East, champ of the Central Suburban, finished one-two at the Maine East sectional ahead of Waukegan in third place. All three teams are eligible for the state meet. Kaufman finished seventh and Paul ninth in order to qualify for the runoff in Peoria.

Fremd has been rated among the top teams in the state all season, as has York, Proviso West, and Bloom. Most observers feel that it will be one of those schools that runs home with the title Saturday.

"I've got confidence in our team," said Fremd coach Ron Menely, whose Vikings are undefeated in all meets this year. "I think we're ready. We don't have any injuries."

"This is a one-shot thing, there's just one race," Menely continued. "It's a matter of who does it on a given day."

The Viking coach will rely on seniors Wil Fieldhouse, Paul Clayton, Jim Galls and Dave Scott, and sophomores John Filosa and Dan Tischler.

"A trophy is what we're going down there for," said Menely. "We want to win, but we'd be satisfied with third. Third place in Illinois is probably good enough to win in most other states. Third here is like fifth in the nation."

Fremd's main challenge could come from Bloom, a team similar to the Vikings in that the Trojans depend on a solid pack of runners rather than two or three outstanding performers.

Bloom captured the state title in 1950, but since then the Trojans have had little in the way of state-meet experience.

"Bloom's lack of experience may not be a great disadvantage," said Menely, "but I think our experience has to be a definite advantage for us. We were down there last year, and we won the Peoria Invite earlier this year. We know the course."

Maine East coach John Coughlan likes Fremd's chances, also, and he indicated that Bloom's relative inexperience could hurt their title hopes.

"Fremd is my choice," Coughlan said. "They're the team to beat. They run the kind of race that is conducive to winning the state meet. They'll run the first half-mile like they've run every race this year — moderate, but strong enough to get to the front. They'll stay together in a pack."

The Maine East coach sees his own squad battling for third place with Bloom and Proviso West.

Coughlan gives York a good shot at second place, noting the fact that the Dukes' fourth and fifth runners have been suspect all year.

"York will surprise some people down there," Coughlan said. "If you dissect the race like Menely and Newton have done, I'm sure you'll see that York will have three guys in the top eight after you take out the individuals. So that's maybe 10 points for their top three runners."

"If their fourth man is 65th in the race — fairly far back — that's maybe 45 in a team score, and if their fifth man is about 100, that's about 115 points. And I think close to 115 will win."

"But York's disadvantage against Fremd," Coughlan maintained, "is their fourth and fifth men. Fremd has a nice solid team. All of them will be in there."

Menely thinks 80 or 90 points will win the meet. But the Fremd coach is also expecting more from his fourth and fifth runners than Coughlan is figuring.

"The pressure on York's fourth and fifth runners is tremendous," the Viking coach said. "We don't feel any pressure — we're not the defending champs. But we're on top and we're running for pride. Pride is the number one thing right now."

Menely assessed the competition one final time.

"I think it'll be us and Bloom," the coach said. "Proviso may have the best runner in the state (Tom Marino), but they might not have much else. York has the best threesome, although I think we can run with their third man."

"But everything happens between the third man and the fourth and fifth men," Menely went on. "If we can keep them from putting runners in front of our fourth and fifth men, we'll win."

There is no clear-cut choice for individual champion as in past years. The talent is fairly even. But York's three front-runners — Bob McCarty, Ron Craker, and Tod Miller — might all be near the front, along with Marino.

Other top runners in the state are Pat Fortney of Sterling, Dan Gilehrst of Rockford East, Steve Chaplin of Glenbrook South, Greg Gernimo of Marist, Kurt Leslie of Willowbrook, and Ken Caldwell and Ricky Harris of Lake Forest.

But when the gun goes off, it's anybody's race.

WILL FREMD'S VIKINGS come home from Peoria with a state title Saturday? The Viking cross country runners will answer that question to everyone's satisfaction when they chase after the championship at Detweiler Park. Here, the Vikings pose with their sectional trophy along with Fremd principal Dr. Stanley Smith. Left to

Paul Logan

The IHSA spokesman also explained the potential these playoff games had as a money maker. If there's a crowd of 5,000 at, say $2 a ticket, that's $10,000 gross. Subtracting $1,000 for expenses and $250 for officials, he said the IHSA would then take 40 per cent of the $8,750 with the two teams getting 30 per cent each or $2,625. However, this is just hypothetical.

When asked if the MSL could work out a special system whereby any playoff money might be pooled into a conference fund as the Super Bowl does, the IHSA official said, "I'm sure they could. If the MSL is a participant in the game, they'd get a 30 per cent."

"I don't think it would be a possibility," said Haskell. "Once a team's in the IHSA tournament, it has no connection with the league."

Nevertheless, it's worth investigating further. This is especially so because with two teams in the tourney, the potential for hosting several games is always possible.

Also, with two teams representing the conference, there would be some years when they'd meet since both would be in the same bracket. It could happen in the first, second or semifinal game.

Can you imagine two MSL teams battling in the semifinals? What a Super Bowl that would be! The winner going into the finals!

"We wanted to wait and see what the state (tournament) was going to be like ... to wait and make our decision ..." concluded Haskell.

The principals will be meeting again in November. They then have until May 15 to let the IHSA know if they wish to change their minds.

to have this playoff game. It can only send one team.

The only other chance is for the Super Bowl runner-up to finish with an 80 per cent or better winning record. Neither Hersey (6-2) or Schaumburg (7-1) would qualify if either is the loser Friday night.

Meanwhile, the Buffalo Grove Bison have concluded their season with a sparkling 7-1 record, having missed a perfect season by a one-point loss to Hersey. But the Bison are going nowhere.

Under a system whereby the MSL would send the North and South champs directly into the state tournament, Buffalo Grove could have possibly advanced as an at-large berth if one were available. The chances aren't too good for three teams making the playoffs from one conference, but an IHSA spokesman said it would be possible.

The men who decided to keep the Super Bowl alive for this season are the league's principals. Last year at one of the principals' meetings, the state playoffs versus the Super Bowl came up, according to Robert Haskell, Elk Grove's principal and the president of the MSL.

"It was our decision to stay with the Super Bowl," said Haskell.

"We knew what the Super Bowl was because we've had it the last few years and it's brought quite a bit of publicity to the league."

The MSL championship game also brings in over $1,000 (after expenses) to the Board of Control's (principals) fund. The 1973 game realized a profit of $1,600.

"I don't think that's the major criterion — the money we make from it," continued Haskell. "But I'm just talking as an individual."

There's also money to be made from hosting the state playoffs. With two MSL teams in the tournament, there's the possibility that several games could be hosted in the area.

If the MSL's champion should win its opener next Wednesday, it will host the quarterfinal game the following Saturday. According to an IHSA official, the MSL team — if it continues to win — could possibly have the semifinal game on its home field, too! (The finals for all classes will be played at Illinois State University in Normal.)

Hoffman gymnasts edge Wheeling, stay perfect

Hoffman Estates withstood a strong upset bid by visiting Wheeling in Tuesday night action in Mid-Suburban Conference gymnastics.

With the narrow victory, 162.92 to 161.20, the Hoffman team will take a perfect dual meet record of 7-0 into the conference meet Saturday. Wheeling finished with a 5-2 record, but both losses were very close meets.

Arlington remained tied for second in the dual meet portion of the championships by beating Palatine, 163.75 to 147.70. The Pirates are 1-4.

Deadlocked with the Cardinals at 6-1 is Elk Grove, a 147.45 to 136.65 victory over Fremd. The Vikings are 2-5.

In other action, Hersey's 165.70 to 155.50 victory over Buffalo Grove left both teams with 3-4 records. Prospect improved its mark to 2-5 with a win over Schaumburg, 139.15 to 100.45. The Saxons are 0-7.

Rolling Meadows went over the .500 (4-3) with its 155.80 to 150.00 decision over Forest View, now 2-5.

In non-conference play, Conant stopped Sacred Heart of Mary, 164.05 to 121.00.

The Hoffman Hawks pulled off their big win despite taking just one first place. That was won by Linda Buddenbaum in intermediate balance beam (7.75).

Bonnie Holthaus and Chris Schumann captured double victories for Wheeling. Holthaus took beginning vaulting (8.2) and intermediate floor exercise (7.75) and Schumann excelled in beginning floor (8.15) and beam (7.8).

Other Wildcat winners were Marie Janness in intermediate beam (8.30), Terry Goodman in beginning bars (7.80) and Liz Walters in intermediate vaulting (7.20).

Arlington's Nancy Gripman took both beginning vaulting (6.85) and floor (7.45) to help lead the Cardinals to victory. Five other teammates registered wins: Gaye Johnson in intermediate bars (8.05), Dyanne Oak in intermediate floor (7.45), Ellen Viken in beginning beam (7.40), Nancy Bender in beginning bars (7.40) and Brianna Wiebe in intermediate beam (7.25).

Judy Gran accounted for Palatine's only success with her effort in intermediate vaulting (6.60).

Sharon Bona was Elk Grove's biggest winner, capturing both beginning bars (7.20) and floor (7.15). Four other teammates also came through with firsts — Phyllis Tyrcha in intermediate bars (6.90), Betsy Steinger in beginning beam (6.80), Jody Dixon in intermediate

State donation to Hersey band

A representative of Gov. Daniel Walker will attend the Mid-Suburban League Super Bowl football game Friday to present a check to the Hersey High School Band for their trip to the Tournament of Roses parade.

Ted Silverman, director of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development, will present the check during pre-game ceremonies at 7 p.m. at Hersey High School, 1900 E.

Thomas Ave., Arlington Heights.

In August Gov. Walker named the Hersey Band as official representatives of Illinois when they attend the parade.

State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington, has worked for the band to get the state donation, according to Bert Nyberg of the Hersey Instrumental Assn. "We are very grateful for his help," he said.

Palatine Celtic Soccer report

THE FREM VIKINGS came close to running the perfect cross country race Saturday at the Maine East sectional meet. Here, nearing the chute behind Ricky Harris of Lake Forest, are Fremd's Wil Fieldhouse, John Filosa, and Paul Kinyon. The trio of Vikings came home 4-5-6 in that order and Fremd won the meet with a basic 33 points. Steve Chaplin of Glenbrook South won the race and Harris' Lake Forest mate, Ken Caldwell, was second. Fremd's fourth man was Jim Galis. Dan Tischler was fifth, and Dave Scott was sixth. (Photo by Stan Jarocki) vaulting (6.55) and Laura Anderson in intermediate beam (6.25).

Jean Orlebeke recorded the highest score for either team. The Palatine star had a 7.35 in intermediate floor exercise. Karen Bucaro also scored a first for the Pirates in beginning vaulting (6.30).

A trio of double winners helped Elk Grove to its victory over Forest View. Sharon Duffy took intermediate beam (7.63) and floor (7.50), Chris Vinezano was tops in intermediate vaulting (7.15) and beginning bars (7.45) and Connie Galis in beginning vaulting (7.05) and intermediate bars (6.65).

Accounting for the Mustangs' other victory was Leanne Elegen in beginning beam (6.55).

Forest View's only win came on the effort of Cathy Langlois in beginning floor (7.05).

Hersey, paced by a pair of triple winners, captured all the firsts against Buffalo Grove. Jenelle Haberer showed super consistency — all scores over 7.5 — in intermediate bars (7.70), beginning bars (7.65) and intermediate vaulting (7.60).

Stephanie Blischof was right behind her teammate with victories in beginning floor (7.75), intermediate beam (7.80) and beginning vaulting (7.15).

Taking the other two wins was Debbie

The regular fall season for the Palatine Celtic ended last Sunday. The Awards ceremonies during which every player will receive a trophy will be held in the near future. The coaches will notify their teams of the exact time and place.

The Celtic finished up regular play with one undefeated team, the Junior girl Snapdragons, and two tiebreakers left to be played — for fourth place in the Junior boys division, the Bears and the Dolphins will meet at 10 a.m. Saturday, November 2nd, and for second place in the Junior girls, the Carnations and the Morning Glories will meet at 11 a.m.

Otherwise the standings are as follows: Junior Girls: 1) Snapdragons 4) Impatiens Seniors Girls: 1) Roses 2) Blue Belts 3) Daffodils 4) Green Clover Junior Boys: 1) Monkeys 2) Sharks 3) Alligators Intermediate Boys: 1) Panthers 2) Cougars 3) Chestnuts 4) Lions 5) Tigers 6) Wildcats Senior Boys: 1) Bluejays 2) Hawks 3) Road Runners 4) Cardinals 5) Eagles 6) Owls.

GIRLS

Junior Girls
Morning Glories 4, Impatiens 0
The Glories won their last game of the season, to put them in a tie for second place, on two goals by Nancy Shellander and one each by Cindy Chope and Susan McGregor. Goals Dawn Dikonski earned the shutout.

Snapdragons 4, Carnations 1
The Snapdragons hunt on to their undefeated record right to the end. They won their last game on two tallies by Nancy Nowakowski, one by Nancy Melberg, and fine field play by Cindy Curly. Patty Nowakowski and Rosemarie Genovese, Reds Michele Reppinger and Jennifer Joll also turned in a fine performance as did their lone scorer, Donna Gerdes.

Seniors

Blue Belts 4, Clover 0
This was a fine final effort for both teams. Blue Bell Kathy Hirschfeld, temporarily released from goal, scored her first tally of the season. Patty Smith made two, and Karen Felix, one. There was good play by fullbacks Mary Jo Skangel and Linda Sample, and half-back Julie Hiler. Hirschfeld and Sheila Ulander shared credit for the shutout.

Roses 3, Woodlarks 0

Coaches Solimene and Hindock thanked their teams for cooperation and complimented them on their ability. Scoring for the Roses were Mary Tozer, Laura Francis and LaJuan Gregory. Cathy Landwehr earned the shutout.

Monkeys

Sharks 5, Bears 2
The Bears played one of their best games to date. Their goals were by Kevin Parsons and Joe Herkhold, and their strongest play from Paul Haddock in the field and Steve Obey in goal. The Sharks also had a good day, meshing well, with goals by Sean Malloy (assisted by Dave Rapacz), Chris Kingsborough (assisted by Tom Sauer), and Rapacz (assisted by Mark Lemoine).

Monkeys 3, Alligators 1
The Monkeys and the Alligators turned in complete team efforts and had an excellent game as a result. Red scorers were Mark Anderson (assisted by Hans Hofmann), Tom Mueller (assisted by Brian Herthly) and Matt McElman (assisted by Phillip John). The Green tallyman was Steve Stolarz on an assist by Dave Hardy.

Seniors

Cardinals 1, Bluejays 0
Both teams were excellent, but the Red was superb, beating the champions for the second time this year — the only defeats suffered by the Blue this fall. The Cardinal goal was by Jim McAleese and Tod Privat was the shut-out winning goal.

Eagles 3, Blackhawks 2
Eagle Pete Mahlmann led the scoring with two tallies, followed by Stu Smith with one, and Brian O'Callahan and John Griffin with one assist apiece. Further credit went to forward Charlie Marsland and fullback Mark Capello for field play. The Blackhawks, who finished in second place in the senior division, made two goals — the first by Elias Koulas and the second by Kevin McKenna.

Road Runners 1, Owls 0
The Owl defense worked hard, goalie Jeff Sheppard outdid himself, but nevertheless the Runners won on a goal by Tom Meyer, booted in on an assist from Bob Cudney.

OTHER GAMES

Septuagenarians 4, Suburban Sport Cattle 4
Scoring for the Septuagenarians were Jerry Blain (2), Carl Pule and Carl Deutschmann. For Suburban Sport, tallies were by Paul Thompson, Steve Soby, Tom Meyer and Kieran Heraty — who, unfortunately, was playing with the Septuagenarians at the time.

Senior All Stars 4, Hanover Park 0
The Celtic romped over Hanover Park with two goals by Steve Norys (one assisted by Tom Cornwell), and singles by Tom Meyer (on a penalty kick), Mark Lush (assisted by Jerry Norys), and Tim Considine (assisted by Cornwell).

Dolphins 1, Hanover Park 0
The Dolphins avenged an earlier 1-0 loss by winning this one. The critical goal was booted in by Kevin Reginal on an assist by Gary Seyda. Fine net tending by Erik Peterson gave them the shutout.

Alligators 1, Hanover Park 4
The Alligators took the lead in the opening second with a goal by Steve Stolarz on an assist by Darin Pope, but despite a good team effort and many spectacular saves by goalie Pat Murphy, Hanover Park dominated the later play to win the match.

Junior high harriers in conference runoff

The Mid-Suburban Conference Junior High cross country meet will be held Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at Hasbrook Park in Arlington Heights.

Competing for seventh and eighth grade honors will be junior high harriers from MacArthur, Holmes, London, Cooper, St. Peter's, and River Trails. Seven boys from each school will run in each race over a 1.25-mile course.

MacArthur goes into the meet as the favorite on the strength of an undefeated dual meet record. It will be the first year for the MSC runoff.

Hoffman Hockey Club scores

SIXTEEN
The Hoffman Flyers Mites won again! An outstanding performance by Brian Strockel in goal, with a devastating offensive display, resulted in a 10-1 victory over Addison. Hat tricks by Larry Brandon and Steve Quaglin, with goals by Derrick Thomas, Danny Williams, Kelly Walker and Mike Kriesemini, accounted for the scoring. Defensive play, led by Kenny Tompkins and Steve Hart, was excellent. The Mites record is 2-1 in league play.

SQUIRTS
The Flyer Squirts played Addison to a 1-1 tie. Geoff Williams scored the tying goal in the second period, assisted by Dave Bartlett. Goals Mike Lewin played an outstanding game for the Squirts Flyers. Their record is now 0-2-1 in league play.

PEE WEE
The Pee Wee Flyers recorded another impressive victory by defeating Addison 3-1. Hobbie Swanson scored a short-handed goal in the first period, unassisted. Other goal scorers were Frank Cava and Mike Tompkins. Goalsie Dutch Kutubis was credited with another outstanding performance. The undefeated Pee Wees have recorded three victories in league play.

HANFAM
Hoffman Hockey Club Hanfams increased their record to 2-1 with a 2-1 victory over Addison. A first period goal by Billy Payne with an assist going to Mark James, put the Flyers on the scoreboard. Jerry Mounsey opened the scoring in the second period with an assist by Mike Brandon. In the third period, defenseman Scott Foremba turned in a strong defensive effort, but also got into the scoring net by getting an assist on a goal by Dave Hart. Defensemen Don Ryan and goalie Dutch Kutubis assured the Flyer Hanfams of their second victory with their strong playing.

SENIORS
The Hoffman Flyer Midget team won their second game in three starts last Thursday, defeating the Addison Midgets, 4-2. The Flyers, after falling behind in the first period, got the game-tying goal from Al Kalas. The goal was a result of excellent forechecking by the Flyer team. The second period saw Ed Quaglin score on a rebound shot, and Bob Brandon score on a slap shot from the Blue line to give the Flyers a 3-1 lead. The Addison team closed the gap early in the third period, but an unassisted goal by centerman Bryan Schummel locked up the win for the Flyers. The French-Indo Chevrolet Player of the Game Award went to Ed Quaglin for his fine play, both offensively and defensively.

Holzkoepf in intermediate floor (8.25) and beam (7.80).

Prospect also was led by a triple winner as the Knights nearly swept the Saxons of Schaumburg. Andrea Kohnke came through in intermediate beam (6.80), vaulting (6.20) and bars (6.15).

The Knights' other winners were Kathy Donna in beginning bars (6.70), Carol Latimer in beginning beam (6.70), Linda Kenny in intermediate floor (6.35) and Sue Douglas in beginning vaulting (5.85).

Cathy Seelbach won beginning floor (6.40) for Schaumburg.

Conant swept all eight events from Sacred Heart in non-league play. Two girls posted a pair of wins in intermediate events — Mary Tompkins in beam (7.55) and floor (8.30) and Heidi Petersen in bars (7.20) and vaulting (7.20).

Taking the other beginning firsts were Eileen O'Toole in beam (7.60), Sue Paster in floor (7.35), Jean Phillips in bars (7.00) and Darlene Mitchell in vaulting (6.40).

Origer couldn't fathom losing cash, changed the World

Fire executive vice-president Al Lange said it: "If you're going 100 miles per hour, you want to work the brakes, too. It's not very comfortable in the passenger's seat."

Or . . . it's alright for Tom Origer to blow his millions, but to and behold, may the good Man Upstairs help anyone else who tries.

Monday afternoon, Origer threatened to leave the passenger's seat, announcing his Fire would fold with three games to play. It was said "financial reasons" had caused his decision. At least, that was the idea.

What a play. How beautifully executed. Origer knew he could unleash the shot heard around the World. So he did and bang, down came commissioner Gary Davidson.

He'd been saying it for weeks: League founder Davidson must go or we're impeding progress. The word is that some owners agreed . . . until you tried taking a formal vote.

During recent days, many of the man's comments were viewed as Origer hangs himself again. But he was one step ahead.

Getting nowhere with his basic demands, Origer said the hell with this noise and took his own vote. He came out on top, 1-0.

It happened Tuesday at O'Hare International Hotel way up on the top floor where, we are told, all interested parties acted in a friendly and congenial manner. It was a love-in, they said.

Origer went into Tuesday's hurried-up session very sure of his cards. Had the man bent, mutilated, stapled or folded up his Fire, the World Football League would certainly die.

And nothing Gary Davidson could say or do would matter. That's what Origer knew. And when everyone else discovered his intentions were serious, they finally smartened up.

How much was bluff on Origer's part? I think very little. We're talking about a guy who's losing $800,000 cash during one of America's worst economic years since World War II.

As Lange puts it, "With all the hustle and bustle this year, everyone tried to dream. This was the worst year to dream. It was like getting a great inspiration in 1929."

So to Origer, the idea of anyone else losing money for him was quite unfathomable. He's paid more than $300,000 to the WFL to help offset its $2 million debt, cover the Detroit and Jacksonville disasters, keep other bereaved franchises alive and put one-half million bucks in Larry Cronka's bank account.

The way Origer saw it, there was no end in sight. Unless he just ended the entire league. That's what Tuesday's meeting was all about. Make some changes, he said, or die.

Now you've got a new top man in former WFL legal counsel Donald J. Regan, a six-owner executive committee and transfer of league offices from Newport Beach, Calif., to New York City.

These are all good moves. So is keeping Davidson within the group as a Southern California Sun owner, member of the six-man executive committee and chairman of league expansion. The guy is a promoter, not an administrator, which has been well proven.

"Let's face it, the man (Davidson) has assets," Lange said yesterday. "He's not a bum and anyone who'd suggest that doesn't know what he's talking about. Gary's a promoter and if we don't use those strengths, we're just hurting ourselves."

There's a very real question how well Origer, Davidson, chairman John Bassett of Memphis and the others will work as a six-man executive committee.

Will there be resentment of Origer? After all, if the WFL can outgrow Davidson, will it look kindly upon Origer after regaining some strength?

The man did pull a smoothie. Origer got everyone into his backyard, then threw the ball and caught the pass which scored the points that changed the World. Some people might not take kindly to that treatment.

But the World Football League cannot afford any more hassles or bickering. It's time for hard work. They must be determined that 1975 is more successful than 1974.

They've got to eliminate that $2 million debt, refinance four teams and get another franchise planned for New York City, if not by next season then certainly for 1976. The only decent available sight for next season would be the Yale Bowl.

Corcoran struts in style, Bell whips Fire, 37-31

Special to The Herald
PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (Oct. 30)—James Sean Corcoran showed why they call him King here tonight with flash y quarterbacking that led his hosting Bell over the Chicago Fire, 37-31, in a World Football League game.

Corcoran's most dramatic play was an 83-yard completion to wide receiver Willie Franklin on the Bell's last possession. Philadelphia faced third and nine at its four yard line.

Scrambling into his end zone, Corcoran found Franklin open just over the middle. It was a foot race with Chicago defender Ralph Anderson who finally forced him out on the Fire seven.

Two plays later, John Land scored his only touchdown, giving the Bell a 37-24 lead.

The Fire rallied under quarterback Bubba Euche, who hit five straight passes for 67 yards, and scored the game's last points on Cyril Pinder's one-yard plunge with one second remaining.

Neither team scored during the first period. The Bell assumed a 15-0 second quarter lead on Claude Watts' 48-yard run plus a 10-yard pass from Corcoran to Ron Holliday.

Chicago cut the lead by eight points on Wyche's two-yard sneak behind center Guy Murdock. And the Fire stopped Watts at the one-yard line to end the half, trailing 15-7.

Allen Watson's 40-yard field goal and Wyche's 28-yard TD pass to Lonnie Crittenden gave Chicago a 17-15 lead after three periods. But the fourth quarter opened with Corcoran tossing a nine-yard TD pass to Izzo and the Bell led, 22-17.

Chuck Bailey's tackle plus Anderson's subsequent recovery of Land's fumble got the ball back for Chicago still early in the final period.

A pass interference call at the Bell two-yard line, Wyche trying to hit Terry Phillips, put Chicago in perfect position. Pinder got the first yard, then Wyche scored for a 24-22 Fire lead.

But Watts took a 31-yard screen pass from Corcoran, giving the Bell a 30-24 lead. One possession later, Corcoran found Franklin with the pass that set up Watts' second TD.

Chicago lost its ninth straight game, holds a 7-11 season record and probably will not qualify for WFL playoffs.

Mount Prospect Midget Football

The Giant Five Team System tied a league record as the Glants, Steelers, Falcons and Hawks all won championships in their respective divisions. Ironically, the Tigers claimed their first season record ever, but had to settle for second place honors.

GLANTS DIVISION
Glants 28, Cardinals 6
The champion Glants broke a 6-4 halftime deadlock with a three TD second half outburst which resulted in their most productive yardage to date. Jeff Nelson connected with his favorite receiver, Jeff Glazner, for a pair of TDs. Glazner also picked off a Cardinal pass, then it back for another score and kicked the extra point.

Curt Calas was the Glants' leading rusher and cracked in for the second six pointer. Rick Kowler, Joe Natta, Tod Trespar and Paul Zimmerman ran well too. Pete Delgadillo, Joe Natta, Jeff Glazner, Keith Davis, Jeff Weaver and Rob Orstein, among others, added the Cardinals' offensive efforts with hard-fought tackles.

Cardinal Dana Newman scored the only TD in the second quarter on a one yard plunge. Offensively, Jeff Petersen ran hard and tough, making many key first downs, behind the blocking of Glen McGinn, John Peterson, Mickey Reder and Steve Weissensel.

The Cardinal defense team, made up of Tim Anderson, Tim Holmes, John Bagn and Mike Fletcher on the line, anchored by Mike Stone at linebacker and Ed Conlon at corner safety, did not allow a TD by the opponents rushing. Defensively, Frank Aguzo was free safety and Brett Blaney was outside linebacker. Conlon was credited with a pass interception.

Bears 8, Lions 0
The Bears have come on strong in the second half of the season, winning their third straight game. In the second half, the Bears rolled over the Lions 20-0. Chuck Brunner tackled the opposing QB in the end zone for a two point safety. Mike Palfia set up the winning TD with a 40 yard run in the five yard line. The defensive backfield of Jim Kellner, Jim Grier and Steve Bray continually stopped the Lions' passing attack. Steve Santostefano played an outstanding game at linebacker as did Jeff Vlach at end and Ed Conlon at corner.

The Lions were stopped by an outstanding defensive effort by the Bears. Bob Conway and Brian Tolja each intercepted Bear passes, while QJ Bruce Jacobs completed passes to Andy Lubeck and Mike Wolt at end and Chuck Arredia. Mike Burd led the offensive rushing.

Packers 30, Colts 0
Led by the brilliant running of Jeff Engelking and Steve Bruckl along with the excellent ball handling of John Anderson, the Packers rolled over the Colts 30-0. Engelking scored twice on runs of two and three yards. Bruckl tallied on an eight yard run. Tony Falduto, returning in the lineup, tossed a pass to Dave LaCrosse who broke a tackle and raced into the end zone to complete a 24 yard score. Kevin Lowe and Andy Bennett made key offensive blocks. Mark Dahl made key interceptions inside the five yard line to set up two of the earlier mentioned TDs.

A great defensive effort was highlighted by a 34 yard TD sprint with a fumble recovery by Dan O'Connor. Marty Boyle, leading the gold defense of Tracy, Bob Brady, John Kurnat and John Burke, stopped the Colts running attack. A crunching tackle by Dan Dawello resulted in a Colt fumble recovered by Dave Blasdasar. Dan Slack, Tom Latzow and Chris Klein were also outstanding on defense.

Colts: No Game Report.
SENIOR DIVISION
Steelers 13, Badgers 6
The Steelers came from a 6-0 deficit to beat a fine Raider team 13-6. They won the championship by playing a strong second half in which the defense held the Raiders scoreless while scoring two TDs. Inside, Phil Trone per, went five yards off tackle to tie the score, and Mr. Outside, Steve Schur, went around end for 40 yards to get the clincher. The line played well on both offense and defense. Tony Schneider, Don Benjamin, Scott Kurnat, Steve Flickinger, Tim Quirk, John Payne, Jim Cwan, Don Falcons and Mike Martinksi must be mentioned for their great defensive play. Thanks go to the cheerleaders led by Mrs. Chick Lamplier for the spirit they showed.

The Raider team after a poor performance last week came back and produced a fine team effort against the Steelers. The Raiders were unable to field a formidable offense, but in spite of their difficulties they remained a constant threat to the Steeler team. Since it was a team effort, no boy will be singled out.

Falcons 11, Vikings 0
The champion Falcons blanked the Vikings on two option passes from Mickey Kutrovacz to Glenn Antonson for the TDs, and Antonson kicked the extra point for two points. The Falcons had a lot going for them this year in the cheering section from head cheerleader mothers Mrs. Dee and Mrs. Khonke and cheerleaders Chris Krusa, Paul Carlson, Donna Koller, Leslie Lott, Julie Kohke, Debbie Be, Lisa Markgraf, Susan Shuback, Tracy Swank, Dina Zlotkowski and Denise Triunfel.

In a tough defensive effort, Kyle Kotwica, Jim Lawndowski, Gerr Morin, Ewayne Desinger, Bryan Kotwica, Tim Kienke and Rich Scharringhausen all played an excellent game.

Jets 6, Rams 0
The Jets clinched the season by taking their first N.L. Championship. It took 23 great plays to comprise this fine team and each Jet player made an outstanding contribution. The coaching staff thanks all the parents, supporters and the cheerleaders.

The Rams kicked off to the Jets and recovered the kickoff fumble. In two plays the Rams scored with a 30 yard run by Dan Kordecki on an off-tackle play. Offensive standouts were Mike Buehler, Dave Gustable and Dave Kordecki. Leading the defense were Joe Rizzo, Jeff Zender and Jim Pappas.

Eagles 12, Redskins 0
Bob Holloway quarterbacked a fine offensive effort by the Eagles with John Walter, Steve Prossch, Jim McVie, Bob Fisher and Bob McKenney opening good holes for the running of John Grasse, Jeff Ralph and Pat Ruane. After the defensive front five blocked a Redskins punt, Doug Wolff ran 10 yards off tackle for the first six points. Doug Wolff ran 30 yards on a reverse, but the Redskins defense held off the Eagles at the 10 yard line. Offense drove 22 yards with Paul Barker going off tackle to score. Wolff kept the end for the extra point. Both defensive units controlled the game thereafter, with Dave McVie, Mike Hinchelliff, Brad Kay, Mark Ziehlinski, Paul Barker, John McVie and Bill Kohke making many fine defensive plays to hold the Redskins scoreless.

The hard running of Jeff Hazlewood and Paul Weissensel plus excellent pass reception by Brian Grier could not penetrate the Eagle defense for a score. The Redskins defense led by Brian Doney, Wally Cichon, Tom Coughlin and Jeff Hazlewood contained the Eagles most of the game.

Chiefs 12, Cowboys 0
The 1974 season ended on a high note for the Chiefs by holding a fine Cowboy team scoreless. Offensively, Tim Maloney took a handoff from Matt O'Callaghan and, moving behind arm blocking by Tim Valt, Tim McDermott and Angelo Tial, hit paydirt off tackle for the first Chief score. The extra point kick by Mike Santola was blocked. The second score came in the 3rd quarter when Gus Vivirito took the handoff from Matt O'Callaghan and moved into the end zone behind Darren Bowman and Bill McDermott. Again the P.A.T. was blocked. The high point in the game came when the Chief defensive eleven stopped the Cowboys after six attempts (with the aid of penalties) from scoring from the six inch line.

COWBOYS: No Game Report.
SPARTANS 27, Braves 12
With a great team effort, the 4bers ended the season on a winning note. Mark Szymanski scored three TDs on runs of two yards, 20 yards, and 2 yards. Jim Neubeauer scored the other TD on a two yard run. Extra points were scored by Mike Nelson, Szymanski and Neugebauer. Offensive blocking was led by Pete Murphy, Steve Engel, Dave Keady, Steve Nelson, Mike Sures, Tom Nicholson, Brian Smith, and Doug Reichl. Pitching in on defense were Rich Votta, Mark Anderson, Dave Turman, Dave Bongart, Bill Marz, Chris Braun, Tim Magnus, Billy Noy, Tom Molian, Andy Axelrod and Mike Lawson. Brian Mitalo and Joe Allegretti played good pass defense with the Tigers completing no passes. John Altenbern blocked two punts. John Altenbern scored late in the 4th quarter on a six yard off tackle run. Randy Pfaff made a beautiful catch on a 25 yard John Altenbern pass. The entire Wildcat team put out a great effort against a tough Tiger team.

Tigers 6, Wildcats 4
Tiger Tom Carlson ran the ball over from the two yard line through a hole provided by Sam Mantiello, Rick Teufel and Kurt Paisley. John Fargus, Mangimelle, Paisley, Rick Girard, Brett Gordan, Jim Freko, Tom Carlson, Jim Hunsday, Eric Zimmerman, Ed Czaplina, Teufel and John Stapleton were the defensive stalwarts. Paisley intercepted a pass.

The Wildcat defense played another great game, with fine tackles by Dan Carrico, Delmar Koyala, Andy Munar, Dan Vandeven, Billy Noy, Tom Molian, Andy Axelrod and Mike Lawson. Brian Mitalo and Joe Allegretti played good pass defense with the Tigers completing no passes. John Altenbern blocked two punts. John Altenbern scored late in the 4th quarter on a six yard off tackle run. Randy Pfaff made a beautiful catch on a 25 yard John Altenbern pass. The entire Wildcat team put out a great effort against a tough Tiger team.

Wolverines 18, Gophers 6
The Wolverines, the smallest team in the Banians, used a total team effort to beat a fired-up Gopher team. The offense was led by the outstanding blocking of Jim Wilcox, Marshall, Jeff Brzozowski, Mike Bulaw, Dan Georgen, Dave Lane and Tom Judy. TDs were scored by Dave Kozlowski on a QB plunge, Jim Foley on an end sweep and John Serzen on a 70 yard run. The defense, led by the outstanding blocking of John Serzen and Jim Foley, followed closely by Jay Kozlowski, Ken Fabrial, Craig Moberg, Mike Serzen, Tom Judy, Tim Coffaro and Paul Delley.

An option pass from Dave O'Connor to Jeff Sauer set the stage for Sauer to scamper into the end zone two plays later for a Gopher TD. The Gopher defense of Bob Vail, John Bennel, Jim Cole, Bill Beruend, Jim Guseky, Mike Stevens and Scott Manning held the Wolves to a six point deadlock for three quarters. Late in the 4th quarter, O'Connor hit Mike Moren over the middle. After an outstanding catch, Moren rambled yards down the one yard line. Matties took their toll on the Gopher drive and the red defense of Tim Kellner, Rich Williamson, Tim Schotten, John Nemece and Pat Girolamo took charge in a good defensive effort.

Illini 19, Badgers 6
The Illini put it all together to beat a tough Badger team. Outstanding blocks by Steve Truesel, Jim Vile and Chris Boyd enabled Tom Matthes to score on a QB rollout. Nickle for six points off right tackle and Kenny Gavro for the midline for a TD plus running in the extra point.

Defensively, the little orange team played extremely well. Leading the defense were Bob Matthes, Chuck Gerling, Len Kilroy, and Math Boyle on defensive end. Highlight of the game was Boyd's pass interception and 40 yard run-back. Ken Gavro was credited with a Badger fumble recovery. Thanks to coaches Chmura, Dick Gure, Jim Johnson and Tom Johnson.

The Badgers ran into an inspired, well-played Illini team and could never get their offense rolling. In the 3rd quarter, the strong running of Steve Barker helped set up a Badger score. John Laansma hauled in a Jeff Francis pass and ran 33 yards for the TD. Defensively the Badgers were aided with interceptions by Pat Kinney and Pete Kreisler. Although the Badgers ended the season without a win, the first time ever for a Badger 21, some outstanding boys who played their last game must be mentioned: Andy Gerber, Steve Gregorzyk, Pat Kinney, Brian Korf, Pete Kreisler, John Laansma, Jamie McGough, John Nowack and Mike Scully.

Hawkeyes 2, Buckeyes 0
The Spartans struck swiftly in the opening minutes with Dan Kilroy's alert recovery of the ball in the end zone after mate Bill Gubbe drove over guard from six yards out but fumbled when hit. The score was the Wildcat by Bill Rehling's recovery of a Buckeye fumble on the Spartan 33 and Mike Donner's two fine romps of 12 and 14 yards around end. Gubbe and Bob Grasse ran well, but the game belonged to the defense. Dan Royle's outstanding defensive line play set the pace for particularly fine efforts turned in by the mates Scott Sweet, Mike Sciala, Grasse and Rehling and Dan Kilroy.

The Buckeyes concluded their season with a hard fought loss to the Spartans. Although the Buckeyes had several scoring opportunities, they couldn't fine the end zone. Jim Gibbons had an outstanding day as he led the Buckeyes in 80 yards rushing and pass receptions. Mike Jacsch called a good game. Bill Schroll led the defense in tackles. Rick Ulrich recovered an opponent's fumble. Gordon Hillier and Schroll blocked two punts. Felschor Ed Woldyia also sparkled for the Buckeyes.

Canada marks death of inventor Marconi

Canada will mark the 100th anniversary of the birth of Guglielmo Marconi, father of radio, with an 8-cent adhesive to be released Nov. 15.

The stamp is another in Canada's multi-cultural series and recognizes the contributions Italians have made to Canadian culture.

Designed by John B. Boyle, the new issue will be printed by Ashton-Potter Ltd., Toronto, and bear general tagging.

Marginal inscriptions, including the designer's name, will appear on the four corners of each pane of 50 stamps.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations should send their requests to The Philatelic Service, Canada Post Office, Ottawa, Ont., Canada K1A 0B5, enclosing the proper remittance.

tance, which is the cost of the stamps to be affixed plus a 15-cent handling charge for each cover to be affixed with less than 50 cents postage. Remittances should be by international bank draft payable to The Receiver General for Canada.

THE FRANKLIN D. Roosevelt Philatelic Society will offer two memorial cachets to be canceled Thursday, Nov. 7, at Hyde Park, N.Y.

One commemorates the 12th anniversary of the death of Eleanor Roosevelt while the other marks the 30th anniversary of Franklin D. Roosevelt's election to an unprecedented fourth term as President of the United States.

The cachets, franked with appropriate stamps, are available for $1 each from The FDR Philatelic Society, Box 150-E, Clinton Corners, N.Y., 12514. A self-addressed, stamped No. 10 (long) envelope must be enclosed.

THE IRISH POST Office will release its Christmas issue, featuring Bellini's "Madonna and Child, Nov. 14.

Two denominations, a 5p and a 15p, will be printed by photogravure.

THE UNITED NATIONS Postal Administration Nov. 16 will withdraw from sale the 1973 stamp marking the 25th anniversary of the Declaration of Human Rights.

Churchill remembered in new commemorative

Three British Commonwealth members will issue special proof-quality coins commemorating the 100th anniversary of the birth of Sir Winston Churchill. All three centenary coins will be struck in solid sterling silver and distributed exclusively by Paramount International Coin Corp. of Englewood, Ohio.

The limited issue coins include a Cayman Islands 45mm $25 piece priced at $45; a Turks and Caicos 45mm 20 Crown coin priced at $30, and a Cook Island 58mm $50 coin priced at $175. Limited to 10,000 pieces may justify the price of the larger coin.

Also available to collectors will be the Cook Island $50 coin struck in 24-karat gold gilt silver at $225, and a special Bimetallic two-coin proof set including only the Cayman and Turks and Caicos centenary coins. The special two-coin set is priced at $75 each and will be packaged in a deluxe presentation case suitable for display.

THE CUTOFF DATE for the general public to order single Turks and Caicos and Cayman Islands coins, as well as the special two-coin proof set, is Nov. 30, the 100th anniversary of Churchill's birth. Collectors are limited to two each of these offerings.

Obverses of the Turks and Caicos and Cayman Islands coins will bear the portrait of Winston Churchill and the reverse will depict the coat of arms of their respective nations. The Cayman Islands $25 coin containing 800 grains of silver and the Turks and Caicos 20 crown containing 650 grains of silver, will both be struck at the Royal Canadian Mint.

The Turks and Caicos Islands Churchill commemorative proof coins will have a lettered edge which reads, "Redeemable at Turks and Caicos for U.S. Currency."

It may be converted into U.S. dollars without premium on the islands — the only coin in the world which can make such a claim.

Since only 10,000 of the Cook Islands $50 silver and 2,500 of the $50 gold gilt silver coins will be minted, reservations will be honored on a first-come, first-served basis only. Strict limitation of one $50 gold gilt silver and five $50 silver coins per customer will be enforced.

The new Churchill commemorative proof coins will be the authentic coin of the realm, designated as legal tender in their respective countries.

To insure integrity and sustained investment value, distribution of Churchill centenary coins will be strictly regulated. They will be available to subscribers only. Dies will be destroyed immediately after minting and each subscriber's coin will be accompanied by a certificate of authenticity documenting its proof status.

Uncirculated specimens of these coins will be available for public consumption at a later date.

Address all inquiries to Paramount International Coin Corp., Englewood, Ohio 45322.

Savings in by the 10th Earn from the 1st

You get 10 free days every month when you save at First Federal Savings of Des Plaines. Because savings in by the 10th of the month earn from the 1st of the month.

Extra earnings in just one of the little things that mean a lot to First Federal savers. Free transfer of funds is another. So is saving by mail with the postage paid both ways.

Perhaps most important is the high savings passbook rate—5 1/4 % per annum, compounded daily from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

So if little things—plus big earnings—mean a lot to you, start saving today at First Federal Savings of Des Plaines.

Insured safe, of course, by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Spouse must know

Is it possible for a resident of Illinois to go to another state and obtain a divorce without the spouse knowing about it?

The law requires that actual notice be served, if possible, upon the defendant. Otherwise, that notice of the proceeding be published in a newspaper and that notice be mailed to the defendant at his or her last known address. In spite of these efforts, it is possible that a divorce be obtained without the defendant actually knowing about it.

Cicely Tyson unemployed, but seeks a silver lining

NEW YORK — Cicely Tyson is out of work.

Miss Tyson, who will be starring in CBS' "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman" Sunday night, hasn't had a job since she won an Emmy last year for her portrayal of a former slave who lives until the civil rights movement.

"There has been very little work available for women these days, especially for black women," said Miss Tyson. "It disturbs me to bang on the same gong, but that's the way it is. There is nothing around worth doing. Nothing."

ALTHOUGH MISS Tyson hasn't worked in more than a year, she has had her share of offers. Most of them were unsuitable. One of them was "Get Christie Love," ABC's super cool look at a black policewoman. The show has been acclaimed critically as garbage.

"I didn't approve of the first script," she said. "I didn't like the character. She just fell into the same roles of black women in the super-fly movies. When I was being considered for the part, they made me some promises that they would rewrite the scripts and remake the character, but it didn't work out."

NEVERTHELESS, Miss Tyson hasn't given up her quest for the right property. But she is not overwhelmed by what she is offered. Again, it is mostly theatrical fluff.

"It's very depressing reading scripts these days," she said. "Half way through them, I'm still looking for something, but there is nothing there. Just this weekend, I read five scripts — it was embarrassing. Who pays writers to write this kind of stuff!"

This is not the first time Miss Tyson has been out of work. She waited four-and-a-half years between films until she did "Sounder," a sensitive movie about the struggles of a black family in the South. She waited two years after that film to do "Pittman."

"Who knows?" she said. "If I did all those things I rejected, I might have missed 'Sounder,' and I also could have missed 'Miss Jane.'"

TV NOTEBOOK: NBC is thinking about dropping "Lucas Tanner" and "Petrocelli." Both shows are limping along in the rating game Wednesday night.

"We are looking at our 8-10 p.m. (CST) schedule on Wednesday night," said Marvin Antonowsky, NBC vice president for program administration. "We will be discussing that period this week and then we will make a decision."

"Lucas Tanner" occupies the 8-9 p.m. (CST) slot. "Petrocelli" fills 9-10 p.m.

EMMY AWARD winner Bill Moyers is preparing a special telecast about cowboys that will be aired by PBS in February. "I think it will be an excellent portrait of these men," Moyers said in an interview. "They are the last of the individuals."

Buffalo Grove's new Plaza Verde under construction

A landscaped plaza area will anchor the Plaza Verde Shopping Center under construction in Buffalo Grove.

Space for large shops will be provided around the plaza, said Marvin C. Hymen, developer. A courtyard area with overhead skylights will house small shops at the center. Plaza Verde is located at the corner of Dundee and Arlington Heights Roads.

Hymen said Plaza Verde is designed as a neighborhood center. It will feature Eagle Foods, Osco Drugs, Jojo's Restaurant and 35 specialty stores. A separate 14,000 square foot building will provide space for another major retailer.

The center was designed by Brim-Braun Associates, will open in early 1975. The general contractor is Fragman Construction, and the leasing director is Buffalo Grove Associates.

INTERIOR OF THE Plaza Verde shopping center scheduled to open in the spring of 1975. The center will offer some 35 shops in 116,000 square feet of merchandising space. Plaza Verde will have skylighted courtyards in the interior mall and access to stores inside and out. The center was designed by Brim-Braun Associates.

It happens every fall

Beware the chimney and furnace fixers

by LEA TONKIN

It happens every fall. When crisp fall weather sets in, a number of fraudulent home repair operators start making the rounds of suburban and city neighborhoods in the Chicago metropolitan area.

THEY'RE CALLED chimney shakers and "home wreckers" by Illinois Attorney General William Scott and the Better Business Bureau of Chicago. "Chimney shaking" as defined by Scott takes place after an unscrupulous repairman offers to inspect a homeowners' chimney for a nominal charge. When the victim is out of sight, he shakes the chimney loose and offers to repair it for a sum of money. The system is the same for furnace repair gypsies.

"By the use of innumerable scare tactics, these unscrupulous operators secure cash or signatures on contracts for fabulous sums," Scott said. "Although they claim that they are doing necessary emergency service, often they wreck perfectly sound furnaces and chimneys."

Among Scott's recent cases involving "chimney shakers" is a suit filed last week against William Griffin of 1212 Algonquin Road, Schaumburg. Griffin does business as Gee and Sons, Inc., 6110 W. Second St. in Cicero.

In a suit filed in Cook County Circuit Court against Griffin, Scott asks for a permanent injunction to bar Griffin's operations and a fine of $50,000. The suit also asks that Griffin reimburse customers who have suffered because of his practices. Scott charged that Griffin and his associates made unsolicited visits to homeowners and claimed that immediate roofing and chimney repairs were needed. A majority of the victims said scare tactics were used. Griffin may respond to the complaint before a hearing is set.

IN A SIMILAR action last week, Scott filed suit against a Cicero firm doing business in Elmhurst for a home repair scheme. Once the repairmen had the money in hand, they did not complete the work or offered inferior quality work, the suit alleges. Liens were filed against homeowners' property because the operators did not pay subcontractors even though the homeowners had paid for their work.

In some cases, con men pose as registered inspectors of chimneys, furnaces, and electrical wiring. Another approach is an offer to clean and service furnaces for a bargain price because the repairman "happened to be in the area." The "bargains" offered by fraudulent business operators may cost you thousands of dollars. For chimney and roofing jobs, one operator charged approximately $3,000 per customer.

ONE AREA HOMEOWNER paid $8,000 for a chimney repair job on a house valued at $7,500, said Jim Baumhart, director of operations for the Better Business Bureau of Chicago. "On chimneys, they may make excessive estimates," Baumhart said. Frequently, the offer is a cash deal. The operator will offer to accompany the customer to the bank for a savings withdrawal.

"Scare tactics of any type are never used by legitimate businesses," Baumhart said. The repairman who tells you the furnace is going to blow up or the chimney will topple on the children next door should be avoided, he said.

BAUMHART ADVISED homeowners to check the company's reputation before signing a contract for repairs. A business card or a name painted on a truck do not guarantee a legitimate business deal. Get two or three estimates of repair costs before you make a decision, he added.

Questions about suspected fraudulent repair firms may be directed to the Better Business Bureau in Chicago, telephone 467-0850. Homeowners may also call the Ill. Atty. Gen.'s consumer fraud division offices in Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Buffalo Grove, Schaumburg and Chicago.

Taxes

Americans paid an average of $577 in taxes to state and local governments in fiscal 1973 — a jump of $55 per person from the previous period, according to Commerce Clearing House report of the latest Census Bureau data.

Per capita state-local tax burdens — which grew heavier in every state — ranged from a low of $342 in Arkansas to a high of $894 in New York (the first time the $800 level has been passed). The fiscal period saw Arkansas replace Alabama with the lowest per capita burden while New York remained at the top for the eighth straight year.

California, with a per capita burden of $739 was in the runnerup spot. Close followers were Connecticut ($727) and Massachusetts ($714).

At the bottom of the scale, only Arkansas was below the $350 level, whereas in the prior fiscal period there were four states — Mississippi, South Carolina, Arkansas and Alabama — with per capita burdens below the $350 level.

The median burden was $514, a $53 jump from fiscal 1972. The median State was Maine.

Amounts of the increases in per capita tax burdens over fiscal 1972 ranged from a low of $13 in Delaware to a high of $105 in New York. Besides Delaware, six other states had increases of $25 or less. Twenty states and the District of Columbia had increases of $50 or more and six states registered gains of at least $75.

By comparison, in fiscal 1972, four states had increases of $25 or less; twenty-two had increases of $50 or more, and eight recorded jumps of $75 or more. Total state and local tax collections for fiscal 1973 were $121.10 billion, up $12.30 billion from the $108.80 billion for the prior period. The 1973 figures represent a jump of almost 100 per cent from the revenues collected for fiscal 1967, $61.24 billion.

New York again led the states with a sum in excess of $16.3 billion, while California closely followed with $15.2 billion. Pennsylvania reached the $6.9 billion mark and Illinois nearly hit that level. Michigan pulled in more than $5.7 billion.

Thirty-one states currently form the ranks of the "billionaires" club of states collecting at least one billion dollars, up three states from fiscal 1972.

Coming up:

school officials, planners and attorneys.

• NOV. 1: An open house will be held at Planning Horizons, Inc. offices, 2600 S. River Road, in Des Plaines, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. The event is planned as a celebration of the land planning and design firm's first anniversary.

• NOV. 4: The Northern Cook County Federation of the Illinois Bankers Assn. will meet at the Cypress restaurant in Hinsdale. The guest speaker will be Lawrence J. Mauer, second vice president and associate economist for the Northern Trust Co., Chicago. A social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m.

• NOV. 4: A special presentation will be made by the Chicago and Illinois Restaurant Assn. at a luncheon to be held at Allgauer's Fireside Restaurant in Northbrook. The 12 noon meeting will be held in honor of the restaurant's 40 years in business.

• OCT. 31 AND NOV. 1: The National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies scheduled an executive tax seminar at the Regency Hyatt O'Hare in Rosemont. The meetings conclude a conference which began Oct. 30.

Followup: homeowner groups should be tax free

Congress should restore the tax exempt status to condominium and homeowner associations, said Robert Cagann before the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Housing and Urban Development in Washington, D.C. Cagann is founder and president of Robert A. Cagann and Associates, Inc., in Arlington Heights.

Cagann supported the position of the Institute of Real Estate Management in his testimony. In response to a recent Internal Revenue Service ruling, IREM voted to urge the tax exempt status proposal. The subcommittee is considering two proposed condominium unit regulation bills. Cagann expressed concern that there is no legislation establishing minimum standards for the management of condominium units. Such standards are needed because of the continuing nature of the condominium governing association, he said.

 LISTING SERVICE

Practice home safety continually

by DOROTHEA BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — You've heard it before but it needs repeating. Home safety isn't a once-and-done thing. It requires constant vigilance.

"When did you last make a safety check of conditions in your home? Just how safe is your home?"

Bethlehem Steel Corp. asks its employees these questions in its company publication, Bethlehem Review. We would all do well to answer them for ourselves.

Everyone knows most accidents happen at home. Everyone knows most of them could be prevented with a little foresight. But how often do we overlook unsafe conditions or even ignore them just because we're used to the torn spot in the hall carpet that's going to be replaced anyway or the clutter on the cellar steps that's going to go as soon as we find the time.

Bethlehem asks its employees to make a safety check NOW, and then make it a habit. Some questions to ask yourself as you go from room to room:

KITCHEN — Are sharp knives kept in a rack? Are there at least two flame-proof pot holders near the stove? No curtains near the stove as a fire hazard. Is there a fire extinguisher handy? Are stove controls childproof? Are laundry, cleaning products and other hazardous materials clearly labeled and safely out of reach of children? Is lighting adequate for cutting and cooking chores? Is a sturdy stepstool handy?

BATH — Does each bathtub and shower have nonskid strips or a rubber mat? Does each have a sturdy grab bar? Is the medicine chest free of old prescriptions? Are all medicines clearly labeled? Are medicines safely out of reach of children? Are electric outlets and appliances where they can't be reached from tub or shower? Can the bathroom door lock be opened from the outside in an emergency?

ATTIC — Is the stairway in good repair and well lighted? Is there a sturdy handrail and safety treads? Are the stairs completely clear of junk? Is the attic free of combustibles, such as old clothing, paper, magazines, old furniture — trash in other words?

BASEMENT — All the attic questions apply. In addition, does the door to the basement open towards you, rather than away which could invite a fall down stairs? Have furnace and chimney been inspected in the past year? Is the hot water thermostat adjusted so water is not scalding? Does the hot water system have a pressure relief valve?

GARAGE — Is floor free of grease and oil? Can garage lights be turned on from inside the house? Are overhead doors or roll-up doors properly balanced? Is power equipment kept in a locked cabinet or otherwise protected from children? Are garden tools hung safely on the wall and out of walking areas? Are garden chemicals stored safely? Is garage free of trash?

WORKSHOP — Is the home workshop safe, all tools stored carefully, electric tools safe from curious youngsters? Are there safety guards on all electric tools? Are hazardous materials stored properly? No oily rags or other combustibles?

YARD — Are outside steps in good repair? Do they have handrails? Are they properly lighted? Are downspouts located so they don't discharge on walkways or steps? Are basement window wells and other openings adequately covered? If you use a power lawn mower, do you keep youngsters and children out of the way? Do you wear steel-toed safety shoes?

ELECTRICAL — Does the television lead-in wire have a grounded lightning arrester? Are electric washers and dryers, other power equipment grounded through a three-prong outlet or to a cold-water line? Do pull chains on light fixtures have a plastic or insulated link? Are fuses and circuit breakers labeled to identify outlets and fixtures they protect? No oversize fuses, overloaded circuits? Are extension cords, Christmas tree lights and other seasonal decorations in good condition? Is all wiring in good condition, no frayed or worn spots, no tangled cords on the floor? Are all wall outlets used without multiple plugs? Are outlets protected from curious toddlers?

GENERAL — Are necessary ladders handy and in good repair? Are gasoline and other flammable liquids stored in safety approved metal cabinets? Are matches kept out of children's reach? Are household chemicals out of reach of small children? Are guns unloaded and stored in a locked cabinet? Is ammunition stored in a locked cabinet separate from firearms? Are fully charged fire extinguishers available for emergency use? Is trash stored only in covered metal containers? Has any member of the family had first-aid training? If there is a hunter in the family, has he taken a hunter's safety course? If you own a boat, have you taken a small boat safety training course? Do you have a fire safety plan? During the past six months, has your family actually held a home fire drill?

Proper humidity level can keep pet more comfortable

A proper level of humidity in your home during the winter heating months does more than protect your furniture, please your philodendron and promote your personal comfort. It also probably makes your dog or cat more comfortable throughout the winter.

According to the Air-Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute (ARI), the average American home during winter is drier than the Sahara Desert (about 13 per cent relative humidity versus 25 per cent in the desert).

Your pet spends much of his time in this environment, said ARI, adding that many careful cat owners never let them outside at all. In these bone-dry conditions, it's harder for your pet to stay in tiptop health and appearance.

Dry indoor air is a factor in the buildup of harmless but annoying static electricity in the home, said the Institute.

Longhaired animals build up static electricity charges in their fur because of the dryness, causing a spark and a shock when you reach to pet them.

Why not make your home environment — and your pet's — as comfortable as you can? ARI points out that pans of water on warm air registers won't give the humidity level of 30 to 40 per cent which is considered desirable; for this you need a home humidifier.

Many central system humidifiers are certified under an ongoing program of ARI. The Institute makes information available on specific models in its Directory, which you may consult at your local contractor or dealer's office.

 This lavishly furnished home is truly a DAZZLER from the entry foyer, with its muraled wall, to the plush carpeted family room. This room is outstanding in its size and offers a cozy fireplace and wet bar. Sliding glass doors open to a large patio with gas bar-b-que and nicely landscaped yard. The living room and dining room are luxuriously carpeted. The kitchen has all built-in appliances, with Mediterranean style cabinets and the eating area will accommodate a seating of 12 easily. There are FOUR extra sized bedrooms with large double closets. The master bedroom has a private bath and shower. The upstairs bath has a double vanity and is delightfully decorated. There is a powder room off the kitchen and family room. The traffic pattern in this home is terrific. All rooms are remarkably spacious and can accommodate oversized furniture. Centrally air conditioned with humidifier. There is even a large basement. Located on a quiet street in CAMELOT, close to schools. Imagination and style have been generously used thruout this strikingly furnished and decorated home and the results are simply fantastic. $78,500

Local builders, government officials meet to discuss effects of inflation

The Home Builders Association of Greater Chicago (HBAGC) will sponsor their annual Land Development Seminar on Friday & Saturday, November 1 & 2 at the Hillside Holiday Inn. According to Troy Miller, consulting engineer for C. A. Hemphill & Associates, Inc., "the main theme of this year's seminar will be inflation and its basic effects on housing and local government." While HBAGC is striving to achieve immediate relief and solutions to the housing crisis, this seminar will afford the local builders and government officials the opportunity to inform each other of their specific problems under the present economic situation.

With housing starts down 50 per cent, little planning is being done. Builders are faced with high costs of labor and materials which in turn forces them to increase the cost of housing. Furthermore, village officials find it difficult to make ends meet in providing services for their present communities let alone any new inflow of residents resulting from new developments.

Miller states, "It is important that builders and government officials be thoroughly aware of each group's specific problems and hopefully we can all walk away with the mutual understanding that we are all striving for the common goal of providing people with vital and needed services and that none of us is in an adversary position."

Village officials participating in the program are Bob Atcher, village president, Schaumburg; Bob Homola, village president, Bloomingdale; Robert Eppley, village manager, Mt. Prospect; William Kirchhoff, city manager, Wheaton; Virginia Hayter, village president, Hoffman Estates; Barry Nekritz, attorney and village trustee, Northbrook; John Richards, director of community development, City of Naperville; Jim Clark, treasurer, DuPage County; Albert Blinder, executive director, Hoffman Estates Park District; Joe Doud, director, Northbrook Park District; and Jack Siegel, village attorney of Evanston, Schaumburg and Arlington Heights.

The following school officials will also be part of the program: Fred Burham, Illinois School Consulting Service; Kenneth Orton, business manager, Evanston, District 65; Wayne Schabbe, superintendent of schools, District 54; and Don Birdsell, superintendent of schools, Community Unit School District 200.

Arl Keller of Hoffman Rosner Corporation; Jerome Melster of Melster-Nelberg, Inc.; James Hemphill of C. A.

Hemphill and Associates; Bill Kennedy of Kennedy Brothers and Ned Simon of The Simon/R.G. Group, Inc.; will discuss the builders problems under the current inflationary situation.

The legal aspects will be covered by Joe Ash of Ash, Anos, Harris & Freeman; Perry Snyderman of Rudnick, Wolfe, Snyderman and Foreman; and Vincent P. Reilly of Russell Bridwell & Lappore.

Jerome Stone of Residential Planning Corporation will inform the group of the basic effects of today's inflation and Robert Babbin will discuss the problems affecting schools and parks.

Individuals interested in attending the seminar may make reservations through the Home Builders Association of Greater Chicago (887-7375). The cost of the seminar is $50 for both days, $30 for each day and student admission is $10.00.

Dora Nowlen joins staff

Dora M. Nowlen has joined Homefinders Realtors, according to an announcement by Robert L. Zaun, president of the firm.

A resident of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Nowlen is assigned to the Homefinders office which is located there at 2 W. Northwest Hwy.

Born in Abingdon, Ill., Mrs. Nowlen graduated from Abingdon High School, and prior to joining Homefinders she attended Illinois Institute of Technology and Harper College. She majored in psychology at Harper, and received her Associate of Arts degree earlier this year. She was also on the honor roll at Harper.

Dora and her husband, W. James, are the parents of Nanci Ann Horton, Pamela Lee Derstine and James Arthur. Before enrolling in college, Mrs. Nowlen served as secretary to the controller at the research and development division of Kraftco Corp.

Mrs. Nowlen is a member of the National Secretaries Association, and has been active in the PTA, Girl Scouts and the Methodist Church. She enjoys gardening and a variety of homecraft projects as her hobbies.

Free pumpkins

F-B-K Inc. Realtors once again are offering free pumpkins at their Schaumburg office. Mr. Keller, president of F-B-K instituted this idea last year in appreciation for the fine welcome the residents of the area gave to the opening of his new real estate office.

Keller is repeating the free pumpkin offer this year as a thank you for past business and confidence the residents have shown in his organization.

Tons of pumpkins are available at 8 W. Schaumburg Rd., free of charge. Stop in and select a pumpkin of your choice to enjoy during the holiday season.

F-B-K has three offices serving the northwest suburbs.

Retire to Costa Rica

Charles C. Neal, Realtor, 666 E. Northwest Hwy., Palatine, adds a new twist and an exciting solution to the problem of retirement. He says, "Come see, fall in love with and retire in Costa Rica!"

Costa Rica is a little country with year-round ideal climate, friendly people, culture, scenic beauty, wild life, fishing, mountains, volcanoes, rivers and two oceans. What's more, families who need $600 a month for living modestly in the Miami area can comfortably live there for $400 a month including a full-time maid and handyman for chores.

American retirees can take advantage of the country's "pensionado" law, which allows a person to import belongings up to $7,000 in value and a new car duty free. There is no age limit, and in order to qualify, one must only show proof of a steady income of $400.

Neal is the developer of the Beaches of Porton in Costa Rica.

Two associates top million mark

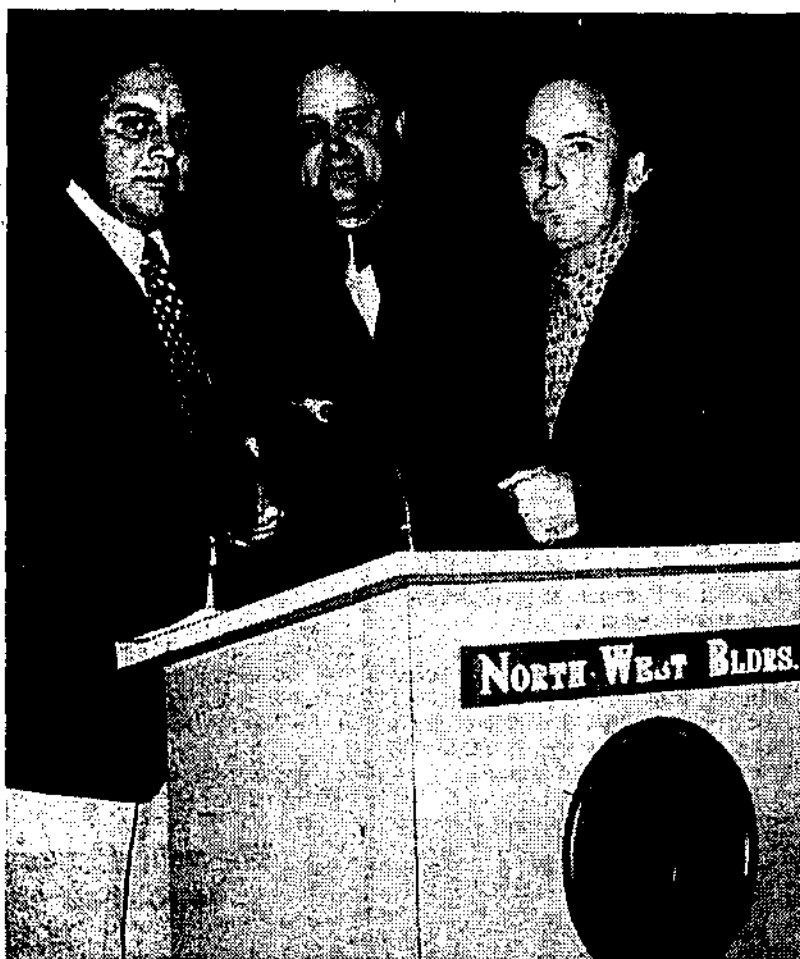

Annen & Busse, Inc. Realtors added two names to their Million Dollar Sales Club during the month of September. Jane Jackson and Wil Schwantz reached this coveted goal during that period of time. Both of these associates are members of the firm's Arlington Heights Office staff.

Jane Jackson, associate with Annen & Busse for the past six years, has been a member of the Annen & Busse Million Dollar Sales Club each year since she began her career in Real Estate and she reached the outstanding goal of two million dollars in real estate transactions in 1973, at which time she was awarded a special gift of recognition. Jane holds lifetime memberships in the MAP Multiple Listing Service, as well as the Illinois Board of Realtors Million Dollar Sales Clubs.

Wil Schwantz, celebrating his tenth year with Annen & Busse, reached his million dollar sales goal during September. Wil is a senior member of the Annen & Busse Million Dollar Sales Club and in 1973 topped the firm with a record-breaking 50 listings taken during that year. Wil is also a lifetime member of the MAP Multiple Listing Service Million Dollar Sales Club and the Illinois Board of Realtors Million Dollar Sales Club.

These two associates' achievements bring to a total of 10 Annen & Busse staff members who have achieved million dollar sales status already this year. All Annen & Busse associates work in cooperation with the MAP Multiple Listing Service.

Some tips for easy care floors

In addition to the fact that hardwood floors are more economical to maintain than any other kind, they require less of the housewife's time.

Properly finished hardwood floors need to be dry-mopped only occasionally to retain their warmth and glow. You may use a completely dry mop or one that is treated with oil-base dust and grime remover. Or you may use your vacuum cleaner to remove loose dust and dirt. Remember to mop — or "vac" — with the grain.

Two or three times a year, when dirt build-up may become apparent, you may want to give the floors a clean-and-wax job. It's not difficult. It's best to use a cleaner-wax with a solvent base. Never use a water-base wax on hardwood floors, nor a "self-polishing wax" unless it's waterless.

Spread the cleaner-wax with a cloth or a fine steel wool pad; rub gently until grime and old wax can be wiped clean. Long handled applicators are usually available in hardware stores at a modest cost. Let the floor dry for about 20 minutes or so, then buff it by hand, or with a buffer. (For durability, you may want to apply a second coat.)

If cleaner-waxes are not used, you may want to give the floors a wax coating with a paste or liquid wax made specifically for hardwood floors. This is only a two-or-three-times a year job, too.

First, vacuum or dry mop. If old wax is not discolored, new wax may be applied over it. If it is soiled or discolored, remove it with mineral spirits or naphtha. Wax is a cleansing agent itself. A wax with a mineral spirits or naphtha base will loosen dirt and old wax so that it may be picked up easily. Follow the manufacturer's instructions in applying new wax — and remember, two thin coats are preferable to one that may be laid on too thick. Again — buff with the grain.

No matter how careful you and your family are, floor marks are going to appear on your fine oak floors from time to time — heel marks, scratches, stains from standing water or other liquids dropped on the floor.

But don't worry about them — unless someone has dropped something heavy that leaves deep dents, you can remove most of them easily.

For most stains and marks, just rub lightly with steel wool, then clean with a cloth dampened with vinegar, turpentine, or mineral spirits. Let it stand for a few minutes, then wipe dry. Repeat if necessary. If the mark is stubborn, sand it lightly with fine sandpaper and repeat the process.

Heel marks may be removed by a liquid polishing wax applied with a pad of fine steel wool.

Some of the more difficult stains may require wood bleach, but use it carefully to avoid discoloring the surrounding wood, and wear rubber gloves while applying it with a damp cloth. Let it stand two or three minutes before wiping with a damp cloth. After the spot has dried, refinish it to blend with the rest of the floor by wiping on a finish until it matches. If your floor is finished with a pigmented penetrating sealer, some of this may be applied to the bleached spot until it matches.

You don't need to worry about refinishing your hardwood floors more often than every 10 or 15 years, under normal conditions. When the time comes, the National Oak Flooring Manufacturers' Association warns against undertaking the task unless you or someone in the family is a skilled "do-it-yourselfer." It's better to call on a floor contractor because improper finishing can spoil your floors' beauty.

The job involves sanding off the old finish (always with the grain), beginning with a coarse paper and progressing to finer grits, apply the new finish, waxing, and buffing. This procedure applies to new hardwood floors as well.

Whether it's a newly laid floor or an older one which has just been sanded you'll want to make a choice of a good finish — it's going to last for another 10-15 years. Many different finishes are available, but the National Oak Flooring Manufacturers' Association recommends a penetrating sealer for nearly all residential purposes. It wears only as the wood wears, and can be retouched (as when a bleaching agent removes the color along with a stain). Penetrating sealers may be used as an undercoat for varnish, shellac, or urethane.

If you use varnish, which is available in high, semi, or low gloss and gives a durable finish, keep in mind that varnish darkens somewhat with age and is difficult to retouch.

Shellac is a quick-drying finish which permits application of a second coat in a few hours and the floor can be used in eight hours from application. Doesn't darken with age, but will spot from dropped liquids.

Even faster drying than shellac is lacquer; but this requires considerable skill in application. It is easily retouched.

Urethanes and amino-resins are "new" finishes which provide highly durable surfaces and are moisture and scratch resistant. However, they're more expensive than other finishes, but if a floor has a great deal of traffic (foyer) or is exposed to stains and spills (kitchen or bathroom), the added cost may be justified. Oil-modified urethanes are more frequently used in residential applications because they are easier to apply than the moisture-cured types, and still provide excellent service, according to NOFMA.

Savings and loan associations are urged to improve industry 5 ways

Savings and loan association executives were urged to work for five industry improvements — including more uniformity in usury law — in order to attract new sources of funds to the U.S. mortgage market.

Oakley Hunter, chairman of the board and president of the Federal National Mortgage Association outlined the five points in an address before the 31st annual meeting of the National Savings and Loan League in the Sheraton Waldkiki, Honolulu.

Some state usury laws have interest ceilings which are below current market interest rates, he said, and home buyers in those states are penalized when they find themselves unable to compete for funds in a nationwide market. "To foster an effective national mortgage market, such regulation of interest rates as is necessary should be accomplished on a uniform basis," Hunter added. "One way would be through federal legislation, particularly in the case of federally underwritten or federally assisted loans, or on loans eligible for purchase by federally sponsored credit intermediaries such as FNMA and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation."

Hunter also called for more standardization of mortgage instruments and less cumbersome and more uniform foreclosure and redemption laws as steps toward attracting new mortgage funds. "Unnecessarily cumbersome foreclosure and redemption laws discourage mortgage investment because of the expense of obtaining title to and possession of property," he said.

Another subject Hunter touched on was what he called "the American propensity for bigness which manifests itself in larger and larger homes." He said homes increased in average square footage 43 per cent from 1950 to 1974. The industry should consider a number of innovative design features that help to keep construction costs down but which do not sacrifice livability.

In a related segment of his talk, he urged another look at the rigidity of building codes. "During the past 30 years, because of our determination to improve the quality of housing in the United States, we have sacrificed the flexibility that is necessary if new and innovative approaches to housing construction are to be encouraged."

Hunter discounted the possibility of any one single solution to the country's current housing and mortgage market problems. He reviewed several past efforts to aid housing, including the creation of FNMA and FHLMC, mortgage backed securities and variable rate mortgages.

"Our view at Fannie Mae is that although not all of these approaches would be suitable at all times for all institutions, the industry — and the nation — needs them all. The need for housing in this country is great enough to require the best efforts of everybody."

"Not only do we need many different techniques for providing mortgage credit, but we need diversity in the kinds of institutions which serve the market."

Heating checkup insures safety

Harold Hollub, president of Hollub Heating, Inc., 1020 W. Adams, Chicago, urges annual fuel system checkups to help insure safe and efficient use of natural gas heating systems.

A heating unit, Hollub said, "needs good ventilation through the flue and chimney." Having a heating contractor annually inspect the system is recommended. Yet, he explained, there are two simple tests which a homeowner can conduct. "Checking the color of the flame is one indication of proper combustion. It should be blue, or if dirt has clogged flue passages or air openings it could have an orange appearance. A yellow flame, though, indicates incomplete combustion and the heating system should be checked immediately."

He also urged homeowners to oil fan motor as recommended by manufacturers, check fan belt for loosening and clean or replace filters once a month. Usually new filters cost less than $1 and are available at hardware stores.

If you decide on having your heating system inspected it should include lubrication of motors, blowers, pumps and valves, cleaning and adjustment of pilot and main burner.

Singles see benefits of home ownership

Many families choose advantages of home ownership over the relatively care-free living and predictable costs of renting, but singles, also, recognize plusses of home ownership and decide to buy rather than rent. Recently, the number of single people who own homes or condominiums has risen so rapidly that the home-owning single is being referred to as a trend.

Reasons singles cite for buying rather than renting are often the same that families have; they are proud to own and maintain a home, realize that tax deductions and equity buildup make ownership a good investment, enjoy decorating their surroundings as they please and cherish the privacy the home offers.

Singles have acquired a respectable image in the mortgage lending market. Because young people are better educated and more affluent than before, they not only recognize advantages of home ownership, but also have the earning power and credit power to meet ownership requirements.

Availability of government-backed loans from the Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration also has contributed to the increase in home-owning singles. According to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, 5.5 per cent of mortgages insured by FHA on existing homes in 1970 went to single males, and 4.5 per cent went to single females. Of new home loans issued in 1970, 2.8 per cent went to male singles and 2.5 per cent went to female singles.

Figures for 1973 show a marked increase: 7.3 per cent of mortgages insured by FHA on existing homes went to single males and 7.7 per cent went to single females. Single males were issued 4.5 per cent of all new home loans in 1973, and single females were issued 4.1 per cent of the total. Many single buyers also have taken advantage of low down payments offered on conventional loans.

And they can benefit from a new system of flexible payment mortgages which permits smaller loan payments during early years of the mortgage, with larger payments later on when incomes have increased. Single roommates who decide to buy a home or condominium can apply for a loan using both salaries as a basis.

Many single persons taking the step to home ownership are condominium buyers. Builders and developers throughout the nation recognize this trend and aim their marketing focus toward singles. But singles insist their condominiums are not "boilerplate" "swinging singles" developments. Many have moved into a condominium to escape that element found in some apartment complexes.

Heat adds comfort

No matter what type of home improvement project you have — finishing the attic or basement, adding a room, installing wood paneling, carpeting — you'll be dollars and cents ahead if you include heating in your pre-planning, says the National Better Heating-Cooling Council.

In nine out of 10 home modernization jobs, the Council notes, heating is needed. When it is planned at the outset, it is relatively inexpensive. Later, the cost of installation is much higher.

If your home is equipped with hydronics, it will be easier to expand the present system. Hydronics uses only small diameter tubing, about finger size, and it can be snaked through small holes to connect the new area with the existing system.

Before you panel a room that has old fashioned radiators, the Council suggests you replace the radiators with trim baseboard heating panels; otherwise the room will look like a man wearing formal tails with blue jeans. Today's baseboard heating is available with wood grained covers.

If you have hydronic baseboard heating, it is perfectly safe to hang floor length draperies. Hydronic baseboard never gets too hot to the touch and won't burn or scorch draperies.

IREM publishes findings

agement of income-producing properties. The Analysis eliminates the need for costly research by making income versus expense information easily accessible.

The data is grouped by building type, metropolitan area, age and size, for easy, accurate reference. Regional grouping of information facilitates comparison of operating costs versus expenses within a specified area or on a national basis.

Figures are published on the basis of dollars per room, per income and dollars per square foot expenses on gross and rentable areas of the building. Charts and graphs illustrating the data are included.

This 160-page 1974 Income/Expense Analysis, which sells for $30, is available through the Institute of Real Estate Management, 155 East Superior, Chicago, 60611.

Average total expenses incurred in the management of buildings rose 10.3 per cent over the last year, while average income rose only five per cent, according to the 1974 Income/Expense Analysis — Apartments, Condominiums and Cooperatives, recently published by the Institute of Real Estate Management.

Heating fuel costs alone rose 60 per cent which was actually less than anticipated as a result of last fall and winter's energy crisis.

These findings are only a couple of the trends pinpointed by IREM's Income/Expense Analysis. This IREM publication is the end-result of an extensive research project, which takes a year to complete. The publication investigates and utilizes data from over 2,800 buildings in 140 cities across the United States and Canada to compare income versus expenses in the maintenance and man-

U of I booklet tells fuel-saving ideas

An "energy packet" of fuel-saving ideas for homeowners has been prepared at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

It includes five non-technical publications of the UIUC Small Homes Council-Building Research Council. Regularly these are 25 cents each, but the packet is $1.

Publications in it are "Living With the Energy Crisis," "Insulation for Heating," "Heating the Home," "Fuels and Burners" and "Cooling Systems for the Home."

For the packet, send $1 to Small Homes Council-Building Research Council, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, 1 E. St. Mary's Rd., Champaign, Ill. 61820.

"Living With the Energy Crisis" has a 69-point checklist of cost-cutting suggestions, and charts presenting a simplified way for homeowners to calculate heat savings from various amounts of insulation and window protection.

Among the suggestions are:

Install storm sash early in the heating season.

Insulate ceilings and walls.

Install storm doors and weatherstrip on both storm and inside doors.

Caulk around window and door frames.

Have heating system checked, adjusted and cleaned.

Close fireplace damper when fireplace is not in use.

Shut off spare rooms not in use.

Each one degree Fahrenheit lower room thermostat setting can save two to three per cent of fuel.

Night thermostat setback of 10 degrees may save seven per cent of fuel in poorly insulated homes, but much less in insulated houses.

Basement walls also should be insulated and storm sash installed on basement windows. Crawl space should be insulated.

"Insulation for Heating" has information on moisture control and humidification.

tion requirements. Vapor barriers should be on the inside — the warm side — of insulation, it points out, and moisture-producing equipment such as clothes dryers should be vented.

"Heating the Home" explains warm air, hot water and electric heating systems and their controls.

The heart of the control system, it says, is the thermostat. This should be between two-and-one half and four feet above the floor — no higher. It should not be on an outside wall, nor near doors or windows which may be left open, nor near heat outlets, not on walls with heating pipes or ducts or which receive heat from the sun or a fireplace. Television sets or lamps under a thermostat make it give false readings.

"Fuels and Burners" explains use of oil, gas, liquefied gas, electricity and coal, and has a table of equivalent fuel costs at various unit prices.

"Cooling Systems for the Home" acquaints the energy-conscious consumer with compressor-cycle equipment, absorption-cycle equipment, heat pumps, ducted-air cooling, chilled water systems and room units, and with cooling system installation and operation.

Toys "R" Us expands chain

The Toys "R" Us chain makes plans to open three stores located in Detroit, Baltimore and New Jersey this month. These newest openings will increase the number of stores in the chain, coast to coast, to 51. Toys "R" Us presently has 10 stores in the Chicago area, one of them in Schaumburg, and one in the Milwaukee, Wis. area.

Charles Lazarus, president and founder of the company, announced, "The expansion program of Toys "R" Us is just beginning. The company's goal is to have 100 free standing discount toy stores in operation doing an annual volume of $250 million within a few years."

Dooley predicts housing boom

A boom in residential real estate, the likes of which has not been seen since the end of World War II, was predicted today by Thomas W. Dooley, executive vice president of Gallery of Homes, in an address today to the Indianapolis Board of Realtors.

Dooley prognosticated that the surge in business would be a direct result of the "tremendous pent-up demand for quality housing" being intensified daily by the "current high cost and lack of availability of mortgage financing."

"Literally hundreds of thousands of Americans want to buy homes right now," Dooley said, "but are discouraged or prevented from doing so by the ravages of inflation and the psychological depression that it carries in its wake."

"Right now," Dooley observed, "the residential housing market in general ranges from sluggish to disastrous." "The one part of the nation to another."

"Relocated employees have a compulsive reason for selling one home and acquiring another," Dooley emphasized, "moreover, they usually can rely on assistance from their employer both in disposing of their housing and in financing new purchases."

Because of this isolated area of vibrancy in an otherwise dull market, Dooley reported, alert buyers and sellers are demanding that the Realtors with whom they do business have affiliation with a national network capable of serving all of the needs of a family on the move in a professional manner.

The necessity of brokers maintaining such national affiliation will continue even into the boom period, Dooley asserted, as the tempo of business transference accelerates in a post-inflationary economy.

Dooley refused to predict a precise time when the new surge in housing would manifest itself, but opined that it will not occur until the federal government emphasizes its determination to insist on fiscal and monetary programs that are more than cosmetic. "Every element of American society must realize," Dooley added, "that there may be some painful moments that must necessarily be endured for an interlude of time while the over-all health of the economy is restored. Certainly, the housing industry has shown its willingness to suffer through short term adversity in order to restore lasting strength," Dooley insisted, "but its patience in enduring the major brunt of anti-inflationary activity is being severely strained."

Once the back of the inflationary spiral is broken, Dooley suggested, there will be a sizable period of "catch up time" while supply matches demand. The current dearth of new housing starts will be overcome with an accelerating rush once money becomes available, but even normal construction time lag will prolong the "catch up" period.

"There will be fewer realtors and sales associates per capita," Dooley conjectured, "as the present depressed market takes its toll of marginal, casual and unqualified practitioners. Those who remain, however, will be at a peak level of professional competency."

Dooley's organization, Gallery of Homes, Inc., is the nation's oldest and largest residential Real Estate marketing network. Founded in 1930, it has headquarters in Chicago and Rochester, N.Y., with more than 1,500 installations serving 22,000 communities in 49 states and seven Canadian provinces.

Local brokers attend meeting

Among the 500 real estate brokers and sales associates attending the second annual Century 21 national convention, Oct. 16 to 18 in New Orleans were the following from the Paddock area: Marge Yeats, Dave Yeats and Bob Lotka from Century 21, Village Square.

Also, Al Cinquini, Herb Carl, Elmer Zilen and Bill Kleiner from Century 21 - Arlington Realty, Illinois, although a new region which has been in operation only six weeks, still won first place for largest delegation from any of the regions across the nation, with 41 brokers in attendance. This represents 85 per cent of the 49 Century 21 offices in Northern Illinois.

The Braniff Place Hotel was convention headquarters for Century 21, one of the nation's largest and fastest growing real estate operations. Features included panels, speakers, recognition of Million Dollar Club members and a dinner dance aboard a harbor cruise ship. Tours of the French Quarter and new super dome were also included.

Convention-goers also learned about growth of the operation since the last national convention. Century 21 adds a new office about every two hours and 45 minutes of every business day. Prior to the end of 1974 there will be 1,000 Century 21 offices in 20 states across the country. Principal element injecting any vibrancy into residential brokerage today," Dooley added, "is the family transferring from 10-Speed Racers to be given away during the next eight weeks. The four drawings which began Oct. 19 and are held on alternate Saturday afternoons will end November 30. Other prizes include 2 $100 Savings Bonds and 100 Bicycle Safety Flags. Everyone is invited to visit the new office and register for the drawings; children under 16 must be accompanied by an adult.

Optimum comfort

The optimum in year-round comfort, according to the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, is achieved when there is hydronic baseboard heating and a separate overhead-air conditioning system. Such a set-up follows the scientific principle that heated air rises and cooled air falls.

Rich Port, Realtor, a 20 office Chicago real estate firm, has sold residential volume exceeding $100 Million Dollars for the first nine months of 1974.

According to Dick Caruso, president, "The above record-breaking figure, which is a 5 per cent increase over last year, shows that in spite of tight money, mortgages are available, sales are being made and families are listing their homes for sale."

To further emphasize the positive side of the real estate business, Caruso went on to say that "15 of our offices, through September, 1974, have posted sales gains compared to a year ago, with two offices showing increases of more than $1 Million Dollars."

Daniel Riley has recently joined N.W. Village Realty Inc., as an associate in Village Realty's Schaumburg office. The announcement was made by Larry Anchor, manager of the Schaumburg office. Riley, a life long resident of the northwest suburbs, is a graduate of Arlington High School. He was employed as a production manager prior to entering the real estate field.

Humidity: secret to happy house plants

Does your potted palm look potted? Dracaena droopy? Ivy withering on the vine?

Indoor greenery that acquires the mid-winter blues may not necessarily be the result of a less-than-green thumb, according to the Air-Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute. While most plant lovers soon acquire the knack of feeding and watering decorative indoor plants, they may be at a loss to provide the humidity that is lacking in many of today's centrally-heated homes.

The relative humidity of winter air drops dramatically when it is warmed by your heating plant, ARI explains. For example, when outdoor air at 30 degrees Fahrenheit and 50 per cent relative humidity is heated to 70 degrees and circulated through your home, its relative humidity will have dropped to around 16 per cent.

This environment is extremely arid compared with the 40-50 per cent relative humidity recommended by plant experts for even the "low humidity" plants such as ivy, palm and dracaena. Even desert plants such as cactus do best at relative humidity levels ranging from 40-50 per cent to about 75 per cent.

According to floral expert Frances Jones Poetker, low humidity is a major reason why the "decorator's plant" — ferns — are so often disappointing indoor plants.

"Think of the natural habitat of many ferns — the moist woodlands or by shady streams — and it's obvious that the humidity level is highly important," she says.

One way of adding some moisture to the air around a plant is to set it on a saucer or plan filled with pebbles and water. However, much of the effect of this method is soon dissipated because the dry air in the room absorbs the moisture like a sponge, according to ARI.

Although widely used, the practice of spraying indoor plants with a misting device is not considered effective by some plant experts.

"Don't bother . . . the humidity remains high only for a few minutes," says the U.S. Department of Agriculture Home and Garden Bulletin No. 187.

One method of maintaining relative humidity at a healthier level for plants is the installation of whole-house humidity control in the form of a central system humidifier.

"Whole house humidifiers are, of course, marketed for people, not plants," said ARI.

"But like people, plants can be more comfortable when moisture is replaced in dry indoor air."

For consumers interested in humidifying their homes, ARI had these suggestions:

Don't expect to maintain indoor relative humidity at outdoor levels, but at around 30-40 per cent. This level of humidity should be adequate combined with today's lower thermostat settings.

Follow manufacturer's recommendations for periodic cleaning of the humidifier and for adjusting the humidistat during a cold wave or a warm spell in winter.

Look for the "Standard 610-74" seal, or ask your contractor to show you the model listing in the ARI Directory of Certified Central System Humidifiers. A listing indicates the manufacturer conforms to stringent industry standards of capacity rating and performance.

Montgomery Ward leases a building

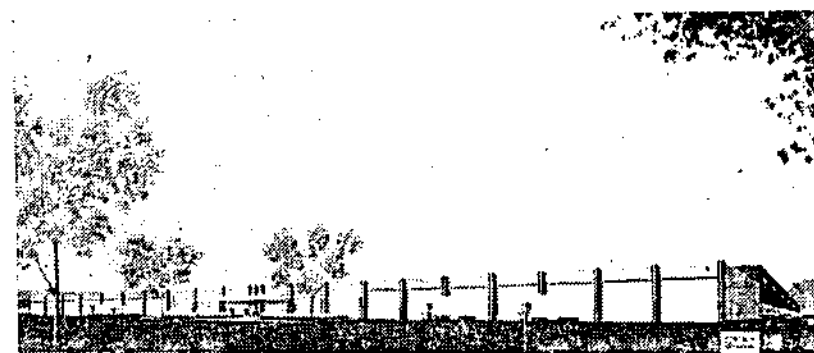

Montgomery Ward & Company has leased a 228,000 square foot building now under construction at the Inland Center for Industry, according to an announcement by Nardi and Company, Chicago-based industrial realtors and developers of the Center.

Located on a 9.2 acre land site at the corner of Grand Avenue and the Tri-State Tollway the building will be used, by Wards as a distribution center for plumbing supplies and home improvement materials carried in its Chicago-land stores. The Inland Center for Industry is the Franklin Park home for Inland Steel Company.

David Chase and A. J. Palmer of Ward's regional real estate department said they selected the Inland Center for Industry for its strategic location within the Chicago trucking and switching district and the convenience of having the building finished to the company's specifications.

Nardi and Company, represented by John Girsch, coordinated the lease negotiations for Montgomery Ward. Attorneys in the transaction, valued between $3 million and $8 million, were Joseph Bonfitto, general counsel of Montgomery Ward and Howard Walker of Curtis, Marks and Katz for the Inland Center for Industry.

MONTGOMERY WARD has leased this 228,000 square foot building which is under construction at Inland Center for Industry, corner of Grand Avenue and the Tri-State Tollway. Nardi and Company, is the Chicago-based industrial realtor and developer of the Center.

FALL HOUSING LINEUP: Kaufman and Broad single family homes, town homes and condominiums are rising at eight locations in the Greater Chicago area. Designed for the middle-income market, the developments offer a variety of styles, recreational amenities and optional features. More than 600 homes are being readied for Fall purchase at the various localities. Shown above: top, left to right, a Barrington Square town home at Hoffman Estates, a Pine Meadow condominium and a Quail Run single family home both at Bolingbrook, and a Woodgate single family home in Matteson; bottom, left to right, a Carefree condominium at Barrington Square, Hoffman Estates, a Stone Mill single family home and a Meadowbrook single family home both at Bolingbrook, and a Woodgate condominium in Matteson. While single family homes continue to top the demand list, condominiums are steadily increasing in popularity. The end of the recent cement strike is expected to give additional impetus to the traditional Autumnal housing spurt. The industry, generally, has experienced a slump in the past three quarters.

Enliven dining room for Fall

As the return of Fall and the holidays revives indoor entertaining, the dining room replaces the patio as one hub of family social life.

The dining room can take on fresh liveliness and beauty for its renewed importance by decking it with a new chandelier, to glint on china and crystal of a traditional setting or enhance the warm tones of an informal setting.

Because of its prominence, the dining room chandelier should be carefully selected for styling, proportion to room size and proper illumination, advises the American Home Lighting Institute (AHLI).

A Mediterranean or Provincial design with a massive body can be scaled suitably in smaller proportions than open and airy colonial or contemporary styles. In some designs, some large rooms can accommodate diameters of 24 to 30 inches.

Chandelier placement is important. The fixture should be hung centered over the table and 30 to 34 inches above it, to permit comfortable viewing and spread light evenly.

For proper illumination, a dining room of 125 to 225 square feet needs a dining fixture at least 15 to 17 inches in diameter, with a minimum of 150 watts in downlighting. A primarily decorative chandelier may be augmented with two recessed downlights on either side.

Using only the chandelier for illumination may create shadowy corners, in all but the smallest dining areas. The main fixture may be augmented by tiny pin-spots or wall sconces. For a room larger than 225 square feet, provide 100 watts for each 100 square feet of floor space.

Leading decorators recommend that dining room lighting be dimmer-controlled, for flexibility of illumination. Let the lighting be bright early in the dinner, and gradually dim it for a more relaxed ambience. Dimmers are available for only a few dollars, and are easily installed.

The lighting of a dining room demands careful consideration. Trained lighting specialists at AHLI "Light for Living Centers" showrooms are experienced in fitting individual needs and preferences into a decorative and functional lighting plan.

With a glittering new chandelier, carefully hung, your dining room will become a jewelbox setting — reflecting warmth and hospitality from this festive season on.

Vivian Mattix finishes course

Vivian Mattix of Arlington Heights has successfully completed the course "Principles of Land Use and Development" offered by the National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers, an affiliate of the National Association of Realtors.

Mrs. Mattix is a sales associate with the Lake Zurich office of Homefinders Realtors, located at 78 S. Old Rand Road in the village. She has been very active in farm and vacant land sales in south Lake County and McHenry County, as well as residential properties in the northwest suburban area.

Subjects covered during the course of study included creative exchanging, land development, land use and environment and taxes. Completion of this comprehensive course plus her previous experience clearly qualifies Mrs. Mattix as a professional in the field of farm and land brokerage. She has also earned additional credits toward the ARLB (Accredited Farm and Land Brokers) designation awarded by the Institute.

Vivian has been a member of the National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers, an associate member of the Lake County Board of Realtors, Illinois Association of Realtors and the National Association of Realtors. She and her husband Warren, and their five children, have resided in Arlington Heights for 13 years.

IF you're going to spend more time at home, spend it in a better home. Perhaps you have been putting off that new home purchase because you think . . .

I Can't Get Financing!
We have financing available, 20% down on certain homes — assumable mortgages, VA & FHA financing.

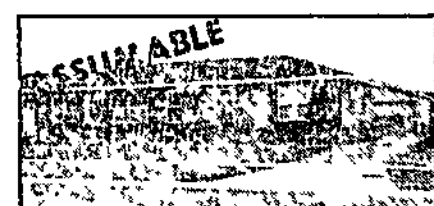

I Haven't Seen Anything I Like!
We have the best selection of homes that's been on the market in sometime. The homes pictured here are just a sampling of what is currently available. If you don't see what you want just give us a call, chances are it's ready and waiting.

I'm Waiting For The Prices To Go Down!
We wish you Good Luck, but we haven't seen any indication that prices will be going down. And if 1975 is like the past 5 or 6 years prices will be going up at least another 10%.

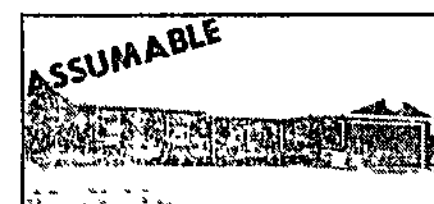

These are just 3 of the most frequent reasons people use for not buying now. But we think that when you consider the alternatives you'll agree that now is the time to move!

2 Gladstone staffers win 'Tiger Tie' award

Marty Lubeck and Darlene Coor, sales associates on the staff of Gladstone, Realtors' Elk Grove office, were each cited for outstanding achievement on the completion of a Leadership Techniques Institute workshop.

Mr. Lubeck and Ms. Coor were given the "Tiger Tie" award at the three-day workshop in Chicago's John Hancock building attended by promising candidates for executive positions in large corporations. The Leadership Techniques Institute course is the final step in a complete training course furnished by Gladstone, Realtors to its top associates. The firm also has offices in Villa Park, Franklin Park, Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, Berkeley and Westchester. Lubeck, a Million Dollar Club real estate member, also belongs to the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors. Ms. Coor has been a real estate legal secretary; rental agent for a 416-apartment complex and secretary to a builder.

No more last rose of summer

Comes the end of summer many a home gardener stands by helplessly as all his flowers begin to wither and die. After spending so much time in planting, weeding and watering, it seems as if the season is over just as it was getting started.

But not anymore.

According to the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, for just a little money, much less than everyone thinks, the home gardener can build a greenhouse alongside his house. If his home has hydronic heating, the greenhouse can be heated by extending the home heating system. It would be like heating another room.

Of course, the gardener should find out if his heating system has enough capacity to handle the extra load. The Council notes, however, that many residential boilers produce more heat than is actually needed.

A greenhouse is not a 'hot house.' Many of the finest flowers, as well as a number of vegetables, do not need a night temperature higher than 50 degrees Fahrenheit. Blooms are of better quality, insects are less bothersome and fuel bills are much lower when you grow plants 'cool.'

Since the demands of the home and the greenhouse dovetail, it will be easy for the heating system to take care of the now area. During the day the greenhouse will receive all the heat it needs from the sun and won't need a boost from the heating system. At night, when it does require heat, the needs of the home are less. Most people lower their thermostats from five to eight degrees when they retire for the night.

Hydronics is highly regarded for greenhouse heating. Since it is a sealed system, without fumes, it is safe for plants. The heat is also steady and not subject to sudden fluctuation. With the climate and all other growing conditions under the gardener's thumb, he'll have better results all year long.

Simple facts

Heated air rises. Cooled air falls. To heat a home, place heating units near the floor and cooling outlets near the ceiling, advises heating engineers at the National Better Heating-Cooling Council. If you use one outlet for both heating and cooling, the result will be a compromise, and one of the systems will not be working at peak performance.

Pamper piano for sweet sounds

The piano, which today brings the sound of Bach, Beethoven and Brahms into 10 million American homes, is a Johnny-come-lately to the musical scene. Invented in 1711 by Bartolomeo Cristofori in Padua, Italy, its immediate ancestors are the harpsichord and the clavichord which in turn, evolved from the dulcimer.

Dulc is Italian for sweet and if you want to keep your piano sounding sweet, here are a few cautions and precautions. Avoid placing a piano near a radiator, heat register or heat source of any kind because too much heat will dry out the sounding board. If the outside walls of your home are not very well insulated try to place the piano against an inside wall.

Remember that a standard piano has more than 200 strings, each of which must be kept at the proper tension or it will be off pitch. That's why it's so important to keep temperature and humidity as constant as possible because abrupt changes cause the wood parts to expand and contract. This changes the tension on the strings and makes the piano sound out of tune. During the first year, when a piano is settling in its new environment, it should be tuned several times. After that once a year should do.

To display a grand piano to the best advantage, it should be balanced on the wall opposite with any large piece of furniture, such as a tall secretary or a seating group of sofa and chairs. Ideally, it should be in a corner with the straight side parallel to the wall, the graceful curved side facing the room and keys hidden from view.

Treat the wood cabinet of piano like any fine piece of furniture. An occasional polishing with a fine paste wax applied sparingly and thoroughly buffed with a soft clean cloth is one way. An easier and less time-consuming method is to use an enriched aerosol wax that's sprayed on and wiped off, leaving a fine hand-rubbed glow.

As to the cleaning of the keys: If you have an old piano with ivory keys simply wipe with a damp cloth. Dry thoroughly with a soft cloth. Modern pianos have plastic keys and these can be cleaned with a cloth moistened in a creamy liquid wax that removes soil and leaves a protective finish. You can whiten slightly yellowed keys with a flannel cloth moistened with lemon juice. This only works if the yellowing is slight.

If you pamper your piano it will reward you with a lifetime of pleasure.

THE MASTER BEDROOM of the two-bedroom townhome at New Century Town is served by a sliding glass door leading to a roomy balcony, adding to the feeling of spaciousness of the townhome and to the outdoors approach of the new community. Interiors are by the interior design department of Marshall Field & Company.

Humidifiers take zap from winter

ZZZZZZAAPP! You have just felt the result of walking across the carpet in winter and touching something metal. That shock means the air in your house is very dry.

If you would like to get rid of the shocks this winter, perhaps you should consider a portable humidifier to add some moisture to the air. The General Services Administration has published a new book, the nineteenth in its Consumer Information Series, called Portable Humidifiers with advice on buying, using, and maintaining these appliances. Copies are available for 25 cents from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Here are some of the tips:

Decide what type you need. For a small room, a bowl-shaped room unit should do. A tabletop model suits one or two rooms or a small apartment. But if you want to do more, you should look into a console model. They can add from five to seventeen gallons of water a day to the air, depending on their size.

Be sure the humidifier has an Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. safety symbol. An AHAM certification will allow you to compare the water output rating with other AHAM certified humidifiers.

Lindstrom cited for community efforts

Marine Air Reserve Sgt. Maj. Michael W. Lindstrom, 1312 Cooper Dr., Palatine, was cited for his community efforts by the Cook County Veterans' Assistance Commission during a ceremony held recently at the Chicago Public Library. Lindstrom received his award in recognition and appreciation of services rendered to veterans of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and U.S. Coast Guard, and their families.

A marine air reservist since 1948, Lindstrom is a member of Marine Air Control Group 48, Fourth Marine Aircraft Wing, based at Glenview Naval Air Station. He is assigned as his unit's sergeant major, which is the highest rank a non-commissioned officer can earn.

Sgt. Maj. Lindstrom, a World War II veteran, was recalled to active duty during the Korean War. Following his release from active duty, Lindstrom rejoined the Marine Air Reserves at Glenview Naval Air Station.

Besides his reserve activities, Lindstrom and his wife, Carol, are active in civic affairs. He is a trustee of the Northwest Suburban Detachment-Marine Corps League, where he served twice as the detachment's commandant. Other organizations in which Lindstrom is active are the Cook County Veterans' Assistance Commission and Marine Post No. 273 of the American Legion. He has held the position of commander in both organizations.

Sometimes 7 7/8 is a little big. But for mortgage interest it's downright tiny.

In these days of oversized interest, it's nice to know mortgages are still available at rates like our tiny 7 7/8% with as little as 5% down.

What makes that offer even more attractive is that it's permanent interest, not a special rate that's good for a couple of years, then reverts to a higher rate.

So take a look at Village on the Lake. You can choose from beautiful 2-bedroom condominium homes priced as low as $35,000. And you can live on the shores of a private lake amidst exclusive recreation facilities.

*Conventional loans available for as little as $1,800 down. On a loan of $33,200 with 300 corresponding monthly payments of $253.51 per month principal and interest at 7 7/8% interest, reflecting 8.25% Annual Percentage Rate.

Just west of Arlington Heights Road off Blesterfield Road. Open Mon.-Sat. 10-6. Sun. 11-7. Phone: 593-0340.

what kind of basket are YOUR eggs in??

The Sandpiper, a shorebird, positions its nest strategically to avoid the onslaught of high tides & high traffic, yet can dart from ocean to hills for eating, playing, or security.

SANDPIPER Apartments are large, yet cozy, as your nest should be. They include lush carpeting, appliances, paneled dining rooms, patios, balconies, walk-in closets, individual air conditioning fresh as a beachside breeze, & free gas heat.

When your urge is to scamper out to play, right in your backyard you have your own olympic-size pool & equipped playgrounds for your little chicks. Walk next door to a shopping center or a restaurant for those occasions when you forget to bring home the bread crumbs. When you're not walking, wing your way to Rt. 53, which is less than a minute away.

SANDPIPER is the kind of nest you'd like to put yourself into. TODAY!

Schaumburg PREVIEW SHOWING

There are the suburbs the way most people think of them: lawns to mow, leaves to rake, trim to paint, and sidewalks to shovel.

Then there are the suburbs the way we think of them at the Towers of Schaumburg. Swimming, tennis, bicycle trails, and a completely equipped recreation center with game rooms, party rooms, exercise rooms and saunas. High rise apartment living, far from the crowded city, where you have plenty of room to spread out, relax, and have fun. And you're minutes away from movies, shopping, restaurants, everything you could want.

suburban living

YEARS AGO this Victorian-style house looked no different from others along this shady street in Arlington Heights. When Mr. and Mrs. Charles Opela bought the house several years ago, it needed brightening. They began with lots of paint. Opela and his sons added trim and built a more stable porch deck. The banisters were removed and outdoor carpeting added to the steps.

Home improvements pay off

They add pleasure and value to a house

by FRAN HECKART

Drive along any street in any suburb. The difference between the ordinary house and the distinctive one may be more elementary than style of architecture. It may be a simple matter of paint, the addition of bright shutters or a contrasting front door.

Though spring is the traditional time for home improvements, there's a renewed interest in remodeling instead of moving among suburban homeowners regardless of the season. The necessity of fixing up the house in preparation for winter makes autumn an ideal time to improve the appearance as well.

Improvements may be as simple or as complex as the individual dwelling.

LOTS OF PAINT is the obvious answer for tired exteriors, trim and shutters made even more drab by bleak winter days.

Room additions, patios and porches are the most popular ways of extending the living area of moderate-size homes.

New roofs and siding are praised for insulation but can also add new dimensions to an otherwise ordinary residence. Landscaping and other cosmetic changes are equally essential to the appearance of a house.

Inflationary interest rates, high living costs and a general trend toward conservation are reasons for the increased awareness in home improvements. Others go beyond simple economics. Many home restorations are done as investments. Others to simply increase living space. Still others are born of consciousness to make the best of what you have.

ROBERT LEBRECK, vice president, Palatine Savings and Loan, cites a "definite trend towards people staying where they are." The economic situation is a primary concern in that decision, he added.

Room additions account for the majority of changes, said Lebreck. Of these homeowners many have looked at other homes before deciding to expand their present one.

Lebreck suggests that homeowners shop around for a contractor.

"Be selective," he advised. "The cheapest price does not necessarily mean it's the best deal. You usually get what you pay for."

A good contractor will let you talk to people he's done work for, added Lebreck.

MRS. JOHN WYATT offers the same advice as Lebreck. It pays to shop around, she said. The Wyatts went to several builders before deciding on one for the room addition to their three-bedroom Rolling Meadows home three years ago.

The Wyatts never considered moving because they liked the neighborhood. It was just a matter of needing more space, said Mrs. Wyatt. The additional space in their case was a partial basement, large master bedroom, walk-in closets and second bathroom.

Those who can do for themselves always have the advantage. The Wyatts had the shell constructed, then did the inside work themselves at a considerable savings.

Roofs, too, can give residences a new look. Mrs. Mike Kesser of American Home Service in Arlington Heights feels the change can be tremendous.

"A NEW ROOF is always a good face lift for a house. It's like a new hairdo for a woman. It makes a tremendous difference," she said.

However, increased costs of materials, especially the cost of asphalt which has tripled in the last year, have made many people think twice before buying a new roof. More people are getting by with repairs if possible, said Mrs. Kesser.

If the roof is less than 15 years old it's usually patched, according to Mrs. Kesser. Although materials have gone up, the labor has not in the case of her husband's business, she said.

"My husband takes the smelling salts along with the estimates," she laughed. "People are just shocked at the increased cost of roofing materials."

LESS EXPENSIVE improvements may include changing the landscaping or even a new color for the front door, said Joe Bock, sales division of Baird and Warner, Arlington Heights.

"You're giving it a new look but not faced with the expense of changing it structurally," said Bock.

This is precisely what Bock did to his former home in Niles. A typical Georgian-style brick home with overbearing evergreens reaching the second floor window, it now has a distinct clean, uncluttered look. Bock added black shutters, painted the trim white and replaced the large evergreens with low shrubs.

"One of the most inexpensive ways to brighten a house is shutters," said Bob Hanlon of Hanlon Decorating, Palatine. "Paint them an accent color and it really brightens the exterior."

DRAWING ON experience from more than 30 years in the painting business, Hanlon feels the most popular exterior house color is still basic white. Of course, color is up to the individual, he added. Permanent structures like brick accents or roof color are also considered. The paint should complement these fixed aspects.

If more than four or five years old, the front door may need a lift, said Hanlon. The stain often becomes tired looking and needs refinishing for a new look.

SHAGGY EVERGREENS were removed from the front of this Georgian home to create a clean, uncluttered look. Previous owner Joe Bock also added white trim and new shutters to accent the red brick.

A home needs care along with lavish use of paint, agreed Charles and Sally Opela of Arlington Heights.

The "for sale" sign in the front yard of their Victorian style home is far from its most distinguishing feature. After their 15 years' residence in the house, it's still a model of what investment of "a good deal more time than money" can do for a dwelling.

THE OPELAS first determined if the house was basically sound before they purchased it. The wood was good and the window sills solid.

"We started in with lots of paint," said Mrs. Opela. The house was originally yellow with dark green trim. The Opelas painted it barn red with white trim, added white shutters in the front and replaced the deck of the front porch.

Removal of the porch banisters — an idea that developed when they were removed for painting and construction — was a move toward simplicity.

The Opelas prefer clean, crisp lines but did not want to lose the Victorian feeling of the house.

Bright green indoor-outdoor carpeting on the porch steps was another good investment for the house. It keeps the inside cleaner and is easy to take care of as well, said Opela.

PLANTING ALSO helps improve the looks of a house. It's an easy way to dress up a home with color, said Mrs. Opela. She tries to have something in bloom all summer long and in the winter replaces the hanging plant baskets on the front porch with artificial flowers.

Any improvements are worthwhile. A face lift can make the home a more pleasant place to live, but also pays off when it's time to sell.

Vitamin E: new possibilities for a controversial nutrient by AL ROSSITER JR.

Two California researchers have raised new possibilities about the role of vitamin E, a mystery nutrient burdened over the years with unproven claims it could cure or prevent a variety of human ailments.

The lack of knowledge about vitamin E, once described as the "vitamin in search of a disease," has given rise to numerous rumors of its miracle effects. There have been claims, among others, that large doses could improve sexual prowess, prevent heart attacks, smooth facial wrinkles and banish body odor.

These claims were repudiated a year ago by a committee of the National Research Council, which said they had no basis in sound experimentation or clinical observations.

Now Drs. Lester Packer and James R. Smith of the University of California's Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory say they have found vitamin E capable of stopping the normal aging process of human lung cells in test tubes.

THIS IS NOT to suggest the vitamin can make people live longer, the physiologists said, because it cannot reverse other aging processes of the human body. But their finding did suggest some interesting possibilities.

"Even if vitamin E can't turn a 40-year-old into a 14-year-old, it might prevent an early death, or brain disease, heart attacks or senility," Packer said. "Of course, we don't know these things at all yet. That's speculation."

"We don't want to overstate it," he said. "We can't jump from experiments with isolated cells to the human body. I personally feel this is the level at which we need a lot more work before we can do intelligent tests in animals and humans."

What Packer and Smith found was that human lung cells survived twice their normal life span in a laboratory environment when vitamin E was added. These cells normally die in test tubes after reproducing themselves about 50 times. With the vitamin, they continued past 120 cell divisions and still appeared young.

"QUITE FRANKLY we don't really understand it very well," Packer said. "We have found these effects. The real significance remains to be explained."

A traditional view is that vitamin E functions chiefly to protect body cells against damage from chemicals known as oxidants. Oxygen from these chemicals can cause cell deterioration by entering molecules and changing their structure and behavior.

This led some scientists to speculate that vitamin E might protect people against air pollution.

Packer said it is possible some antioxidant activity might be involved in the extension of the cell division. He and Smith plan to continue their search for an explanation in studies supported partly by the National Institutes of Health, the Veterans Administration and the University of California.

Dr. John G. Bieri, a nutrition specialist at the National Institute of Arthritis, Metabolism and Digestive Diseases, said the Packer-Smith report was interesting, "but it's too early to tell what it means."

VITAMIN E was discovered in 1923 and 14 years later was isolated as a light yellow viscous oil from wheat germ oil.

It is fat soluble like vitamins A, D and K and is widespread in nature.

Two-thirds of the vitamin E in an American diet comes from salad oils, shortening and margarine, and the rest from fruits, vegetables and grains.

Although scientists disagree on how much vitamin E humans need, the National Research Council committee said most people get enough in their normal diets.

"Self-medication with vitamin E in the hope that a more or less serious condition will be alleviated may indeed be hazardous, especially when appropriate diagnosis and treatment may thereby be delayed or avoided," the panel warned.

The only known vitamin E deficiency in humans sometimes occurs in premature babies because of a limited transfer of the vitamin from the mother's blood before birth.

VITAMIN E is considered vital for human health, but its function is still not understood.

One possible role was suggested in 1971 by Dr. P. P. Nair, director of biochemistry research at Sinai Hospital in Baltimore. He and his associates suggested the vitamin was important in the formation of an iron molecule in hemoglobin. They said it might be useful in treating porphyria, a metabolic condition that can lead to abdominal problems, paralysis and mental illness.

Nair's report prompted the Journal of the American Medical Association, which had called vitamin E the vitamin in search of a disease, to ask: "Has the vitamin finally ended its quest?"

CHARCOAL GRAY aluminum siding distinguishes Mr. and Mrs. John Kaha's home in Arlington Heights. A bright red front door adds contrast to the gray walls and white porch. Wrought iron railings were added along with cornices. A grain ventilator from an old barn in Wisconsin also adds interest to the entryway.

Next on the agenda

ONES CLUB

The Ones Club, a group of singles between the ages of 21 and 33, will hold a game night Sunday at 7 in the Des Plaines Congregational Church, Grace-land and Marion Streets. Garry Scheuer will present the program.

Refreshments will be served at 50 cents each. Persons seeking further information may contact Wendy Wallace, 698-3318.

On Sunday, Nov. 10, the Ones Club will hold a roller skating party. Members will meet at the Congregational Church parking lot at 6:45 p.m. Admission and skate rental total $2.25. The group will stop for snacks after skating. Larry Bethscholder is in charge.

FIFTH WHEELERS

As violence increased, means of self protection become increasingly important. When the Fifth Wheelers meet Sunday at 8 p.m. Larry Sachs of the A-Judo & Self Defense School, Palatine, will give a demonstration. The meeting takes place at Trinity Lutheran Church, Algonquin and Wolf Roads, Des Plaines.

Widows, widowers, divorced or legally separated persons are invited to the activities which include parties, bowling, bridge, Sunday night suppers, children's activities and more. Program chairman Grace Withey, 298-2665, will supply details.

INVERNESS WOMEN

"Ecoliques," a program on designing unusual gifts from antiques, collectibles and junkie, will be presented by Mary Porcich for the Women's Club of Inverness at noon Monday. A luncheon precedes the program which takes place at Buehler YMCA, Palatine.

Reservations are due Friday by calling 338-3115 or 339-7780.

Hostesses will be Mrs. William Engelhardt, Mrs. Samuel Gullio, Mrs. Florian Kamin, Mrs. R. F. Grissom and Mrs. R. L. Bartlett.

ALPHA XI DELTA

At the recent national convention of Alpha Xi Delta, Northwest Suburban Alumnae chapter was awarded the national philanthropy gift of $100 which was in turn given to the group's local philanthropy, Clearbrook Center. The center used the money to purchase a calculator for its Elk Grove workshop.

Pittman Hall, a home for girls in Albany, N.Y., is the national philanthropy of the sorority. Before the convention alumnae of the local chapter made patchwork comforters for each of the girls at Pittman. As a Christmas project, alumnae will be filling stockings for Pittman.

FLANNELGRAPH FUN for Adam and Eric Verble is observed by their mother, Mrs. James Verble. She is among women of Evangel Assembly of God Church making toys, decorations, gifts and baked goods for a bazaar Friday and Saturday, Nov. 8-9, at the church, 210 S. Plum Grove Rd., Schaumburg. Hours are 9 to 4.

Stop for 'eats' en route to reception

Customers at Jack-in-the-Box, Rolling Meadows, were a bit surprised in the late afternoon of Oct. 5 when a bride and groom and an entire wedding party of 10 drove in for "eats."

Bonnie Jo Plonke and John William Robertson were married just down the street, in the Community Church of Rolling Meadows at 4 p.m., and after leaving the Rolling Meadows drive-in the whole party went on to the dinner reception at the Maltre d' in Elk Grove Village where 150 guests were waiting to greet them.

Bonnie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Plonke Sr., Rolling Meadows, and John, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Robertson of Chicago, first met six years ago. Bonnie is a graduate of Forest View High School and John of Schurz High School. Bonnie is employed by Martin J. Kelly Oldsmobile, Inc., in Arlington Heights, and John by Rainbo Lanes, Chicago. A bartender, John also studied at the Professional Bartending School, Chicago.

FOR THE DOUBLE ring service Bonnie chose an organza gown trimmed in Venise lace with flounce hem and chapel train. Her headpiece was trimmed in the same lace, and she carried white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath with ivy.

Her maid of honor was the groom's sister, Judy, who was in a mint green voile halter gown with forest green plaid skirt. A bolero jacket, matching headpiece with forest green ribbon and bouquet of yellow daisies, carnations and baby's breath with ivy and ribbons completed her ensemble.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Robertson

In identical outfits were the bridesmaids Susan Wessel, and Joan Patterson, Rolling Meadows, Barb Balmes, Chicago, and the brides' cousin, Debra Simo, Park Ridge.

The groom's 4-year-old cousin, Roger Maryanski, Glendale Heights, was ring bearer. Best man was Rick Kolasa, Chicago, and ushers were the groom's cousin, Jack Jackson, Glendale Heights, and the couple's brothers, Al and Chuck Robertson, Chicago, and William Plonke, Whittier, Calif.

The newlyweds honeymooned at the Palmer House in Chicago and are now residing in a Des Plaines apartment.

Safety rules may outdate '74 bicycles

Although it's a bit early to be thinking about Christmas, the fact is that people do start planning — and purchasing — Christmas gifts this early.

And in fact, it is probably easier on the pocketbook to spread out the expenditures. It is also a very good idea to allow plenty of time for studying consumer guides and shopping around if you are purchasing an item of significant cost and, you hope, of long-lasting quality.

Thus, parents who plan to give their child a bicycle for Christmas should be aware of the following:

After Jan. 1, bicycles sold interstate will have to meet new requirements established by the Consumer Product Safety Commission. That makes this Christmas a rather inopportune time to purchase a bike, because it will probably become obsolete on New Year's Day, and may pose hazards for your child that could have been avoided with a 1975 model.

However, according to local dealers, some bicycles already come close to meeting the new standards, and some manufacturers are already beginning to incorporate the required changes. Thus, with careful shopping, you may be able to come up with a bike for Christmas that will not be too far off base in regard to the new safety criteria.

The 1975 regulations will require:

- Reflectors on front, back, sides and pedals.
- Protectors on metal fender edges and protruding bolts.
- Locking devices to secure wheel hubs to frame, clamping systems for handlebars, seats and stems.
- Chain guards if pedals can't be reversed to free caught clothing.

Seal closet, use repellent to keep out mice, spiders.

Dear Dorothy: My home is in the country, and I have a gazebo in which there is a closet on one side to house patio furniture. Do you know of any way to keep field mice and spiders from invading this closet during the four or five months of storage? The mice, in particular, get in the chaise pads to nest. — Virginia MacGregor

First thing is to seal the closet area as tightly as you can. Put small repellents around to repel the mice and treat the whole zone around the foundation with a household spray containing Ronnel, Baygon or malathion. It should inhibit spiders.

Dear Dorothy: My mother, who was born and raised in Italy, has the perfect solution for bitter eggplants. She pares and slices eggplants, then salts the slices well and layers them in a colander.

Next, she fills a pan with water, for weight, and places it on top of the sliced eggplant. This presses the bitter water out of the eggplant and makes it deliciously tender. The whole process takes a couple of hours. Hope this is helpful to all eggplant fanciers. — Mrs. R. Martinez

Dear Dorothy: In light of all the warnings about pesticide residues, do you think it's necessary to wash packaged prunes before cooking or eating? Also, must lettuce leaves be washed before using in salads? — Keith Bailey

When you are dealing with processed, packaged prunes, it's perfectly safe to eat them right from the package. As for greens, you should wash them because

by Monica Wilch Perin

• Brakes capable of stopping a bike within 15 feet with rider over 150 pounds at a test speed relative to bike's gear ratio.

• Instructions for maintenance, tools for assembling bike if sold unassembled. In addition, the bicycle frame, steering system and wheels must meet requirements and tests for safe construction, effectiveness, strength and performance.

Check for these safety features as much as possible. You might also ask the dealer whether he has any models which incorporate the required features.

According to an Arlington Heights dealer, Schwinn — probably the most popular make — will need to make the fewest changes. However, he added that the company has not indicated it will be producing any bikes meeting the new requirements until after Jan. 1. He said Schwinn and other manufacturers are "cutting down on production to clear out old stock."

After the first of the year, bicycles meeting the standards must be so-labeled to distinguish them from old stock. Any bikes manufactured after Jan. 1 and not meeting the standards can be banned by the CPSC.

BLENDERS MAY be the answer to the modern cook's every problem, but they also apparently are causing a minor stampede in the nation's hospital emergency rooms.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission reports that blenders were associated with the estimated 2,500 injuries treated in hospital emergency rooms last year.

Lacerations of the fingers, sometimes requiring amputations, resulted from users forcing food down in the blender, trying to free clogged blades, or trying to clean or reassemble blades with the appliance turned on.

Some of the reported mishaps were caused by malfunctioning of the product. In most of these cases, the jar vibrated or was thrown off the base, and the victim was cut by the blades while attempting to catch the jar.

Other incidents involved children playing with blenders and being cut by the blades.

The record suggests three safety rules:

- Do not put hands into blender for any reason while machine is in operation.
- If blender jar comes loose, turn off or unplug machine; do not attempt to catch the jar.
- Prevent children from playing with blenders.

Juniors to honor schools, teachers

More than 24 elementary schools in District 25 and surrounding areas and over 350 teachers are being honored this week by the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club.

Mrs. Nancy Mahoney, chairman of the youth and education committee, and Mrs. Betty Boyd, chairman of American Education Week, will present dictionaries to all school libraries and home-baked items to all teachers in observance of American Education Week.

Juniors have always held education in top priority, and members contribute many volunteer hours during the year to the schools. In addition, over $1200 in scholarships were presented to area residents this past year to further their education.

School for Girls tea next Thursday

The annual tea at the Park Ridge School for Girls for all members of 7th District Women's Clubs will be held Thursday, Nov. 7. The affair, to which those attending bring sandwiches or cookies, serves to give federated club members a better perspective of the functions and purposes of the school. Seventh District sponsors the Illinois Cottage.

Those planning to attend the 3 p.m. tea may contact their Park Ridge School chairman or club president. Mrs. Roy L. Duda, 255-1140, district chairman of the Park Ridge School, and Mrs. George Burlet, 965-7478, state chairman, may be contacted by those wishing further information.

Composting can be by hand or machine

by MARY B. GOOD

Some gardeners think that a pile of leaves, garbage and other refuse — their private junk dump — is a compost heap. Yet we know that refuse and garbage harbor disease and insects.

Compost is a fertilizer and weed killer. So what is all this talk about compost?

The difference between garbage and compost is the difference between wheat and bread. The first is the raw material; the second is the finished product.

Compost, for a better, more productive garden, can be had by taking the raw materials, mixing them up like ingredients in a loaf of bread, turning and working the stuff as you would knead bread, and then letting the heat from the sun and decaying vegetation bake the disease organisms and insect larvae out of it.

THE OLDER method of making compost is layering the ingredients. Recipe: five-six inches of green matter (lawn clippings, kitchen wastes, leaves), two inches of manure or any animal product (bone meal, fish emulsion, dried blood), a layer of soil with phosphate rock dust, if you can get it, and repeat the layers until the pile is about five feet square.

Many gardeners, however, are switching to the newer, faster method of composting, using a motorized shredder.

With the shredder system, compost-making is accelerated from several months or more to just two weeks. With a shredder, the gardener can start a compost now and have it done before the ground freezes, all set to plant in the spring.

by Mary B. Good

Using a shredder, all leaves, stalks, branches, weeds and the stuff you add to the pile first are all thrown in the hopper at the same time. (A simple pile of leaves will take more than a year to decompose if left to itself.) Shredding simply accelerates the rate of normal decomposition of the vegetable matter, conserving the maximum amount of nutrients, giving the elements a chance to work faster and produce a fluffier, easy-to-work compost humus.

THE GARDENER has to use as much caution with a shredder as he would with a lawnmower — preferably more. Anything that can chop up a three-inch log could do some pretty horrible things to a hand. When feeding waste into a shredder, the user is warned against allowing stones, wire, glass or metal to be mixed in with the waste.

Jamming can be a problem with some shredders, especially if the waste is damp or wet or if too much bulk is fed in at one time. The key is to feed the machine slowly.

Shredders come in various sizes and price ranges. The bigger, heavier hammermill-type shredders are excellent not only for doing the little compost job, but grinding up tree branches after an ice storm, removing debris left by street crews and making mulch.

Dinner dance

Costumes will be optional but all attending the Halloween dinner dance Saturday night at the Merle Guild American Legion in Arlington, will be dining on steaks.

The affair, to which the public is invited, begins at 6:30. Dinner is at 7 and at 9:30 the dancing begins. Tickets are $5.50 and for reservations readers may call 398-9713 or 258-4688.

READY FOR A NEW CAREER?
Roselle, Waukegan, McHenry

Are you considering a job change for a valid reason? If you have a good work history, backed up by advanced education (or equivalent), you may qualify for a position as a Chicago Tribune district manager.

This position entails total responsibility for the sales of our newspapers in an assigned area. It is a permanent position which can lead to a career in newspaper circulation management. Those who qualify will start at an above average salary (paid training) and enjoy frequent increases to reach a desirable earnings level of $14,000 to $14,000 within 18 months. You will enjoy one of the best benefit packages in the industry.

If you are ready for a challenging and rewarding new position, inquire Monday thru Thursday in Room 158, 435 N. Michigan, Chicago, or call 222-4572.

Church writes Ford

They seek prison reform

Dear Mr. President:

This open letter is a reflection of concern over your presidential pardon of Mr. Richard Nixon. I respect your constitutional power to grant pardons. I hasten to add that this power, in addition to being your decision, is a public and political act. The covenant between ruler and ruled in a free society is a relationship of mutuality and equality. The policies of government, and the conduct of elected and appointed officials, are the responsibilities of all persons within the covenant. In brief, all citizens are responsible for the actions of our government. As such we share in the glory, and the good this nation accomplishes, and we share equally the shame and wrong we do.

Based upon that belief, and aided by your model for earned amnesty for those who illegally avoided the military draft during the Vietnam war, I suggest that Mr. Nixon have an earned pardon. We, the citizens of the United States of America, should earn our ex-president's pardon.

As equal members in the covenant of citizenship I urge upon you, myself and all other citizens a national effort and commitment similar to the 1960s decision to land a man on the moon. I urge a national commitment to accomplish reforms in our judicial, penal, and prison systems. Such reforms would release from prison those who are no longer a threat to the lives and properties of others. There are many such in jails today. Further, we would humanize our federal and local prisons by respecting more the human right to privacy, the right to personal hygiene and the allowing of frequent visits, in private, of mates and families. All the above suggest a concern for the continuance of human dignity and the need for an emotional life and support base during confinement and the subsequent re-entry to family and society. The sentences upon the finding of guilt could be more creatively given. Punishments could more directly relate to the offenses. This might well provide restitution to injured parties and the reconstruction of the spirits and dignities of the offenders. Specifically this addresses the alarming recidivism among juvenile and young offenders.

In those special cases of "hardened criminals" and "incorrigibles" where confinement is deemed necessary I urge programs of aggressive rehabilitation. Such programs need to be followed up with jobs when release is possible. Such an effort would reduce the now national waste in human resources.

We should set a goal to have our national prison population reduced by 50 per cent in 1980, with the ongoing goal of continuous annual reductions.

Mr. President, the above is possible. You are uniquely privileged to enable it. I will support your decision to pardon Mr. Nixon, and all the Watergate offenders as well, so long as the motivation which pardons is not cosmetic surgery, or just so that we need no more feel the wound of Watergate to our national character.

That wound can be healed. I earnestly hope that it is. But let us not hide the scar. For that scar is the product of a people and its leaders who forgot the high calling to be a just, free and good nation. Rather let the meaning of that scar be transformed. The Watergate scar can become a sign reminding us of our renewal. It can be the occasion for our return to values which embrace equal justice for all under law, and tempers the necessary judgments made on others with mercy. We can return to human values which treat all persons with dignity.

The occasion of granting a presidential pardon should also be accompanied by a call to reform. What makes a pardon necessary is a failure in the system. Most especially in this case, where a president pardons his predecessor, there should be a call to the people for new attainments. I can think of nothing more appropriate than a massive national effort for judicial, penal and prison reforms. From the moral and emotional rubble of deceit and betrayal, can yet emerge a new effort to restore a vision of us which is more trusting, more liberating and more sustaining than we have known.

Mr. President, I call upon you to offer leadership in this effort. Sound the call to reforms which will accomplish for a disgraced and disfigured people an earned pardon from Watergate.

Woodfield 76 editorial stand hit

Government and the press are natural adversaries. When elected or appointed officials bear the burden of decisions that affect the future of all citizens, it is the responsibility of the press to probe, sift, inveigh against, point to, illuminate, do all those things necessary to sharpen the awareness of those officials, as well as let the public know exactly what is going on.

The adversary relationship is a good one. Were the press to echo whatever view taken by the government, it would be reduced to a propaganda organ, never criticizing, always praising, not serving the people with the free flow of ideas necessary for a strong democracy.

Now that's quite a responsibility. "All I know is what I read in the papers," is really quite a tribute to the press. Most people are either unable or unwilling to attend the public meetings where decisions are made that affect their village, their schools, their homes. It's been a contention of mine that local government touches citizens' lives much more than government on the county, state or national level.

What your children learn, where they play, how your tax dollars are spent (85 per cent of your real estate tax is spent locally) — when you can sprinkle your lawn, how fast you can drive, where you can park, what you can build, whether you drive two miles for a loaf of bread, or two blocks — all are influenced by local government decisions. And the way most people find out about those decisions is to read their local paper.

This puts a heavy burden on the local press. A burden of truth. As the primary purveyor of events to most interested citizenry, it is imperative that news stories and editorials accurately reflect the truth. The press has a responsibility to be accurate.

Finding cobwebs in those nooks and crannies of government while not tending to its own pantry diminishes the impact of the good the press does while giving ammunition to those who would curb its freedom.

The Herald and the Truth are becoming strangers. Story after story after story describes condominium developments in the village of Schaumburg as apartments, or a favorite, "high density apartment complexes." Not a mention is made that such developments are predominantly town houses, to be owned by the people who live there or that the apartments referred to are not rented, but purchased units and the people who buy them will be homeowners.

Errors of fact and blatant conjecture have been reported as news with an unwillingness to acknowledge such inaccuracies or to remedy further accounts.

In an editorial in The Herald, Friday, September 27, urging "palestinean review" of Woodfield 76, the Herald was somewhat less than painstaking. "The people of Schaumburg will pay for things such as roads and sewers..." The truth? All internal roads will be built and paid for by the developer. External roads built to service the development will be financed by special assessment taxes against the property benefited. Another Cheers for plumbers!

There recently appeared in your paper a story of a colored family living in Elk Grove Village. It related how they had been well accepted by the white neighbors. That good luck was attributed to the fact that the gentleman of the house was an airline pilot and not a plumber.

This simply cannot be true. I really believe that airline pilots deserve much respect, however, my deepest admiration goes to those men who can comprehend and unravel the great mysteries of the ever fouled-up plumbing system in my house. For such a man and his family who might move next door to me, I might go as far as baking a pie or something for them on moving-in day. Their race, creed or color of absolutely no relevance.

'Trucks aren't stopped'

Mary Sherry's "Taming Terrors of the Road" says it. In over 4,000 miles of summer driving not once did I see a trucker stopped by police. Many times I saw autos stopped and often it was a woman driver for whatever that may say. Maybe they are easier to talk with. I wonder if those police radar things don't focus on large trucks or do the big trucks go so fast the new small police cars can't catch up to them? I work and live at the Higgins-Golf area, (that is Route 72 and Route 58). I see the same thing. It is the small car that runs the light and gets caught in radar. How do the trucks miss? I'm sure truckers have schedules but so do those driving small cars. Believe I, too, will get a truck. It's safer, don't have to worry about speed, lights, radar, tickets, and I'll meet my schedules.

Meal plan draws some applause

The members of the congregation of Our Saviour's Evangelical Lutheran Church of Arlington Heights are grateful for the opportunity to have volunteered in delivering meals to shut-ins for the month of September. They felt this was most rewarding.

Mr. Charleton and Ms. Bricker of the Health Department and the staff at Northwest Community Hospital connected with this program, are doing an outstanding job in making this program possible.

We were proud to be a part of this program.

Herald's P.E. stand criticized

We find it hard to believe that a fine newspaper such as The Herald would edit such an opinion as the one they edited on the physical education programs in the state of Illinois and particularly Dist. 214.

Anytime a student has a legitimate complaint, we as teachers make every effort to listen. The administration believes that the schools are for the student, and that they should have their say.

We as physical education instructors definitely believe that soundness of body does match, if not surpass, a thorough academic education and produce a complete person. Furthermore, although we may be somewhat biased in our opinion, we feel that physical education is the most important class that a student attends in his daily academic program.

We would argue the statement that a student received substantial exercise by walking to and from school every day. Most students ride a bus, drive their own cars or are driven to school. Very few actually walk to school. We hope, too, that the physical education program would be looked at and offer more than just exercise. We offer students a chance to develop themselves physically. We offer competition in various activities which most students thoroughly enjoy. We also try to teach students activities which they will be able to enjoy the rest of their lives.

The statement that "a student who is not an athlete while should not be penalized" is absurd. In Dist. 214 the physical education grade is not averaged into a student's total academic grade point. Obviously the author of this published opinion has not done his homework.

We would hope that a person with the power of the press at his fingertips would be responsible for his actions in such matters. Not a day goes by without us trying to sell the importance of the physical well being of the people at this particular age level. It takes us years and years of daily practice in order to sell our program, and yet it can all be ruined with one careless article such as this.

When one speaks of physical education with regard to the changing American society, he should realize that in this day and age we need physical education even more. Certainly we should not be de-emphasizing physical education at this time.

Our curriculum is geared to meet the needs of the students now at their adolescent age as well as teach them activities with carry-over values. Our current curriculum includes such off-campus activities as bowling, ice skating and miniature golf. We do much more than just play football in the fall, gym and basketball in the winter and baseball in the spring. Other fall activities include soccer, speedball, tennis, archery and touch football. Our winter activities include badminton, volleyball, square dancing, social dancing, Bemidji ball, fencing, classroom theory including hunting and fishing, wrestling, weight training, conditioning, first aid as well as gymnastics and basketball. Some district schools offer swimming. In the spring we offer track and field and softball, along with some of the same things we offer in the fall.

We physical education teachers are also coaches. We cannot thank The Herald enough for the coverage that we receive for our athletic programs. It helps us immensely in selling our program. I am sure we speak for every athlete in The Herald's area in saying that they appreciate everything that The Herald has done for them. The athletic programs in this area have grown tremendously in recent years, and surely The Herald can take credit for fostering a great deal of this growth. The Paddock Cup is one of the greatest ideas to promote athletics that has ever been conceived.

A final thought that we may mention is that our athletic program is a mere extension of our physical education program. In fact, our physical education program is more important than our athletic program because there are many more students involved.

'And now for the good news...!'

Reader: 'sewing clothes smarter'

This is a letter in response to an article appearing in The Herald, Friday, Oct. 11, "Buying clothing may be smarter."

I am, to quote, probably an "average American housewife," but I have spent time on part-time jobs now and then, and have never given up my flair for sewing. To phrase an old but true saying, "the sewing machine, the girl's best friend," so I beg to differ with Marilyn Brown, a consumer education specialist, who says, "buying clothes may be smarter."

I found that today sewing is much less expensive than buying a store-bought outfit. First of all, you can pick the color you like, the fabric, plus give it your own individual styling, also there are usually scraps of material over to make a headband or clutch purse, etc., to add or complement the outfit.

The patterns today have all been altered to fit today's figure. As far as trimmings go there are so many available, from studs to braided pearls. Bolts of material always carry the material's consistency and labels are given to sew into your garment with washing instructions.

Many department stores do have on display the latest fashions completely finished, with the pattern number clearly shown.

Compared to some of the store-bought merchandise sold today, with seams that tear on your first washing, zippers that stick, hems that unravel, it is worth your while to do it yourself.

I do agree it can be time-consuming but anything that is worthwhile takes time. But the results are a pleasure.

As a relaxing, enjoyable hobby, when you can say, thank you, I made it myself and have the time to get away by yourself and forget about today's problems and, most of all, to really save money, I believe that in today's inflationary times, sewing your clothes rather than buying clothing is smarter.

PUMPKIN POETRY

*"The old yellow pumpkin,
The mud covered pumpkin,
The big bellied pumpkin
That makes such good pie!"*

Unknown, about 1880

Many a poet has sung the glories of the pumpkin, not just baked in a pie, but also "smilin' on the vine" or grinning, face a-glow, on Halloween night.

However, as any New Englander up on his regional history will tell you, pumpkins are good for more than making pies and carving jack-o-lanterns. In the early days, they were a dependable staple of the diet. When other crops failed, there was still the reliable pumpkin which could go into sauces, soups, stews, preserves, pudding, cakes, cookies and breads.

The honest virtues of the pumpkin are often forgotten. But with inflation cutting away at our food budgets, it's time to reconsider and appreciate it. This large member of the gourd family is surprisingly versatile.

Instead of letting the pumpkin sit decoratively on the porch past Halloween, be thrifty and turn it, while it is still fresh and firm, into pumpkin pie, pudding, bread or cake. Make it into an unusual pumpkin stew or put up jars of Pumpkin Citrus Marmalade.

Although you will need the fresh pumpkin for stew or marmalade, for pumpkin pie, bread and cake, make your own puree or use canned pumpkin. And while the wealth of pumpkin gold is brightening the land, plan to freeze the puree for pumpkin baking all through the holiday and winter months.

Two Ways to Prepare Pureed Pumpkin

Wash pumpkin, dry and cut in half. Scrape out all stringy fiber and the seed. Place halves, cut side down on a baking sheet and bake in a 325 degree oven about 1 hour or until fork tender. Scrape pumpkin pulp from shells and run through food mill or work through sieve.

Wash and dry pumpkin. Cut into quarters. Remove stringy fiber and seed. Cut into slices 1/2-inch thick at center and cut crosswise into 1-inch pieces. Place in large baking dish or roasting pan. Do not add water. Cover pan with aluminum foil. Bake in 350 degree oven 1 hour. Remove cooked pumpkin pieces with slotted spoon and place in food mill set over bowl. Mash slightly and allow to drain 10 minutes. Pour off water in bowl. Turn through mill.

If pumpkin puree is very watery, place the puree in sieve and let some of the water drain off.

Pumpkin Pie

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 unbaked (9-inch) pastry shell with high fluted edge | 1/2 teaspoon ground clove |
| 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar | 3 eggs |
| 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon | 1/2 cup dark corn syrup |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 1 1/2 cups undiluted evaporated milk |
| 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger | 1 1/2 cups pureed cooked or canned pumpkin |

Stir together in large bowl, brown sugar, cinnamon, salt, ginger and clove. Beat in eggs and corn syrup until thoroughly blended. Mix in evaporated milk and pumpkin. Pour into unbaked pastry shell, pouring in last portion after pie has been placed on rack. Bake in 425 degree oven 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking 1 hour or until knife inserted halfway between center and edge comes out clean. Makes 6 servings.

Pumpkin Pecan Pie

|--|
| 1 unbaked (9-inch) pastry shell |
| 3 eggs |
| 1 1/2 cups pureed cooked or canned pumpkin |
| 1/2 cup dark corn syrup |
| 1/2 cup sugar |
| 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 1 cup chopped pecans |

In mixing bowl, beat eggs until frothy. Stir in pumpkin, corn syrup, sugar, cinnamon and salt. Pour into pastry shell. Sprinkle with pecans. Bake in 350 degree oven 50 to 60 minutes, or until knife inserted halfway between center and edge comes out clean. Chill. Serve topped with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pumpkin Cake

- | | |
|-----------------------------|--|
| 3 cups un sifted cake flour | 2 cups sugar |
| 1 teaspoon baking powder | 1 cup corn oil |
| 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon | 2 cups pureed cooked or canned pumpkin |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 1 cup chopped walnuts |
| 4 eggs | 1 recipe Glaze |

Stir together flour, baking powder, cinnamon and salt. In large mixing bowl with electric mixer at high speed, beat eggs until light and frothy. Gradually add sugar, beating until thick and ivory colored. Slowly pour in corn oil, beating constantly. With mixer at low speed, add dry ingredients alternately with pumpkin; beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Beat until smooth after each addition. Stir in nuts. Pour into ungreased 10 x 4-inch tube pan. Bake in 325 degree oven 60 to 70 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 1/2 hour, remove and cool completely on wire rack. Brush with Glaze when cool. Makes 1 (10-inch) tube cake.

Glaze: In small saucepan, stir and 1/2 cup light corn syrup, 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind and 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger. Bring to boil over medium heat. Remove from heat. Makes 1/2 cup.

Pumpkin Bread

- | | |
|----------------------------|--|
| 3 1/2 cups un sifted flour | 2 cups pureed cooked or canned pumpkin |
| 2 1/2 cups sugar | 1 cup corn oil |
| 2 teaspoons baking soda | 1/2 cup water |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons salt | 4 eggs |
| 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon | |
| 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg | |

Grease and flour 2 (9x5x3-inch) loaf pans. Stir together in large bowl flour, sugar, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir together pumpkin, corn oil and water. Add eggs, 1 at a time, beating well after each addition. Make well in center of flour mixture. Add pumpkin mixture and stir just until flour is moistened. Pour into prepared pans. Bake in 350 degree oven 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from oven. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pans. Cool on rack. When completely cool, wrap in plastic film or foil and store overnight. Serve with Golden Spread. Makes 2 loaves.

Golden Spread: Stir 1/2 cup margarine until smooth and fluffy. Gradually add 1/2 cup dark corn syrup, beating well. Makes 1 cup.

Pumpkin Citrus Marmalade

- | |
|---|
| 1 small whole pumpkin (3 1/2 pounds prepared pumpkin) |
| 4 cups sugar |
| 2 cups light corn syrup |
| 2 seeded lemons, cut in small thin pieces |
| 1 seeded orange, cut in small thin pieces |

Cut pumpkin into quarters. Remove fiber and seed. Cut pumpkin into slices 1/4-inch thick. Peel. Then cut crosswise into pieces 1 or 2 inches long. Place in 5-quart kettle. Toss with sugar and let stand overnight. Add corn syrup, pumpkin, lemon and orange; bring to boil. Boil, uncovered, about 1 1/2 hours or until syrup is thick and pumpkin is transparent. Pour into hot clean one-half pint jars filling to within 1/2-inch of top. Seal as directed by manufacturer. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath. Makes 5 (1/2-pint) jars.

Pumpkin Stew

|---|
| 1/4 cup corn oil |
| 1 cup chopped onion |
| 1 clove garlic, minced |
| 1/2 cup chopped green pepper |
| 2 tablespoons tomato paste |
| 2 cups cooked corned beef cubes |
| 3 1/2 cups peeled, seeded and cubed pumpkin |
| 1/4 cup water |

Heat corn oil over medium heat in large heavy skillet or dutch oven. Add onion, garlic, green pepper and tomato paste stirring occasionally; saute until onion becomes transparent. Add beef, pumpkin and water. Bring to boil. Cover, reduce heat and simmer, stirring occasionally, 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Makes 4 servings.

Unique brunch dish teams rice, fish

Looking for a new dish to make your company brunches interesting? Try Kedgerie. You and your guests may have trouble pronouncing it but you'll have no problems in enjoying its unique flavor.

The dish originated in India where in the Hindi language "khichri" meant a "mess of rice" cooked with butter and lentils. The English in India adapted it to suit their tastes and it became cooked or smoked fish with rice and hard cooked eggs. A popular dish on Anglo-Indian breakfast tables. In England today Kedgerie has come to mean simply cooked fish served with rice for breakfast or lunch.

In this version the fish, rice and eggs have been given a little extra zip in flavor with the addition of sweet mixed pickles. It is easy to prepare and delicious as a hearty brunch or lunch or meatless dinner.

Creamed ham served over corn bread is another festive brunch idea. It doesn't require long or difficult preparation and it doesn't punch holes in the food budget.

PICKLE SPICED KEDGERIE

- 1 pound flounder haddock or other white fish
- Water
- 3 cups cooked rice
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, diced
- 1/2 cup chopped sweet mixed pickles
- Salt and pepper to taste

Dash nutmeg
1/4 cup butter or margarine
Poach haddock in water to cover until just tender. Cool slightly. Drain and flake; bone if necessary. Combine with rice, eggs, pickles and seasonings; saute in butter until heated through. Garnish with egg and pickle slices, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Note: sliced smoked salmon may be used. Saute it with rice, eggs, pickles and seasonings, until heated through.

CREAMED HAM ON CORN BREAD

- 1 package (12 ounces) corn bread mix
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup finely chopped celery

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne
2 cups milk
1 1/2 pounds boiled ham, diced
1/2 cup sliced sweet gherkins
Fresh grated nutmeg
Prepare corn bread mix according to package directions. Meanwhile, in skillet, slowly cook onion and celery in butter until tender. Mix in flour, salt and cayenne. Gradually stir in milk) add ham. Cook and stir over medium heat until sauce thickens and boils 1 minute. Mix in gherkins and nutmeg to taste. Serve over squares of hot corn bread. Makes 6 servings.

Expected drop in rice cost is good news for all

by JEANNE LESEM

The price of rice is expected to drop soon, thanks to a record crop of 113.5 million hundredweight — which is 22 per cent higher than last year.

This is good news, not just for Americans, but for almost half of the world's peoples, to whom rice is their most important staple food. American growers export part of their crop, but the Far East, which is the world's largest rice eater, also grows nine-tenths of the world total. One-third of it is grown in the People's Republic of China.

India is another big grower and user. Indian author Madhur Jaffrey estimates that the average individual in her country eats about half to two-thirds pounds of rice a day, compared with about six pounds a year consumed by the average American.

Much of it is served with curries made with meat, fish or seafood, poultry, vegetables or fruit. But hundreds of other ways of using rice have been developed through the centuries, in every part of the world from the Far, Near and Middle East to South and Central America, the Caribbean and Europe.

In northern Italy, for instance, rice often is served as a first course instead of pasta. Many rice dishes originated in and around Venice, which for centuries controlled most of the Po River Valley, Europe's greatest rice growing area.

ITALIAN RICE dishes called risottos are a cinch to improvise. Cook some finely chopped vegetables such as onions, celery, garlic and/or green peppers in oil or a mixture of oil and butter or margarine until soft and golden. Add rice, and stir constantly over low heat until the grains are gold and opaque. Add as much liquid as the rice package calls for, salt, pepper and dried herbs, and cook, covered, for the length of time suggested on the rice package.

Similar concoctions called pilaf or pilav are popular from Greece and the Balkan countries of Europe to such Near Eastern nations as Turkey.

That part of the world also gave us dolmas and dolmatoes — tasty little packets of well seasoned rice or rice and ground meat wrapped in grape leaves and simmered in broth, oil and seasonings. Often they contain raisins and pine nuts or chopped walnuts. They are served traditionally as a cold, or rather, room temperature, appetizer.

Early Greeks used fig, mulberry and hazelnut leaves. Cabbage leaves are used in much the same way in eastern Europe and America.

Cold rice salads are popular in Spain and along the Mediterranean seacoast in France. They, too, are easily improvised. Add chopped raw vegetables and/or fruit — raisins plumped five minutes in hot water, then drained, or seedless grapes are good and herb flavored oil and vinegar dressing. Toss gently and let stand an hour or so at room temperature to mellow.

Both China and France make spectacular looking rice desserts, molded with candied or preserved fruits.

The Japanese mix warm, sticky rice with rice wine vinegar and roll it into little cylinders to be topped with various kinds of raw fish or seafood, dried seaweed or thin omelets. These are called sushi and they are as staple to a Japanese lunch as sandwiches are to American ones.

Italy even has rice pizzas. They are traditional for Easter. The filling may resemble either a cheese pie or a custard.

Sweet onions in good supply

Sweet Spanish onions are plentiful again, which makes them ideal for a number of economical dishes. Halved and partially hollowed out, onions are good baked. Fill with dollops of butter or margarine, other vegetables, ground meat or bread crumbs and Parmesan cheese.

Another cold-weather treat which makes a welcome party supper dish is an Onion-tomato Soup. Serve with sandwiches or toasted slices of French bread.

ONION TOMATO SOUP

- 2 large sweet Spanish onions
 - 3 tablespoons butter
 - 1 cup chopped celery
 - 1/2 pound mushrooms, halved
 - 1 (28 ounce) can tomatoes
 - 2 (10 1/2 ounce) cans condensed beef broth
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/2 teaspoon basil
 - Chopped parsley
 - CROUTONS
 - Grated Parmesan cheese
- Peel and thinly slice onions. Melt butter in large saucepan. Add onions, celery and mushrooms. Cook until vegetables are tender. Add tomatoes, condensed beef broth, salt, pepper and basil. Cover and simmer for 1 hour. To serve, sprinkle with chopped parsley. Pass croutons and grated Parmesan cheese. Makes 6 servings.

Raisin distribution

For better distribution of raisins in cake batter, stir three quarters of the amount called for into the batter and pour it into the cake pans. Sprinkle the remainder on top where they will sink in during baking.

The maximum recommended storage time for most fresh pork is three to six months at zero degrees. But ground pork should be frozen no longer than one to three months.

To save fuel energy, position oven shelves before you turn the oven on. (UPI)

Food storage hints

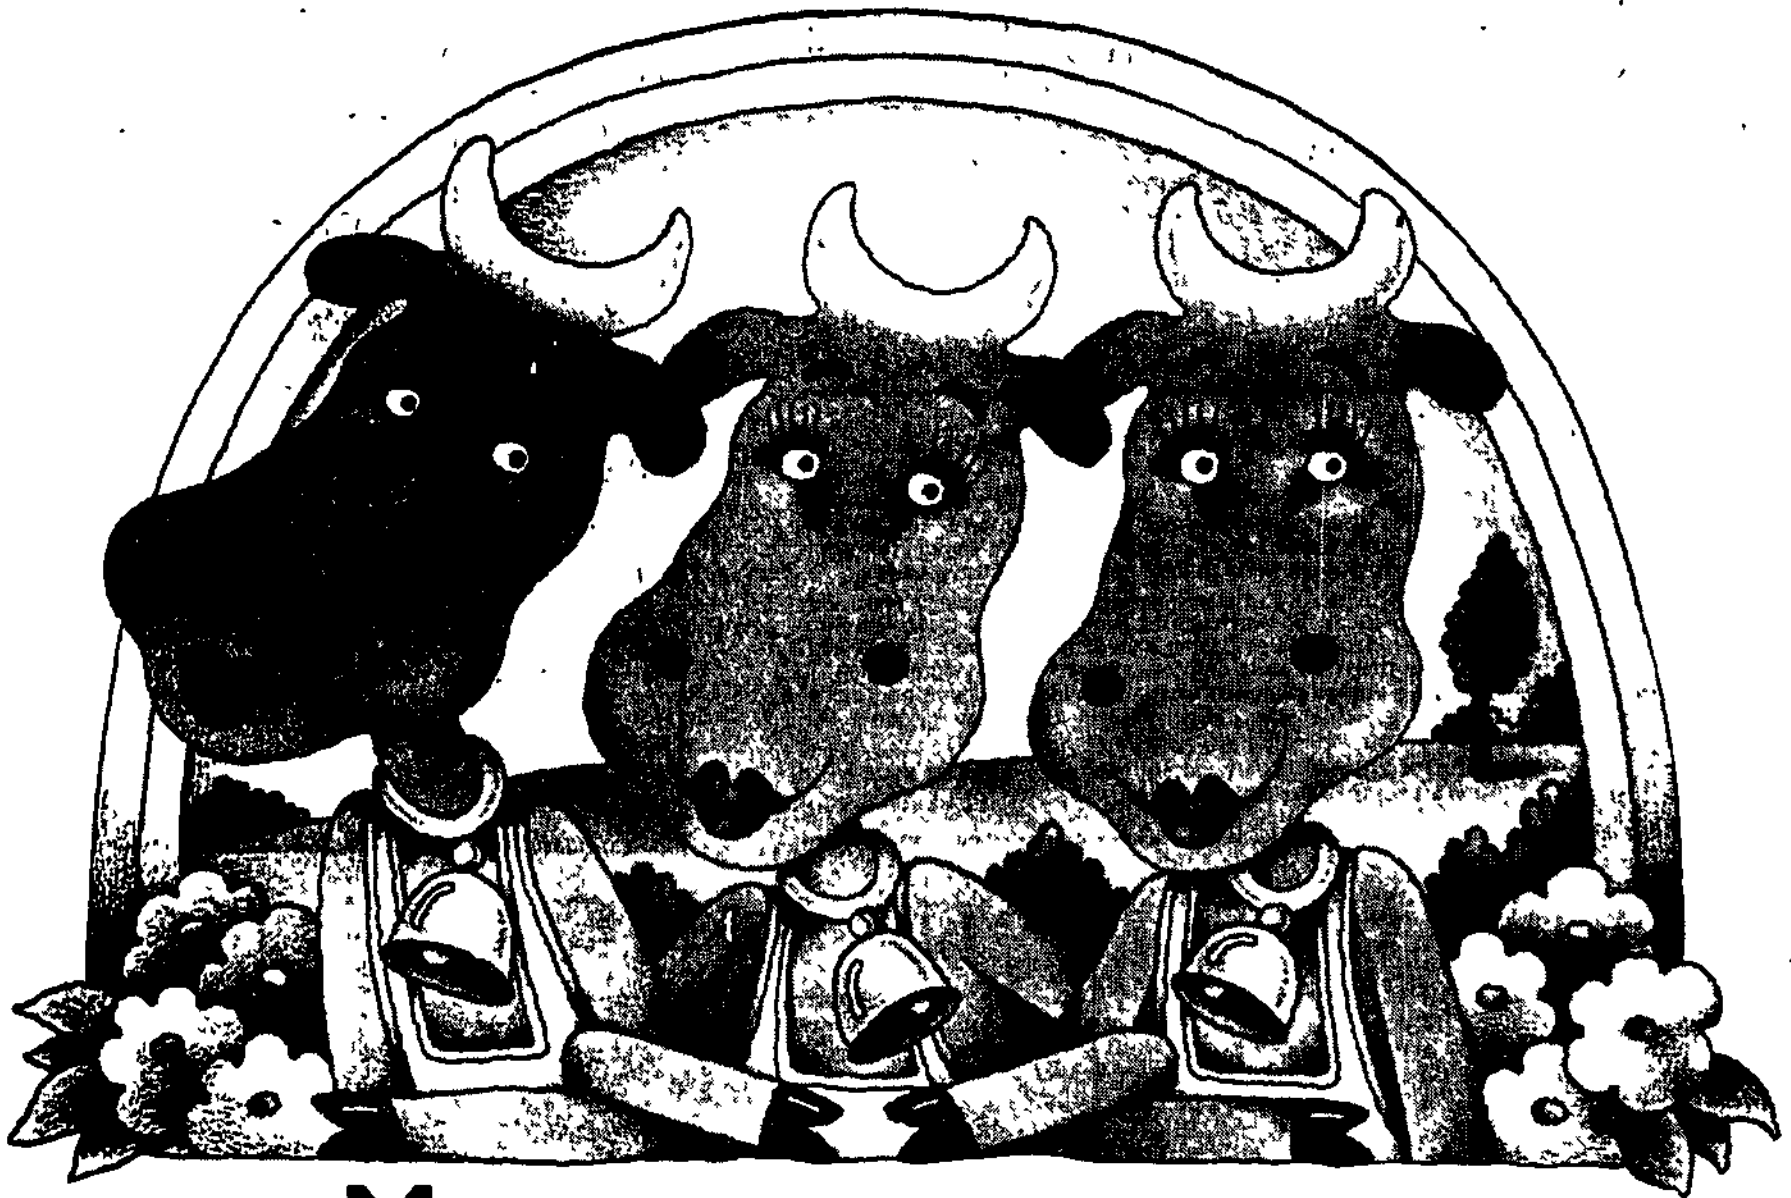

Store canned food in a dry, cool spot, away from hot pipes or radiators and sunlight. Warm storage can lower eating quality and dampness can corrode metal and eventually cause leaks.

Jars and cans of food to be stored in an extremely cold, unheated area should be wrapped in a layer of newspaper or a clean old blanket. Freezing can damage the seal and lead to spoilage.

About 90 per cent of a person's vitamin C intake is supplied by fruits and vegetables, including broccoli, sweet green peppers, cooked cauliflower, potatoes and cabbage.

A perishable food is one that must be refrigerated or frozen if it is to be kept for more than a short period.

Potato in bread dough adds flavor, tenderness and longer lasting freshness. (UPI)

Demand pushes sugar prices higher

by GAYNOR MADDOX

Many predict the price of a five-pound bag of sugar will reach $2.25 shortly.

"That does not mean that Americans are eating more sugar. It means that there is not enough sugar in the world to satisfy all the new customers — the suddenly rich Arabs or the citizens in countries with gradually improving economies. In the United States, we have a population with more people 35 years or younger. They are a heavy drain on the soft drink and candy market," says Jack O'Connell, director of the Sugar Association, Washington, D.C., which represents the industry.

"This shortage of sugar has been building over a number of years. It is a supply problem. Not a result of Americans suddenly discovering sugar. The Chinese, Japanese, Russians are all bidding for sugar. The United States consumes about 100 pounds a year per person (including sugar used at home and in purchased bread, cakes, pies, soft drinks, candy). We are only about the sixth in total consumption. England and Scandinavia are way ahead of us. And now, with all the new consumers, the market is being crowded. We consume around 11.8 per cent of the world's supply but produce only about half as much as we use. So we have to bid for the other half in the world market. And that is tight today.

That is why prices are skyrocketing," he adds.

THE OIL CRISIS was due to the Arab countries. Now we tend to blame them also for upping the price of sugar. Many say that rich countries of the Mideast went in for sugar speculation, buying up futures on sugar. Many people believe this theory — but not all.

Certain sugar economists say that is not true. They believe it has been overplayed in the press.

Daniel Dyer, partner of the prestigious firm of sugar economists and brokers, B.W. Dyer & Co., New York, says: "The Arabs' buying of sugar is only one of many causes for the rise in sugar prices. Don't overlook the fact that everybody is buying it. All over the world there has been much hoarding against fear of rising, inflationary prices. We are not eating more. We are hoarding more — taking it off the market.

"This aggressive buildup of sugar inventories around the world has definitely contributed to the higher prices. So when you say that the Arab countries' buying is a major cause, I remind you that is an emotional statement. Not a factual one," Dyer adds.

Prices are going even higher, according to leading sugar experts.

"NEXT WEEK we are raising our wholesale price to $2.08 per five pounds of sugar. What the supermarkets will charge retail is up to them. Many have already marked up supplies bought at a cheaper price. Others will hold prices, making sugar a loss leader or a store feature," reports Saul Kolodny, assistant vice president and director of economic research, Amstar Corp., the largest sugar refiner in the United States.

"Prices are leaping upward because for many years the world's supply of sugar was inadequate. Raising sugar, either cane or beet, had to compete with land used for raising corn, soy, potatoes, wheat, etc. Where was the profit? Not very much in sugar. But with today's increase in sugar prices, more farmers may decide to go into raising sugar crops. That will be the beginning of the time for lower prices. But you won't see that or any results of that change for at least a year — maybe much longer."

Kolodny adds: "I don't think hoarding by housewives has much to do with higher prices. The basic reason is that there just is not enough sugar to go around."

Standards for fruit

Fruit cocktail, one of the best known canned fruit mixtures, contains five fruits: diced yellow peaches, diced pears, pineapple slices or tidbits, green-white seedless grapes and red maraschino cherry halves. The mixture is one of a few standardized by federal law to give a definite proportion of each of the fruits. Peaches and pears make up the greater part of the mixture.

If you keep canned fruits in a place no warmer than 75 degrees F., they will usually retain their quality for a year or more. The color, flavor, and texture of canned fruits that have been stored at very warm temperatures or for long periods of time may not stay at top quality but the fruits still will be safe to eat.

What is the difference between clingstone and freestone canned peaches?

Clingstone peaches have a firm and smooth texture and clean-cut edges. Freestone peaches have a softer texture and ragged edges. Both kinds are yellow to yellow-orange, except for the seldom-seen white freestone.

Dry beans among foods considered plentiful

Fall prices of canned and packaged navy beans are expected to be considerably below prices of a year ago, according to Michigan Bean Shippers Association.

Dry beans are one of a handful of commodities that survived the nation's freakish weather pattern this year to end in a surplus. Michigan's navy bean crop is a near record this year, up nearly 40 per cent over a year ago, report the state's bean producers.

Earlier this month the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) revised this year's U.S. dry bean production upward for the second time. USDA now projects a bean crop nearly 31 per cent above last year. Producer prices have dropped to below 15 cents a pound this fall which should mean lower retail prices for canned pork and beans and packaged dry beans. Last year's bean crop returned farmers approximately 32 cents a pound, with a price range of 18 to 55 cents per pound.

IF, AS PREDICTED, retail stores lower prices in accordance with wholesale drops, dried beans will be one of a few foodstuffs that will cost less this fall.

To help consumers take advantage of this inexpensive source of protein in everyday menus, the Michigan Bean Industry has compiled a recipe booklet featuring bean dishes. The 40-page booklet, entitled "Beans Enjoyable the World Over," features recipes for canned and dried beans. A copy of this menu planner may be obtained by sending 15 cents for postage and handling to Michigan Bean Recipes, 800 Eddy Building, Saginaw, Mich. 48607. Offer expires Nov. 15.

Fresh ocean perch, rainbow trout and Canadian white fish are selling at moderate prices in the Midwest this month, reports National Marine Fisheries Service. Turbot, red snapper and sole are the best buys for frozen fish.

CRANBERRIES, PEARS, apples fresh citrus fruits and citrus juices are listed as plentiful for November by USDA Food Marketing Service. Frozen concentrated orange juice is expected to be one of the best buys. Florida's frozen orange juice stocks at the end of September were 11 per cent above last year's supply. Production of early, mid-season and navel orange varieties will be up 6 per cent from last season and 14 per cent above the past three seasons' average. The commercial apple crop equals last year's and is slightly above the 1971-73 average.

Franfare

by Fran Heckart

Despite rumors of shortages, USDA reports adequate supplies of canned non-citrus fruits due to larger production this year.

FROZEN VEGETABLES will continue plentiful, predicts USDA. Stocks were 15 per cent greater than a year ago on Sept. 30. Canned vegetables are termed adequate with larger packs rebuilding reduced inventories. Specifically, more tomatoes and tomato products will be available and about the same or fewer supplies of other major canned vegetables, according to USDA.

In the meat and poultry category, beef and turkeys are both listed as plentiful. Beef production is moderately higher than a year ago and a record for this month. Lower grade beef accounts for the increase said USDA. Cold storage holdings account for the supplies of turkey. Current holdings are about one-third greater than a year ago which offsets the expected decline in new-crop marketings.

Supplies of pork, broiler-fryers and eggs are listed as adequate, or enough to meet needs.

Welcome goblins home with warm chili brew

All Hallows' Eve is celebrated in many ways throughout the country but sometime during the evening wee hob-goblins and ghosts and their more mature counterparts get together for a hearty snack. A good one is a pot of Beef Chili that you can keep on the stove simmering until everyone is ready to dip into it. Serve with wedges of sliced bread, donuts and cider.

HALLOWEEN BEEF CHILI

1 pound lean ground beef
1 onion
1 (15-ounce) can red kidney beans

1 (15-ounce) can barbecue beans
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon chili powder

Brown beef in skillet. Add chopped onion and cook until onion is wilted. Stir in undrained beans, salt and chili powder. Simmer 15 minutes to blend flavors. Makes 6 servings.

DOLLOPS OF whipped cream are the finishing touch for Carmen Thompson's Sour Cream Pumpkin Pie. Beat an egg whites give the pie a chiffon-like texture, but it is baked instead of refrigerated. Sour cream cuts the spicy taste for a more subtle flavor.

Mrs. Joseph Thompson

Her pumpkin pie is a sure success

by LOIS SEILER

'Tis the season when thoughts turn to pumpkins. While jack-o-lanterns glow brightly in windows tonight, cooks will soon be thinking of homemade pumpkin pies for the fall season and holiday entertaining.

Carmen Thompson's favorite recipe is a rich sour cream pumpkin pie which never fails. Higher and lighter in texture than the conventional type, it is made in a manner similar to a pumpkin chiffon, with egg whites folded in. However, sour cream is also added, and the pie is baked, rather than refrigerated, until firm. Sour cream cuts the spicy taste, giving this pie a more subtle flavor. It is an elegant dessert for a duck or turkey dinner according to this Mount Prospect homemaker.

Carmen's first cookbook was a gift from her husband, Joe, shortly after they were married. Assuming the present was a gentle hint, Carmen began experimenting and found cooking an activity she really enjoyed.

Joe's willingness to try anything encouraged Carmen and before long she became a competent, creative cook. The couple is now in their fourth year as members of the Mount Prospect Newcomers' Couples Gourmet. Even the Thompsons' children Steven, 9, Christine, 6, and Michael, 5, share their parents' interest in food and have developed sophisticated tastes.

The dinner which pleases Joe the most is Duck a l'Orange. Carmen prepares this from a recipe she adapted to suit her taste, and stuffs the bird with fruit dressing which she credits to her mother.

THE DRESSING is prepared with a packaged stuffing mix to which is added eggs, raisins, apple, apricots, prunes, parsley and milk to moisten. Carmen's Italian heritage sometimes prompts her to toss in Parmesan cheese.

The stuffed duck is roasted on a rack and pricked all over for the fat to escape. After all the fat is drained off, the duck is spread with orange marmalade and basted with orange juice. Vermouth is added last, and the duck is served quartered with the pan juices.

The sweet fruit dressing and glaze help eliminate any strong taste, and the duck is tender and moist, according to Carmen. As accompaniments, she suggests a green vegetable, preferably asparagus, and a bright salad such as spinach, escarole and romaine with a bleu cheese dressing.

Duckling can also be prepared without a stuffing and served with brown or wild rice. On such occasions, Carmen makes a fresh cranberry compote from her mother's recipe to serve as an accompaniment. More like a relish than a sauce, this has a little tartness from orange and lemon rind, and a subtle spicy flavor from allspice.

Carmen enjoys this compote so much that she makes it regularly when cranberries are in season, serving it with turkey, pork and chicken as well as duck.

SOUR CREAM PUMPKIN PIE

- 1 10-inch unbaked pie shell
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Goblins' punch is super treat

Bobbing for apples seems a lost art for those who take part in Halloween parties. However, all still expect some real treats at the end of their tricks around the neighborhood. Those who want to keep a small goblins' party simple may serve tea/orange punch with bite-sized donuts and cookies.

GOBLIN PITCHER PUNCH

- 2 tablespoons instant tea
 - 1 (46 ounce) can orange Hawaiian punch, chilled
 - 1 cinnamon stick
 - 2 lemons, sliced
 - Whole cloves
 - 1 (12 ounce) bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage
- Combine tea, orange punch and cinnamon stick. Insert 2 or 3 cloves into each lemon slice and add to tea mixture. When ready to serve, pour over ice cubes and add carbonated beverage. Makes about 2 quarts.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

- 1/8 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 (1-pound) can pumpkin
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1 cup sour cream

Whipped cream for garnish

Prepare pie shell and prick crust with a fork. Place in a preheated 450-degree oven and bake 8 to 10 minutes until crust is three-fourths done. Remove from oven and reduce heat to 350 degrees.

To make the filling, combine 1/2 cup sugar with salt and spices in top of a double boiler. Blend in pumpkin.

Beat egg yolks and stir into mixture. Add sour cream and mix well. Cook over hot, not boiling, water until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks. Beat in remaining 1/2 cup sugar. Fold into pumpkin mixture.

Turn into pie shell and bake 45 minutes or until a knife inserted comes out clean. Serve with whipped cream. Serves 8.

DUCK A L'ORANGE

- 1 4 to 5 pound duck
- 1 package seasoned stuffing mix
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 1 chopped apple, with skin
- 1/4 cup apricots and prunes, soaked and drained
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup milk
- Orange marmalade
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/2 cup white vermouth

Wash and dry duck. Prepare the stuffing by mixing together the stuffing mix, eggs, fruit, parsley and milk. Stuff duck with the dressing and place on a V-shaped rack in a roasting pan. Prick duck all over with a fork to allow fat to escape. Roast at 425 degrees for 30 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and roast 30 minutes more. Turn duck over on the breast and roast 20 minutes. Turn breast side up and roast an additional 20 minutes. Drain off most of the fat from pan.

Spread duckling with thick orange marmalade and baste occasionally with orange juice for ten minutes. Baste with vermouth and roast an additional ten minutes or until cooked.

To serve, quarter duckling and pour juices over the meat. Serves 4.

FRESH CRANBERRY COMPOTE

- 1 pound fresh cranberries
- 2 cups water
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 1 fresh orange, including skin, diced

Rind from 1 lemon, diced

1 teaspoon allspice
Wash and remove stems from cranberries.

In a large saucepan, combine the water, sugar, diced orange and lemon rind. Boil for ten minutes. Then add cranberries and allspice. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for 25 minutes or until all berries have popped open and mixture thickens. Chill until serving.

THE FRENCH PERFECTION

SPICED Bellettole CHEESE

Every bite is perfection. There's a hint of spice with its freshly peeled garlic. It's a little zesty with earthy, natural herbs.

SERVE SPICED BELLETOLE CHEESE FOR MORE THAN ONE OCCASION.

As hors d'oeuvres on crackers, wafers or bread... with wine and drinks... as a snack or for dessert... in salads, in sauces or with cooking.

NATURAL SPICED BELLETOLE CHEESE. IT'S EXTRAORDINARY WITH ITS PURE INGREDIENTS.

Its robust flavor and sophisticated blend makes it unlike any other spiced cheese — and it costs less than the next leading spiced brand. Packed in foil for freshness, Spiced Bellettole from France is ready to be served and enjoyed at peak perfection.

LOOK FOR THE COUNTRY GREEN STRIPE ON THE LABEL. Try the 5 oz. rounds or 2 oz. ovals.

At specialty dairy cases in your favorite Jewel supermarket.

FOOD QUIZ...

WHAT IS A CONNOISSEUR?
One who is competent to judge something of good taste. Example: Bring Spiced Bellettole cheese to your host or hostess.

WHAT IS AN EPICURE?
A sensualist in matters of food and drink, and who chooses them with discriminating taste.

WHAT IS A GOURMET?
One who is both a connoisseur of good food and drink, and in addition, enjoys each savory bite with the enthusiasm of an epicure. Example: Serve Spiced Bellettole cheese at home.

HOW TO SERVE CHEESE AT ITS BEST!
Cheese should be served at room temperature. To capture the full-bodied, hearty flavor of Spiced Bellettole cheese, remove from refrigerator about one to two hours before serving.

Make vegetable dishes as enticing as dessert

A few simple tricks can change the taste, texture and look of vegetables and get the family to eat them just like they do desserts. But first, observe a cardinal rule when preparing fresh vegetables — don't overcook.

Enticing flavor changes include adding onion or garlic to cauliflower, cinnamon or nutmeg to carrots or sweet potatoes, or olive oil to cooking liquid.

Other interesting additions include walnuts, pecans or water chestnuts for crunch and texture in string beans and peas and toasted sesame seeds with broccoli. Also serve vegetables mashed, pureed or molded or in pastry shells or combine such vegetables as cabbage and tomato which do not seem to go together, with chick pea sauce. If there are left-over vegetables, serve them cold with olive oil and vinegar.

CASSIE'S CABBAGE 'N BEAN CASSEROLE

- 1/3 cup olive oil
- 1/2 cup chopped celery and leaves
- 1/2 cup chopped scallions
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
- 1 can (1 pound) chick

Low-calorie fruits

Most fresh, raw, unsweetened fruits contain fewer than 100 calories per serving.

Count as a serving — one medium-size apple, banana, orange, peach or pear; two or three figs or plums; one-half cup fruit and liquid.

All fruits contain some vitamin C — but in varying amounts. Fruits rich in vitamin C are oranges, grapefruit, cantaloupe, and strawberries. Fruits containing smaller, but worthwhile, amounts of vitamin C are fresh apricots, avocados, bananas, blackberries, blueberries, pineapple, red raspberries and watermelon.

For vitamin A, serve cantaloupe and apricots. Dried apricots are a concentrated source of vitamin A.

Good sources of iron include dried fruits, such as raisins, dates, prunes, peaches and apricots.

Fresh fruits are generally highest in quality and lowest in price when in season.

- peas, drained
- 1 head green cabbage, cut into 8 wedges and parboiled for 10 minutes and drained

In a saucepan heat olive oil. Add celery, scallions and saute until wilted. Stir in flour. Gradually stir in tomatoes and stir until sauce thickens. Stir in chick peas. Place cabbage wedges side by side in a single layer in a greased shallow casserole. Spoon tomato bean sauce over cabbage. Cover and bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes or until cabbage is easily pierced. Makes 6 servings.

NUTTY CAULIFLOWER

- 1 large head cauliflower
- 1/3 cup olive oil
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, chopped
- 1/3 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Trim cauliflower; rinse and leave whole. Cover cauliflower with salted water and simmer until cauliflower is tender but still firm. While cauliflower is cooking, heat olive oil in a saucepan. Add onion, garlic, walnut and saute until golden. Stir in soup. Simmer until bubbly. Drain cauliflower and place on a platter. Spoon on hot sauce. Sprinkle Parmesan cheese over top. Makes 6 servings.

Yams and marshmallows

Add subtle goodness to fall tables

Cool and crisp fall days inspire creativity and new ideas as the hot days of summer are left behind. The industrious Cajuns of Louisiana's bayous have wasted little time in the traditional and hearty preparing of yam dishes, ready to be sampled during the Yambilee fall harvest festival. The Yambilee, held the last week in October, celebrates the yam and is complete with festivities such as yam cooking contests and yam judging.

Louisiana yams, easily combined with vegetables and meat, possess a stringless texture and rich vitamin A content. For example, Cajun Marshmallow Bake, a traditional American favorite, combines the subtle flavor of yams in a spicy flavorful combo of raisins and marshmallows to enhance this traditional idea in vegetable cookery.

The versatile yam is also a delectable treat for dessert. Tangy peaches and chopped pecans added to yams, with a sprinkle of marshmallows create a tasty finale.

CAJUN YAM-MARSHMALLOW BAKE
6 medium Louisiana yams, cooked, peeled and mashed or 3 cans (16 or 17-ounce each) yams, drained and mashed

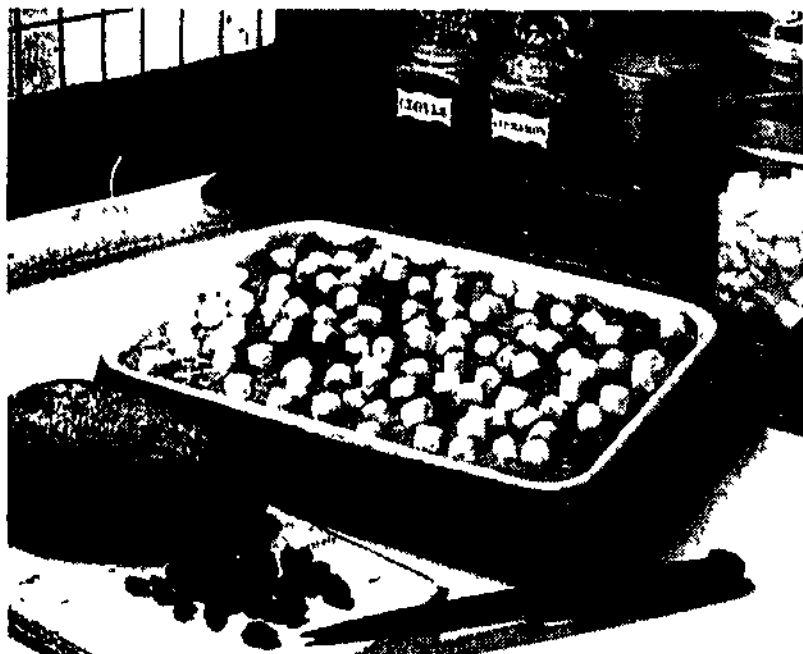

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/3 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon each: salt, ground cloves, cinnamon and vanilla

1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup seedless raisins
Miniature or large marshmallows
Beat together yams, butter, sugar and seasonings; stir in raisins. Spread in a buttered 1-quart baking dish or 8-inch square pan. Top with marshmallows. Bake in 350 degree oven 20 to 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

MARSHMALLOW YAM DESSERT
2 1/2 cups mashed cooked or canned Louisiana yams

1/4 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1/2 cup coarsely chopped pecans
1 can (16 ounces) sliced peaches, drained
1 cup miniature marshmallows
Blend yams with sugar, salt, spices and lemon peel; fold in pecans. Turn into 1-quart buttered baking dish. Bake in 350 degree oven 20 minutes. Cover with peach slices; sprinkle on marshmallows and bake 10 minutes longer to brown lightly. Makes 6 servings.

Cajun Marshmallow Bake

Zesty onions spark a salad

Onion lovers and those who enjoy more snap to their salads will be happy to learn that the sweet Spanish onion crop will be a good one this year. These snowy-white onions with their subtle sweet flavor go well in a colorful salad of avocado slices and tomato wedges. Top with a piquant Chili Dressing, an oil and vinegar combination with lime juice, chili powder and oregano. Great with hamburgers or an expensive steak.

MEXICAN-STYLE ONION SALAD

1 large sweet Spanish onion
Crisp salad greens
1 large tomato, cut into wedges
1 fully ripe avocado, sliced
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Chili Dressing
Peel and slice onion. Separate into rings. Place salad greens on platter. Arrange tomato wedges, avocado slices and onion rings over greens. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Serve with Chili Dressing. Makes 4 servings.

CHILI DRESSING

1/3 cup salad oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons lime juice
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/4 teaspoon oregano
Combine all ingredients in small jar. Cover and shake until well blended. Makes about 2/3 cup dressing.

Mexican accent for classic slaw

Mexican Pineapple Slaw
Mexican Pineapple slaw is a new and colorful version of the classic coleslaw salad. The dressing is a simple combination of oil, vinegar, catsup, Mexican seasoning and canned pineapple syrup. Pour over cabbage-vegetable mixture, and serve with slices of canned pineapple. This zesty salad even has Mexican colors...red pimento, tender green-and-white cabbage, bell pepper. Crisp tortilla chips are a popular go-along.

MEXICAN PINEAPPLE SLAW

1/3 cup pimento-stuffed green olives
1 quart shredded cabbage
1/3 cup sliced green pepper
2 tablespoons sliced pimento
1 (15 1/2 ounce) can pineapple slices
2 tablespoons catsup
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 1/2 teaspoons Mexican seasoning mix
1/2 teaspoon salt
Reserve 3 whole olives for garnish. Slice remaining olives and combine with cabbage, green pepper and pimento. Drain pineapple well. Stir catsup, oil, vinegar, Mexican seasoning and salt together. Pour over cabbage mixture and toss lightly. Turn into serving bowl. Arrange pineapple slices over top. Garnish with reserved whole olives. Makes 4 servings.

New England specialties perfect for autumn menus

We chanced upon the Royal Hearthside restaurant in Rutland, Vt., a few years ago and ever since it has been a regular stop on any trip in that area. Meals are served in an exquisitely furnished dining room and the chef, Ernest Royal, has the reputation for culinary talents not to be surpassed in all of New England.

Should you arrive at this crossroads of Vermont, the junction of Routes 4 and 7, stop in. A regular on the menu is this example of Green Mountain cooking, New England Ham and Potato casserole.

To make it you'll need 1 pound of smoked ham from the shank or butt of the ham. Cut meat into about 1/8-inch slices.

Slice thin (as for scalloped) 1 pound white potatoes and 1/2 pound onions. Open a No. 2 1/2 can of whole, preferably small, tomatoes.

Butter the bottom of a 3-quart casserole. Alternate layers of potatoes, onions, ham and tomatoes. Repeat, topping with tomatoes. On each layer sprinkle garlic salt, pepper, sugar and Worcestershire sauce. Put a bay leaf on the last layer of tomatoes. Pour over 1 tablespoon melted butter. Cover and bake 1 1/2 hours at 375 degrees. Serves 4.

FOR AN easy and tasty supper during the holidays, try Ernest Royal's Baked Scallops Hearthside. To serve 2 persons, purchase 12 ounces of sea scallops either fresh or frozen. Thaw and drain if frozen. Slice scallops in half flatwise.

Butter a medium-sized casserole. Put in the scallops, season with salt and pepper and pour over them 1 ounce of sherry wine. Melt 4 ounces butter. Pour half the butter over the scallops, then cover with 1 cup fresh breadcrumbs. Pour remaining butter over the crumbs.

Bake in a preheated 375 degree oven for 15 minutes. The recipe doubles well and you may substitute crab meat or shrimp for the scallops. If you do so, add garlic powder to the seasonings.

For dessert here's Maple Custard Pie, another Vermont standby. Scald 3 cups milk and add to it 3 well beaten egg yolks mixed with 1 cup maple syrup, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to thicken slightly. Fold in 3 stiffly beaten egg whites and 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract. Pour onto uncooked 10-inch pie shell and bake in a 350 degree oven until firm. Serves 6 to 8.

Pasta casserole is budget bonus

A pasta casserole may be an answer to serving more kind-to-the-budget meals during a week. These are nourishing and flavorful. One combination includes spaghetti with sauteed eggplant baked with a blend of Cheddar cheese soup and sour cream. Serve with a crisp green salad and a pineapple gelatin topped with banana slices.

SPAGHETTI AND EGGPLANT CASSEROLE

- 1 medium eggplant (about 1 1/2 pounds)
- Salad oil
- 8 ounces spaghetti
- Salt
- 3 quarts boiling water
- 1 can (11 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup, undiluted
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/4 cup finely chopped celery
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup finely chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup (2 ounces) grated or shredded Cheddar cheese

Peel eggplant, if desired. Cut crosswise into 1/2-inch thick slices. In a large skillet, fry eggplant, a few slices at a time, in 1/4 cup hot oil, until lightly browned. Add more salad oil, if necessary. Drain on paper towels. Gradually add spaghetti and 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. In a large bowl, combine cooked spaghetti, 1/2 teaspoon salt and remaining ingredients, except eggplant and cheese. Place 1/2 of the spaghetti mixture in 12x8-inch baking dish. Top with a layer of 1/2 of the eggplant. Repeat layers; sprinkle top with cheese. Bake, covered, in 400 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until heated through. Makes 4 servings.

Put vegetables in simple divan

Broccoli Egg Divan sounds as though it would take hours in the kitchen to create and break anyone's food budget. However, this is an easy dish to prepare that is definitely rich in flavor appeal. For variety, try substituting carrots, celery, spinach, asparagus or green onions for the broccoli using the basic Egg Divan sauce.

BROCCOLI EGG DIVAN

- 1 bunch fresh broccoli
- 4 hard-cooked eggs
- 1/2 teaspoon salt, divided
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cheddar cheese soup
- 1/3 cup milk
- 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

To prepare broccoli, cut off large leaves and the bottom of the stalk. Wash well. If stalk is more than 1/2 inch in diameter, make 2 lengthwise slits almost to flowerets. Cook broccoli, uncovered, in boiling salted water to cover until tender, about 15 minutes. Drain. Arrange broccoli, stems toward the center, in a 10-inch pie plate. Slice egg crosswise and layer over broccoli. Sprinkle with 1/4 teaspoon salt and pepper. Mix undiluted soup with milk until smooth. Pour over broccoli and eggs in pie plate. Mix together bread crumbs, melted butter and remaining 1/4 teaspoon salt. Sprinkle over cheese sauce. Bake in 375-degree oven 20 minutes, until cheese sauce is bubbly and bread crumbs lightly browned. Makes 4 servings.

Household hints

A few saucepans of different sizes with tight fitting covers are needed by most families. The smallest pan usually is the one-quart size. Any-pan should be flat on the bottom so it will not tip over easily and will heat food evenly.

Make sure the stove's burners are off — completely off — when not in use. This goes for broilers and ovens, too. Get into the habit of checking before you leave the kitchen or house.

Knife holders, either on the wall or in the drawer, prevent injuries.

Use the right kitchen knife for the right task. The National Safety Council says that's knife safety know-how!

Potatoes, eggs and bacon make shepherd's main dish

Like so many foods, the potato took the long way around before returning to the American continent to become a daily favorite. The first white potato was introduced in France in the 1770s and owed its ancestry to the plant grown by Indians of Peru and Bolivia. Irish immigrants brought the "Irish potato" to what is now the United States in 1719 and its many varieties continue to flourish. Potatoes are grown and marketed throughout the country but to many Idaho is potato country. It is also sheep country. Basque people from Spain came to help care for the sheep and brought their food traditions with them.

One tasty result is Basque Potatoes, a shepherd's main dish which has bacon and eggs among the ingredients. This is a filling dish and may be satisfying for many when served with a salad or as a breakfast dish with rolls and coffee.

BASQUE POTATOES

- 4 Idaho potatoes
- 2 teaspoons salt, divided
- 6 slices bacon
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Pare potatoes and cut in half crosswise. Place in a medium saucepan and add 1 inch of water. Add 1 teaspoon salt.

Bring to a boil, cover, reduce heat and simmer about 20 to 25 minutes, until potatoes are tender but do not crumble. Drain and cut crosswise into 1/8-inch slices. In a large skillet, cook the bacon over moderate heat until lightly browned. Drain on paper towels and crumble; reserve. Pour off bacon fat and return 4 tablespoons to skillet. Add onion and cook over moderate heat until tender. Add the parsley and potato slices.

Mix well, being careful not to break up the potatoes. Shake the pan back and forth until the potato slices lie flat. Cook over moderate heat for about 20 minutes, until the potatoes are golden brown on the bottom. Loosen by sliding a spatula around the edges of the skillet and as far under the potatoes as possible without crumbling them. Place a large inverted plate over the pan and, grasping plate and skillet together firmly, turn over.

Slide the potatoes back into the skillet, brown side up. Cook over moderate heat for 2 to 3 minutes to brown the bottom, then reduce the heat to low. Beat eggs, paprika, remaining 1 teaspoon salt and pepper until they are well mixed. Pour eggs over potatoes and sprinkle reserved bacon bits over top. Cover the skillet and cook 5 minutes, until eggs are set. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Apple custard is nourishing

Custards are making a comeback as desserts. Once a regular weekly, inexpensive treat, custards always have been considered especially nutritious. A Golden Custard and Apples combination is a variation on the one-dish, individual serving one associates with this specialty. It is good hot or cold and some will want to add milk or a dollop of ice cream to their servings.

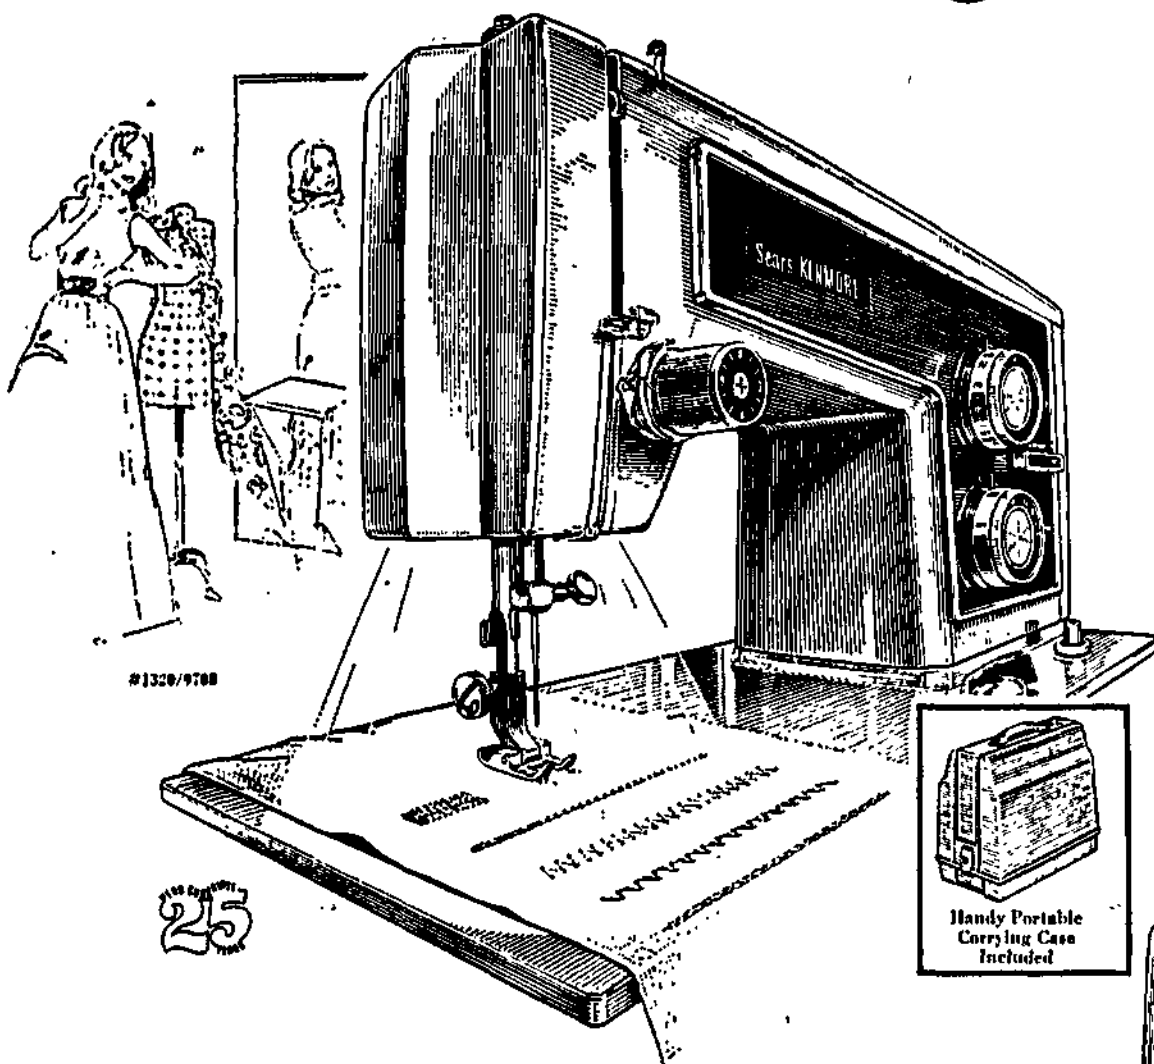

GOLDEN CUSTARD AND APPLES

- 4 medium cooking apples, cored
- 1 egg
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup milk

Grated rind of 1 lemon
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 tablespoons butter, melted
Pare apples half-way down from the stem end. Place in one and one-half quart baking dish, stem end up, quite close together. Cover and bake at 350-degrees 30 to 45 minutes or until tender. Beat together the egg, sugar, milk, lemon rind, lemon juice and butter. Add any juice from the apples and mix well. Pour over apples and bake, uncovered 10 minutes. Place in dessert dishes and serve at once with the custard. Makes 4 servings.

Jelly surprise with doughnuts

Children love doughnuts and children love surprises. Put the two together for a breakfast treat or mid-day snack youngsters will enjoy with a glass of milk or a cranberry-apple drink. Fill doughnuts made from an easy hot roll mix with jellied cranberry sauce and dust with confectioners' sugar. These Cranberry Surprise Doughnuts may be a way to break down a reluctant breakfast eater's resistance.

CRANBERRY SURPRISE DOUGHNUTS

- 2 packages (13 1/2 ounces) hot roll mix
- 1 1/2 cups lukewarm water
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup sugar
- Grated rind of 1 orange
- 2 teaspoons nutmeg
- 1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry sauce
- Deep fat or cooking oil
- Confectioners' sugar

Remove yeast from hot roll mix and dissolve in lukewarm water. Stir in eggs, sugar, orange rind and nutmeg. Beat in flour from hot roll mix. Cover dough and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk. Turn dough out on a floured board and knead until smooth and elastic about 5 minutes. Roll dough out to 1/4-inch thickness and cut with a cookie cutter into 48 three-inch rounds. Cut cranberry sauce into 6 thick slices. Cut each slice into quarters, making 24 pieces in all. Place a piece of cranberry sauce on 24 of the dough rounds. Brush edges of dough with water. Top with remaining dough rounds and press edges together firmly. Let cranberry-filled rounds stand on a floured surface until double in bulk, about 30 minutes. Heat fat to 360 degrees. Drop in doughnuts and fry until brown, about 2 minutes. Turn and brown on other side. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Makes 24 doughnuts.

New apple pie has blue cheese

There is no better time to try an unusual flavor in your homemade apple pies than now.

If you are looking for a really distinctive variation of the always popular pie — one that has exciting taste appeal — let American blue cheese and dairy sour cream come to the rescue.

You'll find the subtle sharpness of the delicately-marbled blue cheese is in complete harmony with sweetened, lightly spiced sour cream. In combination they accentuate the goodness of sliced apples to make a surprisingly fine pie filling with the cheese providing an elegant note.

This is the kind of attractive, open-faced pie to serve for Sunday dinner and for parties.

BLUE CHEESE APPLE PIE

- Pastry for single 8-inch pie shell
- 4 to 5 large baking apples, pared and cored
- 2/3 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 cup American blue cheese
(about 3 ounces, crumbled)

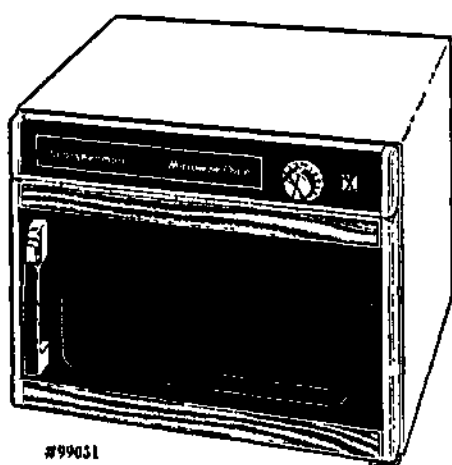

Slice apples thin and arrange in pastry lined pie plate. Mix remaining ingredients together. Pour mixture evenly over the apples. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 to 60 minutes. Roll out any remaining pastry and cut designs with cookie cutter. Bake them on a cookie sheet in hot oven for 10 minutes. Place cutouts on top of baked pie. Serve pie slightly warm.

Developer makes deal on rental units

by JOE FRANZ

Buffalo Grove will get its golf course and Phoenix Construction Co. will be allowed to rent one-third of the units in its new developments thanks to an agreement reached by officials of both sides.

Buffalo Grove trustees agreed to the rental units after Louis Ance, attorney for the golf course owners, said his clients would not sign a contract for the course unless Buffalo Grove gave in to the developer's demands.

The Phoenix development surrounds the golf course.

Ance said his clients, Harold Friedman and his associates, feared that if Phoenix did not get the rental permission from the village, the firm might not be able to get construction financing and would default the contract of purchase. That contract is reportedly made between Phoenix and Friedman.

"THE REALITIES OF economics are such that it might not be possible to build all ownership units," he said. "They (Phoenix) might not be able to get financing for condominiums."

Ance said the developers still intend to build individually-owned units, but want a cushion in the event it becomes unfeasible.

In a letter to the trustees, Bernard Wolf of Phoenix said, "This is still our plan and we have no intention of a rental development."

Ance said committing the developer to all owned units is unacceptable to his client because of the current mortgage market. "With the condominium market as it is today, we might not be able to sell the units once they're built," he said.

UNDER THE AGREEMENT reached Tuesday night, Phoenix will be allowed to make no more than 283 of the 849 units rentals if the economic situation dictates that.

The board, however, will not allow Phoenix to arbitrarily go to that number of rental units.

Trustees Jerry Driscoll, Thomas Mahoney and James Shirley approved the change, while Trustees Randall Rathjen, Clarence Rech and Edward Osmon opposed it. Village Pres. Gary Armstrong favored granting the request and broke the tie.

Moments after the vote Driscoll left the meeting to catch a flight to St. Louis. He apparently only came to the meeting to cast his vote which was vital to the outcome.

Before the vote Osmon suggested that no action be taken by the board until the developer showed that economic conditions were such that not allowing the rental units would create a hardship. At that time, he said, the board could be counted on to approach the matter in good faith.

Ance said, however, I would advise my clients not to accept that.

"IT'S IN OUR financial interest to sell the units as condominiums and not to rent," he said. "But we want an escape valve in the event we can't sell them."

Rathjen said at the time of the hearings on the project, the developer committed himself to all owned units without a request from the board. "It was not the board that made the initial request for all condominium units," he said. "It was strictly the free will, if you will, of the petitioner."

Ance said he doubts the village has the legal right to restrict the number of rental units. "I say you cannot zone against ownership or rental, you can only zone against use," he said. "I think the restriction is invalid, but we don't want a lawsuit."

"MR. FRIEDMAN has no intention of signing this contract until the matter is resolved," Ance said.

Several homeowners were at the meeting, objecting to the request to allow rental units. "What is to keep the developer from later asking for one-half or two-thirds rental units, said Janice Dalmer, 393 Indian Hill Dr.

The village board last month passed an ordinance which agreed to granting a zoning change for the entire area around the golf course and in exchange supposedly got the right to purchase the course.

The ordinance was passed by the board making the agreement legal, but was not recorded by the county on Armstrong's orders. Armstrong said he did not have the ordinance recorded because he knew of the change wanted by Phoenix and took it upon himself to wait until the matter was settled this week.

The Buffalo Grove Mall, which stretches along Dundee Road, provides a variety of stores and parking.

Shoppers stay close

Ranch Mart meets needs of Buffalo Grove residents

by BETTY LEE

A young woman with her two children at the Ranch Mart Shopping Center in Buffalo Grove answered the question without hesitation.

"Why do I shop here Because it's the closest to home," Erika Eddy said. "I come here about once a week . . . to buy everyday things."

Convenience is why people remain close to home when they do their shopping, the storeowners say. Even with the downtowns of nearby communities and the massive Woodfield and Randhurst shopping centers, residents tend to stay within the village limits.

Buffalo Grove, unlike nearby communities, exists without a downtown area. For many suburbs, downtown is the focal point and its existence helps people identify with the place where they live or work. Its shops and businesses compose the lifeline of the community.

IN BUFFALO GROVE, most of the shopping is restricted to three areas: Buffalo Grove Mall at Dundee and Arlington Heights roads, Ranch Mart at Dundee and Buffalo Grove roads and the Dunell Center on Dundee.

Expansion in Buffalo Grove is on the minds of developers. Ranch Mart will almost double in size with a proposed project adding more than 50,000 square feet. A new shopping center called Plaza Verde is under construction on Dundee Road, west of Arlington Heights Road.

Village officials are thinking of a town center which would feature a shopping center, offices, recreational center and other facilities. The district, to be developed on an 80-acre site between Buffalo Grove Road and Ill. Rte. 83, north of Lake-Cook Road, is to be a community focal point.

Many merchants believe the future of Buffalo Grove commerce remains in the present shopping centers.

"Shopping centers are here to stay, as long as there are the right type of stores and the right type of merchandise," said Herbert Pink, manager of Plaza Shoes at Ranch Mart.

PINK, WHO HAS run the store for almost five years, said he tries to maintain an "old-fashioned neighborhood store. We give just as nice selection as department stores and try to treat the customers right," he said. "We have a repeat-type business. People come in and say we fit them better."

Another storeowner at Ranch Mart, Jim Doyle, believes that the merchants at the shopping center are concerned about their businesses and their role in the community.

"As merchants, we care a lot about what goes on in the village," Doyle said. He and his partner Stan Margulies are co-owners of Rose-Lynn Flooring.

"Why do people come to this shopping center We spend a lot of money keeping this place attractive and in keeping the area clean," Doyle said.

Youth's bond set at $5,000

Bond was set at $5,000 Wednesday for Steve B. Dembowski, 17, of Glenview, one of three youths charged with Monday night's robbery of more than $1,400 and $400 in checks from two women employees of Mark Drugs in Wheeling.

Dembowski is to appear Nov. 15 in the Arlington Heights branch of Circuit Court on the charge. The other two suspects, both juveniles, have been named in family court petitions and are being held at the Audy Home.

The robbery occurred about 8:55 p.m. Monday in the parking lot between the drug store, 303 E. Dundee Rd., and the Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank, 4 S. Milwaukee Ave. The two women were bringing store receipts to the bank's night depository.

POLICE SAID Dembowski approached the women and demanded the money. He then allegedly joined the two juveniles and split the $1,481.65 in cash with them. The $418.64 in checks was thrown into the Wheeling Drainage Ditch with the money bag and floated away. Police said the checks and the bag have not been recovered, although all but $30 of the cash has been recovered.

One of the juveniles was arrested near Denny's Restaurant, Milwaukee Avenue south of Palatine Road, early Tuesday after he was stopped for being a suspicious subject. Dembowski and the other youth were arrested shortly afterwards at the Flamingo Motel, Milwaukee Avenue and River Road, where they had registered under their own names.

Can Rover make it as Bluebeard the Pirate?

Des Plaines pet shop selling Halloween costumes for pooches

by LUISA GINETTI

Four-legged trick or treaters may be out walking the streets tonight as a result of the latest costume fad.

Bill Ware, owner of Bill's Pet Shop, 677 Graceland St., Des Plaines, is selling dog costumes for Halloween and says his sales would be better if he had more sizes from which customers could choose.

"People come in and ask about them but we only have the small sizes left to fit miniature and toy dogs," Ware said. "One man came in and asked if we had a size to fit a collie because he wanted to take his dog out with his kids."

The costumes are vinyl cutout patterns that fit on the dogs' backs like sweaters. Ware said he bought the costumes two years ago from a salesman who said they would be the latest pet trend.

"I guess I was less conservative two years ago, so when the salesman asked me if I wanted to buy some, I agreed," Ware said. "I thought he'd send me two or three, but instead he sent a dozen."

WARE SAID THE COSTUMES sold well the first year but this year he has been unable to sell the remaining three. The costumes are a clown, a skeleton and a pirate.

"Last year we had them lying on the counter and they didn't do so well, so this year we put them in the window and put a sign with them. People see the sign and inquire about them, but most of them all have bigger dogs and the costumes won't fit them."

Ware said one woman wanted to know if the sign advertising the dog costumes was for real. When Ware assured her it was legitimate, she left the shop shaking her head in amazement. "Now I've seen everything," Ware quoted her as saying.

Ware said the people who inquire about the costumes, which sell for $1.99, want them for dogs who go trick-or-treating with youngsters. Other people have said they put them on their pooches to entertain children who come to their doors, trick-or-treating.

"I don't know of any other pet shops that sell dog costumes and I don't know if I can get any more of them," Ware said. "If nothing else, at least they're a novelty."

FIRE CAPT. ROBERT KRAUSE of Buffalo Grove surveys the extensive damage in the kitchen of the Wilma Ramsey home, 434 Gregg Ln., Wednesday. Firemen said the fire started near the stove in the kitchen and was reported at 11:29 a.m. There was no one at home at the time and the rest of the house had smoke damage.

Trial finally opens, Helton lawyer charges misconduct

by JOE SWICKARD

The attorney for accused killer Ronald Helton opened Helton's long-delayed trial Wednesday by charging Arlington Heights police with misconduct in their handling of the case.

Melvin Kamm, Helton's attorney, charged that police "induced" Helton, then 17, into giving statements incriminating himself while police kept him for four months in the local police station in violation of a court order sending Helton to county jail.

Helton, now 21, is charged with the murder of gas station attendant Fred J. Tallon during an Arlington Heights robbery Nov. 11, 1969.

Circuit Court Judge Jacques F. Heiggoiter denied Kamm's motion to quash the 1969 arrest warrant for Helton, rejecting Kamm's contention that not enough evidence had been presented to justify issuance of the warrant.

The court action Wednesday marked the end of five years of investigation and legal wrangles. Helton first went to trial in 1972 for the murder, but Circuit Court Judge Daniel Ryan ruled with Kamm that Helton's constitutional rights had been violated by the police. Ryan's ruling was overturned in August by the Illinois Appellate Court, opening the way for the new trial.

IN HIS OPENING statement, Asst. State's Atty. Ronald Magnus said Helton's guilt would be proven by his own statements and other evidence that he "brutally stabbed 14 times and killed" the 60-year-old Tallon, the night manager of the Arlington Park Shell service station, Wilke Road and Euclid Avenue. Magnus also said he would prove Helton took an active role "with several other individuals" in the planning and execution of the crime and that he stayed with his companions when they fled out of state.

Helton was one of several young men originally charged with the murder. Charges against the others were dropped two years ago.

Kamm's opening remarks challenged the veracity of the "alleged statements" given by Helton to Arlington Heights police after his arrest.

Kamm said that "the Arlington Heights police themselves did not consider Ronald Helton an armed robber or a killer."

HELTON WAS HELD in the Arlington Heights lockup from his arrest Dec. 31, 1969 to April 17, 1970 despite a court order to transfer him to the County Jail. While Helton was in police custody, Kamm said, he had "free rein of this police station," and that policemen took him home "to meet their families."

Kamm said Helton was permitted to leave the police station unescorted so he could have a holiday meal with his family the day after his arrest for Tallon's murder.

The first witness was Arthur Tallon, son of the murder victim. As he took the stand, his mother broke into tears and had to be lead from the court room by a bailiff. She returned a short time later, but continued weeping as photographs of her husband's body were introduced as evidence.

Asked by Magnus about his father's condition when he saw him on Nov. 11, 1969, Tallon answered: "What was his condition? He was very dead."

Arlington Heights Det. Otto Schuster testified that he was on routine patrol the morning of the crime and that he was the second officer at the scene.

SCHUSTER SAID Tallon was found lying face down on the porch of a home at 621 N. Wilke Rd. across the street from the station. Next to the body, he said was glass apparently broken in the struggle between Tallon and his attackers.

Schuster testified he found the cash register of the gas station open and the west window of the office broken.

As police reconstruct the crime, Tallon, alone in the station about 3 a.m., was confronted by robbers at knife-point. A struggle ensued inside the station, police theorize, and Tallon dove through the office window to escape.

He was pursued across Wilke Road and stabbed to death on the front porch of 621 N. Wilke Rd., police said. Taken in the robbery was $87 and a ring from the victim, according to reports.

The trial resumes today at 10 a.m. in the Civic Center.

Buffalo Grove mall schedules art fair

The merchants of the Buffalo Grove Mall are sponsoring their fourth annual art fair Saturday and Sunday at the enclosed shopping center, Dundee and Arlington Heights roads.

The fair, open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, will feature about 60 exhibitors. The works of art may be purchased.

First prize for the fair will be $50 and second prize will be $25. A craft award of $25 also will be presented. For further information call 895-3710.

Armstrong urges safe Halloween in village

Buffalo Grove Village Pres. Gary Armstrong has called for a safe Halloween and has asked parents to limit their children's trick-or-treating to between mid-afternoon and 7 p.m.

He also has asked parents of younger children to accompany them while they trick-or-treat.

Weather may delay ditch, bridge work

A Wheeling official Wednesday said cold weather may delay completion of the Jeffery Avenue bridge and the Wheeling Drainage Ditch until spring.

Thomas Markus, village administrative assistant, said construction is to begin soon, but he is uncertain of a completion date.

"I hope we can finish it by the end of the year, but the project is so dependent on weather I'm not sure that will be possible," he said.

Before the bridge can be replaced, Markus said, many trees along the drainage ditch have to be removed to enable workers to widen the ditch, which is expected to alleviate flooding.

Widening the ditch will bring its banks closer to neighboring property lines. The banks then will be sodded to prevent erosion.

RESIDENTS and village officials last month reached agreement on the proposed improvements. Residents earlier complained the ditch work would cause the loss of property and an excessive number of trees, which might cause flooding of their backyards. Agreement has been reached on which trees will be removed and residents have been assured the project will take none of their property.

About two weeks ago, a temporary access road to the Meadowbrook West subdivision was completed, clearing the way for replacement of the Jeffery Avenue bridge. The road needed to be installed before work on the bridge was begun because the bridge is the only access to the subdivision. The road connects Nancy Lane and Carpenter Avenue.

The village has been granted a temporary easement for the 600-foot road and it will be removed after the bridge is replaced.

THE VILLAGE BOARD waived competitive bidding on the temporary road last month, saying that would enable workers to complete it before the start of cold weather.

Trustee William Hein said once the road was installed there would be little to stand in the way of other construction. He said the bridge replacement, ditch work and tree removal could be done in cold weather.

Markus, however, said it is not advisable to do concrete work during cold weather.

The Jeffery Avenue bridge project was proposed two years ago, but has met several delays due to opposition from residents, failure to get bidders and lack of an access road to replace the bridge during construction.

Stevenson High to present play 'Our Town' Nov. 15

"Our Town," a play by Thornton Wilder, will be presented at 8 p.m. Nov. 15 at Stevenson High School in Prairie View.

The play involves the marriage of George Gibbs to neighbor Emily Webb and presents a philosophical statement on life when Emily returns to earth after an early death and reacts to the lives of her family and friends.

Jan Horvath portrays Emily Webb, and Kurt Schulenburg plays the role of George Gibbs. The other leading role of the stage manager is played by Ray Cook.

Other students cast in the play include: Greg Frantz as Dr. Gibbs; Janet Ramberg, Rebecca Gibbs; Vincent Grace, Mr. Webb; Diane MacArthur, Mrs. Webb; Ralph Steiner, Professor Willard; and Andy Schnable, Simon Stimson.

Also in the cast are Tom Glaum as Joe Growell; John Stajduhar, Howie Newsome; Eric Salma, Wally Webb; Karen Oehring, Mrs. Soames; John Rowlette, Constable Warren; Bob Beck, Si Crowell; Chris Frantz, Jow Stoddard; Tom Condon, Sam Craig; and Bill Maloney, a baseball player.

The play is under the direction of Fred Cremer. Tickets cost $1.50.

Accident victim from Wheeling

A man killed Monday night on the Tri-State Tollway about a half-mile south of Willow Road was identified Wednesday afternoon as Edward C. Schraeder, 27, of 1415 S. Wolf Rd., Wheeling.

Schraeder's body was identified at the county morgue by his wife. He had been missing since Monday, which led police to believe he may have been an accident victim.

State police Wednesday said Schraeder stepped in front of a truck, driven by Robert J. Brewer, 51, of 309 N. Brighton Pl., Arlington Heights. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines at 11:32 p.m. Monday.

Brewer, who was northbound at the time of the accident, will not be charged in the accident, police said.

TOURS OF THE SITE of "The Bather," Rolling Meadows' Picasso, start today at the Gould Center, Golf Road and the Northwest Tollway. Structural platforms shield the wooden framing of the sculpture. Within months, the work will be completed, and free to bask in the winter sunshine.

Gould Center in Rolling Meadows

Tours begin at site of Picasso

Tours begin today at the site of Picasso's sculpture, "The Bather," at the Gould Center, Golf Road near the Northwest Tollway in Rolling Meadows.

Jack Jackson, vice president of Gould Inc. said special tours will be available starting today, and will continue through completion of the work of art, in about two months. Visiting hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

Groups of 10 or more persons are asked to arrange appointments to see the construction by contacting Pat Carnahan, 393-3464, Ext. 72.

WOODEN FORMS showing the entire structure of the nude female bather are in place but it may be as long as three weeks before they are prepared to begin receiving black Norwegian granite aggregate, which is to be packed solidly within the forms.

Carl Nesjar, Norwegian artist who collaborated with Pablo Picasso on 16 other concrete sculptures, will pack the aggregate into the forms using a vibrating rod to be sure all spaces and crevices are well filled. Thin liquid concrete then is pumped into the forms, from the bottom, until the structure is filled and starts running out the top, said a spokesman for Gould. Nesjar is the only artist Picasso authorized to construct sculptures with the process.

Once the concrete is well-hardened, the forms are removed. The aggregate has been coated with the concrete, and will appear white.

Nesjar then will draw on the concrete, creating detail with a sandblasting gun to remove the outer coating of concrete leaving black lines.

The 28-foot tall structure will weigh more than 50 tons.

Visitors to the site will see the process, known as Betograving, in all stages. Guides will explain what Nesjar and his artisans are doing as they work. Visitors will be received on a viewing platform.

GOULD OBTAINED the Picasso last February, after negotiating with the artist for more than a year before his death in 1973. Rights finally were obtained from the Louisiana Museum near Copenhagen, which originally had secured the work. It will be the second major outdoor sculpture by the famous artist in the Chicago area, joining the metal sculpture at the downtown Chicago Civic Center.

Work originally had been scheduled to start last May, and then was postponed to July but did not get under way until October.

The $34 million Gould center covers 40 acres, and when completed will include a 10-story tower, a sports center and several smaller office buildings. Already occupied is the research and development building. A management building, described by officials as a "mini-college" for Gould personnel, and the tower are under construction.

Shoppers prefer buying near home back a variety of village activities, such as the annual window-painting contest for children, he added. It also sponsors boys' baseball teams.

"Most people, if they could, would rather shop in their own locality," Doyle said, adding that a portion of the sales tax goes to the village, which in turn provide services to residents.

Merchants at the Buffalo Grove Mall say that customers like its convenient location and the enclosed shopping area. "A person can shop store to store and not be hampered by the outside," said Phillip Adler, manager of Alan B. Ltd.

"There is no major fashion store here," Adler said. "These stores are mostly specialty shops. People might be happier with a major store."

THERE ARE VIRTUALLY no parking problems at the Buffalo Grove Mall and problems with bringing children to shop are minimized by the enclosed mall, said Marge Skeneear, manager of the Toadstool.

"Most of the customers are from the neighborhood, within walking distance," she said.

Shoppers say that convenience is the most attractive feature about both these centers. "It's close to home and I like all the stores," said Mattie Callahan, who was shopping with her daughter at Buffalo Grove Mall. "The clerks are nice and they make you feel at home."

Linda Willingham of Buffalo Grove shops at the mall three to four times a week for groceries. "I live nearby and there's a variety of stores here I like," she said. Another shopper, Kathy Stirsman, brings her young daughter with her when she shops at the mall about three times a week.

"I like it because it has enough things in one place," Mrs. Stirsman said. "I'd rather come here instead of downtown Wheeling or Arlington Heights."

SEVERAL MERCHANTS are wary of the proposed town center, the others believe it would help the village. Money that has been funneled into planning for the town center should have been spent on unfinished projects such as village parks, two merchants said.

"I feel optimistic about business," Doyle said. "Five years ago Buffalo Grove was half the size it is today. There has been tremendous growth and tremendous customer loyalty. It's only going to get better."

"This is where people want to travel and this is where they want to shop." The building of the town center, he added, might result in more traffic and congestion along Dundee Road.

"I don't think that's where they want to go now," he said. "People are going to shop where it is convenient."

Changing rights in court

Must child-visitation rights be modified in court?

Yes. Application must be made in court for this type or any other type of alteration in a divorce decree.

Cap guns legal

Are toy cap pistols illegal?

No, neither are toy canes, toy guns, or other devices in which paper or plastic caps are used, provided they are so constructed that the band cannot come in contact with the cap when in place for the explosion.

Track builder must cut units or sue

by KURT BAER

A News Analysts

Madison Square Gardens Corp., which owns Arlington Park Race Track, has arrived at the fork in the road.

It will either accede to the Village of Arlington Heights and halve the number of apartments in its race track housing project, or stick to its original 5,000-unit plan and go to court.

Arlington Heights officials made clear Tuesday night they are not going to deviate from the maximum number of apartments permitted by the village zoning ordinance on the 190-acre development site.

"Density is a matter of law and there is a long history of not bargaining with developers on density in this municipality," Trustee Frank Palmatier said.

WHAT IS NOT clear is how Madison Square Garden will respond.

"I have not even had a chance to talk with my client," Richard F. Babcock, attorney for the Richards Group of Illinois which has been hired by Madison Square Garden to develop the housing project, said after Tuesday night's meeting with a joint village board and plan commission meeting.

Babcock could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

Arthur Gingold, president of the Richards Group, also said he did not know the next move.

So far, the developer has refused to make any changes in the plan, which includes 180 townhouses, a number of five-story apartment buildings, and twelve 33-story high-rise buildings.

VILLAGE SUGGESTIONS that offices and other commercial uses be included in the plan have not been accepted. Proposals to reduce the project density by cutting the height of the buildings also have been rejected.

"Personally I believe you were somewhat remiss in not taking our planner's advice," Trustee O. V. Anderson told the Richards Group.

"Quite frankly, some of us were looking for a variety of uses," Plan Comm. Norman Breyer said.

"This is obviously a poor plan. You could make more money by including some commercial (buildings)," Palmatier said, adding that if Madison Square Garden wants an all-apartment development that is what it will get, provided its plan complies with the village zoning ordinance.

"I don't like 33-story buildings. They were obviously put in to irritate us. But we shouldn't trade off height for density," he said.

"We ought to give you your (legal) rights, and nothing more."

Gingold said the 5,000-unit figure represented an "ideal in terms of planning" because it includes townhouses, midrise and high-rise buildings. "If the density changes, obviously the plan changes," he said.

The plan was not drawn up with any maximum number of units in mind, Gingold said, because the developer assumed that the annexation agreement

Plywood stolen from building site

Plywood valued at $580 was stolen Monday or Tuesday from a building under construction at the Crossings Development, Ill. Rtes. 83 and 53 in Buffalo Grove.

The wood, owned by Arbutnot Construction Co. was stolen sometime between 4:30 p.m. Monday and 9:15 a.m. Tuesday, police said Wednesday.

Birth control and minors

Can minors be provided birth-control services and information? Yes, under certain circumstances. Such services and information can be issued by doctors licensed in Illinois to practice medicine in all of its branches to any minor who (1) is married, (2) is a parent, (3) is pregnant, (4) has the consent of his parent or legal guardian, (5) as to whom the failure to provide such services would create a serious health hazard, or (6) is referred for such services by a physician, clergyman, or planned parenthood agency.

had freed him from the restrictions of the zoning ordinance.

MADISON SQUARE Garden's response to the density issue will determine the course of future meetings with the village.

If there are no changes in the plan, hearings before the plan commission and village board are apt to be a mere formality leading to rejection of the project and a long court fight.

"If we cannot begin from that point (of density agreement) it is very difficult to do any planning," Trustee Alice Harms told the Richards Group. "I don't know how we can go forward when we're talking a figure grossly different than the one you have."

On the other hand, if the plan is changed and the project density lowered, a series of planning meetings lie ahead and final approval is likely.

As Anderson put it, "There are places where people can come together."

DiFonzo cited in Purolator theft scheme

by STEVE BROWN

Federal charges were filed Wednesday against Luigi M. (Lou) DiFonzo, the man suspected of bilking local investors out of $2.5 million from a Des Plaines-based silver commodities trading firm, in connection with the $4.3 million Purolator Security Co. theft.

Warrants were issued for DiFonzo, 28, and two other men charging them with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives to commit a felony. Six men have now been charged in the Oct. 20 heist.

DiFonzo is being described by some sources close to the probe as the possible mastermind of the scheme. Federal agents and Scotland Yard were seeking DiFonzo and two other men in Georgetown on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents have been circulating DiFonzo's picture throughout Chicago since Friday, The Herald has learned.

AN FBI INVESTIGATOR, reporting on a joint investigation by the FBI and Scotland Yard, also said that customs authorities on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies opened two suitcases "cramped full with U.S. paper currency" and returned them to DiFonzo.

The FBI said none of the loot carted from the money stronghold on Chicago's Near North Side Oct. 20 had been recovered. U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson, said the loot probably was shared by six or seven men believed to have been involved in the burglary.

A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted three men in the history-making theft.

An FBI complaint filed in U.S. District Court said one of the indicted men, sea-styled master criminal Peter J. Gushi, has admitted he took part in the massive burglary and "received a sum of money."

IN A 10-PAGE affidavit attached to the complaint, FBI Special Agent Roman W. Stratton said the three men, accompanied by Gushi, drove the money in DiFonzo's automobile to Columbus, Ohio, and charged a flight to Miami, Fla. From Miami, the complaint charged, DiFonzo flew on to Grand Cayman with about $1.5 million.

Stratton's affidavit said the men carried "about eight fairly large bags of family luggage" — which authorities believe held about 800 pounds of hard-to-trace, $10, $20 and $50 bills — when they passed through a Columbus airport.

The FBI said the four men registered at an airport motel in Miami. Gushi later returned to Chicago and DiFonzo chartered a plane and flew on, apparently alone, to the Caribbean hideaway, the investigator said.

The FBI said that when DiFonzo arrived at Grand Cayman he carried a briefcase and two large suitcases "so heavy each required two men to place them in the plane."

Agents said they learned customs officials ordered the luggage opened and found it crammed with U.S. paper currency. All of it was returned to DiFonzo, agents said.

THE FBI AFFIDAVIT said Gushi tried by phone to charter a boat from Islamorada, Fla., to Grand Cayman but marina officials said they refused because of bad weather.

Stratton said Gushi identified himself, DiFonzo and Charles Marzano as "major participants" in the vault looting.

The federal grand jury indicted Gushi, 47; Ralph Marrera, 31, a suspended security guard accused of being the "inside man" in the breaching of the vault; and James "Jimmy the Greek" Maniatis, accused of supplying the van in which investigators said the money was carted away.

The three, all in custody on cash bonds ranging up to $1 million, were charged with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives in commission of a felony.

A FEW HOURS later, the FBI filed a complaint charging DiFonzo, 28, Charles Marzano, and Marzano's cousin, William Marzano, with bank burglary, bank larceny, use of explosives and interstate transport of stolen money.

Until recently DiFonzo had been in the Boston area where he was indicted on perjury in connection with an attempt to establish another company there. NATCO was engaged in selling silver commodities futures. At the time the company went bankrupt earlier this year, DiFonzo claimed he had liabilities totaling $2.5 million. He currently is under federal investigation in connection with that operation.

In addition to talking to former associates of DiFonzo, the FBI will also probably question his wife, Diane, who returned to the Chicago area recently and is reportedly staying with relatives in the Hinsdale area.

SOMETIMES THERE'S just no way to return a spike as this Des Plaines woman can attest. She is a participant in the morning recreational volleyball program for women sponsored by the Des Plaines Park District. The women meet every Tuesday at Rand Park for the program which continues through March.

Land-use plans to require priorities, LWV parley told

Plans for land use in Des Plaines will require development of priorities and financial impacts of urban redevelopment.

This consensus was expressed Wednesday night by several speakers at a meeting of the Des Plaines League of Women Voters. The session was aimed at discussion of land use and city planning in conjunction with a special league project to consider the city's development.

During a slide presentation showing areas of Des Plaines that represent both pride and problems for the city, league members commented on both the good and bad aspects of living in the city.

League members cited limited mass transportation, airplane noise, poor use of the Des Plaines River and declining shopping centers as negative aspects of the community.

ON THE POSITIVE side were listed the attempt to redevelop the downtown business community through construction of Superblock, good schools and parks and the proximity of the county forest preserve district.

League members have agreed that increased development, although not always a welcome trend, is one means to satisfy the needs of a growing population. The league has agreed to a position that "no growth" is not an option for Des Plaines.

League representatives said the city must aim at satisfying the need for more housing while maintaining the quality of life.

One spokesman at the meeting said the city can work to make Des Plaines a better community. He suggested such improvements as putting utility poles underground, improving sign control to avoid what he called visual chaos and developing higher standards for landscaping of commercial areas.

ROBERT KUNKEL, director of the Des Plaines Park District, said planning also is important to the park district, which finds itself faced with a growing need for land in a virtually land-locked community.

Available land is very expensive, Kunkel said, and the park district, as other taxing bodies, must face the problem of lack of money.

The league's special task force to consider the problem of land use will continue its work and develop a report on its findings to be presented to the city council. The group's activities are part of the league's ongoing study into possible changes and recommendations for improving the city's form of government.

Halloween parties today

The Des Plaines Park District will sponsor its annual Halloween parties today at West and South parks.

Kindergarten and first grade children will party from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. and second, third and fourth graders will meet from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Games and a costume contest will be featured and candy will be distributed. No fee will be charged, but children must come dressed in a costume.

The park district also is sponsoring a goblin-giveaway which will feature $1 prizes to lucky youngsters. Children enrolled in kindergarten through fourth grade will receive a form at school to be filled out and returned to the park district office.

Names will be drawn today and the Goblin will call the child at home. If the child is home and talks to the Goblin he is entitled to receive an award of $1 which may be picked up at the park district office.

Origer zone suit dismissed

A hotly contested lawsuit over a rezoning request sought by builder Thomas Origer was dismissed Wednesday by Circuit Court Judge Edward F. Healy.

The suit involved an appeal of a county board decision which turned down a request by Origer to rezone an 8.34-acre parcel in Maine Township from single-family to multiple-family.

A number of homeowners adjacent to the property which is near the intersection of Central and East River roads had filed objections to the rezoning. City officials from Des Plaines, Niles and Glenview also had filed objections.

ORIGER, THROUGH a Citizens Bank and Trust Co. land trust, had proposed the construction of 216 condominium apartments.

Court records indicate that the dismissal was requested by Origer's attorney, Jack McGarry. Neither McGarry nor Origer, however, would indicate why they sought dismissal of the case.

A spokesman for State's Atty. Bernard Carey said Wednesday he believes the effort to fight the rezoning denial was a "weak case."

Judge Healy, while dismissing the case, refused to grant a motion to allow the State's Attorney to collect court costs.

McGarry refused to comment on any aspect of the case.

THE RULING WOULD allow Origer to reinstitute the lawsuit at a later date.

The original rezoning request was denied in 1972, said Assistant State's Atty. Jerome Schain, who handled the case.

He noted that the county made a major effort to fight the rezoning because so many residents opposed the construction of multiple-family housing in the area.

Origer has developed a number of apartment projects in unincorporated areas of Maine and Niles townships. He also is the owner of the Chicago Fire football team.

New telephone service offered

More than 30,000 customers of Central Telephone Co. of Illinois will receive a new kind of service on operator-assisted calls after Saturday.

Residential and business customers with telephone number prefixes of 297, 298, 824 and 827 will be transferred to the $5 million all-electronic Traffic Service Position System (TSPS). Centel's Park Ridge customers, as well as all coin and hotel/motel customers, were switched to the system last July.

Customers with prefixes of 299 and 296 will be converted to TSPS in early summer of 1975, following the cutover of these prefixes to new crossbar switching equipment.

TSPS is the latest in advanced electronic switchboards manufactured by Western Electric. The computerized system facilitates the large-scale handling of toll calls requiring operator assistance, such as person-to-person, collect and credit card calls. TSPS makes possible faster connections and a minimum of operator assistance.

Des Plaines pet shop selling Halloween costumes for pooches

by LUISA GINETTI

Four-legged trick or treaters may be out walking the streets tonight as a result of the latest costume fad.

Bill Ware, owner of Bill's Pet Shop, 677 Graceland St., Des Plaines, is selling dog costumes for Halloween and says his sales would be better if he had more sizes from which customers could choose.

"People come in and ask about them but we only have the small sizes left to fit miniature and toy dogs," Ware said. "One man came in and asked if we had a size to fit a collie because he wanted to take his dog out with his kids."

The costumes are vinyl cutout patterns that fit on the dogs' backs like sweaters. Ware said he bought the costumes two years ago from a salesman who said they would be the latest pet trend.

"I guess I was less conservative two years ago, so when the salesman asked me if I wanted to buy some, I agreed," Ware said. "I thought he'd send me two or three, but instead he sent a dozen."

WARE SAID THE COSTUMES sold well the first year but this year he has been unable to sell the remaining three. The costumes are a clown, a skeleton and a pirate.

"Last year we had them lying on the counter and they didn't do so well, so this year we put them in the window and put a sign with them. People see the sign and inquire about them, but most of them all have bigger dogs and the costumes won't fit them."

Ware said one woman wanted to know if the sign advertising the dog costumes was for real. When Ware assured her it was legitimate, she left the shop shaking her head in amazement. "Now I've seen everything," Ware quoted her as saying.

Ware said the people who inquire about the costumes, which sell for $1.98, want them for dogs who go trick-or-treating with youngsters. Other people have said they put them on their pooches to entertain children who come to their doors trick-or-treating.

"I don't know of any other pet shops that sell dog costumes and I don't know if I can get any more of them," Ware said. "If nothing else, at least they're a novelty."

Sam Young, the "Accessible" Congressman.

Sam Young works at his job. He had an admirable 93% voting record on House Roll Call votes.

Sam Young also believes in staying close to his constituents, meeting with them, talking with them every chance he gets. In his two year term Sam will have made over 70 weekend trips back to his home district. We never have to wonder whether Sam Young is "our" Congressman!

KEEP YOUNG!

RE-ELECT SAM YOUNG U.S. CONGRESSMAN 10th DISTRICT ILLINOIS

Is Sam Young a Conservative? Sometimes, just like you.

Is Sam Young a Liberal? Sometimes, just like you.

Is Sam Young a Rebel? Sometimes, just like you.

Is Sam Young a label? Does he wear a special hat? No.

Who is Sam Young?

He is the nice guy who has lived next door to you in this 10th District for 25 years, who knows you and your neighborhood and the way you think and the way you trim your lawn and the kind of world you want for your kids.

He is 10th District judgment.

He is 10th District experience.

He is 10th District, blood and bone. And brain.

He is 10th District ethics, 10th District goals, and 10th District integrity. And how we need them today!

He is the man who asks re-election as your Representative in Washington and whose record qualifies him for your vote!

"Keep Young" . . . keep the Young ethics, the Young goals, the Young integrity. Give Sam Young your vote on November 5.

SAM YOUNG'S OPPONENT . . . WHO IS HE?

He's a former Congressman who represented a Chicago district a few years back, who now lives in the 10th, and is a relative newcomer to our area.

He was one of five or six Congressmen who had the highest combined voting records in support of COPE (political action group of the AFL-CIO) and ADA (Americans for Democratic Action).

He supported all pro-busing legislation.

He advocated placing scattered-site public housing in the suburbs. He missed 65% of Roll Calls in Congress from Labor Day to adjournment in 1972 while he was campaigning.

IS THIS THE CANDIDATE BEST-SUITED TO REPRESENT THE WISHES OF THE MAJORITY OF RESIDENTS OF THE 10TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT? Register your answer at the polls on November 5!

Plans nearly ready for 4th fire station

Architects have nearly finished plans for the fourth fire station in Elk Grove Village, to be located in the rapidly developing area west of Ill. Rte. 53.

The station will be built on a site donated by Centex Homes Corp. near the southwest corner of Mescham Road and Blesterfield Road extended. There are more than 1,100 homes in the area now with thousands more expected to be built in the next few years.

Fire Chief Allen Hulet said Wednesday only minor details are left to work out in the plans for the station that is being designed by Otis and Associates, Inc., Northbrook.

THE ARCHITECTURAL FIRM also designed the Greenleaf fire station in an industrial area of the village in 1971. The Greenleaf station was built for $232,000, but increased construction costs plus several differences in the plans will put a higher price tag on the village's new facility.

The station is expected to cost about $338,000 and will be financed with funds remaining from a 1969 bond issue and monies in the general corporate fund.

Planned with a concern that the station blend well with the residential area that will surround it, the building's exterior will be tan, burnished stone block with metal or cedar-accent treatment.

The station will contain living quarters for firemen and areas for housing fire-fighting apparatus in the 7,200-square-foot first floor level and meeting and storage rooms in the 2,580-square-foot basement level.

HULETT SAID HE expected the working blueprints for the station to be completed soon. The plans will then be sent to the village board for approval.

Construction could start this year and is expected to take about 12 months.

Trustee Ronald Chernick, capital improvements committee chairman, and members George Spees and Michael Tos-ta have met for over a year with firemen and other village officials in planning the facility and selecting the site.

Four sites found for well west of Ill. Rte. 53

Four sites west of Ill. Rte. 53 in Elk Grove Village appear to be potential spots for a shallow well, according to a report compiled by a drill-testing firm hired by the village.

The report, compiled by Layne Wester Co., Aurora, has been submitted to the village engineering department.

James V. Clementi, superintendent of the village division of water and sewers, said Wednesday the report indicates that of the six test holes drilled in the area west of Mescham Road and south of Nerge Road, two were listed as possible drill points, one was considered good and a fourth was rated as fairly good.

CLEMENTI SAID all the sites are on property owned by Centex Homes Corp. Clementi said it will be up to the village board to decide whether one or possibly two shallow wells will be dug. He said Centex is anxious to begin establishing its road plan for development of the area and needs to know the village's drilling plans.

Village officials have not yet seen the report and Trustee Ronald Chernick, chairman of the capital improvements committee, said Wednesday the report may be sent directly to the village board with a recommendation from the engineering department or it may go first to his committee for review.

Any decision to drill will be made by the village board, Clementi said.

The village appropriated $6,800 to conduct the testing to determine if underground water-bearing rock strata is capable of supplying adequate water for the area.

THE VILLAGE IS interested in finding out the water potential in the area west of Rte. 53 because that portion of the village is rapidly growing.

Currently Elk Grove Village has only one deep well in the area located on West Glenn Road adjacent to Link School, and a water supply line going west from other wells located in the village.

Officials say shallow wells, which are approximately 100 feet deep, are cheaper to drill than deep wells, which run about 1,400 feet deep. The approximate cost to dig a shallow well is about $32,000 while the cost to dig a deep well is about $200,000, officials say.

Elk Grove Village also is awaiting results of a study by the consulting firm of Greeley and Hansen Engineers to determine the village's water needs. The company is studying the village water supply system to determine if the village should supplement its supply with water from Lake Michigan.

Elks to fetre firemen at appreciation night

Elk Grove Village Elks Lodge 2423 will honor local past and present firemen with a special appreciation night at 8 p.m. Friday at the Elks Lodge, 115 Gordon St.

Highlighting the evening will be a presentation to the "Fireman of the Year." This will be the first time the organization has bestowed the award, which will become annual.

All active and inactive volunteer firemen are invited to attend the appreciation night free of charge. A buffet will be served.

Only 10 attend first of talks series

Parents, school officials 'sound off'

by BOB GALLAS

Noise problems, early school arrivals and Iowa Test scores were the issues raised in the first of a series of planned "audience participation" sessions of the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 Board of Education.

Only about 10 parents showed up at the first session Tuesday night at Grove Junior High School in Elk Grove Village to talk to the board informally.

The board is offering the sessions in an attempt to allow district residents an opportunity to air questions, complaints and suggestions about the district.

MARIANNE DUFFER, a parent of a child at Juliette Low School, Arlington Heights, cited a possible need for structural and acoustical changes at the school because of what she called excessive noise. The building was constructed on an open concept, without classroom walls.

Mrs. Duffer asked that acoustical experts study the building. A similar study was done at the district's Friendship Junior High School, Des Plaines.

The board voted recently to install a background noise system at Friendship to help ease the noise problem at the school, also built on an open concept, with four classes to a large room.

The president of the Dan Cook School PTC in Elk Grove Village, Sharon Chavoen, cited a problem of children returning to school too early after lunch and too soon before school starts in the morning.

Mrs. Chavoen said children returning from an hour lunch period after only 20 minutes posed problems for volunteers supervising the lunch program.

BOARD PRES. GERALD Smiley took issue with Mrs. Chavoen's contention that school children should not be allowed to return early from lunch to play, saying he did the same thing as a child.

Board member Charles Knaup, who chaired the meeting, suggested Mrs. Chavoen work out the problem with her school principal.

A large part of the evening was spent discussing the well-worn topic of Iowa Test Scores, which gauge a child's basic skills in a number of areas.

One parent asked if the board was satisfied with the district's performance on the tests. Knaup replied he wouldn't say the board was satisfied. "The board feels it's doing all it can through the administration to update and reprogram our educational system."

WHEN ASKED IF it was the district goal to raise Iowa test scores, Knaup said, "It would be folly to put all our emphasis on one tool (Iowa scores)."

Smiley added that the board probably could accomplish such a goal by "teaching for the test," preparing students for the test format and going over some lesser-used skills covered in the test, such as map reading.

It was suggested that a seminar be staged to explain and familiarize parents with the Iowa tests. Supt. James Ervitt said the subject was "too complex to deal with off the cuff."

Parks to consider building expansion

Plans for possible expansion of the Elk Grove Park District administration building will be discussed tonight by the park board.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the board room of the administration building, 499 Blesterfield Rd.

Other items on the agenda include:

- Cooperative agreements for hockey and football programs.

- Provisions for water retention in parks planned for development west of Ill. Rte. 53.

- Request from the Mount Prospect Park District for an exchange agreement to allow residents of two trailer parks to use local swim facilities.

- Possible changes in election laws for park board members.

Des Plaines pet shop selling Halloween costumes for pooches

Want salary interest to go to charity

Teachers drop plans for lawsuit

by KATHIERINE BOYCE

High School Dist. 211 teachers have dropped their plans for a lawsuit against the board for not paying their new salary increases at the beginning of the year and now want the interest on the unpaid salaries donated to charity, said Carl Flaks, president of the teachers association.

Salary contracts for this year were accepted by teachers Oct. 2 and ratified by the board of education Oct. 7. The new salaries were made retroactive to July 1 but teachers did not receive the extra money until Wednesday.

Flaks said the association's governing board wants the board of education to take the money it gained in interest from the retroactive salaries and donate it to the Crusade of Mercy or to a student scholarship fund.

The request was made in letters sent to Supt. Richard Kolze and Dist. 211 Board Pres. Robert Creek last week.

Creek said Wednesday the board may consider the request at its next meeting Nov. 14. He said he hopes to consult the district's attorney on "whether we could actually spend the taxpayers' money that way."

doled out periodically during the year.

"Teachers couldn't understand why it would take so long from the date of ratifying the contract to go on the new pay schedule," Flaks said. "We wanted to be paid as soon as possible."

Teachers in Dist. 211 got an automatic raise of 5 per cent each year for an additional year of experience. The new salary contracts also include a 7.8 per cent raise in the base salary of teachers making this year's starting salary $9,650. This year each teacher also received a $50 one-time bonus.

TEACHERS HAD considered suing the school board for not giving them their automatic raise in their first paychecks, but Flaks said the teachers consulted the association's attorney and decided not to sue.

Kolze said earlier that teachers did not receive their automatic raise at the beginning of the year because their contract was still pending. Paychecks are tabulated by computer, Kolze said, and school officials felt it would be more efficient to adjust the computer for both changes — the automatic raise and the raise in the base salary — at the same time.

"People in data processing have other things they have to do," Kolze said Wednesday. It is not "a question of pushing three buttons," he said. "A lot of calculations go into it." Once the checks are processed it takes the township treasurer about two days to sign them, he said.

Kolze said the period between Oct. 7 when the new contracts were ratified and Oct. 30 when the retroactive pay was sent to teachers is "a reasonable time" to make the adjustments in the computer.

Voters to decide Saturday on textbook rental fees

Voters in Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 will decide Saturday whether textbook rental fees should be eliminated in the district's 24 schools.

Polls will be open from noon until 7 p.m. on the referendum.

If a majority of voters approve free textbooks, no rental fees will be charged this year. Once approved free books must be offered for at least four years and the district would have to hold another referendum to reinstate the fee.

The Dist. 54 Board of Education decided to sponsor the referendum after reviewing the district's five-year financial projection. The projection shows a surplus in funds for the next few years which could be used to pay for textbooks.

PARENTS NOW PAY $3.50 a year for kindergarten books and $7.50 a year for books used in first through eighth grades.

Voters must be a resident of the district and at least 18 years of age. Polling places will be 12 of the district's schools:

- Collins School, 407 S. Summit Dr., Schaumburg.
- Twinbrook School, 400 Ash Rd., Hoffman Estates.
- Hillcrest School, 201 Hillcrest Blvd., Hoffman Estates.
- Hoffman School, 101 Grand Canyon Pkwy., Hoffman Estates.
- Campanelli School, 310 Spring-lingsguth Rd., Schaumburg.
- Hanover Highlands School, 1451 Cypress Ave., Hanover Park.
- MacArthur School, 525 Chippendale Rd., Hoffman Estates.
- Dooley School, 622 Norwood Ln., Schaumburg.
- Fox School, 1035 Parkview Dr., Hanover Park.
- Dirksen School, 116 W. Beech Dr., Schaumburg.
- Link School, 900 S. West Glen Tr., Elk Grove Village.
- Hoover School, 315 N. Spring-lingsguth Rd., Schaumburg.

Scouting news

Cub Scout Pack 265 of Elk Grove Village had the largest Bobcat induction ceremony in the pack's 11-year history. Nineteen new cubs were awarded their first level of achievement rank. The new Bobcats are: David Tregay, James Hansen, Phillip Graff, Paul Carrozzo, Clint Ellischer, Robert Ford, Steve Unglaub, Brad Green, Lorne Brown, John Balla, Tom Dellaringa, Richard Wojnarowski, Tom Rogers, Gerald Bodden, Thann Kilian, Steve Magsamen, William Rueschaw, Tim Patenaude and Paul Newman.

Robert Ruskowski and Matt Hartig advanced to the rank of Wolf. Three Cubs, Robby Powell, Glenn Kane and Tacky Boyle advanced to Bear. Robby Powell, Matt Hartig, Ricky Boyle and Glenn Kane received gold arrow points. Silver arrow points were awarded to Robby Powell and Ricky Boyle.

Halloween was the theme for the meeting with the reading of a ghost story and playing apple on a string. A costume contest was held and prizes were awarded to David Tregay for the most original costume; Brian Grazer for the most colorful costume and Jeff Stull for the funniest costume. A Cub Scout plaque was given to each of the winners.

On Nov. 10, the pack is planning a swim and skate party at the Des Plaines YMCA.

DiFonzo named in Purolator theft

by STEVE BROWN

Federal charges were filed Wednesday against Luigi M. (Lou) DiFonzo, the man suspected of bilking local investors out of $2.5 million from a Des Plaines-based silver commodities trading firm, in connection with the $1.3 million Purolator Security Co. theft.

Warrants were issued for DiFonzo, 28, and two other men charging them with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives to commit a felony. Six men have now been charged in the Oct. 20 heist.

DiFonzo is being described by some sources close to the probe as the possible mastermind of the scheme. Federal agents and Scotland Yard were seeking DiFonzo and two other men in Georgetown on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents have been circulating DiFonzo's picture throughout Chicago since Friday, The Herald has learned.

AN FBI INVESTIGATOR, reporting on a joint investigation by the FBI and Scotland Yard, also said that customs authorities on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies opened two suitcases "cramped full with U.S. paper currency" and returned them to DiFonzo.

The FBI said none of the loot carted from the money stronghold on Chicago's Near North Side Oct. 20 had been recovered. U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson, said the loot probably was shared by six or seven men believed to have been involved in the burglary.

A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted three men in the history-making theft.

An FBI complaint filed in U.S. District Court said one of the indicted men, self-styled master criminal Peter J. Gushl, has admitted he took part in the massive burglary and "received a sum of money."

IN A 10-PAGE affidavit attached to the complaint, FBI Special Agent Roman W.

Stratton said the three men, accompanied by Gushl, drove the money in DiFonzo's automobile to Columbus, Ohio, and charged a flight to Miami, Fla. From Miami, the complaint charged, DiFonzo flew on to Grand Cayman with about $1.5 million.

Stratton's affidavit said the men carried "about eight fairly large bags of family luggage" — which authorities believe held about 800 pounds of hard-to-trace, $10, $20 and $50 bills — when they passed through a Columbus airport.

The FBI said the four men registered at an airport motel in Miami. Gushl later returned to Chicago and DiFonzo chartered a plane and flew on, apparently alone, to the Caribbean hideaway, the investigator said.

The FBI said that when DiFonzo arrived at Grand Cayman he carried a briefcase and two large suitcases "so heavy each required two men to place them in the plane."

Agents said they learned customs officials ordered the luggage opened and found it crammed with U.S. paper currency. All of it was returned to DiFonzo, agents said.

THE FBI AFFIDAVIT said Gushl tried by phone to charter a boat from Islamorado, Fla., to Grand Cayman but marina officials said they refused because of bad weather.

Stratton said Gushl identified himself, DiFonzo and Charles Marzano as "major participants" in the vault looting.

The federal grand jury indicted Gushl, 47; Ralph Marrera, 31, a suspended security guard accused of being the "inside man" in the breaching of the vault; and James "Jimmy the Greek" Maniatis, accused of supplying the van in which investigators said the money was carted away.

The three, all in custody on cash bonds ranging up to $1 million, were charged with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives in commission of a felony.

A FEW HOURS later, the FBI filed a complaint charging DiFonzo, 28, Charles Marzano, and Marzano's cousin, William Marzano, with bank burglary, bank larceny, use of explosives and interstate transport of stolen money.

Until recently DiFonzo had been in the Boston area where he was indicted on perjury in connection with an attempt to establish another company there. NATCO was engaged in selling silver commodities futures. At the time the company went bankrupt earlier this year, DiFonzo claimed he had liabilities totaling $2.5 million. He currently is under federal investigation in connection with that operation.

In addition to talking to former associates of DiFonzo, the FBI will also probably question his wife, Diane, who returned to the Chicago area recently and is reportedly staying with relatives in the Hinsdale area.

Picasso site tours begin today in Meadows

Jack Jackson, vice president of Gould Inc. said special tours will be available starting today, and will continue through completion of the work of art, in about two months. Visiting hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

Groups of 10 or more persons are asked to arrange appointments to see the construction by contacting Pat Carnahan, 593-3464, Ext. 72.

WOODEN FORMS showing the entire structure of the nude female bather are in place but it may be as long as three weeks before they are prepared to begin receiving black Norwegian granite aggregate, which is to be packed solidly within the forms.

Carl Nesjar, Norwegian artist who collaborated with Pablo Picasso on 16 other concrete sculptures, will pack the aggregate into the forms using a vibrating rod to be sure all spaces and crevices are well filled. Thin liquid concrete then is pumped into the forms, from the bottom, until the structure is filled and starts running out the top, said a spokesman for Gould. Nesjar is the only artist Picasso authorized to construct sculptures with the process.

Once the concrete is well-hardened, the forms are removed. The aggregate has been coated with the concrete, and will appear white.

Nesjar then will draw on the concrete, creating detail with a sandblasting gun to remove the outer coating of concrete leaving black lines.

The 28-foot tall structure will weigh more than 50 tons.

Visitors to the site will see the process, known as Betograting, in all stages. Guides will explain what Nesjar and his artisans are doing as they work. Visitors will be received on a viewing platform.

Village, homeowners seek damages

K&B fails to couple lawsuit settlements

Kaufman and Broad Homes Inc., apparently has failed in its efforts to link the settlement of separate lawsuits involving the village and Barrington Square homeowners.

Hoffman Estates officials and a spokesman for the Barrington Square Homeowners' Assn. both indicated Wednesday separate settlements to their suits with K&B will be the only way to end litigation.

K&B representatives last week said they expected a settlement Monday on both matters but it failed to materialize. Disagreement between the village and the homeowners on a mutual settlement apparently blocked settlement at the last minute.

"We felt we were close to a settlement, but it fell through with the village," homeowners' attorney William Davies said Wednesday. "We get nowhere because we're in a vicious triangle."

"Our position is that negotiations are separate and distinct and we would prefer to keep it that way," Village Atty. Edward Hofert said Wednesday. "That has always been our position."

K&B HAS ATTEMPTED to resolve both matters jointly, contending the cases stem from the same 1968 bribery scheme in which six former village officials were paid off by the company to approve quick zoning for the Barrington Square complex, Higgins and Barrington roads.

The village has refused to issue further building permits for the complex because of the scheme, prompting K&B to file suit against the decision.

The homeowners have charged the prices of their units were inflated to pay for the bribes and are seeking to recoup funds from the company in a separate lawsuit.

Both cases are scheduled for pretrial hearings again next week, but attorneys said more continuances will likely be requested.

Davies and Hofert indicated Wednesday a stalemate now exists in the litigations, although K&B attorney Thomas Foran said there remains some chance of an early settlement.

He added, however, action would be difficult as long as the village and homeowners hold to separate settlement demands.

"It makes it so extraordinarily difficult to dispose of the matter all at once and yet it all arises out of the same matter in 1968," Foran said.

BUT SPOKESMEN FOR the two sides blamed each other for the delay in a settlement.

Village Pres. Virginia Hayter Tuesday said the village's only concern can be with resolution of its suit. "We can't enter into this," she said of a joint settlement.

"I have a document that can be implemented at any time," she added, referring to a countersuit which the village has authorized against K&B.

The suit, which has yet to be filed, would also seek damages from the company because of the bribery scheme.

"We've always held the door open to negotiate with the village," Davies said. "We've attempted to get the village to sit in, but I don't think the village cares about the time factor."

Terms of a settlement which K&B has offered the village have reportedly included payment of $350,000 in cash and improvements in the Barrington Square complex and the donation of 12.5 acres of open space to the village park district.

Out-of-court settlement terms involving the homeowner's suit are not known.

Computer errors in tax bill 'sort of straightened out'

The difficulties experienced by a Schaumburg resident whose 1973 real estate tax bill was subjected to a $1,500 computer snafu have been solved — at least temporarily.

"They have sort of straightened things out," said a relieved Anthony Crisafulli, 2018 Oxford Ct., a computer programmer himself.

In August Bell Federal Savings and Loan Assn. paid an erroneous tax bill of $5,458 on the Crisafulli property sent by the County Assessor's office. In turn, Bell Federal notified Crisafulli that his tax escrow account alone was being immediately increased by $404 per month. He had been paying $370 per month, including principal, interest and tax escrow account for the past two years.

Crisafulli expected his tax bill to be $540 and even then he anticipated a refund because he had approximately $1,000 in the tax escrow account.

Crisafulli said this week Bell Federal has removed the overcharge from his mortgage statement but as yet has failed to reinstate nearly $800 that had been in the escrow account after payment of the proper amount of tax.

When the error was reported to the assessor's office, Crisafulli had no difficulty obtaining an admission of guilt on the part of county data processing equipment and a personal apology.

However, a refund cannot be processed for Bell Federal until December, said Dennis Dunne, of the as-

Voters to decide Saturday on textbook rental fees

Voters in Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 will decide Saturday whether textbook rental fees should be eliminated in the district's 24 schools.

Polls will be open from noon until 7 p.m. on the referendum.

If a majority of voters approve free textbooks, no rental fees will be charged this year. Once approved free books must be offered for at least four years and the district would have to hold another referendum to reinstate the fee.

The Dist. 54 Board of Education decided to sponsor the referendum after reviewing the district's five-year financial projection. The projection shows a surplus in funds for the next few years which could be used to pay for textbooks.

PARENTS NOW PAY $3.50 a year for kindergarten books and $7.50 a year for books used in first through eighth grades.

Voters must be a resident of the district and at least 18 years of age. Polling places will be 12 of the district's schools:

- Collins School, 407 S. Summit Dr., Schaumburg.
- Twinbrook School, 400 Ash Rd., Hoffman Estates.
- Hillcrest School, 201 Hillcrest Blvd., Hoffman Estates.
- Hoffman School, 101 Grand Canyon Pkwy., Hoffman Estates.
- Campanelli School, 310 Springingsuth Rd., Schaumburg.
- Hanover Highlands School, 1451 Cypress Ave., Hanover Park.
- MacArthur School, 525 Chippendale Rd., Hoffman Estates.
- Dooley School, 622 Norwood Ln., Schaumburg.
- Fox School, 1035 Parkview Dr., Hanover Park.

Hurdle in blood research overcome

by PAT GERLACH
A major hurdle in extracting the life-saving components of whole blood has been overcome by the Mid-America Chapter of the American Red Cross.

"Component therapy," in which patients receive only that part of blood they need, is becoming a more popular practice among physicians.

A major obstacle in producing components of whole blood is the time factor — the blood must be separated in less than four hours. For some components, even a brief delay can mean a decreased yield.

By stationing a mobile lab in Schaumburg during a recent two day blood drive, Red Cross personnel were able to process immediately nearly half the 345 pints of blood collected.

THE MOBILE LAB, driven and operated by Chet Bielaszewski, processed 60 units during each five-hour shift, or 180 units of components.

The lab is the first facility stationed in Illinois and one of 15 such vehicles in the country. It was purchased for the Red Cross blood center with special contributions from the Junior League of Chicago, the Robert R. McCormick Charitable Trust, International Harvester, McDonald's Corp. and Amoco.

"The purpose of the mobile lab is to decrease transportation time between blood drawing and separation," Bielaszewski said.

Two centrifuges can each spin six units of blood at a time, and the truck is equipped with four hydraulic lifters so the sensitive equipment can be maintained for operation at a perfect level, Bielaszewski said.

He said centrifuges are used to separate heavier components of whole blood from remaining elements.

IN TWO STEPS, Bielaszewski separates red cells from the whole blood and supervises a separator which draws plasma into one of three satellite bags attached to the main container in which blood was collected.

The original bag, now containing the red cells, is sealed and stored in the lab's refrigerator.

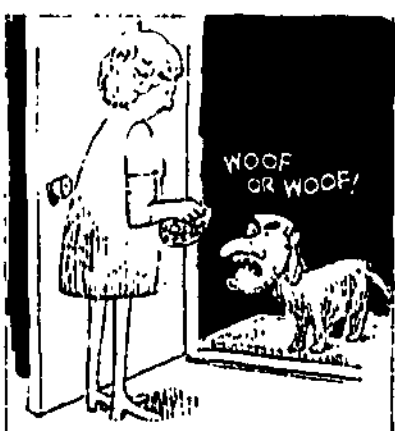

The technician then "spins down" the clear blood plasma, this time with platelets being separated and stored. Plasma is stored in the lab's freezer and can be subsequently processed in a variety of ways.

"Once at the fixed laboratory, the plasma can be used as fresh frozen plasma, it can undergo a thawing process creating what we call cryoprecipitates and cryo-poor plasma, or it can be shipped out for further separation into plasma fractions, which include as one example gamma globulin," Bielaszewski continued.

THE VAN IS POWERED by a high-voltage umbilical cord from the building when parked at the main blood center, he said, noting that "on the road" refrigerators and freezer are operated by a five-kilowatt gasoline-operated generator.

A chart recorder continuously monitors the temperature in the cold storage units, providing a written record that blood components have been properly stored.

Des Plaines pet shop selling Halloween costumes for pooches

by LUISA GINETTI
Four-legged trick or treaters may be out walking the streets tonight as a result of the latest costume fad.

Bill Ware, owner of Bill's Pet Shop, 677 Graceland St., Des Plaines, is selling dog costumes for Halloween and says his sales would be better if he had more sizes from which customers could choose.

"People come in and ask about them but we only have the small sizes left to fit miniature and toy dogs," Ware said. "One man came in and asked if we had a size to fit a collie because he wanted to take his dog out with his kids."

The costumes are vinyl cutout patterns that fit on the dogs' backs like sweaters. Ware said he bought the costumes two years ago from a salesman who said they would be the latest pet trend.

"I guess I was less conservative two years ago, so when the salesman asked me if I wanted to buy some, I agreed," Ware said. "I thought he'd send me two or three, but instead he sent a dozen."

WARE SAID THE COSTUMES sold well the first year but this year he has been unable to sell the remaining three. The costumes are a clown, a skeleton and a pirate.

"Last year we had them lying on the counter and they didn't do so well, so this year we put them in the window and put a sign with them. People see the sign and inquire about them, but most of them all have bigger dogs and the costumes won't fit them."

Ware said one woman wanted to know if the sign advertising the dog costumes was for real. When Ware assured her it was legitimate, she left the shop shaking her head in amazement. "Now I've seen everything," Ware quoted her as saying.

Ware said the people who inquire about the costumes, which sell for $1.98, want them for dogs who go trick-or-treating with youngsters. Other people have said they put them on their pooches to entertain children who come to their doors trick-or-treating.

"I don't know of any other pet shops that sell dog costumes and I don't know if I can get any more of them," Ware said. "If nothing else, at least they're a novelty."

Village board wrapup

Out-of-state item tax OKd

A tax that will allow Hoffman Estates to collect up to 1 per cent of the cost of personal property items registered in Illinois but purchased outside the state has been approved by village trustees.

The tax is designed to eliminate the advantage of buying items such as cars, boats, motorcycles or private airplanes in states where sales taxes might be less than in Illinois.

Trustee Melvin Timmons and Bruce Lind voted against the measure. Timmons said afterward he had no particular reason for opposing the measure, but added he was not in favor of another village tax.

The tax is not expected to generate a great deal of revenue. Sums which are taxable under the law will be collected by the state Department of Revenue and rebated to the village.

K-Mart revises building plans

Revised plans for a proposed K-Mart shopping center on land near Higgins Road and Gannon Drive call for a smaller K-Mart building and less landscaping around the project.

The plans, presented in a public hearing before the village board Monday, are aimed at reducing the cost of the 18-acre project, spokesman for E. N. Maisel & Associates, project builders, told the board.

The project, which developers hope to open by spring of 1976, calls for a K-Mart store and several other shops in the plaza.

A hearing on the project will be continued at 7 p.m. Monday.

Shelfner pretrial action Friday

Pretrial action has been set Friday for a lawsuit filed in July by developer Nathan Shelfner against Hoffman Estates, Village Atty. Edward Hofert said Monday.

The suit was filed by Shelfner seeking a court order to permit apartment zoning on 52 acres between Barrington and Freeman roads and south of Mundhank Road. The zoning was turned down by the village in favor of a manufacturing classification.

Shelfner's attorney, Louis Karton, has said the manufacturing zoning is a "grosser violation" of Shelfner's plan than denial of the requested zoning would have been.

Nursing home approved

Village approval for the planned Moon Lake Nursing Home and the second phase of development of 497-acre Westbury was granted Monday by the village board.

The nursing home is planned near Barrington Road south of Higgins Road in the Moon Lake Village subdivision. It will be adjacent to a planned community hospital scheduled to be completed by late 1976. Construction on the nursing home may begin in June.

The Westbury project received preliminary approval Monday for the residential Harper's Landing section of the 4,400-unit project. The Harper's Landing section will include single family homes. The development is planned south of Palatine Road.

Chicago's enforcement of transfer tax working Collection of a real estate transfer tax, which is being considered by Hoffman Estates officials, has been done for Chicago without difficulty by the county recorder's office, a spokesman for the city said Wednesday.

The enforcement question has been raised by village officials considering passage of the tax for next year. Village Mgr. George Longmeyer has said the recorder's office indicated it would cooperate with the village if the tax is imposed but could not refuse to file a deed if the tax stamp were not affixed.

That question and others surrounding the proposed levy prompted trustees Monday to return to committee a draft of the tax ordinance for further review.

RICHARD F. FRIEDMAN, assistant corporation counsel for Chicago, said Wednesday the recorder's office does file property deeds does file property deeds without the city tax but notifies the city department of revenue when the stamp is missing so compliance can be sought.

"It is all done at the recorder's office," John Ahsman, an auditor with the city department of revenue, said Wednesday.

Hoover School dedication set

A dedication ceremony and open house will be Sunday at Schaumburg Township Dist. 54's new school, J. Edgar Hoover School, 315 N. Springinguth Rd., Schaumburg.

Schaumburg Village Pres. Robert O. Teacher will speak at the 2 p.m. ceremony. Principal John Jones will preside over the dedication program and the Rev. Wayne MacArthur of Our Redeemer's United Methodist Church in Schaumburg will give the invocation. Music will be provided by the Addams Junior High School band and Hoover's second and fifth grade chorus and music class.

Following the program the audience will tour the building. The 30-classroom school opened to more than 800 students in August after two years of construction. It contains three learning resource centers and the classrooms have movable walls in a flexible space design.

The total cost of the building is about $1.17 million. It is on a 22-acre site donated to the school district by developers Levitt and Sons, Inc.

Want salary interest to go to charity

Teachers drop plans for lawsuit

by KATHERINE BOYCE

High School Dist. 211 teachers have dropped their plans for a lawsuit against the board for not paying their new salary increases at the beginning of the year and now want the interest on the unpaid salaries donated to charity, said Carl Flaks, president of the teachers association.

Salary contracts for this year were accepted by teachers Oct. 2 and ratified by the board of education Oct. 7. The new salaries were made retroactive to July 1 but teachers did not receive the extra money until Wednesday.

Flaks said the association's governing board wants the board of education to take the money it gained in interest from the retroactive salaries and donate it to the Crusade of Mercy or to a student scholarship fund.

The request was made in letters sent to Supt. Richard Kolze and Dist. 211 Board Pres. Robert Creek last week.

Creek said Wednesday the board may consider the request at its next meeting Nov. 14. He said he hopes to consult the district's attorney on "whether we could actually spend the taxpayers' money that way."

RETROACTIVE PAYCHECKS totaled $130,641, said Michael Hyde, assistant to the business manager in Dist. 211. But Hyde said "the district didn't make any money" with the retroactive pay because all of it was not available to invest at the beginning of the year. The district's money comes from state aid and tax money doled out periodically during the year.

"Teachers couldn't understand why it would take so long from the date of ratifying the contract to go on the new pay schedule," Flaks said. "We wanted to be paid as soon as possible."

Teachers in Dist. 211 get an automatic raise of 5 per cent each year for an additional year of experience. The new salary contracts also include a 7.8 per cent raise in the base salary of teachers making this year's starting salary $9,850. This year each teacher also received a $50 one-time bonus.

TEACHERS HAD considered suing the school board for not giving them their automatic raise in their first paycheck, but Flaks said the teachers consulted the association's attorney and decided not to sue.

Kolze said earlier that teachers did not receive their automatic raise at the beginning of the year because their contract was still pending. Paychecks are tabulated by computer, Kolze said, and school officials felt it would be more efficient to adjust the computer for both changes — the automatic raise and the raise in the base salary — at the same time.

"People in data processing have other things they have to do," Kolze said Wednesday. It is not "a question of pushing three buttons," he said. "A lot of calculations go into it." Once the checks are processed it takes the township treasurer about two days to sign them, he said.

Kolze said the period between Oct. 7 when the new contracts were ratified and Oct. 30 when the retroactive pay was sent to teachers is "a reasonable time" to make the adjustments in the computer.

Chamber, industry group still haven't combined

Plans to unify the Hoffman Estates-Schaumburg Chamber of Commerce and Greater Schaumburg Assn. of Commerce and Industry, once expected by the end of the year, have made little progress.

Representatives of both groups said Wednesday that the idea appears to be at a standstill. Schaumburg Assn. Pres. Russell Larson said he has not received an answer to his suggestion that the groups combine.

Larson explained that the proposed coalition was not intended as a "merger, per se." He said the Schaumburg Chamber invited Hoffman Estates members to join its association.

"I have not heard from the president of the Hoffman Estates group since the idea was brought forth in September," said Larson, of Union Oil Co.

WHEN NEWS OF the possible affiliation was announced in September, Larson and Sec. Shirley Stenger of the Hoffman Estates Chamber said the move might take place by December before election of officers in the two organizations.

Neither Mrs. Stenger nor Louis (Bud) McMahon, Hoffman Estates Chamber president, could be reached for comment Wednesday.

William Cowin, a vice president of the Hoffman Estates group, said he is not aware of any new developments, and noted that there has not been either a general meeting or a board of directors meeting "for some time."

Cowin was surprised by Larson's remarks which explained he was not suggesting actual merger of the two associations. "I didn't understand it that way. My impression was that both groups were interested in pursuing a merger," Cowin said.

Discussions surrounding merger of the two chambers have taken place since 1972 with conversations generally centering on the advantages to be gained by affiliation.

Carpentersville man latest TV scheme victim

For the second time in a week, a suburban man fell victim to a fraudulent television sales scheme in Schaumburg. A Carpentersville resident was defrauded of $730 in cash Monday.

An Oak Forest businessman was bilked out of $1,700 Oct. 22 in a similar scheme, where color television sets were to be sold at special prices and picked up at the loading dock at Marshall Field and Co. in the Woodfield Shopping Center.

Marshall Field is not connected with the solicitations, and store security agents reported to police that Monday's incident marked the fifth such attempt within two weeks. However, only two have been reported to police.

Leo Holle of Carpentersville told police he handed over $730 in cash to a man outside a restaurant at the shopping center. Schaumburg police are investigating the two reported incidents in which the con artists' mode of operation was the same.

BOTH MEN WERE solicited by telephone calls from a man named "Bob." Holle was told there were a 25-inch floor model and a 19-inch portable color television set available at discount prices, it was reported.

Holle met the man at the shopping center after ordering four sets. Holle was told to meet another man in front of the restaurant — the same location the Oak Forest man was to meet his contact.

The cash was exchanged, and Holle was given a Field's receipt and told to wait by the store's loading dock for the merchandise. Authorities were told by store agents that the sales slip was stolen from a Wisconsin store.

Police warned area residents to be on the alert against similar solicitations and to call local authorities if they receive any suspicious telephone calls offering special deals.

Village repeals delinquent water bill ordinance

A controversial ordinance that required a $30 deposit from residents with delinquent water bills has been repealed by Hoffman Estates trustees.

The action came this week in a 5-1 vote after debate on whether to continue a moratorium on enforcement of the ordinance. Instead, the board agreed to strike the ordinance and return deposits to 125 residents who had been among 289 originally charged with the $30 deposit penalty.

Only Trustee Melvin Timmons voted against the plan, saying the village would not accomplish its aim of reducing delinquent and late water accounts if the ordinance was dropped.

The local statute was adopted earlier this year to minimize the number of unpaid water bills. Questions surrounding the enforcement of the rule and its effectiveness prompted the board to suspend charging the rate while payments that had been submitted were held.

Elgin youth nabbed in gas station theft

An Elgin youth was arrested Tuesday on a theft charge after he allegedly took $363 cash from the Citgo Quickmart, 1 W. Golf Rd., Hoffman Estates.

Elmer Olsen, 18, was among four persons in a car that stopped at the service station for gasoline, police said. When the car drove off, a bank bag containing the cash and some credit card slips was discovered missing from the station office.

The car was stopped by Carpentersville police after its description was radioed to neighboring departments and Olsen was arrested, police said.

Work under way on sculpture

Tours start at Picasso site in Rolling Meadows

Tours begin today at the site of Picasso's sculpture, "The Bather," at the Gould Center, Golf Road near the Northwest Tollway in Rolling Meadows.

Jack Jackson, vice president of Gould Inc. said special tours will be available starting today, and will continue through completion of the work of art, in about two months. Visiting hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

Groups of 10 or more persons are asked to arrange appointments to see the construction by contacting Pat Carnahan, 593-3464, Ext. 72.

WOODEN FORMS showing the entire structure of the nude female bather are in place but it may be as long as three weeks before they are prepared to begin receiving black Norwegian granite aggregate, which is to be packed solidly within the forms.

Carl Nesjar, Norwegian artist who collaborated with Pablo Picasso on 16 other concrete sculptures, will pack the aggregate into the forms using a vibrating rod to be sure all spaces and crevices are well filled. Thin liquid concrete then is pumped into the forms, from the bottom, until the structure is filled and starts running out the top, said a spokesman for Gould. Nesjar is the only artist Picasso authorized to construct sculptures with the process.

Once the concrete is well-hardened, the forms are removed. The aggregate has been coated with the concrete, and will appear white.

Nesjar then will draw on the concrete, creating detail with a sandblasting gun to remove the outer coating of concrete leaving black lines.

The 28-foot tall structure will weigh more than 50 tons.

Visitors to the site will see the process, known as Betograving, in all stages. Guides will explain what Nesjar and his artisans are doing as they work. Visitors will be received on a viewing platform.

GOULD OBTAINED the Picasso last February, after negotiating with the artist for more than a year before his death in 1973. Rights finally were obtained from the Louisiana Museum near Copenhagen, which originally had secured the work. It will be the second major outdoor sculpture by the famous artist in the Chicago area, joining the metal sculpture at the downtown Chicago Civic Center.

Work originally had been scheduled to start last May, and then was postponed to July but did not get under way until October.

The $36 million Gould center covers 40 acres, and when completed will include a 10-story tower, a sports center and several smaller office buildings. Already occupied is the research and development building. A management building, described by officials as a "mini-college" for Gould personnel, and the tower are under construction.

DiFonzo named in $4.3 million Purolator theft

by STEVE BROWN

Federal charges were filed Wednesday against Luigi M. (Lou) DiFonzo, the man suspected of bilking local investors out of $2.5 million from a Des Plaines-based silver commodities trading firm, in connection with the $4.3 million Purolator Security Co. theft.

Warrants were issued for DiFonzo, 28, and two other men charging them with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives to commit a felony. Six men have now been charged in the Oct. 20 heist.

DiFonzo is being described by some sources close to the probe as the possible mastermind of the scheme. Federal agents and Scotland Yard were seeking DiFonzo and two other men in Georgetown on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents have been circulating DiFonzo's picture throughout Chicago since Friday, The Herald has learned.

AN FBI INVESTIGATOR, reporting on a joint investigation by the FBI and Scotland Yard, also said that customs authorities on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies opened two suitcases "cramped full with U.S. paper currency" and returned them to DiFonzo.

The FBI said none of the loot carted from the money stronghold on Chicago's Near North Side Oct. 20 had been recovered. U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson, said the loot probably was shared by six or seven men believed to have been involved in the burglary.

A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted three men in the history-making theft.

An FBI complaint filed in U.S. District Court said one of the indicted men, self-styled master criminal Peter J. Gushi, has admitted he took part in the massive burglary and "received a sum of money."

IN A 10-PAGE affidavit attached to the complaint, FBI Special Agent Roman W. Stratton said the three men, accompanied by Gushi, drove the money in DiFonzo's automobile to Columbus, Ohio, and charged a flight to Miami, Fla. From Miami, the complaint charged, DiFonzo flew on to Grand Cayman with about $1.5 million.

Stratton's affidavit said the men carried "about eight fairly large bags of family luggage" — which authorities believe held about 800 pounds of hard-to-trace, $10, $20 and $50 bills — when they passed through a Columbus airport.

The FBI said the four men registered at an airport motel in Miami. Gushi later returned to Chicago and DiFonzo chartered a plane and flew on, apparently alone, to the Caribbean hideaway, the investigator said.

The FBI said that when DiFonzo arrived at Grand Cayman he carried a briefcase and two large suitcases "so heavy each required two men to place them in the plane."

Agents said they learned customs officials ordered the luggage opened and found it crammed with U.S. paper currency. All of it was returned to DiFonzo, agents said.

THE FBI AFFIDAVIT said Gushi tried by phone to charter a boat from Islamorada, Fla., to Grand Cayman but marina officials said they refused because of bad weather.

Stratton said Gushi identified himself, DiFonzo and Charles Marzano as "major participants" in the vault looting.

The federal grand jury indicted Gushi, 47; Ralph Marrara, 31, a suspended security guard accused of being the "inside man" in the breaching of the vault; and James "Jimmy the Greek" Maniatis, accused of supplying the van in which investigators said the money was carted away.

The three, all in custody on cash bonds ranging up to $1 million, were charged with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives in commission of a felony.

Grass legal, but police cart it away

Grass can be confusing, a resident of Algonquin Park Apartments learned Tuesday afternoon.

Rolling Meadows police received an anonymous phone call Tuesday afternoon from a resident of Algonquin Park Apartments, who said he had found a bag of grass in a phone booth at the complex.

Police were dispatched to the phone booth where they found a bag of ordinary yard grass. Although it was not marijuana, the grass was impounded and disposed of by police.

Wilke extension expected to be ready by Friday

The extension of New Wilke Road between Algonquin and Golf roads is expected to be open to traffic Friday, Rolling Meadows City Engineer James Muldowney said Wednesday.

Work crews have finished stripping the pavement and little work remains before the project is completed. Temporary signals have been installed for northbound traffic until permanent signals are available, probably in June.

Muldowney called the new roadway the "Crosstown Expressway" of Rolling Meadows, noting it will provide residents in the area the most direct route to Woodfield Shopping Center in Schaumburg and other routes. The improvement is part of a long-term plan to establish New Wilke as a major north-south artery. With completion of the four-lane extension, the next phase will be an extension north from Central to Kichoff roads in Rolling Meadows.

The $1 million phase nearing completion was started April 18, but halted May 15 when members of Local 788 of the Teamsters Union called a strike of cement truck drivers in the Chicago area. The strike lasted two months, delaying the scheduled opening of the Wilke improvement from its August deadline.

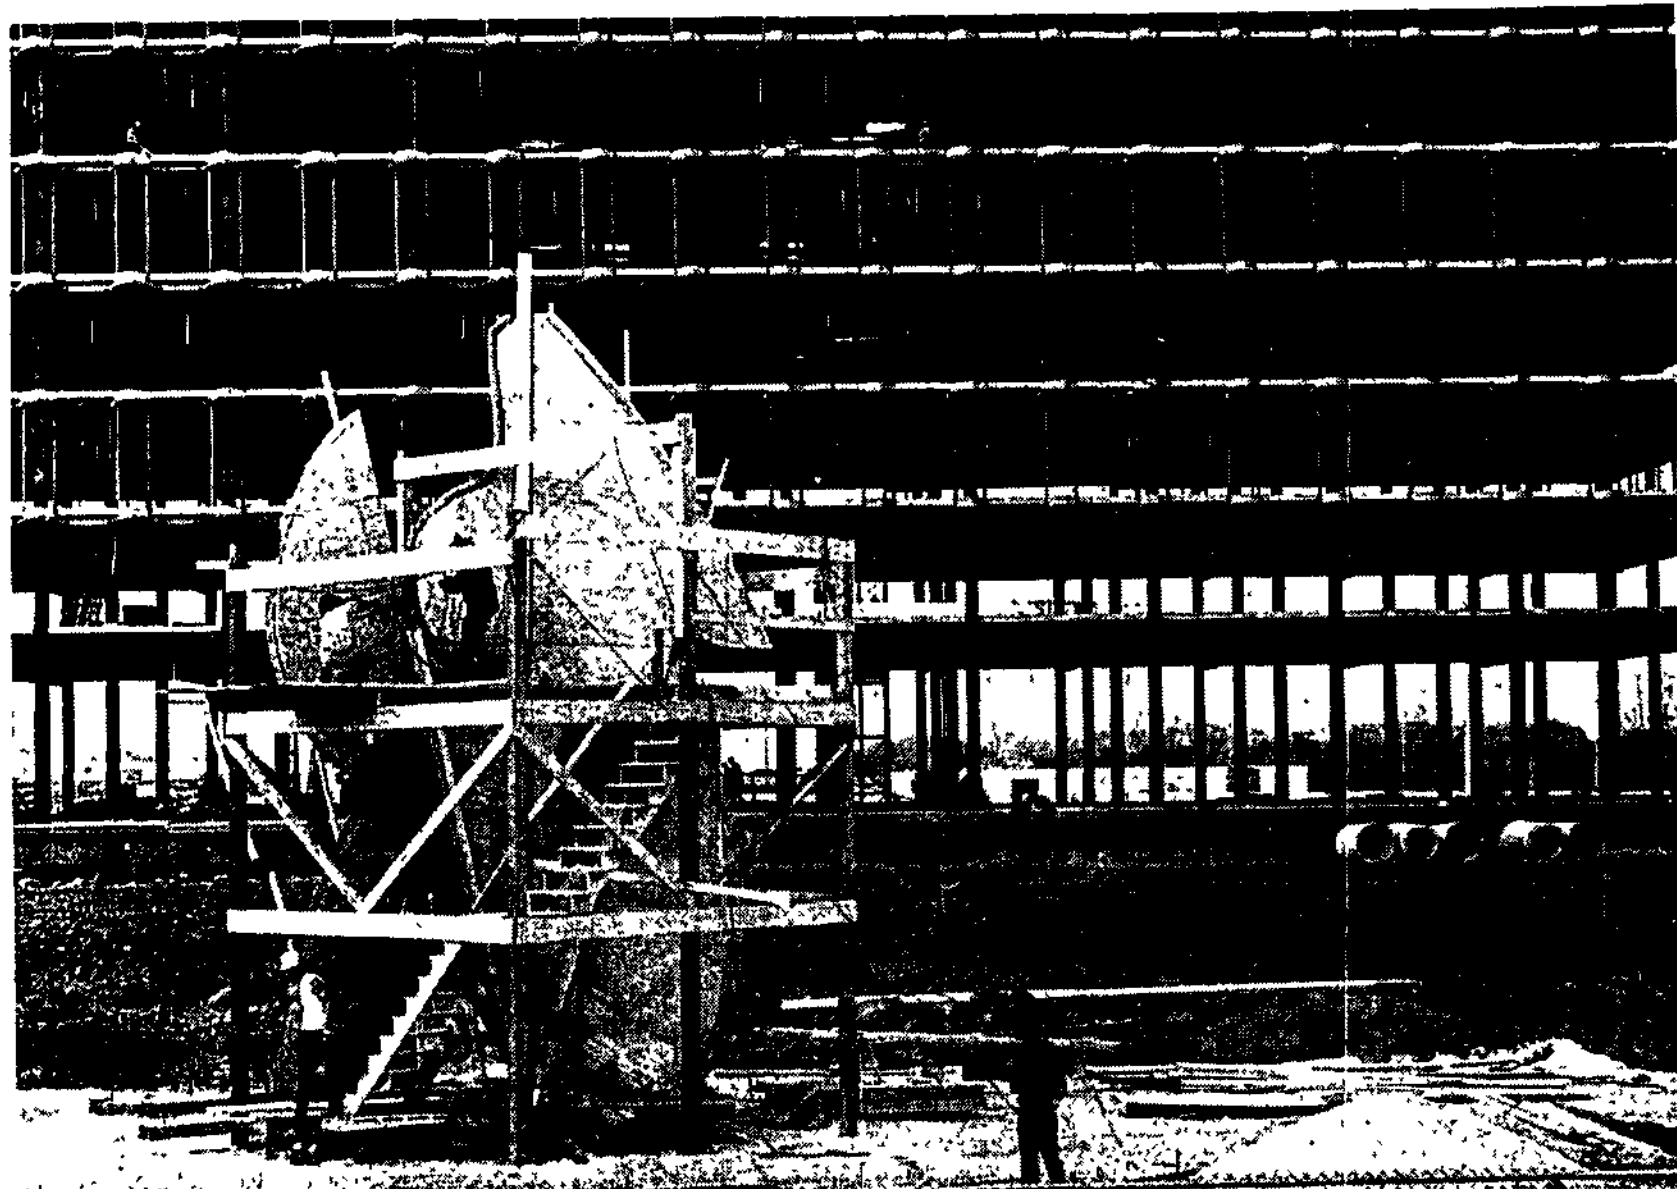

Arrow Road Construction Co., Mount Prospect, won the Wilke contract with a low bid of $249,072.

Skating passes given to those who recycle

Families who bring paper, glass and cans to the Rolling Meadows recycling center Saturday will receive a half-price pass for one skating session at the sports complex skating rink.

The passes, sponsored by the recycling, ecology and beautification committee and the Rolling Meadows Park District, will be given from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the city's public works building, 3200 Central Rd.

When using the half-price pass, at least one adult must accompany the family group to the rink.

TOURS OF THE SITE of "The Bather," Rolling Meadows' Picasso, start today at the Gould Center, Golf Road and the Northwest Tollway. Structural platforms shield the wooden framing of the sculpture. Within months, the work will be completed, and free to bask in the winter sunshine.

Track builder must cut units or sue

by KURT BAER
A News Analysis

Madison Square Gardens Corp., which owns Arlington Park Race Track, has arrived at the fork in the road.

It will either accede to the Village of Arlington Heights and halve the number of apartments in its race track housing project, or stick to its original 5,000-unit plan and go to court.

Arlington Heights officials made clear Tuesday night they are not going to deviate from the maximum number of apartments permitted by the village zoning ordinance on the 100-acre development site.

"Density is a matter of law and there is a long history of not bargaining with developers on density in this municipality," Trustee Frank Palmatier said.

WHAT IS NOT clear is how Madison Square Garden will respond.

"I have not even had a chance to talk with my client," Richard F. Babcock, attorney for the Richards Group of Illinois which has been hired by Madison Square Garden to develop the housing project, said after Tuesday night's meeting with a joint village board and plan commission meeting.

Babcock could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

Arthur Gingold, president of the Richards Group, also said he did not know the next move.

So far, the developer has refused to make any changes in the plan, which includes 180 townhouses, a number of five-story apartment buildings, and twelve 33-story high-rise buildings.

VILLAGE SUGGESTIONS that offices and other commercial uses be included in the plan have not been accepted. Proposals to reduce the project density by cutting the height of the buildings also have been rejected.

"Personally I believe you were somewhat remiss in not taking our planner's advice," Trustee O. V. Anderson told the Richards Group.

"Quite frankly, some of us were looking for a variety of uses," Plan Comr. Norman Breyer said.

"This is obviously a poor plan. You could make more money by including some commercial (buildings)," Palmatier said, adding that if Madison Square Garden wants an all-apartment development that is what it will get, provided its plan complies with the village zoning ordinance.

"I don't like 33-story buildings. They were obviously put in to irritate us. But we shouldn't trade off height for density," he said.

"We ought to give you your (legal) rights, and nothing more."

Gingold said the 5,000-unit figure represented an "ideal in terms of planning" because it includes townhouses, midrise and high-rise buildings. "If the density changes, obviously the plan changes," he said.

The plan was not drawn up with any maximum number of units in mind, Gingold said, because the developer assumed that the annexation agreement had freed him from the restrictions of the zoning ordinance.

MADISON SQUARE Garden's response to the density issue will determine the course of future meetings with the village.

If there are no changes in the plan, hearings before the plan commission and village board are apt to be a mere formality leading to rejection of the project and a long court fight.

"If we cannot begin from that point (of density agreement) it is very difficult to do any planning," Trustee Alice Harms told the Richards Group. "I don't know how we can go forward when we're talking a figure grossly different than the one you have."

On the other hand, if the plan is changed and the project density lowered, a series of planning meetings lie ahead and final approval is likely.

As Anderson put it, "There are places where people can come together."

Planning panel requests hit

Battle on committee powers?

A "hassle" predicted by Rolling Meadows Ald. Thomas J. Waldron, 2nd, appears to be brewing over the question of committee powers on the city council.

The chairman of the finance committee, Ald. James Huddleston, 4th, said Tuesday night it appeared members of Waldron's newly seated planning committee may be "trying to grab control of all committees."

"What they're saying at this point is they want the purse strings of the city," Huddleston said of the requests the planning committee will bring to the council.

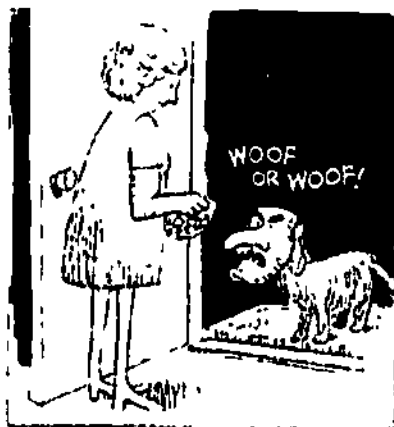

The planners held their first session Monday night, with three of the five aldermen members agreeing to a three-point list of requests they feel must be fulfilled before they can begin planning tasks. The requests are for:

- Permanent status.
- Total authority in decision making, including the power to supersede other standing committees.
- A commitment from each alderman

Des Plaines pet shop selling Halloween costumes for pooches

by LUISA GINETTI

Four-legged trick or treaters may be out walking the streets tonight as a result of the latest costume fad.

Bill Ware, owner of Bill's Pet Shop, 677 Graceland St., Des Plaines, is selling dog costumes for Halloween and says his sales would be better if he had more sizes from which customers could choose.

"People come in and ask about them but we only have the small sizes left to fit miniature and toy dogs," Ware said. "One man came in and asked if we had a size to fit a collie because he wanted to take his dog out with his kids."

The costumes are vinyl cutout patterns that fit on the dogs' backs like sweaters. Ware said he bought the costumes two years ago from a salesman who said they would be the latest pet trend.

"I guess I was less conservative two years ago, so when the salesman asked me if I wanted to buy some, I agreed," Ware said. "I thought he'd send me two or three, but instead he sent a dozen."

WARE SAID THE COSTUMES sold well the first year but this year he has been unable to sell the remaining three. The costumes are a clown, a skeleton and a pirate.

"Last year we had them lying on the counter and they didn't do so well, so this year we put them in the window and put a sign with them. People see the sign and inquire about them, but most of them all have bigger dogs and the costumes won't fit them."

Ware said one woman wanted to know if the sign advertising the dog costumes was for real. When Ware assured her it was legitimate, she left the shop shaking her head in amazement. "Now I've seen everything," Ware quoted her as saying.

Ware said the people who inquire about the costumes, which sell for $1.98, want them for dogs who go trick-or-treating with youngsters. Other people have said they put them on their pooches to entertain children who come to their doors trick-or-treating.

"I don't know of any other pet shops that sell dog costumes and I don't know if I can get any more of them," Ware said. "If nothing else, at least they're a novelty."

Helton lawyer charges police misconduct

by JOE SWICKARD

The attorney for accused killer Ronald Helton opened Helton's long-delayed trial Wednesday by charging Arlington Heights police with misconduct in their handling of the case.

Melvin Kamm, Helton's attorney, charged that police "induced" Helton, then 17, into giving statements incriminating himself while police kept him for four months in the local police station in violation of a court order sending Helton to county jail.

Helton, now 21, is charged with the murder of gas station attendant Fred J. Taillon during an Arlington Heights robbery Nov. 11, 1969.

Circuit Court Judge Jacques F. Heilgoetter denied Kamm's motion to quash the 1969 arrest warrant for Helton, rejecting Kamm's contention that not enough evidence had been presented to justify issuance of the warrant.

The court action Wednesday marked the end of five years of investigation and legal wrangles. Helton first went to trial in 1972 for the murder, but Circuit Court Judge Daniel Ryan ruled with Kamm that Helton's constitutional rights had been violated by the police. Ryan's ruling was overturned in August by the Illinois Appellate Court, opening the way for the new trial.

IN HIS OPENING statement, Asst. State's Atty. Ronald Magnus said Helton's guilt would be proven by his own statements and other evidence that he "brutally stabbed 14 times and killed"

Possible pool, tennis sites to be reviewed

The Salt Creek Park District board will meet tonight to review rough sketches of its proposed swimming pool and tennis complex.

Borings of the land at two Palatine lake sites that are possible locations for the complex should be ready for study at tonight's meeting, said James DeVos, park director. The borings should show if the land at Lakes Rossiter and Irene, both north of the Ill. Rte. 53 and Northwest Highway interchange, is buildable.

Snooping suspect arrested in city

A local man was charged with disorderly conduct by Rolling Meadows police Tuesday morning after a resident of the Algonquin Park Apartments saw him on a third floor balcony.

James H. Roos, 25, of 4950 Algonquin Pkwy., is to appear Nov. 26 in Circuit Court in Arlington Heights. Police apprehended Roos after receiving the phone call from a woman resident of the complex, who later signed a complaint. Roos was released after he posted bond.

FLOWER BULBS were planted recently by students in front of Kimball Hill School in Rolling Meadows as part of a school-wide ecology program.

the 60-year-old Taillon, the night manager of the Arlington Park Shell service station, Wilke Road and Euclid Avenue.

Magnus also said he would prove Helton took an active role "with several other individuals" in the planning and execution of the crime and that he stayed with his companions when they fled out of state.

Helton was one of several young men originally charged with the murder. Charges against the others were dropped two years ago.

Kamm's opening remarks challenged the veracity of the "alleged statements" given by Helton to Arlington Heights police after his arrest.

Kamm said that "the Arlington Heights police themselves did not consider Ronald Helton an armed robber or a killer."

HELTON WAS HELD in the Arlington Heights lockup from his arrest Dec. 31, 1969 to April 17, 1970 despite a court order to transfer him to the County Jail. While Helton was in police custody, Kamm said, he had "free rein of this police station," and that policemen took him home "to meet their families."

Kamm said Helton was permitted to leave the police station unescorted so he could have a holiday meal with his family the day after his arrest for Taillon's murder.

The first witness was Arthur Taillon, son of the murder victim. As he took the stand, his mother broke into tears and had to be led from the court room by a bailiff. She returned a short time later, but continued weeping as photographs of her husband's body were introduced as evidence.

Asked by Magnus about his father's condition when he saw him on Nov. 11, 1969, Taillon answered: "What was his condition? He was very dead."

Arlington Heights Det. Otto Schuster testified that he was on routine patrol the morning of the crime and that he was the second officer at the scene.

SCHUSTER SAID Taillon was found lying face down on the porch of a home at 621 N. Wilke Rd. across the street from the station. Next to the body, he said, was glass apparently broken in the struggle between Taillon and his attackers.

Schuster testified he found the cash register of the gas station open and the west window of the office broken.

As police reconstruct the crime, Taillon, alone in the station about 3 a.m., was confronted by robbers at knife-point. A struggle ensued inside the station, police theorize, and Taillon dove through the office window to escape.

He was pursued across Wilke Road and stabbed to death on the front porch of 621 N. Wilke Rd., police said. Taken in the robbery was $87 and a ring from the victim, according to reports.

The trial resumes today at 10 a.m. in the Civic Center.

JUMPING OVER the hurdle, Sharon Bradley of gymnastics team against Forest View High School. Forest View earned 150 points in the meet which Rolling Meadows High School scores points for the Rolling Meadows took the meet with 155.8 points. was Rolling Meadows' fourth victory of the season.

Want salary interest to go to charity

Teachers drop plans for lawsuit

by KATHERINE BOYCE

High School Dist. 211 teachers have dropped their plans for a lawsuit against the board for not paying their new salary increases at the beginning of the year and now want the interest on the unpaid salaries donated to charity, said Carl Flaks, president of the teachers association.

Salary contracts for this year were accepted by teachers Oct. 2 and ratified by the board of education Oct. 7. The new salaries were made retroactive to July 1 but teachers did not receive the extra money until Wednesday.

Flaks said the association's governing board wants the board of education to take the money it gained in interest from the retroactive salaries and donate it to the Crusade of Mercy or to a student scholarship fund.

The request was made in letters sent to Supt. Richard Kolze and Dist. 211 Board Pres. Robert Creek last week.

Creek said Wednesday the board may consider the request at its next meeting Nov. 14. He said he hopes to consult the district's attorney on "whether we could actually spend the taxpayers' money that way."

RETROACTIVE PAYCHECKS totaled $130,641, said Michael Hyde, assistant to the business manager in Dist. 211. But Hyde said "the district didn't make any money" with the retroactive pay because all of it was not available to invest at the beginning of the year. The district's money comes from state aid and tax money doled out periodically during the year.

"Teachers couldn't understand why it would take so long from the date of ratifying the contract to go on the new pay schedule," Flaks said. "We wanted to be paid as soon as possible."

Teachers in Dist. 211 got an automatic raise of 5 per cent each year for an additional year of experience. The new salary contracts also include a 7.8 per cent raise in the base salary of teachers making this year's starting salary $9,650. This year each teacher also received a $50 one-time bonus.

TEACHERS HAD considered suing the school board for not giving them their automatic raise in their first paychecks, but Flaks said the teachers consulted the association's attorney and decided not to sue.

Kolze said earlier that teachers did not receive their automatic raise at the beginning of the year because their contract was still pending. Paychecks are tabulated by computer, Kolze said, and school officials felt it would be more efficient to adjust the computer for both changes — the automatic raise and the raise in the base salary — at the same time.

"People in data processing have other things they have to do," Kolze said Wednesday. It is not "a question of pushing three buttons," he said. "A lot of calculations go into it." Once the checks are processed it takes the township treasurer about two days to sign them, he said.

Kolze said the period between Oct. 7 when the new contracts were ratified and Oct. 30 when the retroactive pay was sent to teachers is "a reasonable time" to make the adjustments in the computer.

Hunting Ridge group wants Plum Grove ready by '80

A schedule calling for the completion of the 365-acre Plum Grove Hills development by 1980 has been proposed by the Hunting Ridge Homeowners Assn.

The homeowners prepared a revision of the annexation agreement for the development, to be located near Harper College and presented it to the Palatine Plan Commission for consideration Tuesday.

Construction of each section of the commercial and residential development would have to be completed within two years of plan commission approval under the homeowners' proposed annexation agreement. The deadline for approval of the various sections ranges from 1976 to 1978.

The preannexation agreement submitted by Draper calls for completion of the entire development containing 1,874 housing units by the end of 1984 and places no restrictions on the length of time a parcel may be under construction.

THE PLAN COMMISSION agreed to consider the homeowners' copy of the annexation agreement and asked for a synopsis of the major differences between it and the one submitted by the developers.

Other differences include:

- The homeowners have asked the developer to make land available to the village for a fire station at a cost of $1. No price for the land is set in the developer's proposed annexation agreement.

- Street use during construction would be limited to approved routes under both agreements. The homeowners are proposing that deviation from the routes carry a $15 penalty for each offense. The developer is only proposing to keep deviation minimal.
- Issuance of a temporary occupancy permit is allowed under both agreements when adverse weather conditions prevents the completion of exterior work. The homeowners are requesting the developer be required to place on deposit an amount equal to 150 per cent of the cost of the uncompleted work as determined by the village engineer at the time of the issuance of the occupancy permit.
- The homeowners' proposed ordinance also clarifies that the developer will pay for onsite and some offsite public improvements.

The next plan commission hearing on the Plum Grove Hills development will be Nov. 5 at 8 p.m. at the Slade Street Fire Station. Items to be resolved include traffic engineering, donation of land to the park district and the construction time schedule.

Rural parks want pool, tennis courts by summer

The Palatine Rural Park District wants to build a swimming pool, bathhouse, and tennis courts on its first park site at Home Street and Oak Road, Palatine Township, by next summer.

Plans for the park also envision a baseball diamond, picnic area, children's playground and parking facilities.

The district has been awarded $33,000 in state funds from the Illinois Dept. of Conservation to purchase the five-acre site. Park officials are negotiating to buy the land.

Alan Caskey, and planner for the rural park district, put the cost of developing the site at $350,000. Caskey said development will be paid with funds from the $330,000 in general obligation bonds the park district issued in August.

DEVELOPMENT OF the park will begin as soon as the district receives the state grant and signs a contract with the landowner. Park district officials are hopeful the district's first park facilities will be ready for use by summer, Caskey said.

The rural park district serves 15,000 residents of unincorporated areas of Palatine Township.

Caskey, of ARC Associates, said the park board has approved preliminary plans for the site, and has only asked that a community meeting room be constructed as a part of the bathhouse.

Caskey said developers plan to "minimize the impact of the park development on area residents" by heavily landscaping the borders of the park. The landscaping will serve as a noise buffer for the residents and as a divider between the houses and the park facilities, he said.

Caskey believes that the park will offer "much-needed facilities" to an area that has none.

The central picnic area of the park will serve as a detention area which will hold rainwater that drains off of the surrounding area.

Library movie series presents sports film

The Palatine Public Library will continue showing a free film program with the presentation of a 25-minute film on 1972 major sports events Thursday, Nov. 7.

A film demonstrating cross-country skiing to rock musical tunes and a film on the National Hockey League games also will be shown Nov. 7.

The library will present two folktales films Nov. 14 "Dragon Stew" and "The Peasant's Pea Patch."

An animated film story about a poor church mouse who inspires Benjamin Franklin will be presented Nov. 21.

All films are shown at 4 p.m. in the basement of the library, 149 N. Broadway, to all age groups.

The library also will present a special Friday showing of the Mexican film, "Viridiana," Nov. 8. The film, produced by the Mexican filmmaker Luis Bunuel is also part of the library's free film series.

Animal hospital zoning request denied by judge

Circuit Court Judge Arthur L. Dunno has denied a rezoning request to build an animal hospital on a half-acre site at Chicago and Crescent avenues in Palatine Township.

The judge denied the request made by Dr. Robert L. Mahr following a court hearing this week. Mahr accused the County Board of wrongfully denying him the zoning change in February. The board contended the nature of the area should remain residential.

A dozen residents of the area testified during last week's hearing on behalf of the county. Residents said a change in zoning would "decrease the value of their homes and land" and would "change the character of their neighborhood by inviting commercial development," said Asst. State's Atty. Jerome S. Schain, who represented the county.

Mahr, a veterinarian, proposed an all-enclosed, ranch-style building for the animal hospital which would include a waiting room and an operating room, a treatment room, a laboratory and an x-ray room.

Can lights curb vandals?

"Palatine, Let It Shine" has been suggested as the theme of a campaign to get homeowners to turn on their porch lights in an attempt to curb vandalism in Palatine.

The theme was suggested by Pam Mitchell, 146 Bell Ave., in a letter to Village Pres. Wendell E. Jones encouraging the village to start a program to generate interest in the porch-light concept.

The porch-light program was one of several ideas on ways to curb vandalism discussed at the second Concerned Citizens Conference on Vandalism Tuesday night. More than 30 residents and representatives of various governing bodies including the village, township, school districts, park district and police attended the meeting at the Slade Street Fire Station.

Lowering the curfew time was temporarily ruled out as an effective means of reducing the increasing vandalism. Several people indicated they felt lowering the curfew from the present 11 p.m. on weekdays and midnight on weekends would penalize the majority of teenagers who do not get in trouble.

POLICE CHIEF Jerry Bratcher was asked to gather statistics on when vandalism incidents are reported and when arrests are made to determine what effect, if any, a change in curfew would have.

Other ideas discussed were:

- Keeping the schools open longer during the school year and in the summer: School officials indicated they were not opposed to the idea and would welcome suggestions on programs that might attract teenagers.
- Train a Palatine Police Dept. probation officer and hire a social worker: Bratcher reported the police department has applied for a federal grant to fund a social worker in the department.
- Create mini-teen centers throughout Palatine Township: The Palatine Park District is planning more teen activities and is considering forming an "imagination unlimited club" to come up with activities and starting a drop-in center at Birchwood Park.
- Conduct a public relations campaign pointing out the cost of vandalism: It was agreed a letter would be submitted to the local school papers by Bratcher discussing vandalism and the village newsletter would report the cost of vandalism.
- Police saturation of selected areas with high vandalism rates: A selective patrol has been in operation by the police department for the last month with some success, police say.

to bring long-range programs or capital expenditures before the planning committee.

Waldron and Aldermen Merrill Wuerch, 1st, and Fredrick Jacobson, 5th, approved the requests to be presented to Mayor Roland J. Meyer before they go to the council at a committee-of-the-whole session. Aldermen Daniel E. Weber, 4th, and Stephen J. Eberhard, 3rd, also appointed to the planning group, were absent.

HUDLESTON VIEWED the list as an indication the members present Monday "apparently feel the mayor and some other aldermen don't, in fact, have very good ideas."

A favorable response was issued by Ald. John T. Rock, 3rd, chairman of the public works, building and zoning committee, who said long-range planning is needed and he would like to hear more of the planning committee's ideas.

"I don't feel it's giving up any authority" for chairmen of other committees to agree to the requests, Rock said. Consideration of any matters not to be concluded within one year belongs on a long-range committee, Rock said, although he said he would object to bringing shorter-range questions to such a group. Equipment purchases should be a function of his committee, Rock said, but some such purchases need extensive research which his committee may be unable to do. He said he doubted the planning group actually wants "total authority."

Ald. Thomas W. Scanlan, 1st, chairman of the licensing, police, health and fire committee, could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Meyer declined to comment on the committee requests, except to say the committee already has permanent status. It will remain in existence unless the council votes to abolish it, or unless its membership reports its work is finished and it does not wish to continue, Meyer said. He also said he is willing to meet with the committee any time members desire it, and would willingly attend a committee-of-the-whole council session. "What they are looking for will have to come from the council," said Meyer.

DiFonzo named in $4.3 million Purolator theft

by STEVE BROWN

Federal charges were filed Wednesday against Luigi M. (Lou) DiFonzo, the man suspected of bilking local investors out of $2.5 million from a Des Plaines-based silver commodities trading firm, in connection with the $4.3 million Purolator Security Co. theft.

Warrants were issued for DiFonzo, 28, and two other men charging them with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives to commit a felony. Six men have now been charged in the Oct. 20 heist.

DiFonzo is being described by some sources close to the probe as the possible mastermind of the scheme. Federal agents and Scotland Yard were seeking DiFonzo and two other men in Georgetown on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents have been circulating DiFonzo's picture throughout Chicago since Friday, The Herald has learned.

AN FBI INVESTIGATOR, reporting on a joint investigation by the FBI and Scotland Yard, also said that customs authorities on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies opened two suitcases "cramped full with U.S. paper currency" and returned them to DiFonzo.

The FBI said none of the loot carted from the money stronghold on Chicago's Near North Side Oct. 20 had been recovered. U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson, said the loot probably was shared by six or seven men believed to have been involved in the burglary.

A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted three men in the history-making theft.

An FBI complaint filed in U.S. District Court said one of the indicted men, self-styled master criminal Peter J. Gushi, has admitted he took part in the massive burglary and "received a sum of money."

IN A 10-PAGE affidavit attached to the complaint, FBI Special Agent Roman W. Stratton said the three men, accompanied by Gushi, drove the money in DiFonzo's automobile to Columbus, Ohio, and charged a flight to Miami, Fla. From Miami, the complaint charged, DiFonzo flew on to Grand Cayman with about $1.5 million.

Stratton's affidavit said the men carried "about eight fairly large bags of family luggage" — which authorities believe held about 800 pounds of hard-to-trace, $10, $20 and $50 bills — when they passed through a Columbus airport.

The FBI said the four men registered at an airport motel in Miami. Gushi later returned to Chicago and DiFonzo chartered a plane and flew on, apparently alone, to the Caribbean hideaway, the investigator said.

The FBI said that when DiFonzo arrived at Grand Cayman he carried a briefcase and two large suitcases "so heavy each required two men to place them in the plane."

Agents said they learned customs officials ordered the luggage opened and found it crammed with U.S. paper currency. All of it was returned to DiFonzo, agents said.

THE FBI AFFIDAVIT said Gushi tried by phone to charter a boat from Islamorada, Fla., to Grand Cayman but marina officials said they refused because of bad weather.

Stratton said Gushi identified himself, DiFonzo and Charles Marzano as "major participants" in the vault looting.

The federal grand jury indicted Gushi, 47; Ralph Marrera, 31, a suspended security guard accused of being the "inside man" in the breaching of the vault; and James "Jimmy the Greek" Maniatis, accused of supplying the van in which investigators said the money was carted away.

The three, all in custody on cash bonds ranging up to $1 million, were charged with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives in commission of a felony.

A FEW HOURS later, the FBI filed a complaint charging DiFonzo, 28, Charles Marzano, and Marzano's cousin, William Marzano, with bank burglary, bank larceny, use of explosives and interstate transport of stolen money.

Carpentersville man latest TV scheme victim

For the second time in a week, a suburban man fell victim to a fraudulent television sales scheme in Schaumburg. A Carpentersville resident was defrauded of $750 in cash Monday.

An Oak Forest businessman was bilked out of $1,700 Oct. 22 in a similar scheme, where color television sets were to be sold at special prices and picked up at the loading dock at Marshall Field and Co. in the Woodfield Shopping Center.

Marshall Field is not connected with the solicitations, and store security agents reported to police that Monday's incident marked the fifth such attempt within two weeks. However, only two have been reported to police.

Lee Holle of Carpentersville told police he handed over $750 in cash to a man outside a restaurant at the shopping center. Schaumburg police are investigating the two reported incidents in which the con artists' mode of operation was the same.

BOTH MEN WERE solicited by telephone calls from a man named "Bob." Holle was told there were a 25-inch floor model and a 19-inch portable color television set available at discount prices, it was reported.

Holle met the man at the shopping center after ordering four sets. Holle was told to meet another man in front of the restaurant — the same location the Oak Forest man was to meet his contact.

The cash was exchanged, and Holle was given a Field's receipt and told to wait by the store's loading dock for the merchandise. Authorities were told by store agents that the sales slip was stolen from a Wisconsin store.

Police warned area residents to be on the alert against similar solicitations and to call local authorities if they receive any suspicious telephone calls offering special deals.

Youth's bond set at $5,000

Bond was set at $5,000 Wednesday for Steve B. Dembowski, 17, of Glenview, one of three youths charged with Monday night's robbery of more than $1,400 and $400 in checks from two women employees of Mark Drugs in Wheeling.

Dembowski is to appear Nov. 15 in the Arlington Heights branch of Circuit Court on the charge. The other two suspects, both juveniles, have been named in family court petitions and are being held at the Audy Home.

The robbery occurred about 8:55 p.m. Monday in the parking lot between the drug store, 303 E. Dundee Rd., and the Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank, 4 S. Milwaukee Ave. The two women were bringing store receipts to the bank's night depository.

POLICE SAID Dembowski approached the women and demanded the money. He then allegedly joined the two juveniles and split the $1,484.65 in cash with them. The $418.64 in checks was thrown into the Wheeling Drainage Ditch with the money bag and floated away. Police said the checks and the bag have not been recovered, although all but $30 of the cash has been recovered.

One of the juveniles was arrested near Denny's Restaurant, Milwaukee Avenue south of Palatine Road, early Tuesday after he was stopped for being a suspicious subject. Dembowski and the other youth were arrested shortly afterwards at the Flamingo Motel, Milwaukee Avenue and River Road, where they had registered under their own names.

Goal: next summer

Rural parks want pool, tennis courts

The Palatine Rural Park District wants to build a swimming pool, bathhouse, and tennis courts on its first park site at Home Street and Oak Road, Palatine Township, by next summer.

Plans for the park also envision a baseball diamond, picnic area, children's playground and parking facilities.

The district has been awarded $33,000 in state funds from the Illinois Dept. of Conservation to purchase the five-acre site. Park officials are negotiating to buy the land.

Alan Caskey, and planner for the rural park district, put the cost of developing the site at $350,000. Caskey said development will be paid with funds from the $330,000 in general obligation bonds the park district issued in August.

DEVELOPMENT OF the park will begin as soon as the district receives the state grant and signs a contract with the landowner. Park district officials are hopeful the district's first park facilities will be ready for use by summer, Caskey said.

The rural park district serves 15,000 residents of unincorporated areas of Palatine Township.

Caskey, of ARC Associates, said the park board has approved preliminary plans for the site, and has only asked that a community meeting room be constructed as a part of the bathhouse.

Caskey said developers plan to "minimize the impact of the park development on area residents" by heavily landscaping the borders of the park. The landscaping will serve as a noise buffer for the residents and as a divider between the houses and the park facilities, he said.

Caskey believes that the park will offer "much-needed facilities" to an area that has none.

The central picnic area of the park will serve as a detention area which will hold rainwater that drains off of the surrounding area.

Ordinance endangers grand old village homes

by DIANE MERMIGAS
(Last of a series)

The historic houses in Palatine's downtown area have an uncertain future because of the planned redevelopment of the village's central business district.

Owners of the houses fear developers will try to buy their homes, or that the village will condemn them to build commercial structures.

A 17-year-old village amortization ordinance, designed to eliminate all wood-frame buildings in the downtown area by 1974, is being rewritten by the village board. A new redevelopment ordinance to be presented within the next month will allow for the condemnation of these old homes for commercial development if the developer's plans for the property have been approved by the village.

Village Pres. Wendell E. Jones says in this coming redevelopment and with the new ordinance, "A bit of the old will be transposed with a bit of the new."

BUT THE SENIOR residents who have lived in these grand old homes all their lives are not as optimistic.

"I don't know what's going to happen to these old homes once the village starts building new buildings. The homes that are in better condition should be preserved for historical use," said Florence Parkhurst, president of the Palatine Historical Society.

Mrs. Parkhurst feels the people living in some older homes are restoring them so they can be used for many years.

Harry Benstein owns a two-story Victorian home at 234 N. Plum Grove Rd. He has installed new plumbing, gutters and heating systems in the home since he bought it three years ago.

BENSTEIN PLANS to continue restoring the home "to its original condition." The 80-year-old house has been remodeled many times and has been used as a nursing home as well as a residence.

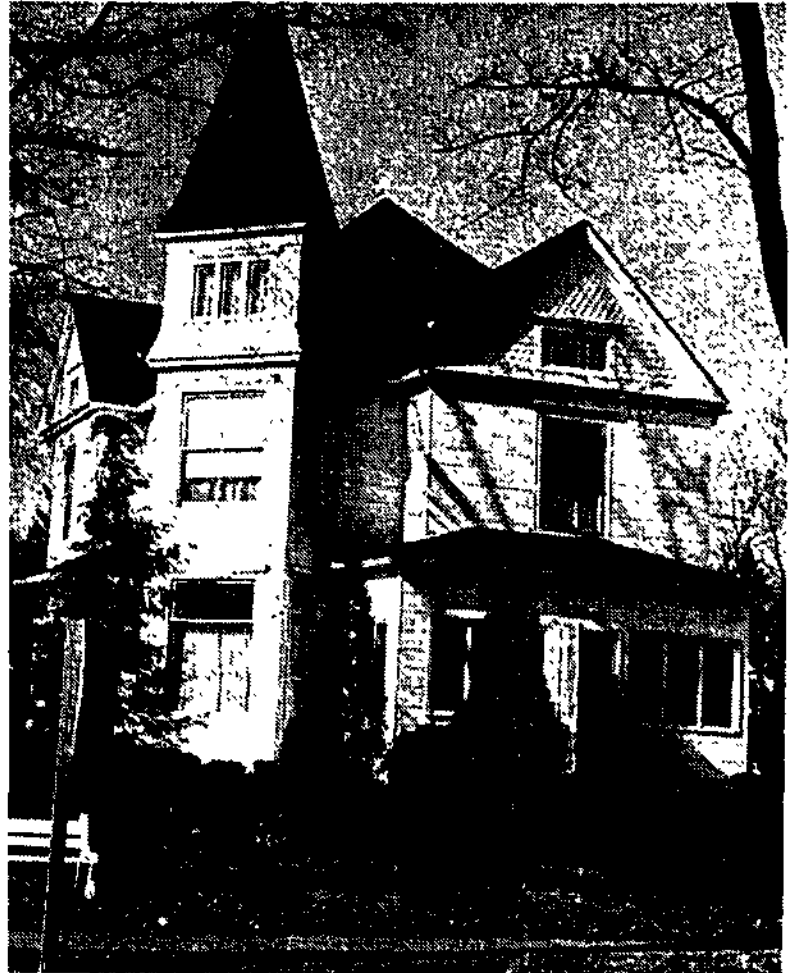

"The home has been ethetically butchered, but it can be restored to its natural condition. It's a sturdy home, constructed better than the modern homes today," Benstein said. Benstein's home is just outside Palatine's central business district, so he does not fear losing it to redevelopment.

"But there are many homes in that central area that have a character, beauty and a history about them, like my house does, and should not be torn down. It would be a shame if they were," he said.

Jones agrees. "The old houses that are historically and architecturally significant, and are in good condition, will be preserved by the village. These homes will eventually be rezoned by the village for special historical use as a museum or a landmark," Jones said.

JONES SAID MANY owners of these older homes in the downtown area got the "wrong impression" when talk of downtown redevelopment began.

"Somewhere they got the idea that

HARRY BENSTEIN'S house, 234 N. Plum Grove Rd., once was a nursing home. The house now serves as Benstein's residence and insurance office. He is gradually restoring the inside of the home to its original condition so it will be "good for many more years."

Palatine's Grand Old Homes

the village wants to come through here and tear down all the old homes. Well, that's not the case. The government is not in the real estate business and we never will be," Jones said.

Jones agrees there are some older, wooden homes "that are in deplorable condition" in the central business district that will be condemned to make room for new buildings.

"But each home will be considered individually by a redevelopment commission, and there must be a private developer that will have specific plans for the property involved before it is condemned," Jones said.

Jones said the village would only "forcibly condemn an older house" if it were in an area where there was mainly commercial development, if a private developer had specific plans approved by the village for the use of the property, or if the house were in poor physical condition.

JONES SAID THERE are older houses in the area east of the Slade Street Fire Station to Smith Street, and in the area west of Broadway and Wood streets that "will probably be purchased and condemned for redevelopment." Redevelopment of the downtown area is essential because "people are not spending their money in Palatine now because they can't find the right kind of stores to spend it in," he said.

Jones said the central business district is bounded by Smith Street on the west, Colfax Street on the north, Plum Grove Road on the east, and Washington and Johnson streets on the south. He said older homes located "on the fringes of this area will definitely not be affected by the redevelopment," and "at many of the historical homes 'nearer to the core area' won't be affected either."

JONES SAID HOMES like the one at 44 W. Wilson St. or like the Lasch Interior Furnishings Store, 123 N. Brockway St., "will not be torn down in the redevelopment process."

"Houses like these are very historical, and in very good shape, and can eventually be rezoned and used to house the historical society or artifacts of the village," he said.

"We are trying to redevelop a downtown area that started more than 100 years ago," he said. "The history of those early times that remains a part of the downtown area's older homes will not be destroyed. These homes will remain a constant reminder of the old Palatine as the new Palatine emerges."

Can Rover make it as Bluebeard the Pirate?

Des Plaines pet shop selling Halloween costumes for pooches

by LUISA GINETTI

Four-legged trick or treaters may be out walking the streets tonight as a result of the latest costume fad.

Bill Ware, owner of Bill's Pet Shop, 677 Graceland St., Des Plaines, is selling dog costumes for Halloween and says his sales would be better if he had more sizes from which customers could choose.

"People come in and ask about them but we only have the small sizes left to fit miniature and toy dogs," Ware said. "One man came in and asked if we had a size to fit a collie because he wanted to take his dog out with his kids."

The costumes are vinyl cutout patterns that fit on the dogs' backs like sweaters. Ware said he bought the costumes two years ago from a salesman who said they would be the latest pet trend.

"I guess I was less conservative two years ago, so when the salesman asked me if I wanted to buy some, I agreed," Ware said. "I thought he'd send me two or three, but instead he sent a dozen."

WARE SAID THE COSTUMES sold well the first year but this year he has been unable to sell the remaining three. The costumes are a clown, a skeleton and a pirate.

"Last year we had them lying on the counter and they didn't do so well, so this year we put them in the window and put a sign with them. People see the sign and inquire about them, but most of them all have bigger dogs and the costumes won't fit them."

Ware said one woman wanted to know if the sign advertising the dog costumes was for real. When Ware assured her it was legitimate, she left the shop shaking her head in amazement. "Now I've seen everything," Ware quoted her as saying.

Ware said the people who inquire about the costumes, which sell for $1.98, want them for dogs who go trick-or-treating with youngsters. Other people have said they put them on their pooches to entertain children who come to their doors trick-or-treating.

"I don't know of any other pet shops that sell dog costumes and I don't know if I can get any more of them," Ware said. "If nothing else, at least they're a novelty."

Village board wrapup

1% tax levied on items bought 'out-of-state'

Palatine residents bargain hunting out-of-state will have to pay the village 1 percent of the purchase price of all items requiring an Illinois title or registration, under a new tax.

The village board unanimously approved the municipal use tax ordinance Monday.

The Illinois Dept. of Revenue will collect the tax when a title or registration is applied for and forward the funds to the village.

The additional revenue is expected to come from automobiles, boats and trailers purchased by Palatine residents out of state. No estimates were available on the amount of revenue that might be generated from the new tax.

Bike safety plan set

A bicycle safety program will be started in Palatine next spring with the help of a state grant, said Police Chief Jerry Bratcher.

Bratcher told the health, safety and welfare committee of the village board Monday that an application for a more than $7,000 grant is pending with the Illinois Division of Highways and he is confident Palatine will get the funds earmarked for bicycle safety.

The bicycle safety program will be presented to the board for approval in February, said Bratcher. He indicated the program may include a citizens' advisory committee on bike safety that would be responsible for enforcement and education of bike safety.

Trustee Philip E. Stern suggested an annual registration for bicycles to be set up with safety testing each year and distribution of a bicycle safety kit.

$500 license fee asked

A $500 license fee for all taverns and nightclubs with live entertainment will be recommended to the village board.

The health, safety and welfare committee and administration, legislation and finance committee arrived at the fee at a joint meeting Monday.

The fee and ordinance establishing an entertainment license are expected to be approved by the village board in November. There is no entertainment license in the village at the present.

The purpose of the entertainment ordinance is to give the village more control over the type of entertainment in the village. Any change in entertainment would require board approval under the ordinance.

'Residency' may be changed

Palatine firemen will be allowed to live outside of Palatine Township if a change in residency requirements recommended by the fire and police commission is approved.

The commission has recommended the village board change the boundaries for firemen residency to Lake-Cook Road on the north, Arlington Heights Road on the east, Northwest Tollway on the south and Barrington Township on the west.

The purpose of the proposed change is to give firemen a wider choice of housing, said Paul Jung, chairman of the commission. The main change is an extension of the boundaries east and firemen could still respond to a fire call in the same time as those living on the extreme west, north or south boundaries, he said.

The board has referred the commission's recommendation to the health, safety and welfare committee for review and a recommendation.

Liquor license OK'd

A new liquor license permitting the sale of beer and wine has been approved by the Palatine Village Board.

The license is expected to be issued to Barro's Pizza, a new restaurant specializing in pizza and Italian food, to be opened in the Palatine Illinois Mall at Northwest Highway and Smith Street.

Radio bid accepted

The $2,747 bid of Motorola for a base station radio and antenna for the Palatine Fire Dept. has been accepted by the village board.

Motorola's bid was the only one received by the village for the equipment.

Zoner to be honored

A certificate of merit will be presented to John Nelson, a 17-year veteran of the Palatine Zoning Board of Appeals, whose resignation was accepted by the village board on Monday.

Rec permits required

All recreation uses of property in the village will require a special use permit in the future.

The village board unanimously approved an amendment of the village's zoning ordinance Monday making physical culture and health services special uses. This will include gymnasiums, swimming pools, reducing salons, massages and public baths. Previously, some of the uses had been permitted in commercially zoned areas and others had been special uses.

Hunting Ridge wants Plum Grove done by '80

A schedule calling for the completion of the 365-acre Plum Grove Hills development by 1980 has been proposed by the Hunting Ridge Homeowners Assn.

The homeowners prepared a revision of the annexation agreement for the development, to be located near Harper College and presented it to the Palatine

Plan Commission for consideration Tuesday.

Construction of each section of the commercial and residential development would have to be completed within two years of plan commission approval under the homeowners' proposed annexation agreement. The deadline for approval of the various sections ranges from 1976 to 1978.

The preannexation agreement submitted by Draper calls for completion of the entire development containing 1,874 housing units by the end of 1984 and places no restrictions on the length of time a parcel may be under construction.

THE PLAN COMMISSION agreed to consider the homeowners' copy of the annexation agreement and asked for a synopsis of the major differences between it and the one submitted by the developers.

Other differences include:
• The homeowners have asked the developer to make land available to the village for a fire station at a cost of $1. No price for the land is set in the developer's proposed annexation agreement.

• Street use during construction would be limited to approved routes under both agreements. The homeowners are proposing that deviation from the routes carry a $15 penalty for each offense. The developer is only proposing to keep deviation minimal.

• Issuance of a temporary occupancy permit is allowed under both agreements when adverse weather conditions prevent the completion of exterior work. The homeowners are requesting the developer be required to place on deposit an amount equal to 150 per cent of the cost of the uncompleted work as determined by the village engineer at the time of the issuance of the occupancy permit.

• The homeowners' proposed ordinance also clarifies that the developer will pay for onsite and some offsite public improvements.

Man injured in 3-car crash

A 23-year-old Glenview man was injured Wednesday night when the car in which he was riding struck another vehicle, which in turn hit a third, on Northwest Highway in Palatine.

Dave C. Majkowski, 2331 Greenwood, was taken to Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, where he was treated and released.

Majkowski was a passenger in a car driven by Carl E. Schuetz, 21, of 1002 Boxwood Dr., Wheeling Township, Lt. Raymond Radlein of Palatine police said the Schuetz car, eastbound on Northwest Highway, struck the rear of a car driven by Shirley P. Mayhercy, 230 Reuter Dr., Arlington Heights, which was waiting to turn left into the Burger King, 1540 E. Northwest Hwy. The Mayhercy car then hit the rear of a car driven by Thomas W. Kreis, 24, of Lake Zurich, police said.

The accident occurred at 6:28 p.m. Schuetz was ticketed for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident. He is to appear in the Arlington Heights branch of Circuit Court Dec. 26.

2nd District Illinois House

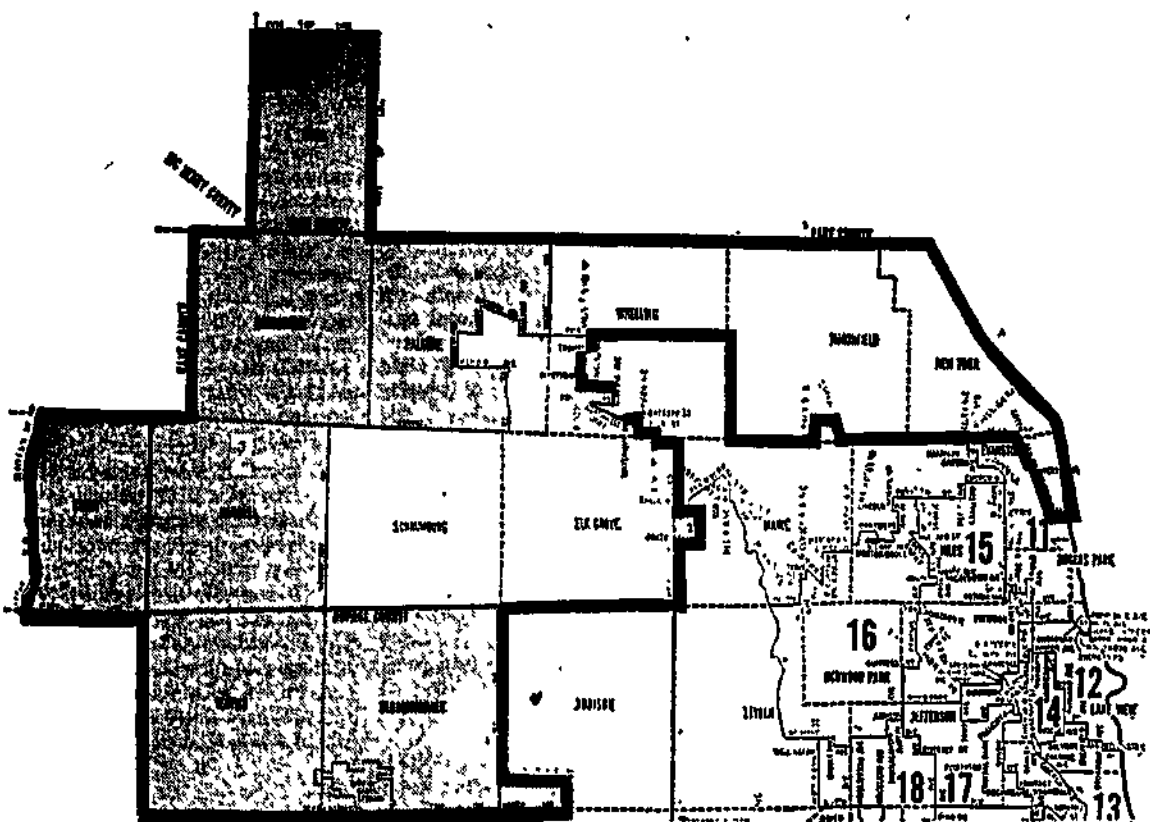

Election '74

Parflung and extremely diverse, the Illinois 2nd Legislative District reaches from suburban Palatine to rural sections of Kane County and the city of Elgin. It's not an easy district to represent in Springfield nor an easy district for voters to get acquainted with the candidates.

In the race for three seats in the Illinois House, four candidates are seeking election. Incumbents are Richard Mugallan, a Democrat from Palatine; John Friedland, Republican, South Elgin, and Leo LaFleur, Republican, Bloomington. The challenger is Democrat David Carey of Elgin.

The district's state senator, John Graham of Barrington, is not up for election this year.

The Democrats

LaFleur won key committee posts; Friedland backs 'inflation-impact studies'

Leo LaFleur, 55, of Bloomington, is a soft-spoken, deliberate man who could pass for a farmer and who spent 22 years in local and county government before being elected on the Republican ticket to his first term as state representative for the 2nd District two years ago.

He moved quickly toward the center of activity in the House, winning appointments to the key Appropriations and Revenue committees, an extraordinary accolade for a freshman legislator. He also serves on the legislative audit and tax study commissions, in recognition of his record as Du Page County Auditor for three terms.

Recognizing that "freshmen don't make major proposals," LaFleur devoted much of his first term as "salesman" for a number of significant proposals.

Leo LaFleur

Among those that passed were a law providing for accelerated tax payments, helping to avoid tax anticipation warrants; "instant assessment" law, doing away with a two-year delay in getting tax revenue from new construction; the paramedic program, and the "certificate of need" law for hospital construction.

It was another legislator's bill, one to restore the state pension rights of persons convicted of felonies, that brought LaFleur nearest to controversy. He defends the provision on constitutional grounds and his arguments swung the House from evident opposition to passage of the measure, though it was vetoed by Gov. Daniel Walker.

STATE REP. John Friedland, R-South Elgin, 37 and until recently still flat-topped in the 1950s style, is a quietly conservative legislator who usually can be expected to vote with Republican leadership and most often on the side of issues favored by Downstate legislators.

Friedland is not a legislative innovator — he was principal sponsor of only four bills in the 78th General Assembly, two of which concerned only his own district. He is, rather, a workhorse who is proud of the fact that he has maintained a 100 per cent attendance record at floor and committee sessions through three terms in the House.

Friedland sees the new session as one that will be concerned with holding the line on taxes and spending. He would support proposals to "require inflation-impact studies on all spending bills."

The legislator also anticipates moves to "tighten up" the law on campaign finance disclosures passed in the last session but found to contain loopholes. He favors such legislation.

The Republicans

Mugallan wants regional zoning; Carey fighting voter apathy

Regional authority over land use and zoning coupled with a new state formula for sales tax distribution, are prime issues in the reelection campaign of State Rep. Richard A. Mugallan, D-Palatine.

Zoning decisions by one municipality can exert major influences on the growth rates and types of development in surrounding towns, Mugallan believes, and competition for the sales tax dollar too often "distorts planning" by municipal officials making zoning decisions.

The state now returns the 1 cent local share of sales tax to the community where it was collected. Often the tax is paid by the resident of another town who ignores boundaries when shopping. Mugallan said he "would support any bill" that changed the distribution formula, but it "should be 100 per cent per capita."

Under that plan, municipalities would receive sales taxes based on their populations, not on their retail sales.

Although Mugallan supports a sharing of municipal zoning powers, he said he does not favor any new restrictions on home rule that local governments now enjoy. He also doubts the House could muster a 60 per cent vote to enact any new controls.

Mugallan supported formation of the Regional Transportation Authority, although he is disenchanted with the RTA board's failure to name its own chairman thus far. He proposes giving the board a deadline to act, by passing legislation allowing the governor or legislature power to appoint a chairman if the board does not.

Illinois needs a labor relations board for its public employees, Mugallan said, and should allow strikes for all public workers except police and fire personnel. For those two groups, he proposes blinding arbitration when contract negotiators reach the impasse stage. With the right to strike, other public employees could enjoy true collective bargaining, Mugallan said. He gives passage of right to strike and public employee relations board provisions their best chances ever in the coming legislative session.

Richard A. Mugallan

David E. Carey

DAVID E. CAREY, 36, of Elgin, the other Democratic candidate, says he is concerned about the apathy of the electorate more than his own election. He believes that less than 40 per cent of eligible voters will go to the polls Tuesday.

Carey fears his own estimate. "The time is ripe for a Hitler or a Mussolini," he says. "With this kind of voter apathy, you could have some guy come along with a strong law-and-order policy saying, 'I'll fix your problems,' and he might take over with a small number of votes."

In an effort to counteract that kind of apathy, Carey says, he has been walking door-to-door through the 203 precincts of the 2nd District. Two weeks before the election, he had covered all but about 40 precincts, and he expects to hit them all before election day.

What his efforts will mean in a district where he is the odd man out, with two Republicans and one Democrat already holding the three legislative seats in traditionally Republican territory, is a moot question to Carey. "It all boils down to who stays at home," he says.

Carey believes a big reason for the apathy of the voters is the inadequate representation they have received, a situation he proposes to remedy.

An assistant superintendent of public instruction under state superintendent Michael Bakalis in Springfield, Carey has pledged to devote full time to the job of state legislator. He proposes to open a legislative office at a central location and has promised to visit each of the district's eight townships at least once a month as a state representative.

Fare goes from 30 to 50 cents Friday

Senior citizens pay more for cab rides

A fare increase will go into effect Friday for senior citizens who participate in the reduced cab fare program in Mount Prospect.

Instead of the original 30-cent fee, seniors will have to pay 50 cents to take a Prospect Cab Co. cab anywhere within Mount Prospect. The village will continue to provide a 95-cent subsidy for each ride.

The fare increase, however, will not affect the cost of a second passenger riding in the same cab. The second passenger will continue to pay 20 cents, and this is expected to encourage seniors to double-up when taking cab trips.

Robert Birks, president of the cab company, said the fare increase will allow his firm to break even on the senior citizen cab program. "We've lost $2,000 for the year in doing it," he said.

BIRKS ESTIMATED that his company lost about 20 cents a trip on the senior program. "I would say we underestimated in the original analysis," he said. "Maybe senior citizens are taking longer trips than we anticipated."

The cab program began last December, and was averaging more than 1,000 rides a month until restrictions were placed on the program in August and identification cards issued. Kathleen Sloga, coordinator of the village's senior citizens services office, said seniors with full-time jobs were exempted from the program to save money.

If ridership continued at its previous level, the program would cost $10,488 a year, or more than $3,000 more than the budgeted amount. Mrs. Sloga, however, said that ridership was somewhat reduced, with 960 rides in September.

The 20-cent fare increase also may slightly reduce the use of the cab program. Mrs. Sloga, however, said that seniors have told her they will continue to use the reduced-fare cab because "it is such a good service."

More than 600 senior citizens have registered for the cab identification cards, according to Mrs. Sloga.

THE FARE INCREASE had been under consideration for about the past two months, with both the cab company and the village making cost studies on the program.

"I don't mind breaking even," Birks said, noting that his firm doesn't make any money on the program. "Because that way you are contributing something."

Speeding tickets on S-curve take sharp decline

The number of speeding tickets handed out to motorists on the S. Elmhurst Road S-curve in Mount Prospect this month has dropped drastically, despite continued special efforts by the police department to patrol the dangerous stretch of road.

Through Saturday, only 44 speeding tickets had been issued this month. This was almost half of September's 83 tickets and far below the 236 tickets written in June, the first month of the crackdown.

A spokesman for the police department said the reduced number of tickets is not because of a lessening of the intent to catch speeders but is a result of manpower problems. Due to vacations, most of the police shifts have been short a man or two which usually means the policemen watching the S-curve has to be called off to handle other police calls and thus, the S-curve is not patrolled as much as before.

The figures bear out the spokesman's statements. Since June, only 340 tickets have been written compared with June's 236 tickets.

MOST OF THE tickets — 339 — have been given to persons traveling 38 to 40 m.p.h. in the 25-m.p.h. zone. The next largest number — 152 — have been given to those driving between 41 and 45 m.p.h. in the section of Ill. Rte. 83 (Elmhurst Road-Maine Street which lies south of the Chicago and North Western Ry. tracks).

In the crackdown, started because of the many accidents along the stretch of road, no tickets have been written to those going up to 30 m.p.h. Sixty-three were written to those traveling between 31 and 35 m.p.h. and 20 were given tickets for driving between 46 and 50 m.p.h. Only two drivers were given tickets for exceeding 50 m.p.h.

Police statistics showed that more tickets were given to southbound travelers than were given to northbound travelers — although the difference was only 33 tickets. A smaller number of tickets have been given on the east-west portion of the S-curve.

Non residents have picked up the most tickets — 446 — while Mount Prospect residents got only 130.

THE TICKETS that have been written are standing up in court, police said. From August to now, 206 persons have appeared in court. Of that number, 165 have been convicted of speeding and only 11 cases have been dismissed. Another 30 cases have either been continued or the driver was sent to traffic school.

The statistics released Wednesday show only nine accidents in the S-curve area since the crackdown began, including four accidents in October. However, these figures differed from departmental statistics released in September which showed 12 accidents — all without injuries — in the S-curve through Sept. 15.

New telephone service offered

More than 30,000 customers of Central Telephone Co. of Illinois will receive a new kind of service on operator-assisted calls after Saturday.

Residential and business customers with telephone number prefixes of 297, 298, 324 and 327 will be transferred to the $3 million all-electronic Traffic Service Position System (TSPS). Contel's Park Ridge customers, as well as all coin and hotel/motel customers, were switched to the system last July.

Customers with prefixes of 299 and 296 will be converted to TSPS in early summer of 1975, following the cutover of these prefixes to new crossbar switching equipment.

TSPS is the latest in advanced electronic switchboards manufactured by Western Electric. The computerized system facilitates the large-scale handling of toll calls requiring operator assistance, such as person-to-person, collect and credit card calls. TSPS makes possible faster connections and a minimum of operator assistance.

Donors sought for blood drive next week

Mount Prospect village blood program officials are seeking donors for a blood drive Wednesday at the Mount Prospect Country Club, 600 S. Sec-Gwyn Ave.

Norma Murauskis, volunteer chairman of the drive, said the plan is used to replenish the blood supply at local hospitals through the North Suburban Blood Center. She said many residents who donate blood at work are not benefiting their local area, and urged them to give at Wednesday's drawing.

The village has a yearly quota of 1,800 pints, representing 4 per cent of the village population. When the quota is reached, all residents and their immediate families receive an unlimited supply of blood for the remainder of the year.

Wednesday's blood drive will be from 4 to 8:30 p.m., and residents can make appointments by calling 439-9727 or 392-6000.

Donors must be at least 18 years old and in good health. Persons unable to donate at the drawing can give blood at local hospitals and earmark it for the Mount Prospect drive.

HENRY MAZER, associate conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, spends every Monday evening conducting the Suzuki Academy chamber group of Arlington Heights at Mount Prospect's United Church of Christ. The Suzuki musicians, many of them under 10 years old, have learned their music through a unique method, and Mazer thinks it has paid off. For additional photos, see page 15.

Trial finally opens, Helton lawyer charges misconduct

by JOE SWICKARD

The attorney for accused killer Ronald Helton opened Helton's long-delayed trial Wednesday by charging Arlington Heights police with misconduct in their handling of the case.

Melvin Kamm, Helton's attorney, charged that police "induced" Helton, then 17, into giving statements incriminating himself while police kept him for four months in the local police station in violation of a court order sending Helton to county jail.

Helton, now 21, is charged with the murder of gas station attendant Fred J. Tallon during an Arlington Heights robbery Nov. 11, 1969.

Circuit Court Judge Jacques F. Helgoetter denied Kamm's motion to quash the 1969 arrest warrant for Helton, rejecting Kamm's contention that not enough evidence had been presented to justify issuance of the warrant.

The court action Wednesday marked the end of five years of investigation and legal wrangles. Helton first went to trial in 1972 for the murder, but Circuit Court Judge Daniel Ryan ruled with Kamm that Helton's constitutional rights had been violated by the police. Ryan's ruling was overturned in August by the Illinois Appellate Court, opening the way for the new trial.

IN HIS OPENING statement, Asst. State's Atty. Ronald Magnes said Helton's guilt would be proven by his own statements and other evidence that he "brutally stabbed 14 times and killed" the 60-year-old Tallon, the night manager of the Arlington Park Shell service station, Wilke Road and Euclid Avenue.

Magnes also said he would prove Helton took an active role "with several other individuals" in the planning and execution of the crime and that he stayed with his companions when they fled out of state.

Helton was one of several young men originally charged with the murder. Charges against the others were dropped two years ago.

Kamm's opening remarks challenged the veracity of the "alleged statements" given by Helton to Arlington Heights police after his arrest.

Kamm said that "the Arlington Heights police themselves did not consider Ronald Helton an armed robber or a killer."

HELTON WAS HELD in the Arlington Heights lockup from his arrest Dec. 31, 1969 to April 17, 1970 despite a court order to transfer him to the County Jail. While Helton was in police custody, Kamm said, he had "free rein of this police station," and that policemen took him home "to meet their families."

Kamm said Helton was permitted to leave the police station unescorted so he could have a holiday meal with his family the day after his arrest for Tallon's murder.

The first witness was Arthur Tallon, son of the murder victim. As he took the stand, his mother broke into tears and had to be led from the court room by a bailiff. She returned a short time later, but continued weeping as photographs of her husband's body were introduced as evidence.

Asked by Magnes about his father's condition when he saw him on Nov. 11, 1969, Tallon answered: "What was his condition? He was very dead."

Arlington Heights Det. Otto Schuster testified that he was on routine patrol the morning of the crime and that he was the second officer at the scene.

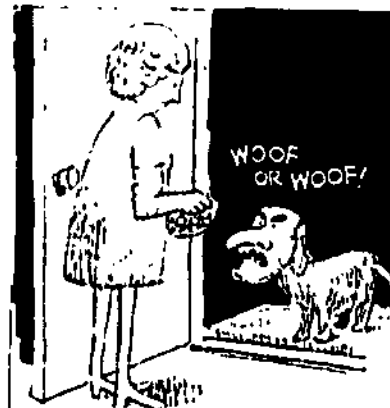

SCHUSTER SAID Tallon was found lying face down on the porch of a home at 621 N. Wilke Rd. across the street from the station. Next to the body, he said was glass apparently broken in the struggle between Tallon and his attackers.

Schuster testified he found the cash register of the gas station open and the west window of the office broken.

As police reconstruct the crime, Tallon, alone in the station about 3 a.m., was confronted by robbers at knife-point. A struggle ensued inside the station, police theorize, and Tallon dove through the office window to escape.

Can Rover make it as Bluebeard the Pirate?

Des Plaines pet shop selling Halloween costumes for pooches

by LUISA GINETTI

Four-legged trick or treaters may be out walking the streets tonight as a result of the latest costume fad.

Bill Ware, owner of Bill's Pet Shop, 677 Graceland St., Des Plaines, is selling dog costumes for Halloween and says his sales would be better if he had more sizes from which customers could choose.

"People come in and ask about them but we only have the small sizes left to fit miniature and toy dogs," Ware said. "One man came in and asked if we had a size to fit a collie because he wanted to take his dog out with his kids."

The costumes are vinyl cutout patterns that fit on the dogs' backs like sweaters. Ware said he bought the costumes two years ago from a salesman who said they would be the latest pet trend.

"I guess I was less conservative two years ago, so when the salesman asked me if I wanted to buy some, I agreed," Ware said. "I thought he'd send me two or three, but instead he sent a dozen."

WARE SAID THE COSTUMES sold well the first year but this year he has been unable to sell the remaining three. The costumes are a clown, a skeleton and a pirate.

"Last year we had them lying on the counter and they didn't do so well, so this year we put them in the window and put a sign with them. People see the sign and inquire about them, but most of them all have bigger dogs and the costumes won't fit them."

Ware said one woman wanted to know if the sign advertising the dog costumes was for real. When Ware assured her it was legitimate, she left the shop shaking her head in amazement. "Now I've seen everything," Ware quoted her as saying.

Ware said the people who inquire about the costumes, which sell for $1.98, want them for dogs who go trick-or-treating with youngsters. Other people have said they put them on their pooches to entertain children who come to their doors trick-or-treating.

"I don't know of any other pet shops that sell dog costumes and I don't know if I can get any more of them," Ware said. "If nothing else, at least they're a novelty."

Community center bids come in high

Bids received this week by the Prospect Heights Park District for work on its proposed community center/sports complex came in higher than expected.

The park board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday to review the bids and try to cut some costs to bring the project within the original $850,000 estimate. The meeting will be at the park office, 13 Prospect Cl., Prospect Heights.

"Just about all the bids were higher than we expected," said Max Lyle, board president. "We have to try and refine the bids." Lyle would not say by how much the total of the bids — as separate trade bids were sought instead of just a general contractor — exceeded the estimate.

"On Monday, we will look at the costs, where the bids stand and what we can afford," he said. At a special board meeting Tuesday, the park board is expected to award some contracts and reject several bids.

TRADE BIDS WERE sought separately because lower costs were expected and local people had the opportunity to bid on the project, which was approved narrowly in a June 4 referendum.

Lyle said local tradesmen did bid on the project and included at least two general contractors, an electrician and two plumbers.

Eight bids were received for the general contracting work, which will be the bulk of the project. Lyle said the bids for the general contracting ranged from $381,000 to $638,000.

The referendum authorized $1.1 million for park improvements. In addition to the community center, the Lions Park pool will be renovated, tennis courts will be built at two sites and there will be smaller improvements to neighborhood parks. The community center is to be adjacent to the Lions Pool on Camp McDonald Road at Elm Street.

THINKING OF HALLOWEEN, Jamie Cassata gets ready for today's trick-or-treating in the Mount Prospect Park District's arts and crafts class for children. Village officials have asked that trick-or-treating begin after school and end before dusk. A park district Halloween party for youngsters in grades one through six will begin at 4 p.m. at Lions Park Recreation Center Gym.

DiFonzo named as suspect in Purolator theft scheme

by STEVE BROWN

Federal charges were filed Wednesday against Luigi M. (Lou) DiFonzo, the man suspected of bilking local investors out of $2.5 million from a Des Plaines-based silver commodities trading firm, in connection with the $4.3 million Purolator Security Co. theft.

Warrants were issued for DiFonzo, 28, and two other men charging them with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives to commit a felony. Six men have now been charged in the Oct. 20 heist.

DiFonzo is being described by some sources close to the probe as the possible mastermind of the scheme. Federal agents and Scotland Yard were seeking DiFonzo and two other men in Georgetown on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents have been circulating DiFonzo's picture throughout Chicago since Friday, The Herald has learned.

AN FBI INVESTIGATOR, reporting on a joint investigation by the FBI and Scotland Yard, also said that customs authorities on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies opened two suitcases "cramped full with U.S. paper currency" and returned them to DiFonzo.

The FBI said none of the loot carted from the money stronghold on Chicago's Near North Side Oct. 20 had been recovered. U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson, said the loot probably was shared by six or seven men believed to have been involved in the burglary.

A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted three men in the history-making theft.

An FBI complaint filed in U.S. District Court said one of the indicted men, self-styled master criminal Peter J. Gushi, has admitted he took part in the massive burglary and "received a sum of money."

IN A 10-PAGE affidavit attached to the complaint, FBI Special Agent Roman W. Stratton said the three men, accompanied by Gushi, drove the money in DiFonzo's automobile to Columbus, Ohio, and charged a flight to Miami, Fla. From Miami, the complaint charged, Di-Fonzo flew on to Grand Cayman with about $1.5 million.

Stratton's affidavit said the men carried "about eight fairly large bags of family luggage" — which authorities believe held about 800 pounds of hard-to-trace, $10, $20 and $50 bills — when they passed through a Columbus airport.

The FBI said the four men registered at an airport motel in Miami. Gushi later returned to Chicago and DiFonzo chartered a plane and flew on, apparently alone, to the Caribbean hideaway, the investigator said.

The FBI said that when DiFonzo arrived at Grand Cayman he carried a briefcase and two large suitcases "so heavy each required two men to place them in the plane."

Agents said they learned customs officials ordered the luggage opened and found it crammed with U.S. paper currency. All of it was returned to DiFonzo, agents said.

THE FBI AFFIDAVIT said Gushi tried by phone to charter a boat from Islamorada, Fla., to Grand Cayman but marina officials said they refused because of bad weather.

Stratton said Gushi identified himself, DiFonzo and Charles Marzano as "major participants" in the vault looting.

The federal grand jury indicted Gushi, 47; Ralph Marrera, 31, a suspended security guard accused of being the "inside man" in the breaching of the vault; and James "Jimmy the Greek" Maniatis, accused of supplying the van in which investigators said the money was carted away.

The three, all in custody on cash bonds ranging up to $1 million, were charged with bank burglary, bank larceny and use of explosives in commission of a felony.

A FEW HOURS later, the FBI filed a complaint charging DiFonzo, 28, Charles Marzano, and Marzano's cousin, William Marzano, with bank burglary, bank larceny, use of explosives and interstate transport of stolen money.

Until recently DiFonzo had been in the Boston area where he was indicted on perjury in connection with an attempt to establish another company there. NATCO was engaged in selling silver commodities futures. At the time the company went bankrupt earlier this year, DiFonzo claimed he had liabilities totaling $2.5 million. He currently is under federal investigation in connection with that operation.

In addition to talking to former associates of DiFonzo, the FBI will also probably question his wife, Diane, who returned to the Chicago area recently and is reportedly staying with relatives in the Hinsdale area.

Heyen flower judge

Roy Heyen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marilyn Heyen of Mount Prospect, will be a member of the 4-H horticulture judging team in a national contest Saturday through Wednesday in Chevy Chase, Md.

An eight-year member of the Mount Prospect Horticulture 4-H Club, Heyen became judge by successfully competing in local and state contests at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

Heyen is a senior at Forest View High School and has won numerous trophies for vegetable and flower gardening projects. His latest project included growing more than three acres of vegetable crops and operating a roadside stand.

Scouts to make toys

November will be toy-making month for Girl Scout Troop 742 of Sunset School in Mount Prospect.

Pinatas, octopus dolls, bean bags and other toys will be made to fulfill requirements for the Toymaker Badge. The toys will be given to the Santa Teresa Day Care Center in Palatine for Christmas.

Other Scouting activities include horseback riding Nov. 11 and cookie baking Nov. 12. Horseback riding will enable the Scouts to earn their troop's own badge, horsemanship badge. Cookies from the baking project will be delivered to Santa Teresa.

Discuss noise, test scores

'Audience participation' session draws 10 parents

by BOB GALLAS

Noise problems, early school arrivals and Iowa Test scores were the issues raised in the first of a series of planned "audience participation" sessions of the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 Board of Education.

Only about 10 parents showed up at the first session Tuesday night at Grove Junior High School in Elk Grove Village to talk to the board informally.

The board is offering the sessions in an attempt to allow district residents an opportunity to air questions, complaints and suggestions about the district.

MARIANNE DUFFER, a parent of a child at Juliette Low School, Arlington Heights, cited a possible need for structural and acoustical changes at the school because of what she called excessive noise. The building was constructed on an open concept, without classroom walls.

Mrs. Duffer asked that acoustical experts study the building. A similar study was done at the district's Friendship Junior High School, Des Plaines.

The board voted recently to install a background noise system at Friendship to help ease the noise problem at the school, also built on an open concept, with four classes to a large room.

This president of the Dan Cook School PTC in Elk Grove Village, Sharon Chavoen, cited a problem of children returning to school too early after lunch and too soon before school starts in the morning.

Mrs. Chavoen said children returning from an hour lunch period after only 20 minutes posed problems for volunteers supervising the lunch program.

BOARD PRES. GERALD Smiley took issue with Mrs. Chavoen's contention that school children should not be allowed to return early from lunch to play, saying he did the same thing as a child.

Board member Charles Knaup, who chaired the meeting, suggested Mrs. Chavoen work out the problem with her school principal.

A large part of the evening was spent discussing the well-worn topic of Iowa Test Scores, which gauge a child's basic skills in a number of areas.

One parent asked if the board was satisfied with the district's performance on the tests. Knaup replied he wouldn't say the board was satisfied. "The board feels it's doing all it can through the administration to update and reprogram our educational system."

WHEN ASKED IF it was the district goal to raise Iowa test scores, Knaup said, "It would be folly to put all our emphasis on one tool (Iowa scores)."

Smiley added that the board probably could accomplish such a goal by "teaching for the test," preparing students for the test format and going over some lesser-used skills covered in the test, such as map reading.

It was suggested that a seminar be staged to explain and familiarize parents with the Iowa tests. Supt. James Erviti said the subject was "too complex to deal with off the cuff."

Youth's bond set at $5,000

Bond was set at $5,000 Wednesday for Steve B. Dembowski, 17, of Glenview, one of three youths charged with Monday night's robbery of more than $1,400 and $400 in checks from two women employees of Mark Drugs in Wheeling.

Dembowski is to appear Nov. 15 in the Arlington Heights branch of Circuit Court on the charge. The other two suspects, both juveniles, have been named in family court petitions and are being held at the Audy Home.

The robbery occurred about 8:55 p.m. Monday in the parking lot between the drug store, 303 E. Dundee Rd., and the Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank, 4 S. Milwaukee Ave. The two women were bringing store receipts to the bank's night depository.

POLICE SAID Dembowski approached the women and demanded the money. He then allegedly joined the two juveniles and split the $1,484.65 in cash with them. The $418.64 in checks was thrown into the Wheeling Drainage Ditch with the money bag and floated away. Police said the checks and the bag have not been recovered, although all but $30 of the cash has been recovered.

One of the juveniles was arrested near Denny's Restaurant, Milwaukee Avenue south of Palatine Road, early Tuesday after he was stopped for being a suspicious subject. Dembowski and the other youth were arrested shortly afterwards at the Flamingo Motel, Milwaukee Avenue and River Road, where they had registered under their own names.

Murder trial finally begins

Helton lawyer charges misconduct by police

by JOE SWICKARD

The attorney for accused killer Ronald Helton opened Helton's long-delayed trial Wednesday by charging Arlington Heights police with misconduct in their handling of the case.

Melvin Kamm, Helton's attorney, charged that police "induced" Helton, then 17, into giving statements incriminating himself while police kept him for four months in the local police station in violation of a court order sending Helton to county jail.

Helton, now 21, is charged with the murder of gas station attendant Fred J. Tallon during an Arlington Heights robbery Nov. 11, 1969.

Circuit Court Judge Jacques F. Heiggoetter denied Kamm's motion to quash the 1969 arrest warrant for Helton, rejecting Kamm's contention that not enough evidence had been presented to justify issuance of the warrant.

The court action Wednesday marked the end of five years of investigation and legal wrangles. Helton first went to trial in 1972 for the murder, but Circuit Court Judge Daniel Ryan ruled with Kamm that Helton's constitutional rights had been violated by the police. Ryan's ruling was overturned in August by the Illinois Appellate Court, opening the way for the new trial.

IN HIS OPENING statement, Asst. State's Atty. Ronald Magnes said Helton's guilt would be proven by his own statements and other evidence that he "brutally stabbed 14 times and killed" the 60-year-old Tallon, the night manager of the Arlington Park Shell service station, Wilke Road and Euclid Avenue. Magnes also said he would prove Helton took an active role "with several other individuals" in the planning and execution of the crime and that he stayed with his companions when they fled out of state.

Helton was one of several young men originally charged with the murder. Charges against the others were dropped two years ago.

Kamm's opening remarks challenged the veracity of the "alleged statements" given by Helton to Arlington Heights police after his arrest.

Kamm said that "the Arlington Heights police themselves did not consider Ronald Helton an armed robber or a killer."

HELTON WAS HELD in the Arlington Heights lockup from his arrest Dec. 31, 1969 to April 17, 1970 despite a court order to transfer him to the County Jail. While Helton was in police custody, Kamm said, he had "free rein of this police station," and that policemen took him home "to meet their families."

Kamm said Helton was permitted to leave the police station unescorted so he could have a holiday meal with his family the day after his arrest for Tallon's murder.

The first witness was Arthur Tallon, son of the murder victim. As he took the stand, his mother broke into tears and had to be led from the court room by a bailiff. She returned a short time later, but continued weeping as photographs of her husband's body were introduced as evidence.

Asked by Magnes about his father's condition when he saw him on Nov. 11, 1969, Tallon answered: "What was his condition? He was very dead."

Arlington Heights Det. Otto Schuster testified that he was on routine patrol the morning of the crime and that he was the second officer at the scene.

SCHUSTER SAID Tallon was found lying face down on the porch of a home at 621 N. Wilke Rd. across the street from the station. Next to the body, he said was glass apparently broken in the struggle between Tallon and his attackers.

Schuster testified he found the cash register of the gas station open and the west window of the office broken.

As police reconstruct the crime, Tallon, alone in the station about 3 a.m., was confronted by robbers at knife-point. A struggle ensued inside the station, police theorize, and Tallon dove through the office window to escape.

He was pursued across Wilke Road and stabbed to death on the front porch of 621 N. Wilke Rd., police said. Taken in the robbery was $87 and a ring from the victim, according to reports.

The trial resumes today at 10 a.m. in the Civic Center.

Madison Square Gardens Corp., which owns Arlington Park Race Track, has arrived at the fork in the road.

It will either accede to the Village of Arlington Heights and halve the number of apartments in its race track housing project, or stick to its original 5,000-unit plan and go to court.

Arlington Heights officials made clear Tuesday night they are not going to deviate from the maximum number of apartments permitted by the village zoning ordinance on the 190-acre development site.

"Density is a matter of law and there is a long history of not bargaining with developers on density in this municipality," Trustee Frank Palmatier said.

WHAT IS NOT clear is how Madison Square Gardens will respond.

"I have not even had a chance to talk with my client," Richard F. Babcock, attorney for the Richards Group of Illinois which has been hired by Madison Square Gardens to develop the housing project, said after Tuesday night's meeting with a joint village board and plan commission meeting.

Babcock could not be reached for comment Wednesday. Arthur Gingold, president of the Richards Group, also said he did not know the next move.

So far, the developer has refused to make any changes in the plan, which includes 190 townhouses, a number of five-story apartment buildings, and twelve 33-story high-rise buildings.

VILLAGE SUGGESTIONS that offices and other commercial uses be included in the plan have not been accepted. Proposals to reduce the project density by

HENRY MAZER, associate conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, spends every Monday evening conducting the Suzuki Academy chamber group of Arlington Heights at Mount Prospect's United Church of Christ. The Suzuki musicians, many of them under 10 years old, have learned their music through a unique method, and Mazer thinks it has paid off. For additional photos, see page 15.

Track builder must cut units or sue cutting the height of the buildings also have been rejected.

"Personally I believe you were somewhat remiss in not taking our planner's advice," Trustee O. V. Anderson told the Richards Group.

"Quite frankly, some of us were looking for a variety of uses," Plan Comr. Norman Breyer said.

"This is obviously a poor plan. You could make more money by including some commercial (buildings)," Palmatier said, adding that if Madison Square Gardens wants an all-apartment development that is what it will get, providing its plan complies with the village zoning ordinance.

"I don't like 33-story buildings. They were obviously put in to irritate us. But we shouldn't trade-off height for density," he said.

"We ought to give you your (legal) rights, and nothing more."

Gingold said the 5,000-unit figure represented an "ideal in terms of planning" because it includes townhouses, midrise and high-rise buildings. "If the density changes, obviously the plan changes," he said.

The plan was not drawn up with any maximum number of units in mind, Gingold said, because the developer assumed that the annexation agreement had freed him from the restrictions of the zoning ordinance.

MADISON SQUARE Gardens' response to the density issue will determine the course of future meetings with the village.

If there are no changes in the plan, hearings before the plan commission and village board are apt to be a mere formality leading to rejection of the project and a long court fight.

"If we cannot begin from that point (of density agreement) it is very difficult to do any planning," Trustee Alice Harms told the Richards Group. "I don't know how we can go forward when we're talking a figure grossly different than the one you have."

On the other hand, if the plan is changed and the project density lowered, a series of planning meetings lie ahead and final approval is likely.

As Anderson put it, "There are places where people can come together."

Special assessments the rule in village

by MARILYN McDONALD

Paying for improvements such as streets and sidewalks by special assessment, a common practice in Arlington Heights, is done rarely in neighboring suburbs, a Herald survey shows.

"People pay for improvements in front of their homes," said Arlington Heights Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson, whose administration makes heavy use of a board of local improvements to supervise the assessment projects.

A current effort to force installation of sidewalks along streets on the village's Near Northeast Side has caused a stir among residents, who say the walks aren't needed and threaten to fight in court.

Few village administrations have given the homeowner so many projects to pay for himself. Arlington Heights has 30 special assessment projects currently being paid for by 1,400 property owners. These assessments, whether for sidewalks, street lights, sewers or street widenings, usually cost each homeowner several hundred dollars.

IN MOUNT PROSPECT, there are only five special assessment projects now being paid for, affecting some 620 property owners. Palmatier is retiring three projects that affect 350 properties. Des Plaines is paying off 16 special assessment projects that affect about 670 property owners.

Wheeling has no special assessment projects and adheres to a policy of avoiding them whenever possible. Wheeling Village Mgr. George Passolt said the village has successfully avoided leveling special assessments for local improvements for over two decades.

"Most of our local improvements come under the category of sidewalks and streets. On those we use motor fuel tax revenues whenever possible," Passolt said. By concentrating improvement efforts in a different section of the village each year over five or six years, Passolt said the motor fuel tax is sufficient to cover needed street and sidewalk work.

"If you want special assessments, you have a lot of problems in getting them

Can Rover make it as Bluebeard the Pirate?

Des Plaines pet shop selling Halloween costumes for pooches

by LUISA GINETTI

Four-legged trick or treaters may be out walking the streets tonight as a result of the latest costume fad.

Bill Ware, owner of Bill's Pet Shop, 677 Graceland St., Des Plaines, is selling dog costumes for Halloween and says his sales would be better if he had more sizes from which customers could choose.

"People come in and ask about them but we only have the small sizes left to fit miniature and toy dogs," Ware said. "One man came in and asked if we had a size to fit a collie because he wanted to take his dog out with his kids."

The costumes are vinyl cutout patterns that fit on the dogs' backs like sweaters. Ware said he bought the costumes two years ago from a salesman who said they would be the latest pet trend.

"I guess I was less conservative two years ago, so when the salesman asked me if I wanted to buy some, I agreed," Ware said. "I thought he'd send me two or three, but instead he sent a dozen."

WARE SAID THE COSTUMES sold well the first year but this year he has been unable to sell the remaining three. The costumes are a clown, a skeleton and a pirate.

Last year we had them lying on the counter and they didn't do so well, so this year we put them in the window and put a sign with them. People see the sign and inquire about them, but most of them all have bigger dogs and the costumes won't fit them."

Ware said one woman wanted to know if the sign advertising the dog costumes was for real. When Ware assured her it was legitimate, she left the shop shaking her head in amazement. "Now I've seen everything," Ware quoted her as saying.

Ware said the people who inquire about the costumes, which sell for $1.98, want them for dogs who go trick-or-treating with youngsters. Other people have said they put them on their pooches to entertain children who come to their doors trick-or-treating.

"I don't know of any other pet shops that sell dog costumes and I don't know if I can get any more of them," Ware said. "If nothing else, at least they're a novelty."

TOURS OF THE SITE of "The Bather," Relling Meadow's Picasso, start today at the Gould Center, Golf Road and the Northwest Tollway. Structural platforms shield the wooden framing of the sculpture. Within months, the work will be completed, and free to bask in the winter sunshine.

Jack Jackson, vice president of Gould Inc., said special tours will be available starting today, and will continue through completion of the work of art, in about two months. Visiting hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

Groups of 10 or more persons are asked to arrange appointments to see the construction by contacting Pat Carnahan, 593-3464, Ext. 72.

WOODEN FORMS showing the entire structure of the nude female bather are in place but it may be as long as three weeks before they are prepared to begin receiving black Norwegian granite aggregate, which is to be packed solidly within the forms.

Carl Nesjar, Norwegian artist who collaborated with Pablo Picasso on 16 other concrete sculptures, will pack the aggregate into the forms using a vibrating rod to be sure all spaces and crevices are well filled. Thin liquid concrete then is pumped into the forms, from the bottom, until the structure is filled and starts running out the top, said a spokesman for Gould. Nesjar is the only artist Picasso authorized to construct sculptures with the process.

Once the concrete is well-hardened, the forms are removed. The aggregate has been coated with the concrete, and will appear white.

Nesjar then will draw on the concrete, creating detail with a sandblasting gun to remove the outer coating of concrete leaving black lines.

The 28-foot tall structure will weigh more than 50 tons.

Visitors to the site will see the process, known as Betograting, in all stages. Guides will explain what Nesjar and his artisans are doing as they work. Visitors will be received on a viewing platform.

GOULD OBTAINED the Picasso last February, after negotiating with the artist for more than a year before his death in 1973. Rights finally were obtained from the Louisiana Museum near Copenhagen, which originally had secured the work. It will be the second major outdoor sculpture by the famous artist in the Chicago area, joining the metal sculpture at the downtown Chicago Civic Center.

Work originally had been scheduled to start last May, and then was postponed to July but did not get under way until October.

The $36 million Gould center covers 40 acres, and when completed will include a 10-story tower, a sports center and several smaller office buildings. Already occupied is the research and development building. A management building, described by officials as a "mini-college" for Gould personnel, and the tower are under construction.

Youth grows 40-pound Halloween pumpkin

Philip Martin, 14, of 1188 S. Walnut Ave., Arlington Heights, has grown a 40-pound pumpkin for Halloween.

He started growing the pumpkin last spring in the Arlington Heights Park District Prairie Farm and Garden Plot at Belmont Avenue and Council Trail.

Martin carved the pumpkin this week to display in the front window of his home, carving the word "Halloween" for the mouth, and carving witches on broomsticks for the eyes of the pumpkin.

GHOSTS, GOBLINS and werewolves will be occupying a spooky haunted house all this week, sponsored by the Wheeling Instrumental League. The house at 460 N. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling, will be open today from 6:30 to 10 p.m. Hours Friday and Saturday will be 6:30 to 11 p.m. Admission to the house, limited to junior high school students and up, is $1.50. A shuttle bus to the house will leave the high school, 900 S. Elmhurst Rd., at various intervals. Proceeds go to the school band.

Special assessments the rule in village started and then in collection of payments. It's a big headache," Passoli said.

PALATINE VILLAGE Pres. Wendell E. Jones agrees with the Wheeling point of view, saying "It doesn't make sense to shove special assessments down people's throats. We'd rather let people tell us what they want than us telling them what to have."

Historically, Palatine has levied special assessments on its own initiative in cases of water or sewer projects. These are areas where the public health is concerned, he said. In cases of sidewalk, streetlight, curb and gutter installations, the village usually waits to be approached by concerned citizens who wish to have these improvements made.

A court-upheld special assessment for a proposed widening of Colfax Street was dropped by the village board, which also acts as the board of local improvements, when citizens feeling ran against the project, Jones said.

Jones said the village is even lax in enforcing its own subdivision standards, rather than force whole areas of the village to add costly improvements against their wills. "Every place doesn't have to be the same," Jones said.

IN DES PLAINES, the board of local improvements is most active when a new area is annexed to the city, said Joseph Schwab, chairman of the board.

City Engineer Robert Bowen said Des Plaines usually pushes for water and sewer improvements by the village board, but improvements in newly annexed areas, but sidewalk and street improvements are not pushed. The city usually waits for property owners to ask for these projects.

Like Palatine and Wheeling, Des Plaines often uses motor fuel tax to pay for street widening projects. "The resident has already paid for the street once. Maybe it was 20 years ago, but he paid for it," Schwab said.

MOUNT PROSPECT, like Arlington

Sidewalks BOLI topic tonight

Continued discussion of proposed sidewalk projects in the southeast section heads the agenda for tonight's Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements meeting at 8 p.m. at the municipal building.

The commissioners also will discuss future sidewalk projects in the southeast and west sides of the village. BOLI officials want to complete sidewalk installation in areas that were missed when a 1967 sidewalk project was put through in those sections, said BOLI Pres. David Patterson.

A report on the Dwyer Avenue paving project will be made, including information on a work stoppage ordered by Patterson Oct. 21 when driveway problems developed for residents of Dwyer's east side.

A formal hearing date also will be set to discuss water, sanitary sewer and sidewalk installation on the relocated North Arlington Heights Road, just south of Buffalo Grove High School. Patterson said a number of residents in that area still are on well and septic tank service which is "entirely unacceptable." He noted that the new Buffalo Grove High School now makes sidewalks in that area a safety necessity for students.

Heights, adheres more closely to the state statute enabling boards of local improvements to determine the need for improvements and specially assess for them. With only five special assessment projects presently on their books, Mount Prospect has still had troubles in enforcing local improvements. One current special assessment project is a storm sewer proposal that dragged through the courts for two years because 100 of the 380 property owners affected objected to the assessment, said Richard C. Jesse, finance director of Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect has ordinances and policies governing the need for local improvements like sidewalks, street lighting, curbs and gutters, but deviations are possible if granted by the village board, Jesse said. Jesse mentioned that sidewalks are mandatory for all developed areas, but that exceptions are made for "areas conducive to no sidewalks at all."

Robert Moore, chairman of the Mount Prospect Board of Local Improvements, said the village also will take a land dedication from a property owner in lieu of a special assessment on street widening projects, he said. Otherwise, Jesse said it is up to the board of local improvements and the village board to finance street widenings by special assessment, village funds or motor fuel taxes.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS operates under the same enabling state statute that empowers other community boards of local improvements, but it uses that power to the fullest. Arlington Heights believes it should take the lead in upgrading the village through its board of local improvements. If BOLI and the village board did not urge local improvement programs, "there'd be nothing happening," said the Arlington Heights village manager.

"If BOLI over the years had waited for 50 to 60 per cent of the residents to suggest local improvements, we'd still be on mud streets. We're not trying to win a popularity contest," said Patterson.

Patterson said BOLI has put through projects in the past that were opposed by "99 per cent of the people involved. When the whole thing was done, they came up to the board and thanked them for the project," he said.

"We want to bring everyone up to a basic standard," Patterson said. If one person pays for improvements in front of his home, he ought not to have to pay for improvements in front of other homes, the reason for specially assessing individual homeowners, Patterson said.
